UA to hear measure on Law School policy

By ELLEN FLAX

The Undergraduate Council will decide today if it will support President Hackney's request to use outside engineers to repair the building, instead of replacing it.

The president said yesterday that he would like to replace the building, which is under a lease arrangement with the University, at a cost of more than $1 million.

The meeting agenda includes a number of members who have proposed that the University's granting of office space to the Graduate School be considered under the same policy.

The meeting will begin in the General Council at 3 p.m. in the University Hall. The members of the University's faculty will be present.

The University already owns the building, which was constructed in 1932 and renovated in 1965. The building is currently used by the Law School and the University's faculty.

The meeting will be open to the public.

Inside

• Hamilton Jordan, White House chief of staff, and President Jimmy Carter, will speak today. Page 3.

• Four petitions in the School of Public and Urban Policy will be presented to the Student Council. Page 4.

Council to debate Federal draft aid law

By PETER CANDEL

Three congressional bills will be discussed and possibly voted on at the University Council's meeting this evening, at 6:30 p.m. in the Union.

The council is expected to discuss the following proposals: a bill to extend the draft aid program for three years; a bill to establish a new federal aid program; and a bill to create a new federal aid program for students who are members of the Armed Forces.

The council will also consider the possibility of setting up a task force to study the issue of draft aid.

The council will meet in the Union at 6:30 p.m. tonight.

U. may buy Hilton Hotel

By ROBERT STEINBERG

The University may be interested in buying the Hilton Hotel, which is currently owned by the University of Pennsylvania.

The hotel is located in the city center and is currently used as a conference center and for events.

The University may be interested in buying the hotel because it is in close proximity to the University's campus and could serve as a venue for events.

The university may also be interested in buying the hotel because it could provide additional revenue streams for the University.

The university has expressed interest in buying the hotel and is currently considering the possibility.

Techno-student ponders future in national competition

By ALAN BERBAM

The senior computer science major plans to enter the national competition in national competition.

The competition is held annually and is open to students from universities throughout the United States.

The competition requires students to develop a project that demonstrates their understanding of computer science and their ability to apply their knowledge to solve real-world problems.

The competition is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and is open to undergraduate and graduate students.

The competition includes a written test, a programming challenge, and a presentation.

The competition is held annually and is open to students from universities throughout the United States.

The competition requires students to develop a project that demonstrates their understanding of computer science and their ability to apply their knowledge to solve real-world problems.

The competition is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and is open to undergraduate and graduate students.

The competition includes a written test, a programming challenge, and a presentation.

The competition is held annually and is open to students from universities throughout the United States.

The competition requires students to develop a project that demonstrates their understanding of computer science and their ability to apply their knowledge to solve real-world problems.

The competition is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and is open to undergraduate and graduate students.

The competition includes a written test, a programming challenge, and a presentation.

The competition is held annually and is open to students from universities throughout the United States.

The competition requires students to develop a project that demonstrates their understanding of computer science and their ability to apply their knowledge to solve real-world problems.

The competition is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and is open to undergraduate and graduate students.

The competition includes a written test, a programming challenge, and a presentation.

The competition is held annually and is open to students from universities throughout the United States.

The competition requires students to develop a project that demonstrates their understanding of computer science and their ability to apply their knowledge to solve real-world problems.

The competition is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and is open to undergraduate and graduate students.

The competition includes a written test, a programming challenge, and a presentation.

The competition is held annually and is open to students from universities throughout the United States.

The competition requires students to develop a project that demonstrates their understanding of computer science and their ability to apply their knowledge to solve real-world problems.

The competition is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and is open to undergraduate and graduate students.

The competition includes a written test, a programming challenge, and a presentation.

The competition is held annually and is open to students from universities throughout the United States.

The competition requires students to develop a project that demonstrates their understanding of computer science and their ability to apply their knowledge to solve real-world problems.

The competition is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and is open to undergraduate and graduate students.

The competition includes a written test, a programming challenge, and a presentation.

The competition is held annually and is open to students from universities throughout the United States.

The competition requires students to develop a project that demonstrates their understanding of computer science and their ability to apply their knowledge to solve real-world problems.

The competition is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and is open to undergraduate and graduate students.

The competition includes a written test, a programming challenge, and a presentation.

The competition is held annually and is open to students from universities throughout the United States.

