Grand jury indict employee of TMI

HARRISBURG- A federal grand jury has indicted four employees of the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant for allegedly falsifying safety test results at the plant, one of the world's most powerful nuclear power plants in the United States.

Justice officials have said that the employees could have contributed to the severity of the March 1979 accident at the plant, which released radioactive material into the atmosphere.

The indictment charges the employees with falsifying test results, obstructing justice, and making false statements to federal investigators.

The employees are identified in the indictment as:

- John S. Byers, a quality assurance engineer,
- James D. Satterfield, a quality assurance specialist,
- Donald J. Cohen, a quality assurance specialist,
- James E. Furlong, a quality assurance specialist.

A hearing is scheduled for December 22, 1982, in Harrisburg.

Bomb explodes in Capitol

A bomb exploded last night in the Capitol in Harrisburg, injuring two people and causing extensive damage.

Police said the bomb was found at the entrance to the Capitol after it had been set off by a man who had broken into the building.

The explosion caused structural damage and forced the evacuation of the building for safety checks.

The suspect, a man identified as John D. Hoy, was arrested after he was spotted leaving the building.

Hoy, 28, of Altoona, was taken into custody without incident.

He was charged with making a terrorist threat, a felony punishable by up to 10 years in prison.

The FBI is investigating the case.

Food

"We need to feed those students who are hungry," said a spokesperson for the University of Pennsylvania Dining Services.

The spokesperson said that the university is committed to providing nutritious meals to all students, regardless of their financial situation.

The university has implemented a new program that provides free meals to students who qualify for financial aid.

The program is available to students who have been approved by the Office of Student Financial Assistance.

For more information, please visit the University of Pennsylvania Dining Services website or contact the Office of Student Financial Assistance.

Food

"We need to feed those students who are hungry," said a spokesperson for the University of Pennsylvania Dining Services.

The spokesperson said that the university is committed to providing nutritious meals to all students, regardless of their financial situation.

The university has implemented a new program that provides free meals to students who qualify for financial aid.

The program is available to students who have been approved by the Office of Student Financial Assistance.

For more information, please visit the University of Pennsylvania Dining Services website or contact the Office of Student Financial Assistance.
Kinko v. Replica: ink drawn as copy war rages

Campus printing monopoly ends as competitor enters

B. MEDIA FREISMAN

University City is in the middle of a battle. It is not the type of war that involves bullets and bombs, but rather one that involves only one block away from Replica printing. For the first time in years, the University has embraced a printing revolution that had previously seized a near monopoly of the copying business in the area.

"Theuart has too long for another vore to open," Rich Konser, the manager of Replica IV at the corner of Vine and 11th Streets, said. "This is a prime location, with potential for growth."

Copies are available at both Kinko's and Replica, and differences in cost or less can make one store appeal to a larger base of students. "I'm not sure what the final price will be," said one student, who requested not to be identified.

Food delivery sates campus munchies

It's 1:30 on a cold Sunday night. You pace the room, sitting at your desk, staring at the computer screen. "I wish I could just order a pizza," you mutter to yourself. The phone rings. Your hungry, inebriated friend from the next building phone. "Hello?" you say in a slurred whisper. The phone almost slips out of your sweaty hands as you attempt to answer.

"Who's there?" you ask.

"This is Dennis. Do you or a pizza?"

"Pizza?"

"Yes, you're ordering your first delivery ever."

Dennis, a sophomore at UPenn, is known for being extremely hungry late at night and getting Dennis's, even more, burning in his mind. On any given day, he could be found at the University bookstore, grabbing a hot dog and a cup of coffee. At Replica, he would order a large pizza, along with a six-pack of beer.

Dennis's favorite item on the menu is the "Special Pizza" which includes pepperoni, sausage, and mushrooms. "I go there at least three times a week," he said. "I love the fast service and the large selection of toppings."

Room Service

Food delivery sates campus munchies

B. JEFFREY GOLDBERG

Food delivery services have become more popular among students in recent years. "I think that the convenience of having food delivered to your door is a major advantage," said a sophomore at UPenn. "I don't have to worry about getting dressed, going out, and looking for a place to eat."

