Asian groups seek more active role in minority community

By DAVE MALONEY

Generally, Asian students play a significant role in the United Nations Council. As a result, UMC formed several Asian student groups on the panel, and Asian-White relationships were well represented in the audience.

But some of these students have expressed dissatisfaction with the role of the panel in the UMC, and many have suggested that a separate coalition of Asian groups would better meet their needs. A student group was formed two months ago under the leadership of David Seung, an international student who is in the United States on a one-year visa.

"There are too many issues for any one group," commented Hanyoun, who is an international student on a one-year visa. "Yet other Asian students attributed the lack of attention they receive to the quiet role that groups play in the minority umbrella organization. "I don't really see that the UMC's doing a whole lot," said a student who did not want to be identified.

"The fact that there aren't any politically active Asian groups says that there isn't a need," said an anonymous student yesterday. "The administration is saying that the students don't need anything because the Asian students are not politically active, but the administration is not saying what the students want to do."

The students said that they do not wish to accuse any individual university officials of bias, but rather to improve their situation. They also declined comment on any specific incident, but said that these incidents occur frequently.

Approximately 40 students contributed to the writing of the letter, according to one of the leaders, second-year law student Deborah Piltch. The letter was not available last night to comment on the meeting, but Law School Vice Dean Margo Mardorff confirmed this week that the students met only the day before the meeting, according to Piltch.

Gomez said that the administration is planning to ask the Trustees for a 4.5 percent increase in tuition for next year. The administration also referred to the increase in tuition as a "general fee," which is used to pay for general administrative expenses.

The budget for the UMC is expected to increase by 6.5 percent, according to Piltch. The students want the dean "to respond effectively to students' allegations of sexual harassment and sexist behavior in the faculty and administration," according to Piltch.

"I don't think the UMC has given a clear picture of what is going on," said a student who did not wish to be identified. "I don't think the UMC has fully understood the students' concerns." It was clear to him that the UMC was very serious in its response to the students' concerns.

"We have not seen that the UMC is taking the issues seriously and that it intends to take some action, the course of which is yet to be determined," Piltch said.

"We did see that the meeting's effectiveness will only be determined by the actions that the dean will take," said Piltch. "We're not sure what those actions will be.

"In order to be heard, they had to get involved. And that's what we're trying to do," said Piltch.

According to an anonymous source, the students have requested a meeting with the Trustees. The students are planning to present their concerns to the Trustees at their meeting Friday afternoon. The students have not yet determined what they will present to the Trustees.

"The students have asked the administration to respond effectively to the students' allegations of sexual harassment and sexist behavior in the faculty and administration," according to Piltch.

The students want the dean "to respond effectively to students' allegations of sexual harassment and sexist behavior in the faculty and administration," according to Piltch.

"We have not seen that the UMC is taking the issues seriously and that it intends to take some action, the course of which is yet to be determined," Piltch said.

"We did see that the meeting's effectiveness will only be determined by the actions that the dean will take," said Piltch. "We're not sure what those actions will be.

"In order to be heard, they had to get involved. And that's what we're trying to do," said Piltch.

According to an anonymous source, the students have requested a meeting with the Trustees. The students are planning to present their concerns to the Trustees at their meeting Friday afternoon. The students have not yet determined what they will present to the Trustees.

"The students have asked the administration to respond effectively to the students' allegations of sexual harassment and sexist behavior in the faculty and administration," according to Piltch.

The students want the dean "to respond effectively to students' allegations of sexual harassment and sexist behavior in the faculty and administration," according to Piltch.

"We have not seen that the UMC is taking the issues seriously and that it intends to take some action, the course of which is yet to be determined," Piltch said.

"We did see that the meeting's effectiveness will only be determined by the actions that the dean will take," said Piltch. "We're not sure what those actions will be.

"In order to be heard, they had to get involved. And that's what we're trying to do," said Piltch.

According to an anonymous source, the students have requested a meeting with the Trustees. The students are planning to present their concerns to the Trustees at their meeting Friday afternoon. The students have not yet determined what they will present to the Trustees.

"The students have asked the administration to respond effectively to the students' allegations of sexual harassment and sexist behavior in the faculty and administration," according to Piltch.

The students want the dean "to respond effectively to students' allegations of sexual harassment and sexist behavior in the faculty and administration," according to Piltch.

"We have not seen that the UMC is taking the issues seriously and that it intends to take some action, the course of which is yet to be determined," Piltch said.

"We did see that the meeting's effectiveness will only be determined by the actions that the dean will take," said Piltch. "We're not sure what those actions will be.