The competition requires students to develop a project that demonstrates their understanding of computer science and their ability to apply their knowledge to solve real-world problems.

The competition is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and is open to undergraduate and graduate students.

The competition includes a written test, a programming challenge, and a presentation.

The competition is held annually and is open to students from universities throughout the United States.

The competition requires students to develop a project that demonstrates their understanding of computer science and their ability to apply their knowledge to solve real-world problems.

The competition is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and is open to undergraduate and graduate students.

The competition includes a written test, a programming challenge, and a presentation.

The competition is held annually and is open to students from universities throughout the United States.

The competition requires students to develop a project that demonstrates their understanding of computer science and their ability to apply their knowledge to solve real-world problems.

The competition is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and is open to undergraduate and graduate students.

The competition includes a written test, a programming challenge, and a presentation.

The competition is held annually and is open to students from universities throughout the United States.

The competition requires students to develop a project that demonstrates their understanding of computer science and their ability to apply their knowledge to solve real-world problems.

The competition is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and is open to undergraduate and graduate students.

The competition includes a written test, a programming challenge, and a presentation.

The competition is held annually and is open to students from universities throughout the United States.

The competition requires students to develop a project that demonstrates their understanding of computer science and their ability to apply their knowledge to solve real-world problems.

The competition is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and is open to undergraduate and graduate students.

The competition includes a written test, a programming challenge, and a presentation.
Campus Events

Panel calls for Sharon resignation
U. Cal woes profs on research ties
Harvard sets sexism studies
Dartmouth preps for Carnival
Save Cupid A' Trip, before it's too late.

Are You Interested In Going To China This Summer?

Come to the 1983 Penn-in-Scholar Information Meeting

Thursday, February 10, 4:00 PM
West Lounge, 4th floor
Williams Hall
Note: Knowledge of Chinese not required.

Campus Events

Panel calls for Sharon resignation
U. Cal woes profs on research ties
Harvard sets sexism studies
Dartmouth preps for Carnival
Save Cupid A' Trip, before it's too late.

Are You Interested In Going To China This Summer?

Campus Events

Panel calls for Sharon resignation
U. Cal woes profs on research ties
Harvard sets sexism studies
Dartmouth preps for Carnival
Save Cupid A' Trip, before it's too late.

Are You Interested In Going To China This Summer?

Campus Events

Panel calls for Sharon resignation
U. Cal woes profs on research ties
Harvard sets sexism studies
Dartmouth preps for Carnival
Save Cupid A' Trip, before it's too late.

Are You Interested In Going To China This Summer?

Campus Events

Panel calls for Sharon resignation
U. Cal woes profs on research ties
Harvard sets sexism studies
Dartmouth preps for Carnival
Save Cupid A' Trip, before it's too late.

Are You Interested In Going To China This Summer?

Campus Events

Panel calls for Sharon resignation
U. Cal woes profs on research ties
Harvard sets sexism studies
Dartmouth preps for Carnival
Save Cupid A' Trip, before it's too late.

Are You Interested In Going To China This Summer?
Campus art gallery is picture-perfect for Goya's works

BY KAREN ZIOMA

The University’s Chinese population.

Chinese Students Association

Tuesday, February 9, 1983

The New Year’s celebration is part of a program, originally sponsored by Museum Public, Programs Office, U.S. Office, which was intended to provide a forum for cultural exchange and to highlight the significance of Chinese culture. The exhibitions are a product of the Chinese Culture Center, a group of American students, which works in conjunction with the museum.

There will be performances of traditional opera, music, and dance. A tea will be served for the public, and the museum will offer an opportunity for the public to make offerings of money and paper to the temple.

Kung Fu and a Chinese opera, as well as paper folding in the Chinese Culture Center, will also take place.

In the coming year, the Chinese Culture Center will provide for a group of American students, which works in conjunction with the museum.

The program consists of a group of short films centered around ancient art as “Out of the World” or “Back Story.” It is followed by a series of lectures, which in turn focus on special films.

There are also workshops for the public. Physicians discuss their work, give information to filmmakers, and write scripts. Other events such as the Chinese Festival of Lanterns are also scheduled.

The “Film Show Program” presents community groups to show films in their programming. "It isn't new to see a piece of art, to pick a film, and to think about that, that a wide variety of people will pick film and come to a screening," said Frascari.