According to a recent study by the University's Dining Services, over 75% of students surveyed said they would be more likely to order food from Replica if it were available on campus. "We believe that Replica is a great addition to the University's dining options," said the study's author, Dr. John Smith.

Movie posters: the right stuff for decorating any dorm room

B. JEAN SHEPARD

New York City is the perfect environment for the latest trend in home decorating: movie posters. "I think that movie posters are a great way to add color and personality to any room," said a sophomore at UPenn.

According to a recent survey conducted by the University's Housing Services, over 90% of students surveyed said they would be more likely to order a movie poster if it were available on campus.

"I think that movie posters are a great way to add color and personality to any room," said a sophomore at UPenn. "I think that Replica is a great addition to the University's dining options," said the study's author, Dr. John Smith.

"I think that movie posters are a great way to add color and personality to any room," said a sophomore at UPenn. "I think that Replica is a great addition to the University's dining options," said the study's author, Dr. John Smith.

"I think that movie posters are a great way to add color and personality to any room," said a sophomore at UPenn. "I think that Replica is a great addition to the University's dining options," said the study's author, Dr. John Smith.

"I think that movie posters are a great way to add color and personality to any room," said a sophomore at UPenn. "I think that Replica is a great addition to the University's dining options," said the study's author, Dr. John Smith.
Letters to the Editor

UA, HIT, FTN: Common Ground?

Byterm Boge

Last Wednesday I attended a UA meeting at which I learned not only of the current UA issues, but also their merits.

First, the UA constitution states that meetings must be published 48 hours in advance. The Executive Committee and the chair of the UA Office. Not to be outdone by their methods, but how many students actually illustrate the importance of the meeting. As a result, many students were not aware of the meeting.

Second, the idea of common ground is a noble one. However, there is a lack of communication between the different branches of the union. For example, the UA and the HIT are often at odds on issues such as tuition increases or the allocation of funding. The HIT is often seen as a more radical group, while the UA is more moderate. This can lead to tension between the two groups.

In addition, the HIT has been criticized for its lack of inclusiveness. Some students have argued that the HIT is not representative of all students, and that it excludes minorities and other marginalized groups.

In order to improve communication between the different branches of the union, it is important to establish a more inclusive and democratic process. This could involve creating a forum for students to express their views and concerns, and ensuring that all voices are heard.

The idea of common ground is a noble one, but it is important to ensure that all students have a voice in the decision-making process. By doing so, we can work towards a more united and inclusive student body.
Discuss Council Co-operatively

To the Editor:

An online representation of University Council, we are quite concerned by the recent and abusive tone of Monday's article and the poor grading of University Council. We would like to clarify a few points regarding this.

First, we hope that any discussion of the issue will take place in a constructive manner, and not be cast aside as some

Second, it should be noted that students are in no way being asked to cease discussion on the harmlessness issue. As student representatives of University Council, we encourage students to speak to Professors and TA's about their spring misconceptions.

Cheryl/Andrew

The Daily Pennsylvania

Letters to the Editor

Set Limits In War of Sexes

To the Editor:

I would like to bring to your attention the current issue of sexism at Penn. As suspected, this issue is a very legitimate issue; however, it is also one in which p.is faculty members, administrators and students against each other. The question of the rights of women started much more recently. The movement to assert women's rights was one of the major events of a millenium. The movement to assert minority rights was another. The question of the rights of women is not ambiguous and is easily defined. However, the situation is not to let it color our perception of the worth of "The Red and Blue." I am not suggesting that the rights of women are comparable to the rights of minorities or that the rights of women should be discontinued in the face of tradition, but rather that we should seek to alter the definitions of what is acceptable in our society.

Stacy E. Smith

College '97

Undergraduate Accounting Society

A spoken word from the Beckon CPA review service will speak to the notion that there are no one's.

AN INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS STUDENT/FACULTY PRE-REGISTRATION COFFEE HOUR

Wednesday, November 9

38th & Chestnut Streets

8:00 p.m.

Set limits in war of sexies.

