WHARTON TO ASSIST U.S. TRANSLATION

By ANNES ALIEN

The Wharton School will be part of a government of a professor of the mass transit transportation. The Transportation Administration has developed Wharton into a national center for transit research and management development. Starting in 1983, the center will conduct research and management training to make the nation's mass transit systems more efficient and cost-effective.

Bruce Allen, the center's associate dean of research, said yesterday that the university is specifically well-suited for the work.

"We have always been strong in this area," Mr. Allen said. "That's why, when my bosses told me to go ahead and do this, I did it."

Dr. Allen has been working with Wharton School researchers.

"We hope this marriage of talents will produce a team that the nation has never before," the dean said.

ROTC Students Support Army Policies on Gays

By R. B. JONES

Police and students from the Fort Bragg army military academy, who opposed the Ten Commandments in the classroom, announced yesterday that they would support the Pentagon's revised policies on homosexuals in the military.

"We want to point out that the public schools have already been exempted from this action," he said.

"If they're in the public school you find one of your worst problems is the homosexuality," Assistant Attorney General asked.

"Having them under our command would greatly increases our problems," he said.

Dr. Allen said that he doesn't expect to have to look at the new policies as a result of the budget, but new policies are being developed that could change the situation.

Another ROTC student, who asked not to be identified, said yesterday that he was in agreement with the army's decision against homosexuality.

"We can't run our affairs with each other in the army," he said. "It's about time we got rid of the possibility of homosexual relationships developing among soldiers.

(Continued on page 3)

HACKNEY TO RELEASE PRELIMINARY BUDGET

By MARC BLAINEK

Hank Hackney, who is well-known for his budget at the Wharton School, yesterday announced his second year in a row that he would not seek re-election.

"We will discuss them," he said. "I have seen the "Five Year Plan" that we put into place. I want the budget at this time, so that progress can be made.

(Continued on page 2)
U. To Host Italian Conference
Political, Cultural Leaders To Speak

By BRAD STEVENSON
Several prominent Italian leaders and cultural figures will gather in Pittsburgh this week to discuss the importance of Italian culture in the world.

The conference, which is organized by the Italian Cultural Institute, will take place at the University of Pittsburgh's Humanities and Social Sciences Building on Tuesday, November 22, from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. The event is free and open to the public.

The speakers scheduled to participate in the conference include:

- President Sergio Mattarella, who will address the topic of "The Role of Italians in the World Economy".
- Renato Brunetta, who will discuss "The Importance of Italian Language and Culture in Education".
- Anna Maria Fasano, who will speak on "Italian Art and Architecture in the 20th Century".
- Giuseppe Conte, who will talk about "The Italian Constitution and the Role of the President".

The conference will be held in the University of Pittsburgh's Humanities and Social Sciences Building on the main campus.

For more information, please contact the University of Pittsburgh's Department of Italian Studies at (412) 648-7941.
Students, Alumni Promote Energy Conservation

Chuck Schwartz at his CEDC desk

PHILADELPHIA - Energy costs are rising, but the Philadelphia Solar Energy Society is working closely with government agencies, energy groups and the Philadelphia Solai Energy Association to increase their awareness and understanding of energy conservation. In the fall of 1980, the organization founded the CEDC (Committee for Energy Development and Conservation) to better educate the public about energy conservation.

CEDC Workshop on Energy Conservation

The CEDC has been involved in several workshops and seminars to increase public awareness about energy conservation. The next event is planned to be held on November 2nd at the Philadelphia Convention Center.

The March Hare

Chuck Schwartz, a member of the Philadelphia Solar Energy Society, is working closely with government agencies to increase public awareness about energy conservation.

Students, Alumni Promote Energy Conservation

The Philadelphia Solar Energy Society is planning a workshop on energy conservation for the fall of 1980. The workshop will be held at the Philadelphia Convention Center.

The March Hare

Chuck Schwartz, a member of the Philadelphia Solar Energy Society, is working closely with government agencies to increase public awareness about energy conservation.

Students, Alumni Promote Energy Conservation

The Philadelphia Solar Energy Society is planning a workshop on energy conservation for the fall of 1980. The workshop will be held at the Philadelphia Convention Center.

The March Hare

Chuck Schwartz, a member of the Philadelphia Solar Energy Society, is working closely with government agencies to increase public awareness about energy conservation.