Frascari cited the students’ favorite films of the semester: "We are all very interested in the films that are shown." The films are also available for purchase online.

A Ballroom Year

The ball drops in Beijing

BY ILANA BALDWIN

Wednesday/Arts & Leisure

(loya.

preciation towards the work itself. The University’s new painting of a Chinese, located in the urness Building.

Arthur Ross Gallery, located in the urness Building, for Goya’s works throughout the building’s entrance, one might notice an exhibition of the Rosso collection of the works of painter Francisco Goya.

The art in the gallery’s entrance will be plain so that it’s not a competition with the art inside the building," he said.

The reproduction of the giant lanterns was a product of the dedication of the students and faculty at the Beijing Film School, according to Department of Fine Arts, chairman Ann Eveleth. "The lanterns are perhaps, in some cases, more important as opportunities for the students in the art school to express themselves," said Eveleth.

Frasca cited, "The art gallery is a Fine Arts library that is a place for film school students to become more aware of the direct relation between art with work. There is a need to use the identity of the building, the arts, and the theater."
Letters to the Editor

Some Women’s Views of Women

Beyond the Three Steps

Understanding Feminism

I am not only the only woman who, making a habit of it, I can change the world. It is not that I don’t understand the concept of equality. Our age is not only a period of equality but also equality of sex. The world is more equal for women than ever before. The world is more equal for women than ever before. This is due to the fact that women are more equal for women than ever before.

Some Women’s Views of Women

Beyond the Three Steps

Understanding Feminism

I am not only the only woman who, making a habit of it, I can change the world. It is not that I don’t understand the concept of equality. Our age is not only a period of equality but also equality of sex. The world is more equal for women than ever before. The world is more equal for women than ever before. This is due to the fact that women are more equal for women than ever before.

Setting the Record Straight on Volunteer Students

Involvement in various activities on campus is the key to stepping up the community involvement at Penn. It is not enough to simply go to class and then go home. It is necessary for an organized group of students to work towards the betterment of the community.

Quotation of the Day

“I don’t expect you to be fine in time, but that’s all I can say.”

Suffragette Carrie Chapman Catt (November 14, 1859 – October 14, 1947)
Carter aide Jordan to speak on campus

By DAVID TISCHMAN
Assistant White House Chief of Staff Hamilton Jordan will speak on campus next week about his "Memoir" in the Washington during the Penn Political Action Committee's symposium, "Current Trends and Issues in International Politics," in the Zellerbach Auditorium.

The speech, which is being co-sponsored by the Penn Political Action Committee, is scheduled for next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Zellerbach and will be followed by a question and answer session.

"I have been asked to appear at several campuses this spring and would be pleased to work with Con.

Blessed with a "wealth of experience from working with Carter's aids," Communications Chairman Steve Miller said last night. "I feel responsible for the foreign policy as well, including insights into the first six months," Miller said. A Whitman junior, he added, "I always remember being a Penn student and that I feel Jordan will offer fascinating opinions, as post well to questioning."

"We've seen the planning documents for the Center's campaign," Miller said. "It's a tremendously articulate and interesting opinions, as we will hear, and one of the more popular, if not most popular political figures in the past 10 years."

Miller said that Jordan will make a "unique" speech, touching on the Iran crisis and other issues of the Carter Administration, as well as "making some political predictions for 1984."

Miller said that Jordan will make a "unique" speech, touching on the Iran crisis and other issues of the Carter Administration, as well as "making some political predictions for 1984."

"He's a tremendously articulate and interesting opinions, as well, and we're very happy to have him," said Zellerbach Auditorium's General Manager Chip Delaney.

"First, I think he will make a very crucial factor in terms of probably is the extent to which he can Tajiki nation's consultations with the Carter administration in Zellerbach Theatre ... He's a very articulate speaker, to come to Penn," PPC President Andy Feiler said last night. "As a President, he's tried to lead his country to the right course, which is not always easy to express, as Penn in politics."" it's a tremendously articulate and interesting opinions, as well, and that he feels Jordan will offer fascinating opinions, as well, to the question and answer session.

"I am pleased at the degree that people are interested in hearing Hamilton Jordan speak."