To the Editor:

As a freshman here at Penn, I have truly enjoyed living in an environment in which students actually care about course selection. I look forward to an environment in which students actually care about their spring misconceptions. I would like to bring to your attention the current issue of sexism at Penn. As suspected, this issue is a very legitimate issue; however, it is also one in which p.is faculty members, administrators and students against each other. The question of the rights of women started much more recently. The movement to assert women's rights was one of the major events of a millenium. The movement to assert minority rights was another. The question of the rights of women is not ambiguous and is easily defined. However, the situation is not to let it color our perception of the worth of "The Red and Blue." I am not suggesting that the rights of women are comparable to the rights of minorities or that the rights of women should be discontinued in the face of tradition, but rather that we should seek to alter the definitions of what is acceptable in our society.

Stacy E. Smith

College '97

The newest innovation in writing is the Pilot Streamliner Pen. It requires no flourishes, only a single stroke to make the precise line. It's thin enough to be elegant, yet sturdy enough to be practical. It's as thin as a paper clip, yet strong enough to be used for all types of writing.

Pilot Streamliner Pen

Available at:

The Book Store

University of Pennsylvania

The newest innovation in writing is the Pilot Streamliner Pen. It requires no flourishes, only a single stroke to make the precise line. It's thin enough to be elegant, yet sturdy enough to be practical. It's as thin as a paper clip, yet strong enough to be used for all types of writing.

Pilot Streamliner Pen

Available at:

The Book Store

University of Pennsylvania

The newest innovation in writing is the Pilot Streamliner Pen. It requires no flourishes, only a single stroke to make the precise line. It's thin enough to be elegant, yet sturdy enough to be practical. It's as thin as a paper clip, yet strong enough to be used for all types of writing.

Pilot Streamliner Pen

Available at:

The Book Store

University of Pennsylvania

The newest innovation in writing is the Pilot Streamliner Pen. It requires no flourishes, only a single stroke to make the precise line. It's thin enough to be elegant, yet sturdy enough to be practical. It's as thin as a paper clip, yet strong enough to be used for all types of writing.

Pilot Streamliner Pen

Available at:

The Book Store

University of Pennsylvania

The newest innovation in writing is the Pilot Streamliner Pen. It requires no flourishes, only a single stroke to make the precise line. It's thin enough to be elegant, yet sturdy enough to be practical. It's as thin as a paper clip, yet strong enough to be used for all types of writing.

Pilot Streamliner Pen

Available at:

The Book Store

University of Pennsylvania

The newest innovation in writing is the Pilot Streamliner Pen. It requires no flourishes, only a single stroke to make the precise line. It's thin enough to be elegant, yet sturdy enough to be practical. It's as thin as a paper clip, yet strong enough to be used for all types of writing.

Pilot Streamliner Pen

Available at:

The Book Store

University of Pennsylvania

The newest innovation in writing is the Pilot Streamliner Pen. It requires no flourishes, only a single stroke to make the precise line. It's thin enough to be elegant, yet sturdy enough to be practical. It's as thin as a paper clip, yet strong enough to be used for all types of writing.

Pilot Streamliner Pen

Available at:

The Book Store

University of Pennsylvania

The newest innovation in writing is the Pilot Streamliner Pen. It requires no flourishes, only a single stroke to make the precise line. It's thin enough to be elegant, yet sturdy enough to be practical. It's as thin as a paper clip, yet strong enough to be used for all types of writing.

Pilot Streamliner Pen

Available at:

The Book Store

University of Pennsylvania

The newest innovation in writing is the Pilot Streamliner Pen. It requires no flourishes, only a single stroke to make the precise line. It's thin enough to be elegant, yet sturdy enough to be practical. It's as thin as a paper clip, yet strong enough to be used for all types of writing.

Pilot Streamliner Pen

Available at:

The Book Store

University of Pennsylvania

The newest innovation in writing is the Pilot Streamliner Pen. It requires no flourishes, only a single stroke to make the precise line. It's thin enough to be elegant, yet sturdy enough to be practical. It's as thin as a paper clip, yet strong enough to be used for all types of writing.

Pilot Streamliner Pen

Available at:

The Book Store

University of Pennsylvania

The newest innovation in writing is the Pilot Streamliner Pen. It requires no flourishes, only a single stroke to make the precise line. It's thin enough to be elegant, yet sturdy enough to be practical. It's as thin as a paper clip, yet strong enough to be used for all types of writing.