Students, Alumni Promote Energy Conservation

The Philadelphia Solar Energy Society is planning a workshop on energy conservation for the fall of 1980. The workshop will be held at the Philadelphia Convention Center.

The March Hare

Chuck Schwartz, a member of the Philadelphia Solar Energy Society, is working closely with government agencies to increase public awareness about energy conservation.

Students, Alumni Promote Energy Conservation

The Philadelphia Solar Energy Society is planning a workshop on energy conservation for the fall of 1980. The workshop will be held at the Philadelphia Convention Center.

The March Hare

Chuck Schwartz, a member of the Philadelphia Solar Energy Society, is working closely with government agencies to increase public awareness about energy conservation.
STUDENTS' HEALTH/Dr. Leonard Miller

Coping With Stress

Some of you may be experiencing a great deal of stress and anxiety over your upcoming exams. For those of you who are uncertain about your ability to pass them, or are worried about your success on them, it may be that they are teaching you some valuable lessons. It is true that we are all under stress on a regular basis, and the stressfulness of life increases the awareness of our own actions. An absence of stress may be a signal to you that you are not entirely successful in your endeavors. The absence of stress is a sign of failure, a sign of weakness. It is important to recognize that stress is a natural part of life and that it is essential to life's fulfillment.

One explanation about what stress is, how it affects us, and how we can control it is that stress is a bodily, physiological adaptive reaction to a threatening environment. The body's response to stress is a complex process that involves the integration of various systems, including the autonomic nervous system, the endocrine system, and the immune system. These systems are responsible for regulating the body's response to stress, and their activity is influenced by factors such as the severity of the stressor, the individual's personality, and the individual's coping style.

The body's response to stress is normally a protective mechanism that helps to maintain the body's homeostasis. However, when stress is chronic or prolonged, it can lead to the development of chronic stress-related diseases, such as heart disease, diabetes, and mental health disorders.

There are several ways to manage chronic stress, including mindfulness meditation, yoga, and regular exercise. It is important to recognize that stress is a normal part of life and that it is essential to life's fulfillment. It is important to recognize that stress is a natural part of life and that it is essential to life's fulfillment.

to be continued...

- The Philadelphia Inquirer's Student Life column contributes to the current knowledge in the field of human behavior and learning to the editor. Material may be used as a basis for, seminars, lectures, and research papers. However, the student author is responsible for all material submitted for publication. The student author assumes full responsibility for all material submitted for publication. The student author assumes full responsibility for all material submitted for publication.

- Letters must be double spaced and must be submitted to the editor. The editor reserves the right to accept or reject any material submitted for publication. The editor reserves the right to accept or reject any material submitted for publication.

- All letters must be signed by the student author.

- The Philadelphia Inquirer's Student Life column welcomes comment from the editor.

to be continued...

- The Philadelphia Inquirer's Student Life column contributes to the current knowledge in the field of human behavior and learning to the editor. Material may be used as a basis for, seminars, lectures, and research papers. However, the student author is responsible for all material submitted for publication. The student author assumes full responsibility for all material submitted for publication. The student author assumes full responsibility for all material submitted for publication.

- Letters must be double spaced and must be submitted to the editor. The editor reserves the right to accept or reject any material submitted for publication. The editor reserves the right to accept or reject any material submitted for publication. The editor reserves the right to accept or reject any material submitted for publication.

- All letters must be signed by the student author.

- The Philadelphia Inquirer's Student Life column welcomes comment from the editor.
More Letters

Not 'Straight Talk'

We have been appalled by the tone and content of the Alcoholics Anonymous column that appeared in the Oct. 25, 1984, issue. Alcoholics Anonymous is a fellowship of men and women who carry a message of recovery to other alcoholics, without denouncing to anyone the errors of their lives in the process. Many alcoholics who are working with the 12 steps have expressed to me their frustration at the depiction of the 12 steps as a means of 'curing' alcoholics. If handled properly, the steps are intended to help people take a closer look at their own lives and come to a decision on which course to take.

S.R.

Voting For The Freeze

As a member of the Center for Democratic Change, I applaud the many people who have decided to vote for the Freeze. The fact that so many are involved in this movement demonstrates the widespread support for peace and disarmament efforts.

L. W.

First, Frank Luntz states that "often alcoholics may be unable to accept the conclusions of the 'straight talk' movement, the PLO are not aloud to remain in the Middle East." The secret is that the Arab World has no basis to negotiate. From his recent articles in 'Straight Talk', Mr. Luntz has been consistent in his ideology and has continued to support the PLO. This is a clear example of the "straight talk" movement.

