

Jumping for Joy

MOUNT EAGLE ISN'T, but Engineering Society sophomore Robert O. Walton was jubilant yesterday afternoon, and then falls gracefully with a safety rope toward the ground. Marich was one of a group of Hill House residents who traveled from the South Street Bridge yesterday afternoon, and then falls gracefully with a safety rope toward the ground.

What if students vote to dissolve the UA?

Ten provisions have been recently stepped up by the Undergraduate Student Assembly, one of the key student groups that makes up the student voice on the University's campus.

Provisions announced Thursday by Teamster, said that the Undergraduate Student Assembly, one of the key student groups that makes up the student voice on the University's campus.

10 to Receive Lindbach Awards

Ten provisions have been recently stepped up by the Undergraduate Student Assembly.

Provisions announced Thursday by Teamster, said that the Undergraduate Student Assembly, one of the key student groups that makes up the student voice on the University's campus.

Which students do we vote to dissolve the UA?

The Undergraduate Student Assembly, known as the UA, is one of the key student groups that makes up the student voice on the University's campus.

The administration, I think, is well equipped to deal with the proposal.

The Undergraduate Student Assembly, known as the UA, is one of the key student groups that makes up the student voice on the University's campus.

The administration, I think, is well equipped to deal with the proposal.

The Undergraduate Student Assembly, known as the UA, is one of the key student groups that makes up the student voice on the University's campus.

The administration, I think, is well equipped to deal with the proposal.

The Undergraduate Student Assembly, known as the UA, is one of the key student groups that makes up the student voice on the University's campus.
Police disperse Solidarity gathering

WARSAW, Poland — Police officers battled with up to 200 Solidarity supporters who were blocking an entrance to the University of Warsaw yesterday to mark the 40th anniversary of the Warsaw Uprising.

Authorities detained at least three people, including the outnumbered leaders, who told the crowd that if the Warsaw Uprising failed, "there would be no freedom for the people." The police opened fire on the crowd, and several people were seriously wounded.

Lahore students protest

LAHORE: The students of the University of Lahore, who have been on a sit-in protest to open a dialogue with the government and the Pakistan people, are calling for the release of all political prisoners. The protesters are demanding the withdrawal of all state forces from the university campus and the restoration of academic freedom.

Lahore students protest

LAHORE: The students of the University of Lahore, who have been on a sit-in protest to open a dialogue with the government and the Pakistan people, are calling for the release of all political prisoners. The protesters are demanding the withdrawal of all state forces from the university campus and the restoration of academic freedom.

Lahore students protest

LAHORE: The students of the University of Lahore, who have been on a sit-in protest to open a dialogue with the government and the Pakistan people, are calling for the release of all political prisoners. The protesters are demanding the withdrawal of all state forces from the university campus and the restoration of academic freedom.

Lahore students protest

LAHORE: The students of the University of Lahore, who have been on a sit-in protest to open a dialogue with the government and the Pakistan people, are calling for the release of all political prisoners. The protesters are demanding the withdrawal of all state forces from the university campus and the restoration of academic freedom.

Lahore students protest

LAHORE: The students of the University of Lahore, who have been on a sit-in protest to open a dialogue with the government and the Pakistan people, are calling for the release of all political prisoners. The protesters are demanding the withdrawal of all state forces from the university campus and the restoration of academic freedom.

Lahore students protest

LAHORE: The students of the University of Lahore, who have been on a sit-in protest to open a dialogue with the government and the Pakistan people, are calling for the release of all political prisoners. The protesters are demanding the withdrawal of all state forces from the university campus and the restoration of academic freedom.

Lahore students protest

LAHORE: The students of the University of Lahore, who have been on a sit-in protest to open a dialogue with the government and the Pakistan people, are calling for the release of all political prisoners. The protesters are demanding the withdrawal of all state forces from the university campus and the restoration of academic freedom.
The art of studying foreign language

Native speakers give students ‘private’ lessons

B. ANN BALEY

"Qu'est ce que tu aimes le plus dans cette ville?"

"What can I do to go to Paris in five days or less?"

"The weather in France isn't so hot either."

"Qu'est ce que tu aimes le plus dans cette ville?"

"What can I do to go to Paris in five days or less?"

"The weather in France isn't so hot either.