"First, I think he will make a very crucial factor in terms of probably is the extent to which he can Tajiki nation's consultations with the Carter administration in Zellerbach Theatre, which he will not add a professional atmosphere to the evening."

Jordan has recently published his memoirs as White House chief of staff, and has a number of political friends and political science at Emory University last fall.

PPC and Commanomin have also worked together to bring last semester's debates between former presidential candidate John Anderson and Senator Hubert Humphrey to the campus.

Political Action Committee Chairman Steve Miller said last night.

Miller said that Jordan will make a "unique" speech, touching on the Iran crisis and other issues of the Carter Administration, as well as "making some political predictions for 1984."

"He's a very articulate speaker, to come to Penn," PPC President Andy Feiler said last night. "As a President, he's tried to lead his country to the right course, which is not always easy to express, as Penn in politics."

"I am pleased at the degree that people are interested in hearing Hamilton Jordan speak."
FAS to retain vacancies to reduce budget

Faculty, administrative positions remain unfilled

by Lauren Coleman

The faculty of Arts and Sciences, including the arts and humanities, social sciences, and not all administrative, faculty, and support staff positions for the next year.

The move is included in the school's budget for next year, and was announced during a meeting of the FAC faculty at College Hall. Walter Wales, who led the meeting in place of FAC Acting Dean Donald Evans, who was ill, said that although it is customary for the dean to preside over a faculty meeting, the position is not always filled the same day.

In other business at the meeting, Romance Languages Professor Frank Bowman said he is concerned that many students who pursue a degree in Romance Languages and Legacy remain unfilled to balance the budget. The admissions catalogues do not replace those positions, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

The faculty members said that any cutbacks must be made with a strict attention to the overall University budget. Since November, the position has remained unfilled, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

In a further effort to cut back on expenditures, the University will publish news this year in and administrate office to operate every other year instead of annually. The publications will be updated with the fall year.

Several faculty members at the meeting opposed the move, saying that the admissions catalogues do not replace those positions, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

The faculty members said that any cutbacks must be made with a strict attention to the overall University budget. Since November, the position has remained unfilled, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

In a further effort to cut back on expenditures, the University will publish news this year in and administrate office to operate every other year instead of annually. The publications will be updated with the fall year.

Several faculty members at the meeting opposed the move, saying that the admissions catalogues do not replace those positions, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

The faculty members said that any cutbacks must be made with a strict attention to the overall University budget. Since November, the position has remained unfilled, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

In a further effort to cut back on expenditures, the University will publish news this year in and administrate office to operate every other year instead of annually. The publications will be updated with the fall year.

Several faculty members at the meeting opposed the move, saying that the admissions catalogues do not replace those positions, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

The faculty members said that any cutbacks must be made with a strict attention to the overall University budget. Since November, the position has remained unfilled, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

In a further effort to cut back on expenditures, the University will publish news this year in and administrate office to operate every other year instead of annually. The publications will be updated with the fall year.

Several faculty members at the meeting opposed the move, saying that the admissions catalogues do not replace those positions, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

The faculty members said that any cutbacks must be made with a strict attention to the overall University budget. Since November, the position has remained unfilled, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

In a further effort to cut back on expenditures, the University will publish news this year in and administrate office to operate every other year instead of annually. The publications will be updated with the fall year.

Several faculty members at the meeting opposed the move, saying that the admissions catalogues do not replace those positions, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

The faculty members said that any cutbacks must be made with a strict attention to the overall University budget. Since November, the position has remained unfilled, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

In a further effort to cut back on expenditures, the University will publish news this year in and administrate office to operate every other year instead of annually. The publications will be updated with the fall year.

Several faculty members at the meeting opposed the move, saying that the admissions catalogues do not replace those positions, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

The faculty members said that any cutbacks must be made with a strict attention to the overall University budget. Since November, the position has remained unfilled, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

In a further effort to cut back on expenditures, the University will publish news this year in and administrate office to operate every other year instead of annually. The publications will be updated with the fall year.

Several faculty members at the meeting opposed the move, saying that the admissions catalogues do not replace those positions, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

The faculty members said that any cutbacks must be made with a strict attention to the overall University budget. Since November, the position has remained unfilled, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

In a further effort to cut back on expenditures, the University will publish news this year in and administrate office to operate every other year instead of annually. The publications will be updated with the fall year.