John F.\n
Mr. Luntz also merits in his most recent issue his comparison with the mystery of Palestine. The most recent is that Luntz is also to? the grudging of the PLO's decision to disband the PLO. Obviously, President Jimmy Carter's decision to move toward Israeli-Palestinian relations is a "self-centered movement" that must be kept out of the Middle East. Perhaps it is the fact that he has been mendacious support among West Bank activists. In fact, it is a fact of life of mine that in the Middle East, the PLO will have to be negotiated with.

Whereas Your Action Is a "peaceful" may not be a relevant solution, the statement of the Palestinian people are not recognized among the Palestinian and among world leaders. Incidentally, the PLO, as the representatives of the Palestinians, Mr. Luntz asserts that the Arab/Israeli, are anti-Semitic, anti-American, and anti-West. What does this have to do with the Middle East, the PLO will have to be negotiated with.

Very 'Straight Talk'

Headlines have been pricking up about Frank Luntz's article on Oct. 25, 1984. The PLO is a peace movement, and should be seen in this light. The PLO is a peace movement, and should be seen in this light. The PLO is a peace movement, and should be seen in this light. The PLO is a peace movement, and should be seen in this light.

Frank Luntz's article aims at discrediting the PLO's actions and advocating 'peaceful' solutions to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. It suggests that the PLO is not a peace movement and that it is responsible for the ongoing conflict in the Middle East. However, Luntz dismisses the role of the PLO in negotiations and the pursuit of a peaceful resolution.

L. L.}

The congressman and the statesman, as ignorant supporters of the freeze, have been exposed as enemies of the peace movement. The freeze advocates have been shown to be the ones who are truly working towards a solution in the Middle East.

M. S.

The congressman and the statesman, as ignorant supporters of the freeze, have been exposed as enemies of the peace movement. The freeze advocates have been shown to be the ones who are truly working towards a solution in the Middle East.

M. S.

The congressman and the statesman, as ignorant supporters of the freeze, have been exposed as enemies of the peace movement. The freeze advocates have been shown to be the ones who are truly working towards a solution in the Middle East.

M. S.

The congressman and the statesman, as ignorant supporters of the freeze, have been exposed as enemies of the peace movement. The freeze advocates have been shown to be the ones who are truly working towards a solution in the Middle East.
In the late sixties, and bronze from the first millennium B.C. was unearthed. and India. Former theories proposed that these artifacts showed that the villagers used copper and tin in making bronze, an alloy of copper and tin, for working metal. Lyle said the relics reflect many of these traditions and beliefs. "In my view, the artifacts came here," he said. "They show that people from the Near East lived here, that they were skilled in making copper and bronze, and that they traded with each other."
U. Celebrates Black Presence
Programs Begin for ‘Year 102’

ROTC

The celebration of 102 years of black presence at the University of Pennsylvania will begin in its calendar of events with a reception Tuesday evening.

Demarcellus Wade, associate student body president and member of the Year 102 coordinating committee, said the celebration is especially important to ROTC students and black students to express their "cultural pride and show what black students are all about here, to learn about black history and to learn about the war effort." Wade said yesterday he hopes to work with student leaders and atendees at the event to form a dialogue about ROTC problems.

"We are going to have a pool was to get people in the black race," said another member of the Year 102 coordinating committee. "I don't know the army's reason for excluding them bin I have no major qualms with serving with them." "Burk said, adding he "range from the wonderful to the top," he said.

"I think the only way you can make progress in the army is to get people at the bottom," he said, "so we are going to have a pool was to get people in the black race." "McGovern, a junior Roll student, said the army programs at the University of Pennsylvania are not protecting the black community to realize racism is a white problem. "I think they need to celebrate their achievements of the black people to learn about blacks and educate people about blacks and whites," said another member of the coordinating committee. "We can't think of a University program that does anything but this," he said yesterday. "I don't know the army's reason for excluding them. It's important to help the army programs they were able to incorporate into the celebration," he said.

Evelyn Wood said she hopes that the event will make people more sensitive to racism. "Hopefully, we'll bring a lot of awareness and understand how much we both have in common," she said.

Evelyn Wood, associate student body president, said the University is often an uncomfortable place for minorities. "Minorities is big on campus," she said. "It's important to let people know what we are." Evelyn Wood also said that the celebration is important to the community presence on campus.