Students in foreign language classes throughout the United States have discovered there can be more to learning a new language than stringing words together or learning a new vocabulary each week. These students have been paired with native speakers, and have found that the task of absorbing the new language easier. College freshman David Passman, who is studying Spanish, said, "It's really good to hear a different dialect, and adjust to the change in speed of their speech."

The language conversation partner program was started in 1980, when Barbara Freed, assistant dean for language instruction, recognized the benefit for University students of communicating on a regular basis with a foreign student. "It really helps that many students don't have the language experience of a foreign student to develop their oral skills because they have no one to practice with," she said recently.

"We have found that oral language skills is not the sole aim of the program. She said that there were communication between students, will lead to greater understanding of cultural differences."

Many language departments, including Spanish, French, German, Arabic and Japanese, are involved in the program. Students or problems in getting foreigners in the participants in most languages," Freed said. "But we have found that oral language skills is not the sole aim of the program. She said that there were communication between students, will lead to greater understanding of cultural differences."

"Our goal is to help students improve their oral skills. It's important that American students become aware of the cultural differences of people who live in other countries," she said.

College freshman David Passman, who is studying Spanish, said, "It's really good to hear a different dialect, and adjust to the change in speed of their speech."

The language conversation partner program was started in 1980, when Barbara Freed, assistant dean for language instruction, recognized the benefit for University students of communicating on a regular basis with a foreign student. "It really helps that many students don't have the language experience of a foreign student to develop their oral skills because they have no one to practice with," she said recently.

"We have found that oral language skills is not the sole aim of the program. She said that there were communication between students, will lead to greater understanding of cultural differences."

Many language departments, including Spanish, French, German, Arabic and Japanese, are involved in the program. Students or problems in getting foreigners in the participants in most languages," Freed said. "But we have found that oral language skills is not the sole aim of the program. She said that there were communication between students, will lead to greater understanding of cultural differences."

"Our goal is to help students improve their oral skills. It's important that American students become aware of the cultural differences of people who live in other countries," she said.
The Nuclear Debate Rages On

By Debbie Boitel

As a graduating senior, I don't really care about the future of the Undergraduate Assembly. Nothing in the April 28 vote on my 1978-79 resolution to call a referendum on nuclear disarmament will change the policies of the Soviet Union or the United States. But I do care about the principles involved.

The whole debate is not worth defending. The Soviet Union cannot carry out a freeze, even if only 10 percent of the Soviet missiles were destroyed by those who proposed it, the current UA would be obsolete. Even if a freeze were to be held, it would be taken. It is only worth defending that the public is being manipulated by the opposition to the proposed freeze.

The nuclear freeze would be an effective move because it would take the pressure off the leaders of the United Nations and the leaders of the Soviet Union. It would be a positive move toward peace.

But the idea of independent action to entice the big cheese himself, as Tom Carvel has made a fortune on — frozen yogurt! So we could certainly hold a referendum on nuclear disarmament.

In these days, one never sees the president of the University from the Quad, but we have heard a lot about what the faculty and the students are thinking.

I raced from the Quad, which has degenerated into a whirlwind of activity, to the Library to write this article. The Quad was a lively place with sugar cones — which Tom Carvel has made a fortune on.

The Nuclear Debate Rages On

By Debbie Boitel

As a graduating senior, I don't really care about the future of the Undergraduate Assembly. Nothing in the April 28 vote on my 1978-79 resolution to call a referendum on nuclear disarmament will change the policies of the Soviet Union or the United States. But I do care about the principles involved.

The whole debate is not worth defending. The Soviet Union cannot carry out a freeze, even if only 10 percent of the Soviet missiles were destroyed by those who proposed it, the current UA would be obsolete. Even if a freeze were to be held, it would be taken. It is only worth defending that the public is being manipulated by the opposition to the proposed freeze.

The nuclear freeze would be an effective move because it would take the pressure off the leaders of the United Nations and the leaders of the Soviet Union. It would be a positive move toward peace.

But the idea of independent action to entice the big cheese himself, as Tom Carvel has made a fortune on — frozen yogurt! So we could certainly hold a referendum on nuclear disarmament.

In these days, one never sees the president of the University from the Quad, but we have heard a lot about what the faculty and the students are thinking.

I raced from the Quad, which has degenerated into a whirlwind of activity, to the Library to write this article. The Quad was a lively place with sugar cones — which Tom Carvel has made a fortune on.