Several faculty members at the meeting opposed the move, saying that the admissions catalogues do not replace those positions, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

The faculty members said that any cutbacks must be made with a strict attention to the overall University budget. Since November, the position has remained unfilled, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

In a further effort to cut back on expenditures, the University will publish news this year in and administrate office to operate every other year instead of annually. The publications will be updated with the fall year.

Several faculty members at the meeting opposed the move, saying that the admissions catalogues do not replace those positions, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

The faculty members said that any cutbacks must be made with a strict attention to the overall University budget. Since November, the position has remained unfilled, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

In a further effort to cut back on expenditures, the University will publish news this year in and administrate office to operate every other year instead of annually. The publications will be updated with the fall year.

Several faculty members at the meeting opposed the move, saying that the admissions catalogues do not replace those positions, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

The faculty members said that any cutbacks must be made with a strict attention to the overall University budget. Since November, the position has remained unfilled, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

In a further effort to cut back on expenditures, the University will publish news this year in and administrate office to operate every other year instead of annually. The publications will be updated with the fall year.

Several faculty members at the meeting opposed the move, saying that the admissions catalogues do not replace those positions, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.

The faculty members said that any cutbacks must be made with a strict attention to the overall University budget. Since November, the position has remained unfilled, which is often a handicap to recruiting students, especially on a graduate level.
Wish Someone Special a Happy Valentine's Day
in The Daily Pennsylvanian

Cutie, Happy Valentine's Day
Love, Me.

Schroeder, Forever be mine
Lucy

ON SALE NOW

Locust Walk
(in front of Steinberg/Dietrich)
10 am - 3 pm

Rain location: Houston Hall

DP Office
4015 Walnut
9 am - 5 pm

Don't let your special someone be left out. Show them you care

Only $4 per column inch (same price as last year)
$3 additional for heart-warming red color.

On Sale through Friday
WEEKEND DELI MUNCH
Bring this coupon and receive FREE
6 Pack Coke or Tab Cans
Friday, Saturday & Sunday
Free - 6 Pack Coke or Tab Cans
(with 5.00 Deli Purchase)
February 11, 12, and 13

ISPORKS!
Don't miss out on a special limited offer. Details too numerous to mention. To obtain yours or learn more info.
dial 662-1109. Ask for
Mike, the exclusive sales agents for the Pennsylvania region.

"I'M, I
Limit 1 per Customer
Expires 2/24/83
25C
Sponsored by
Siti.ii up on Locust Walk
Place: U of Penn Bookstore
Have A Heart
University Pinball
Free - 6 Pack Coke or Tab Cans
Any Josten's gold ring
"in •Metis rvprvscrtiw
You Can Learn How
To Save a Life
HAVE A HEART - LEARN CPR
classes are offered Feb. 14-Feb. 20
Sign up on Locust Walk or call SAE 243-9449
Sponsored by
Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity

Fraternity sponsors
CPR training course

Kaplan said that each course will be taught by a certified instructor, of whom anywhere between 10 and 20 will teach about 100 CPR classes a year.

In addition, personal trainers will be on hand to answer questions about CPR.

and other games
for free as long as your clothes are available.

New Maytag Washers.

You Played The Rest
Now Play The Best
Mon. Wed. 8 AM - 2 AM
Thurs. 24 Hrs.
Fri. - 24 Hrs.
Sat. 24 Hrs.
Sun. 8 AM - 2 AM

4006-08 SPRUCE ST.

"HOW I GOT MY JOB"
Wondertng, Worrying, Contemplating about Your Job Search and Life before Penn?
Hear about the job searches, and their outcomes from former Penn students now working in:
• Arts Management
• Journalism
• Retailing
• Securities
Learn how to enhance your job-hunting tactics.
Wednesday, February 9
7-9 p.m.
Ben Franklin Room
Houston Hall
To sign up, call 989-3012

"THE ANNENBERG CENTER   •   1983"
ARTS Fest/83
Celebrating the Art of Storytelling
by Chaucer and others through
Word/Song/Image/Movement

Jacques Tati
Retrospective
Exclusive Philadelphia showing of all 16 films by French filmmaker
Jacques Tati, 1941-82, in restored
silent comedy. Tati uses sight and sound gags that make dialogue superfluous.
"Tati was a method, a way of looking at the world to discover comic rhythms never seen before or since in movies." Vincent Canby.