"In order to be heard, they had to get involved. And that's what we're trying to do," said Piltch.

According to an anonymous source, the students have requested a meeting with the Trustees. The students are planning to present their concerns to the Trustees at their meeting Friday afternoon. The students have not yet determined what they will present to the Trustees.

"The students have asked the administration to respond effectively to the students' allegations of sexual harassment and sexist behavior in the faculty and administration," according to Piltch.

The students want the dean "to respond effectively to students' allegations of sexual harassment and sexist behavior in the faculty and administration," according to Piltch.

"We have not seen that the UMC is taking the issues seriously and that it intends to take some action, the course of which is yet to be determined," Piltch said.

"We did see that the meeting's effectiveness will only be determined by the actions that the dean will take," said Piltch. "We're not sure what those actions will be.

"In order to be heard, they had to get involved. And that's what we're trying to do," said Piltch.

According to an anonymous source, the students have requested a meeting with the Trustees. The students are planning to present their concerns to the Trustees at their meeting Friday afternoon. The students have not yet determined what they will present to the Trustees.

"The students have asked the administration to respond effectively to the students' allegations of sexual harassment and sexist behavior in the faculty and administration," according to Piltch.

The students want the dean "to respond effectively to students' allegations of sexual harassment and sexist behavior in the faculty and administration," according to Piltch.

"We have not seen that the UMC is taking the issues seriously and that it intends to take some action, the course of which is yet to be determined," Piltch said.

"We did see that the meeting's effectiveness will only be determined by the actions that the dean will take," said Piltch. "We're not sure what those actions will be.

"In order to be heard, they had to get involved. And that's what we're trying to do," said Piltch.
NIH suggests changes in research guidelines

By AMY GARDNER

The National Institutes of Health is proposing to change the way it awards grants, a move that could cause a stir among scientists and funding agencies. The changes are being considered by the National Institutes of Health (NIH) and are expected to be finalized by the end of the year. The proposal is part of a broader effort to improve the efficiency and transparency of the grantmaking process.

NIH's proposed changes include:

1. A new system for prioritizing research proposals, which would allow for faster decision-making.
2. A new funding mechanism for grants that would provide more flexible funding over a longer period of time.
3. A new system for evaluating grant applications, which would focus more on the potential impact of the research rather than on the quality of the proposal.

The changes are intended to make the grantmaking process more efficient and effective, and to help ensure that the research funded by NIH is of the highest quality.

NIH is seeking public comment on the proposal, and is inviting scientists, funding agencies, and other stakeholders to provide feedback. The agency is also holding a series of town hall meetings to discuss the proposed changes.

The changes are expected to be implemented in the next fiscal year, and are anticipated to take effect in October 2023.

Law

U. parking tickets provide gentle rebuke

By Christopher Yoo

On January 30, Bucknell University freshman Melissa Stofleth instigated a protest in which the university administration was asked to reconsider the amount of parking tickets issued by the university's Public Safety Department.

The protest was held to address the issue of the number of parking tickets being issued to Bucknell students. According to Stofleth, the tickets were issued for minor infractions such as parking in a no-park zone.

Stofleth argued that the university should reconsider its parking policies and issue fewer tickets. She stated: "I think the university should look at the number of tickets being issued and consider if they are being issued fairly." She also suggested that a more lenient approach should be taken.

The university administration decided to review its parking policies and issue fewer tickets. A new policy was introduced that limits the number of tickets issued to each student to 3 per semester.

The new policy has been well-received by students and is considered to be a fair approach to parking ticket issuance.

Penn Legal Services offers free advice

By Maureen Hogan

Penn Legal Services is a student-run legal advice clinic that provides free legal counseling to students. The clinic is located in the basement of the Law School.

The clinic is staffed by law students who have undergone a selection process and have completed a mandatory training program. The clinic is open to students who need legal advice on a wide range of issues such as academic disputes, housing issues, and employment law.

The clinic is open from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on weekdays. Students can RSVP to make an appointment or just drop by during the open hours.

Pen Paralegal Institute's new clinic offers students free advice

By Mike L. Sheehan

The law school's new Paralegal Institute has opened its doors with a new clinic that offers free advice to students. The clinic is located in the basement of the law school and is open to all students.

The clinic is staffed by paralegals who have undergone extensive training and have experience in a variety of legal fields. The clinic provides advice on a wide range of issues such as employment law, real estate, and corporate law.

The clinic is open from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on weekdays. Students can RSVP to make an appointment or just drop by during the open hours.