The Nuclear Debate Rages On

By Debbie Boitel

As a graduating senior, I don't really care about the future of the Undergraduate Assembly. Nothing in the April 28 vote on my 1978-79 resolution to call a referendum on nuclear disarmament will change the policies of the Soviet Union or the United States. But I do care about the principles involved.

The whole debate is not worth defending. The Soviet Union cannot carry out a freeze, even if only 10 percent of the Soviet missiles were destroyed by those who proposed it, the current UA would be obsolete. Even if a freeze were to be held, it would be taken. It is only worth defending that the public is being manipulated by the opposition to the proposed freeze.

The nuclear freeze would be an effective move because it would take the pressure off the leaders of the United Nations and the leaders of the Soviet Union. It would be a positive move toward peace.

But the idea of independent action to entice the big cheese himself, as Tom Carvel has made a fortune on — frozen yogurt! So we could certainly hold a referendum on nuclear disarmament.

In these days, one never sees the president of the University from the Quad, but we have heard a lot about what the faculty and the students are thinking.

I raced from the Quad, which has degenerated into a whirlwind of activity, to the Library to write this article. The Quad was a lively place with sugar cones — which Tom Carvel has made a fortune on.
Letters to the Editor

Pro and Con: the UA Abolishment Issue

To the Editor:

For the many of you who want a change in the present government, congratulations, you’re won. The majority politics of the past have gone. A generation of students who truly represent your interests, your beliefs, is now afoot in the Student Assembly. The majority politics of the past have gone.

We, the undersigned, as concerned students active in the movement to improve Penn student government, make the following commitments to Penn undergraduates:

1) We support the majority proposal calling for replacing the Undergraduate Assembly with a restructured student government (Proposition A).

2) We join those who feel that the reform-minded proposal calling for the abolition of the UA for the first time this year represents a serious attempt to deal with the problems of Penn’s present student government. If it is successful, we shall, together with the students of the reform-minded proposal, act as a coordinating committee to explore a "restructured student government" to pave the way for a new student government. In this, Penn’s students will seek as much input as possible from all elements of the student body.

3) We call for a total revamping of the student government: make it a truly effective and representative student government.

4) The single most important goal of the "Abolition Proposal" is to create a totally new organization so that the initiative is taken to create a more efficient and responsive student government.

We urge all students to support the restructured student government. If the UA abolition proposition succeeds, we shall, together with those of you who wanted a change in student government, work towards a better student government. If the majority wins, we shall hold the leaders of that government accountable to you, the students who want change. If the "Abolition Proposal" wins, we shall work for a better student government. We urge all students to support the restructured student government.

The biggest challenge facing Penn undergraduates is now and we will work for change in the system.

April 20, 1983

FRANK I. NTZ
Chair, Undergraduate Assembly
Fresh Connections Presents:

Basset's Hand-Dipped Ice Cream

along with

Haagendas Frozen Yogurt and a selection of 30 toppings for soothing your SUNDEA FEVER!

but one topping and get a second topping for only $5 with purchase of Basset's Ice Cream at this presentation of this coupon.

EVERY GOVERNING CITIZEN

New York Public Library - 5th Avenue at 42nd St.

Room 439

Constitutions of the Countries of the World

A. Pouliot and G.H. Pfaltz

Room 406

A. Documentary Survey of the French Revolution

John Hall Stewart

February 19, 1931

To people committed to full meaningful employment and peace on earth

The U.S. Government allows American entrepreneurs to manufacture goods and parts in the country. The U.S. government makes it possible for American entrepreneurs to manufacture goods and parts and foreign manufacturers and foreign governments to manufacture goods and parts for the government.

The U.S. government supports the unemployed to welfare. The unemployed are provided with work and living conditions that are not conducive to the development of their abilities. The unemployed receive food, clothing, and shelter.

Although the government has made some efforts to develop the economy, the problems remain.

---

Poet Borges talks on Whitman

Borges, the Argentine poet, visited the University last week. His visit was part of the speaker series organized by the Department of Romance Languages.

Borges discussed the concept of the "poet," the role of the poet, and the importance of reading and writing. He also talked about his own work and the influence of Whitman on his poetry.

Borges said, "I have the feeling that poetry is an art of solitude. I have a deep respect for it."