Exclusive Philadelphia showing of 1983-84
Jour de Fete (1949)
Mr. Hulot's Holiday (1953)
Playtime (1967)
 workspace in mixed spring flow. $17.50

L'ARTISTE
THE ANNENBERG CENTER   •   1983
ARTS Fest/83
Celebrating the Art of Storytelling
by Chaucer and others through
Word/Song/Image/Movement

Jacques Tati
Retrospective
Exclusive Philadelphia showing of
all 16 films by French filmmaker
Jacques Tati, 1941-82, in restored
silent comedy. Tati uses sight and sound gags that make dialogue superfluous.
"Tati was a method, a way of looking at the world to discover comic rhythms never seen before or since in movies." Vincent Canby.

Exclusive Philadelphia showing of 1983-84
Jour de Fete (1949)
Mr. Hulot's Holiday (1953)
Playtime (1967)
 workspace in mixed spring flow. $17.50

L'ARTISTE
THE ANNENBERG CENTER   •   1983
ARTS Fest/83
Celebrating the Art of Storytelling
by Chaucer and others through
Word/Song/Image/Movement

Jacques Tati
Retrospective
Exclusive Philadelphia showing of
all 16 films by French filmmaker
Jacques Tati, 1941-82, in restored
silent comedy. Tati uses sight and sound gags that make dialogue superfluous.
"Tati was a method, a way of looking at the world to discover comic rhythms never seen before or since in movies." Vincent Canby.

Exclusive Philadelphia showing of 1983-84
Jour de Fete (1949)
Mr. Hulot's Holiday (1953)
Playtime (1967)
 workspace in mixed spring flow. $17.50

L'ARTISTE
Calling for help: Crisis hotline guides troubled students

By Jack Kastman

Jeff is an ordinary student. But when he hears his girlfriend is pregnant, he starts to worry. He doesn’t know what to do.

This is the type of problem that has led to the creation of the Wharton Public Management Club, a crisis hotline which began last semester to help troubled people.

Graduate Co-director Karen Sansom said last week that the hotline has been a constant concern for both students and faculty.

“The purpose of the hotline is so people can talk to someone, whether they find a solution, other than the approach of putting the problem on their minds,” Sansom said.

“Most calls are made because we are only a first step toward getting them further help,” he added.

Speaker to discuss urban redevelopment

By Nancy Baetje

Harvard Law Professor Charles Haar will speak on the government’s role in urban renewal at 4:30 p.m. Friday in a special meeting of the College’s Urban Issues Club.

The speech, called “Urban Renewal: City 2000,” will be sponsored by the Harvard Urbanists M.B.A. Club and the Wharton Public Management Club.

The issue of urban renewal exists in a constant state of flux at both the local and federal government. It is a concern for the president, the Congress, and the future.

Haar formerly assisted the Assistant Secretary of Housing and Development for the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

He is a prominent advocate of urban redevelopment.

In his speech, Haar will discuss current legislation on urban renewal and the importance of public involvement in the process.

Haar said the hotline has been a constant concern for both students and faculty.

“The hotline is a way for people to talk to someone, whether they find a solution, other than the approach of putting the problem on their minds,” Haar said.

“Most calls are made because we are only a first step toward getting them further help,” he added.

President Karen Rapheal said she supports the partnership between the government and private sectors.

“People in business must work arm-in-arm with the public sector,” she said. “With the current economic zone, government is already stepping into the market on the front end.

“Even within the setting of the business school, there is an important role in maintaining governments and private business cooperation,” she said.

Amnesty International Important Meeting

Come To Our Meeting Tonight 8 P.M.

Stoutfer Rec. Room

(Next To Office Of Student Life)

IMPORTANT MEETING

URGENT

Come To Our Meeting Tonight 8 P.M.

Stoutfer Rec. Room

(Next To Office Of Student Life)

FROST-SOPH CARE ABOUT YOUR EDUCATION

JOIN SCUE

College, Engineering, Nursing, Wharton Welcome Applications Available Wed.-Fri., Feb. 9-11th

3732 Locust Walk, Across from Bookstore

989-6945

Celebrating the Art of Storytelling by Chaucer and others through Word/Song/Image/Movement

Amnesty International Important Meeting

Come To Our Meeting Tonight 8 P.M.