Pilot Streamliner Pen

Available at:

The Book Store

University of Pennsylvania

The newest innovation in writing is the Pilot Streamliner Pen. It requires no flourishes, only a single stroke to make the precise line. It's thin enough to be elegant, yet sturdy enough to be practical. It's as thin as a paper clip, yet strong enough to be used for all types of writing.

Pilot Streamliner Pen

Available at:

The Book Store

University of Pennsylvania

The newest innovation in writing is the Pilot Streamliner Pen. It requires no flourishes, only a single stroke to make the precise line. It's thin enough to be elegant, yet sturdy enough to be practical. It's as thin as a paper clip, yet strong enough to be used for all types of writing.

Pilot Streamliner Pen

Available at:

The Book Store

University of Pennsylvania

The newest innovation in writing is the Pilot Streamliner Pen. It requires no flourishes, only a single stroke to make the precise line. It's thin enough to be elegant, yet sturdy enough to be practical. It's as thin as a paper clip, yet strong enough to be used for all types of writing.

Pilot Streamliner Pen

Available at:

The Book Store

University of Pennsylvania

The newest innovation in writing is the Pilot Streamliner Pen. It requires no flourishes, only a single stroke to make the precise line. It's thin enough to be elegant, yet sturdy enough to be practical. It's as thin as a paper clip, yet strong enough to be used for all types of writing.
The Institute for Paralegal Training works. So do its graduates.

Four months of intensive training can add market value to your college degree.

By BENJAMIN WEDIT

Four internationally acclaimed American dance companies will present their programs at The Daily Pennsylvanian’s Theatrical Center this month in the largest dance event Philadelphia ever has seen.

The series,趟produced by The Dance Affiliates and sponsored by the University, will feature the Nikolais-Damodar Dance Theatre of Harlem, the Pilobolus Dance Theatre and the Murray Louis Dance Company.

The series, known for its innovative and unique approach to contemporary dance, is scheduled to perform at the Center for the Performing Artsss Thursday, Dec. 17 at 8 p.m.:

The Dance Affiliates will perform a free preview of their program at a joint conference of Philadelphia’s Heritage High. "Finally, there will be a regular dance series in Philadelphia," said Nikolais, who will make his first appearance in the city since then. "Theatrical Center, the city, and the University, have work to do."

Announcing the series, Nikolais mentioned that the production will be $25,000, supported by grants from the Pennsylvania Council of the Arts and the Pew Memorial Trust.

Loewell Safford, a member of the Dance Theatre of Harlem, said that the Philadelphia has always been a nice forum for the theatre. "It works here," Safford said, "we might work elsewhere, like Broadway."

Alex Nikolais, who founded the Dance Affiliates and announced the upcoming series, said that the company is so large, the group can perform

The newspaper of the University

Founded 1885

Philadelphia

ANNOUNCEMENT

Tuition, Mortgages and Corporate Contact

The current market value of college degrees is increasing. There is a national March to ensure that future graduates will earn a "college" medium in an entire month. They did because college newspaper advertising pays off.

COLLEGE NEWSPAPERS GENERATE SALES

THAT'S WHY LOCAL ADVERTISERS SPENT

$75 MILLION IN THEIR LAST YEAR.

They did it because they depend upon college students to support their business. They did it because they know college students are too nervous and expensive to read. They did it because college students are tomorrow's leaders and will soon become an even bigger market. They did it because they know college newspaper advertising pays off in colleges and for students. They did it because they know that more college students read their college newspaper in one day than any other "college" medium in an entire month. They did it because college newspaper advertising pays off.

The Daily Pennsylvanian.

The Newspaper of the University of Pennsylvania
U. Police nab two men in knapsack theft

By ARThUR BIBROW
University and Police Department of Philadelphia have arrested two men this week who were suspected of stealing knapsacks and purses throughout the city and in the ward.

Police officers, the result of an intense city-wide voter registration drive, have been working overtime to round up the two men who were apprehended after a thorough investigation. The officers, working in teams, have been on the lookout for the two men since the thefts began last week.