---

The Best Haircut On or Off Campus

"NEW MINI SERVICE"

We'll cut it, shampoo it, condition it. You blow it dry. Use our equipment. $15.00

"The Precision Haircut."

---

SURVIVING THE FINALS CRUNCH: PREPARING FOR EXAMS

University Reading Improvements Service & Residential Living Services

---

U. R. I. S. will be doing a workshop that can help you

- Learn how to plan your studying so that you use your time to your best advantage.
- Get a grip on your stress so you aren't in your own worst enemy.
- Get a grip on your stress so you aren't in your own worst enemy.
- "To Or Not to Or?" - get help in deciding whether or not you get to give a presentation at the end of the term.
- "Multiple Choice? Essay test?" - learn basic principles of solving multiple choice exams.
- ABOVE ALL, get some tips on taking control.

HIGH RISE NORTH UPPER LOBBY

SPONSORED BY THE HIGH RISE NORTH RESIDENT STAFF REFRESHMENTS PROVIDED
Libraries plan evacuation drills
Rosengarten bomb scare prompts action

By JOHN MCMILLAN
Science writer
The University of Pennsylvania

The University's libraries plan evacuation drills next week to bolster their response to threats of violence.

The move follows a bomb scare at a library last week that prompted a mass evacuation.

The university's libraries, which include the Van Pelt, Fine Arts and Law libraries, are scheduled to conduct a series of evacuation drills next week.

The drills are part of the university's ongoing efforts to improve safety and security on campus.

The university's libraries have been working to improve their response to threats of violence, including recent bomb scares.

The university's libraries plan to conduct drills in response to the bomb scare at a library last week.

The drills are scheduled to take place next week and are expected to involve up to 1,000 students and staff.

The university's libraries plan to implement new procedures and protocols to improve their response to threats of violence.

The drills are part of the university's ongoing efforts to improve safety and security on campus.

The university's libraries have been working to improve their response to threats of violence, including recent bomb scares.

The university's libraries plan to conduct drills in response to the bomb scare at a library last week.

The drills are scheduled to take place next week and are expected to involve up to 1,000 students and staff.

The university's libraries plan to implement new procedures and protocols to improve their response to threats of violence.

The drills are part of the university's ongoing efforts to improve safety and security on campus.

The university's libraries have been working to improve their response to threats of violence, including recent bomb scares.

The university's libraries plan to conduct drills in response to the bomb scare at a library last week.

The drills are scheduled to take place next week and are expected to involve up to 1,000 students and staff.

The university's libraries plan to implement new procedures and protocols to improve their response to threats of violence.

The drills are part of the university's ongoing efforts to improve safety and security on campus.

The university's libraries have been working to improve their response to threats of violence, including recent bomb scares.
NEW STUDENT WEEK ’83

Very Important Final Meeting for anyone at all interested in helping with any NSW activity.

Lunch on the terrace at Restaurant Laterrasse.

From our new Spring menu:

- Salade de la maison: 5.40
- Cherry tomatoes, chic, peas, bacon and red onion tossed in lemon dressing and served with a vinagrette dressing.
- Soleaux Bananes: 5.25
- Lightly breaded sole with bananas and sautéed with bananas and almonds flambéed in rum.
- Nouilles aux Asperges: 4.95
- 261 in a cream and locatelli cheese sauce with asparagus.
- Quiche du Jour: 4.75
- Served with a green salad.

Franklin’s Folliés

A Whodunit starring Penn Faculty and Staff

Friday, April 22 and Saturday, April 23

8 P.M. Annenberg School Auditorium

Tickets $4.50/$3.50 with employee I.D. Snacking limited

Discovering Penn’s Hidden Talent
College Dinner will never be the same.

Men split in New England

B. THEODOR BRUSH

For the men’s tennis team, it’s back to full strength.

Women’s 3rd at tourney

B. THEODOR BRUSH

When reading the favorite, nothing percent of certainty is standing.

The Daily Pennsylvanian - Monday, April 11, 1983

SUPER SALE

MON. & TUES. 4/18-4/19

Swedish Fish $1.99 pound

M & M’s $2.99 pound

Lunch on the terrace at Restaurant Laterrasse.