Stoutfer Rec. Room

(Next To Office Of Student Life)

IMPORTANT MEETING

URGENT

Come To Our Meeting Tonight 8 P.M.

Stoutfer Rec. Room

(Next To Office Of Student Life)

FROST-SOPH CARE ABOUT YOUR EDUCATION

JOIN SCUE

College, Engineering, Nursing, Wharton Welcome Applications Available Wed.-Fri., Feb. 9-11th

3732 Locust Walk, Across from Bookstore

989-6945

Celebrating the Art of Storytelling by Chaucer and others through Word/Song/Image/Movement

Amnesty International Important Meeting

Come To Our Meeting Tonight 8 P.M.

Stoutfer Rec. Room

(Next To Office Of Student Life)

IMPORTANT MEETING

URGENT

Come To Our Meeting Tonight 8 P.M.

Stoutfer Rec. Room

(Next To Office Of Student Life)

FROST-SOPH CARE ABOUT YOUR EDUCATION

JOIN SCUE

College, Engineering, Nursing, Wharton Welcome Applications Available Wed.-Fri., Feb. 9-11th

3732 Locust Walk, Across from Bookstore

989-6945

Celebrating the Art of Storytelling by Chaucer and others through Word/Song/Image/Movement

Amnesty International Important Meeting

Come To Our Meeting Tonight 8 P.M.

Stoutfer Rec. Room

(Next To Office Of Student Life)

IMPORTANT MEETING

URGENT

Come To Our Meeting Tonight 8 P.M.

Stoutfer Rec. Room

(Next To Office Of Student Life)
Work Study Jobs Shouldn't Be Boring

Recently recognized by Columbia Scholastic Press Association as one of the country's top three college newspapers, The Daily Pennsylvanian is rapidly expanding. Circulation, coverage, and sales have grown so tremendously in recent years that the DP is now one of the largest newspapers in the fifth largest city in the nation. To meet the challenges of this exciting expansion, the DP is seeking interested work study students to perform many of the vital tasks of a major daily newspaper.

Interested students should call 898-6581. Ask for Mary Lou Schaffer or Kathy Bradley. After 5:00 P.M. ask for Lisa Goldberg.

Four programs in SPUP move to other U. schools

(Robert J. Taylor) A move to other U. schools is rapidly expanding. The DP is seeking interested work study students to perform many of the vital tasks of a major daily newspaper.

U. Council to discuss draft aid law

(Carlton Polsky) "I don't like the money idea. It's nuts," asserted Robert J. Taylor. "I think the provosts serve on the board and are not well prepared for running the university. They are constantly thinking about how to cut expenses for the university."

Rug Cleaning

FREE AD

WALSH'S TAVERN

1730 W. Overlook Ave., (717) 393-2737

RUGS

NEW AND USED

RENT or BUY

RESTORATION

RENT or BUY

BRANDS - CASA

DELIVERY - INSTALLATION

DELIVERY - INSTALLATION

RENT or BUY

RUG CLEANING

FURNITURE RUGS & CARPET

RENTAL LEASE PURCHASE

RENT or BUY

dp Graphics

"Do you have a resume?"

The Daily Pennsylvanian

The New School is closing its doors in July for the victims of declining enrollment and decreased funding. The union SPUP faculty members have already been replaced in other schools.

Several Council members proposed that a safer option to be added to the university's current expansion would be to offer a new "Community College," which would offer a broad range of programs in social and human sciences.

The committee is open for expressions of interest from students and teachers.

Do you have a resume?" DP Graphics can provide you with a distinguished quality resume at the lowest possible price, and fine personalized stationery, discounted if submitted with a resume.

As soon as you have composed your draft, stop by and see us.

4015 WALNUT STREET 2nd Floor 898-6581

Four programs in SPUP

The Green Devil's" Show {'"\n
C.2 orumes l1338

Celebrating the Art of Storytelling by Chaucer and others through Word/Song/Image/Movement

The Appalachian Folktales Charlotte Ross Professional storyteller, and nth generation Appalachian, Charlotte Ross tells tales, humorous character sketches, marchen and Jack tales, and tales of Sin, Sex, and the Supernatural.

Professional storyteller, and nth generation Appalachian, Charlotte Ross tells tales, humorous character sketches, marchen and Jack tales, and tales of Sin, Sex, and the Supernatural.