A HUNDRED PAGES OF PSYCH TOMORROW
AND A DRESS-REHEARSAL TONIGHT.

INCREASE YOUR READING SPEED ON THE SPOT (BRING A FRIEND)

FREE LESSONS NEAR CAMPUS
THIS WEEK ONLY

Location:
The International 3771 College Avenue
In the Block North Of The U. Of P. Campus And Three Blocks Southwest Of The Drexel U. Campus.

Schedule of FREE LESSONS
TODAY
Wednesday, Nov. 3
2:30 pm, 7 pm

Thursday, Nov. 4
1 pm, 3:30 pm, 7 pm
2 pm, 7 pm

SEATING IS LIMITED, SO PLEASE PLAN ON ATTENDING THE FIRST POSSIBLE LESSON

YOU CAN DO IT!

It gets down to what you want to do and what you have to do. Take the free Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics lesson and you can do it — handle all work college demands and still have time to enjoy college life.

You can dramatically increase your reading speed today and that's just the start. Think of the time the freedom you'd have to do the things you want to do. For twenty years the ones who get ahead have used Reading Dynamics. It's the way to read for today's active world — fast, smooth, efficient. Don't get left behind because there was too much to read. Take the free Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics lesson today. You can dramatically increase your reading speed and learn about advanced study techniques in one free lesson. Make the college life the good life. With Reading Dynamics you can do it!
Lautenberg: Campaign Of Personalities

In New Jersey, Sen. Millicent Fenwick, a Republican senator from the Garden State, is running against Sen. Bill Bradley, a Democrat. The campaign has been marked by personal attacks on each other. Weeks, however, they have increased... claim 10 be, asked, "Did you watch were lnj-'. very big," Collionally renowned foi their

Quaker offense stalled however, and down on a rourth-and-two. I he •uperstitious type that mosi kickers the kicks." "Do you recall I'xacil) whai you did omc wcrl) inquisitive soul inquired.

lies 38b2380

I N C L U D E      F L A V O R

FOODS  &  IN T E R N A T I O N A L  C O F F E E S

SPECIAL STUDENT RATES!

available NOV 1 S|»-

1-4 blocks Irom Hi Rise

spik ers—

Penn-Princeton

Schuman preferred not to measure

1 rbey fell on Marshall's onside kick

How to follow Fellini.

Pennsylvania, it's intimidating when sou

TALKS IT OVER.

I xita," he admitted, "and those were

1 team just by height alone. "At first

PREGNANT Loving couple seeks

SUNDAY, MARCH 6, 1983 at 3 PM

THEATRE

21.3 $10 2, $7 3

STARTUP FEES

Winter Robert 662 1318

think he'll do well, sometimes they're awkward, they

Penn-Princeton is Sports

1982 at 8 PM

I SaL. 1983 at 8 PM

KAE

SUNRISE 4

DIANA YOUNG gel to a tootbaii

The Mall At Longwood, and Marshall's kick field goal attempt to

Rlassified Ads

Place your classifieds at the D.P. office — 4015 Walnut Street, 2nd floor.

A D P T E R S

APARTMENTS

ARE AVAILABLE NOW in

three-bedroom, two-bath

1407 Spruce Street.

Pennsylvania, it's intimidating when sou

PREGNANT Loving couple seeks

Take it over, over a cup of Orange Cappuccinos. Creamy-rich, with an orange twist, it's a little bit of a flavor its own. And it's just one of six deliciously different flavors from General Foods®

GENERAL FOODS® INTERNATIONAL GOURMET COFFEE

As MUCH AS A FEELING AS A FLAVOR

available At: University of Pennsylvania Bookstore

(1982 General Foods Corporation

No. 9 - Tuesday, November 2, 1982 - THE DAILY PENNSYLVANIAN
The Six Minute and Other Tales

Bryan Harris

With a 7-2 record, the Quaker men's crew team was looking to finish its season strong against Cornell. The team was ranked 16th in the nation and had a strong showing at the Head of the Charles. If they could win this 7-on-7 regatta, they would be in the top 10 nationally for the season.

The team's performance and confidence were evident in their matches. They had trained hard, and their strong showing at the Head of the Charles reflected their hard work.

"The only place that Friday night's performance will go in the record book is when we win the national championship," said head coach Ron Seidel. "We're not going to make any excuses here."