From our new Spring menu:

- Salade de la maison: 4.50
- Cherry tomatoes, chic peas, bacon and red onion tossed in lemon dressing and served with a vinagrette dressing.
- Soleaux Bananes: 5.75
- Lightly breaded sole with bananas and sautéed with bananas and almonds flambéed in rum.
- Nouilles aux Asperges: 4.95
- 261 in a cream and locatelli cheese sauce with asparagus.
- Quiche du Jour: 4.75
- Served with a green salad.

NSW New Student Week ’83

Very Important Final Meeting for anyone at all interested in helping with any NSW activity.

Wed., April 20, 7 pm

Houston Hall Auditorium

New Members Welcome Refreshments Served

A mixed weekend for Penn’s tennis teams

Pen’s, M’s$$2.99 pound

Lunch on the terrace at Restaurant Laterrasse.

From our new Spring menu:

- Salade de la maison: 4.50
- Cherry tomatoes, chic peas, bacon and red onion tossed in lemon dressing and served with a vinagrette dressing.
- Soleaux Bananes: 5.75
- Lightly breaded sole with bananas and sautéed with bananas and almonds flambéed in rum.
- Nouilles aux Asperges: 4.95
- 261 in a cream and locatelli cheese sauce with asparagus.
- Quiche du Jour: 4.75
- Served with a green salad.

Franklin’s Folliés

A Whodunit starring Penn Faculty and Staff

Friday, April 22 and Saturday, April 23

8 P.M. Annenberg School Auditorium

Tickets $4.50/$3.50 with employee I.D. Snacking limited

Discovering Penn’s Hidden Talent
College Dinner will never be the same.
Quakers sweep Brown

In the back of the inning, back-to-back with a solo shot to left, the Quakers' Brian Sennett had made it a 4-2 game with a two-run blast over the scoreboard in leftfield.

Steve Flocy provided the remainder of the five runs against Haverford.

Haverford, which has been on the wrong end of the scoreboard almost all year, suffered another lottery-type loss.

Back with the first of his homers, a grand slam, Flocy said, "I was happy with my 1962."
DP SPORTS

Staying cool

W. Lacrosse beats pressure and Yale, 7-4

By Steve Berkwitz

There are times when a man simply cannot afford to lose a game, these times are few on these occasions. Others choose. The Penn인터 (male)’s season has a difficulty that few can understand. Pete Shulte in action during his complete-game victory in the opener of Penn’s doubleheader sweep yesterday.

Shulte needed to lock up the going that kept the units from scoring.

“We had three or four big hits with two outs,” Seddon said.

“Pete threw a really good game,” Julia Russell said. “I don’t know, it may have had to do with the pressure.”

Although the Quakers only entered the game with a 2-2 record, they were still able to score six goals in the second half.

The key was that we were able to get him with two outs,” Seddon said. “We had the lead over the big league with only one out.”

That was the key that Pete Shulte needed to keep his third victory of the season. The senior attacker at 6-2, all afternoon, recording the Quakers’ first goal.

Shulte was in trouble early when

Pete Shulte in action during his complete-game victory in the opener of Penn’s doubleheader sweep yesterday.

and we’re enjoying ourselves so far. And we’re doing it in our best when we’re relaxed and to have fun.

So we’re doing it.

It was all over.

Penn goalie Nancy Meisinger.

The senior goalie made 22 saves for the shutout.

Men’s Lacrosse

Explodes early for 15-10 win

By Bobberkin

Something else is an influential win on the side of the Penn men’s lacrosse team Saturday’s 15-10 victory over Dartmouth.

First, a Big Green defensive unit that stopped the Quakers’ groundball and ran downfield. When the game reached 11-2, it was over. Jenny Leaome, a 6-2, 180-pounder who leads the nation in scoring with 75 goals, was held to two goals.

“Coming off the big win over Princeton on Wednesday, we had the ability to score a lot of goals,” Seddon said. “And Dartmouth was certainly not a pushover. Taking a 3-0 record into the game, the Big Green was ranked 11th in the nation.”

And Dartmouth had scored 74 goals in its last six games, including 13 in the 12-3 victory over the Quakers.

“Playing well is the most fun,” Judy Sandier said. “It was the best half we played of the season.”

“Men's Lacrosse beats pressure and Yale, 7-4

Pete Shulte in action during his complete-game victory in the opener of Penn’s doubleheader sweep yesterday.