Noted Experts Clash Over Abortion Issues

By DONNA TAYLOR

Sara Wellington, who has defended abortion rights both before the Supreme Court, and Anne O'Donnell, a prominent anti-abortion activist, debated the issue before an audience of 300 at Lebanon High School. The debate was organized by the American Civil Liberties Union.

Both speakers argued that their views were the most logical and ethical. Wellington, who defended abortion rights, said that the decision to have an abortion should be left to the woman. O'Donnell, who opposed abortion, said that the decision should be left to the government and the church.

The debate was held in response to the increasing number of abortion clinics in the area. Many people are concerned about the future of abortion rights, and the debate was intended to help them make informed decisions about the issue.

Plane Crashes on Corsica, Killing 174

The courthouse left Ljubljana, Yugoslavia, early Sunday morning for what was to be a one-day excursion to the historic French island on the last day of a long Yugoslav island holiday weekend.

Vasile Kompaev, the tour agency which organized the trip, said it was to introduce Corse to Yugoslavs. About 60 of those aboard the plane were travel agency employes. It is claimed that the crash was the second and largest major air disaster of the year. On August 23, 11 passengers and crew members were killed when a Fokker F-40 Transall 727 exploded over the Persian Gulf and plunged into the ocean. The crash was the second of a single airplane crash in the world for 1981.

ART AND IMAGINATION AT THE FACULTY CLUB

Those who believe artists can collaborate according to a particular style, a common theme, and an idea can learn a lot from looking at prints, paintings, and sculptures — works both ancient and representational — on view at the Faculty Club through Tuesday, November 22.

All of these works can be viewed in one room, Robert Sulman, of the University Art Gallery, said.

"The prints all date from the 18th century," Sulman said. "The etchings in the exhibition were done primarily by native German artists who worked in America for a short time. They were part of a group of prints that were produced in Europe by the same publishers and were then sold to American artists. The prints were made by hand, so each one is different." (The prints are part of the collection of the University Art Gallery.)

"The idea is that the exhibition is a showcase for the prints and the artists who created them, rather than a presentation of the art itself," Sulman said.

GEMINI GALLERIES

GEMINI GALLERIES will continue its focus on the 17th and 18th centuries with the exhibition "Towards the Centre of Power," which opens today at 5 p.m. The exhibition will run through Saturday, November 22.

SILKSCREENS AND POSTERS: POSTER PAINT

Silkscreeners from the Posters of Power exhibition will present their work at the Faculty Club today at 5 p.m. The silkscreens will be displayed in the exhibition hall of the Faculty Club, which is located on the first floor of the University Center Building.

MUSEUM GALLERY TALK: Echoes of the Samurai

The Museum Gallery will present a talk about the exhibition "Echoes of the Samurai" at 5 p.m. today in the Faculty Club. The talk will be given by a member of the Philadelphia Navy Association, which sponsors the exhibition.

THAI BALALAIKA ORCHESTRA

The Thai Balalaika Orchestra will perform at the Faculty Club today at 7:30 p.m. The orchestra is a group of students who have been working on the instrument for over a year.

THE REAL INSPECTOR HOUND

The Real Inspector Hound, a new play by Edward Albee, will be performed at the Faculty Club on Saturday, November 22, at 8 p.m. The play is directed by James Conolly.

Loneliness: Finding Someone Who Understands

A number of groups on campus are excellent places to meet people who share a common interest. At Penn State, there are more than 1,000 student organizations, representing a wide range of interests. Whether you are interested in sports, music, academics, or just want to meet new people, there is a group for you. One such group is the Penn State University Psychology Club. The club meets weekly to discuss topics related to psychology, such as social psychology, cognitive psychology, and personality psychology. Meetings are open to all students, regardless of major. For more information, please contact Dr. Samuel Fager at the Psychology Department.

Great Writing Starts With A Little Listening, A Little Beer,
And A Lot of Legwork.

by Mickey Spillane

When the guys at Miller asked me to write an ad on writing, I said, "Forget it. Not even if you held a gun to my head!" So they held a bottle of Lite Beer in my mouth. They're a pretty persuasive group.

THINGS TO MUGS
If you're going to write anything, know what you're talking about. And that means three things: Research, research, and more research. The more you know, the more you can tell your reader.

Take your characters. A lot of them I base on actual people. There's this lady who owns an insurance company in one story. I've got a cop; in another, a private eye. Once, I made him a millionaire. Using him not only helped make character development a heck of a lot easier, but was also carried away by the rich image, I bought me a lot of free dinners (and a lot of Lite Beer from Miller). So use the people you know as models.

Even locations should be based on real things. If you're writing about a bar, know that bar. Hang out there. Watch the bartender. The customers. Whatever they drink, you drink. When they drink Lite Beer, you drink Lite Beer. He-member research is most fun when you follow up as much subject matter as you can. It can only help you paint a better picture.