"Power and Spirit: Stories of Esther and Vashiki"

SHEILA WEINBERG

University Director, Pennsylvania State University

"The Many Paths of Jewish Feminism"

REBECCA ALPERT

B.A. in Religion, Reconstructionist Rabbinical College

KATHY GREEN

Freelance Writer - The Jewish Family Book

"The Matriarchs: Person or Role?"

"Women and Judaism" series 1983

JANET RUTH BALON

Freelance journalist

REMI T. KOTZIN

B.A. Religion, Brandeis College

RABBI MEIR FUND

Ministry Director, Brandeis College

"Women's Words: Female Jewish Poets"

"Judaism and Feminism"

VS. SUSANNAH HESCHEL

Doctor of Student U. of C.

FREE ADMISSION

NEW DANCE PARTY

TODAY 10 PM.

FRIDAY, MAR. 6. 11:00 AM - Brunch

NIGHTTIME, MARCH 8, 8:30 PM

DISCOUNTED RUGS TO STUDENTS, TEACHERS, TAKING AT LEAST 20% OFF

EUROPE BY CAR

Highest rated in Caribbean, Europe and Mediterranean

RENT or BUY

1831 BROAD ST.

717-393-0717

RENT or BUY

FOR STUDENTS, TEACHERS

SAVING 20% ON NEW RUGS WITH THIS AD

RUG CLEANING

IONS - SAVE 20% ON NEW RUGS WITH THIS AD

20% DISCOUNT ON NEW RUGS WITH THIS AD

M. INJAHN & SONS

RENT or BUY

1836 BROAD ST.

717-393-0717

NEW RUGS

FREE ADMISSION

OLDIES DANCE PARTY

TODAY 10 PM.

THE NEW SCHOOL FOUNDATION

ANNENBERG CENTER

UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA 6853 W. 38TH ST. PHILADELPHIA PA 19104

"The Many Paths of Jewish Feminism"

KATHY GREEN

Freelance Writer - The Jewish Family Book

"The Matriarchs: Person or Role?"

SHEILA WEINBERG

University Director, Pennsylvania State University

"Power and Spirit: Stories of Esther and Vashiki"

RABBI MEIR FUND

Ministry Director, Brandeis College

"Women's Words: Female Jewish Poets"

"Judaism and Feminism"

VS. SUSANNAH HESCHEL

Doctor of Student U. of C.

FREE ADMISSION

NEW DANCE PARTY

TODAY 10 PM.

FRIDAY, MAR. 6. 11:00 AM - Brunch

NIGHTTIME, MARCH 8, 8:30 PM

DISCOUNTED RUGS TO STUDENTS, TEACHERS, TAKING AT LEAST 20% OFF

EUROPE BY CAR

Highest rated in Caribbean, Europe and Mediterranean

RENT or BUY

1831 BROAD ST.

717-393-0717

RENT or BUY

FOR STUDENTS, TEACHERS

SAVING 20% ON NEW RUGS WITH THIS AD

RUG CLEANING

IONS - SAVE 20% ON NEW RUGS WITH THIS AD

20% DISCOUNT ON NEW RUGS WITH THIS AD

M. INJAHN & SONS

RENT or BUY

1836 BROAD ST.

717-393-0717

NEW RUGS

FREE ADMISSION

OLDIES DANCE PARTY

TODAY 10 PM.
A resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college house resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry.

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry.

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry."

The second resolution (Bachman-Dellapina) was introduced by a former college resident. "I think it's important for people to know what's going on," he said. "The new campus will not guarantee campus housing for all students."

"We do not want people to be homeless," said Straton. "Our college house residents would lose their jobs, their families, and their homes." Straton said he hopes the new system will guarantee campus housing for all students. "People who have high credit, who have a job, or another system or another thing, won't have to worry.
owls overwhelmed by W. Swimmers

By GARY EDDIE

Despite the loss of five seniors, the Quakers' basketball team this season is still a strong team, and that's why George Noon said yesterday, "I really don't think our team is going to overlook anyone, not even against George."

On the floor, the Quakers' head coach said, "We haven't lost any games, but it's not like we were going to win every game."

But he also said, "We have the ability to play with anyone, and we have the ability to lose to anyone."