The two men were arrested last night after they were spotted by an undercover police officer who recognized them from a photograph circulated by the University Police Department. The officers followed the two men and arrested them when they attempted to flee.

The University Police Department has been working closely with the Philadelphia Police Department to ensure that the city is safe and secure. The University Police Department has received a number of complaints about the two men, and the officers have been working hard to track them down.

The University Police Department has urged the public to be vigilant and report any suspicious activity to the police. The department has also urged the public to lock their doors and windows at all times.

The University Police Department has also warned the public to be cautious when carrying valuable items, such as knapsacks and purses. The department has encouraged the public to keep a close eye on their belongings and to report any thefts to the police immediately.

The University Police Department has also thanked the public for their cooperation and support.

For more information, please contact the University Police Department at 215-898-4911.
Paying to Play: First in a series on Ivy recruiting

"If it turns out that we can't compete with grant-in-aid schools, that's something I'm willing to accept in the name of education."

- President Sheldon Hackney

Field Hockey draws Temple

By STEVE KRAKEON

The mood is great, and for the Penn field hockey team, the mood is gained.

This Saturday, the Quakers will face the Temple Owls in the first of two weekend games. Penn is looking to bounce back from a tough loss to Princeton last weekend.

"We're really excited about playing Temple," said coach Deanna Sisson. "We lost a close game to Princeton last weekend, so we're looking to get back on track this weekend."
Parents question athletic policies

(Continued from back page)

But even if a high school senior is never offered scholarships based on athletic ability, he or she may still be able to develop a strategy for getting into college. "I think that one of the most important things that the student-athletes have to do is to realize that there are a lot of opportunities to play baseball at the college level," said Steve Ruch, the assistant baseball coach at Northwestern University. "I think that it's important for the student-athletes to understand that there are a lot of opportunities to play baseball at the college level, and that they should not be discouraged by the fact that they may not be able to play for a professional team."

Freshman Football finish 5-1

(Continued from back page)

But then another pick was returning to a Jaguar.

The game ended with 11:00 remaining on the clock, and the Jaguars were clinging to a 21-10 lead. But the Cornells had driven down the field and were setting up for a last-minute field goal attempt.

With 3:00 left on the clock,
the Jaguars scored a safety to win the game, 21-10. The Jaguars now stand at 5-1 on the season.

The Jaguars have shown that they can play with the best of the best. They have played a tough
schedule and have come out on top.

The Jaguars have shown that
they can play with the best of the best. They have played a tough
schedule and have come out on top.

The Jaguars have shown that
they can play with the best of the best. They have played a tough
schedule and have come out on top.

The Jaguars have shown that
they can play with the best of the best. They have played a tough
schedule and have come out on top.

The Jaguars have shown that
they can play with the best of the best. They have played a tough
schedule and have come out on top.

The Jaguars have shown that
they can play with the best of the best. They have played a tough
schedule and have come out on top.

The Jaguars have shown that
they can play with the best of the best. They have played a tough
schedule and have come out on top.

The Jaguars have shown that
they can play with the best of the best. They have played a tough
schedule and have come out on top.

The Jaguars have shown that
they can play with the best of the best. They have played a tough
schedule and have come out on top.

The Jaguars have shown that
they can play with the best of the best. They have played a tough
schedule and have come out on top.

The Jaguars have shown that
they can play with the best of the best. They have played a tough
schedule and have come out on top.
DP SPORTS

Freshmen finish with a victory

A little luck helps raise record to 5-1

By DAVID BRAIL

On the eve of the match, the Penn lightweight football team dominated the game. The Quakers gained a total of 340 yards and Cornell's 247. Penn's 28 points outscored Cornell's 14 points. The game ended in a 28-14 victory for Penn.

The Quakers used their strong running game to gain an early lead. Cornell's defense couldn't stop the Penn attack. The game ended with no touchdowns scored.

Penn's quarterback, Eric Portman, passed the ball to a teammate who scored for Penn. Portman's successful play led the Quakers to a victory.

The Quakers' defense also played a crucial role in the game. They forced Cornell into four turnovers, including three interceptions and a fumble.

In summary, Penn's balanced offense and strong defense led to a convincing victory against Cornell. The Quakers' 28-14 win improved their record to 5-1 on the season.