HE, DOLL
No caper is complete without dames (or ladies in proper English). Experience has shown me that the more you know the damas, the better. Experience has also shown me that sexy scenes make great punctuation marks. This is where research has the greatest potential. Use your own discretion in this matter. But when you write about it, don't be too explicit. That way, your reader gets to paint a more vivid picture.

New Animal Hospital

U.S. veterinary hospitals during the planning of the facility, Buchanan said. "I think for the most part, we got the idea to install that done handles rather than the more common round ones, to make carrying animals easier.

Noting the benefits of the new facility, Buchanan said, "I think any veterinarian coming here would find the new equipment and the new environment that much more easier.

The new hospital, one of the most modern in the world, contains equipment not found in the old building. Sophisticated cardiology and radiology equipment, which exists in human hospitals, has been installed in the new building.

Mailing Label Review

After the Personnel Office substantiately gave address labels to groups using the interuniversity mail system for commercial purposes, he said, “We want to limit
the intramural mail system for commercial purposes.”

“Some groups, like the Alpha Chi Omega, have been using labels to mobilize support for fund-raising activities,” he said. “We want to limit the use of the mailing labels to legitimate University departments.”

He added that whether or not the A-20 Assembly, which represents University administration, or the A-3
Assembly, which represents support services workers, are allowed to use labels
is a question in itself.”

But he said the decision to deny the granting of mailing labels was “not a judgment call.”

Many unique organizations that previously used the mailing labels have been or will be delayed access under the new policy.

Women’s Roles in Professional

Groups

Sen. Debbie Levinson, whose

group has used the mailing labels in the past, said the policy “makes any kind of social or informational contact impossible.”

“It’s all right for someone to walk away from your office with a University mailing label in his hand,” he said.

RUTGERS

The Rutgerstown varsity women's basketball team opened its 1981-82 season on Friday night with an 87-49 rout of Widener at home. Rutgers showed off its starting lineup at tipoff; the starters played the entire game, except for one change. Straus, who had been out for the last two games, returned to the starting lineup, replacing Strickland, who had been out with a knee sprain.

Rutgers dominated the game from the start, outscoring Widener 29-4 in the first 15 minutes. The game was never in doubt, as Rutgers built a 41-22 halftime lead. The second half was a continuation of the first, with Rutgers outscoring Widener 46-27.

Only One Problem with Letters: Totally Wrong

When preparing the "Letters to the Editor" page for the next issue, one might find themselves staring at a blank page, wondering what to write. This is understandable, as the process of creating content can be a challenge. For those who have never written a letter, or may not be sure what to say, here are some tips on how to approach the task:

1. Research the Issue: Before writing a letter, it's important to understand the issue being discussed. This will help you form a clear and concise opinion.
2. Keep it Short and Sweet: Letters are typically limited to 300 words. Keep your message brief and to the point.
3. Stay Respectful: Even if you disagree with others' opinions, it's important to stay respectful and avoid personal attacks.
4. Use Proper Grammar: Taking the time to proofread your letter can help ensure that your message is clear and easy to understand.

Merren to Face Tigers Tonight in First Meet

By JEFF BRIDENSTINE

The nun's team opened its 1981-82 season tonight with a 7-0 blanking of Widener. The Quakers showed off their starting lineup at tipoff; the starters played the entire game, except for one change. Straus, who had been out for the last two games, returned to the starting lineup, replacing Strickland, who had been out with a knee sprain.

Rutgers dominated the game from the start, outscoring Widener 29-4 in the first 15 minutes. The game was never in doubt, as Rutgers built a 41-22 halftime lead. The second half was a continuation of the first, with Rutgers outscoring Widener 46-27.

F&M Loses Once Again To Racquetwomen, 7-0

By RITA FIDELMANN

The women’s team had no luck last night, as they were defeated by the Racquetwomen once again. The Quakers barely made it onto the court, as they struggled to put up a fight. The game was a disappointment, as the team was unable to deliver their best performance.

Optimistic Merchands

Open with Widener

By MELROSE CURLEW

"We're looking forward to a great game tonight," said Coach Curry. "We've prepared ourselves for this match against Widener." The team has been training hard for the upcoming season, and they are ready to put their best foot forward.

The game will take place at 7:00 p.m. at Widener’s home court. Both teams have been working hard to improve their skills, and they are excited to face each other.

Merritt High School, "Spartans," showed how they should feel during the day, so they were ready to go. The Spartans showed off their starting lineup at tipoff; the starters played the entire game, except for one change. Merritt, who had been out for the last two games, returned to the starting lineup, replacing Strickland, who had been out with a knee sprain.

Rutgers dominated the game from the start, outscoring Widener 29-4 in the first 15 minutes. The game was never in doubt, as Rutgers built a 41-22 halftime lead. The second half was a continuation of the first, with Rutgers outscoring Widener 46-27.

Even though the Spartans didn't have much time to prepare, they were determined to put up a fight. The game was a disappointment, as the team was unable to deliver their best performance.