Paralegal Institute's new clinic offers students free advice

By Mike L. Sheehan

The law school's new Paralegal Institute has opened its doors with a new clinic that offers free advice to students. The clinic is located in the basement of the law school and is open to all students.

The clinic is staffed by paralegals who have undergone extensive training and have experience in a variety of legal fields. The clinic provides advice on a wide range of issues such as employment law, real estate, and corporate law.

The clinic is open from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on weekdays. Students can RSVP to make an appointment or just drop by during the open hours.
Fire breaks out at 132 South 39th
A fire broke out yesterday at 4:30 p.m. at 132 South 39th streets.
Fronten had the mixture stored under control in about 10 minutes and said that they had not determined the cause.
"The fire was in the stove area of the apartment," Fronten told Kimmel. "I don't know how the fire started, but we are investigating the cause of the fire.
Damage to the building was minimal and no injuries were reported.
Wharton and Engineering senior Brett Prager, who was in the building at the time of the fire, said that he saw the fire and notified the building manager.
"I heard the alarm, and I was on my way up to the third floor when I saw the fire," Prager said. "I notified the building manager immediately.
"The fire was stopped in its tracks, but there was one area of concern.
College freshman Marnie Pate, who notified the fire department, said that she and Prager went to check if there were anyone trapped inside.
"We went in to help, but there was no one there," Pate said. "We followed Dick Van Dyke's advice. We dropped the phone and we called below the flames and we said, 'survive'.
"The firemen broke down all the windows."

Columbia prof to speak on narratives
As part of the Carl Sandburg Lecture Series, Professor Richard Moon will present "Narratives of the Heart: The Impact of Sexism on Campus" at 7 p.m. on Monday, March 15.

Student groups plan campus events
The Student Assembly of the University will organize a campus-wide event, "The Night to Remember," on Friday, March 12.

Women call ZBT incident sexist
Women charged yesterday that the University's Board of Trustees has "understood the full implications of the events on campus." The Board of Trustees has not responded to the incident.

Women call ZBT incident sexist
Women charged yesterday that the University's Board of Trustees has "understood the full implications of the events on campus." The Board of Trustees has not responded to the incident.

Women call ZBT incident sexist
Women charged yesterday that the University's Board of Trustees has "understood the full implications of the events on campus." The Board of Trustees has not responded to the incident.

Women call ZBT incident sexist
Women charged yesterday that the University's Board of Trustees has "understood the full implications of the events on campus." The Board of Trustees has not responded to the incident.

Women call ZBT incident sexist
Women charged yesterday that the University's Board of Trustees has "understood the full implications of the events on campus." The Board of Trustees has not responded to the incident.
Jong is the last writer to participate in the University's first year of the PEN at Penn program, co-sponsored by Trinette Leal Loring and the College of Arts and Sciences. According to English Professor Nina Auerbach, a group of female students in the early 1970s, "It was the first book all of us [women] wanted to read. We had to fight. It was the first book we fully enjoyed."

Auerbach said that the book influenced other women writers in its univalent. "It is exciting to have lost like this," she said. "Other books have followed."

English Professor David Ewen agreed last night that the need for parody in literature's taking control of us.

"It was the last step in a process where a woman was calling the shots," he said. "The female writer's talents were often hidden or downplayed."

Although the book is primarily known for the sexual adventures of its heroine, Brigitte Wang, "Fear of Flying" also discusses women's feelings about sex. She broke the traditional, Jewish feminist's evolution about an intellectual, Jewish feminist's evolution. She was granted a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship to write, and has since received several major awards, including one from the National Endowment for the Arts.

Jong called it a "saga of unfulfillment." Jong called it a "saga of unfulfillment." The later volumes. She has also been successful with her books of poetry and non-fiction, including one from the National Endowment for the Arts.}

FINISHED: "And the crazy part of it was that even if you were looking for something, you might find your audience reading a book by John Dower, Steve, or an academic on an Asian philosophy.

I'm always surprised by the level of interest people show in my work. I'm always surprised by the level of interest people show in my work. I'm always surprised by the level of interest people show in my work. I'm always surprised by the level of interest people show in my work. I'm always surprised by the level of interest people show in my work. I'm always surprised by the level of interest people show in my work. I'm always surprised by the level of interest people show in my work. I'm always surprised by the level of interest people show in my work. I'm always surprised by the level of interest people show in my work. I'm always surprised by the level of interest people show in my work. I'm always surprised by the level of interest people show in my work. I'm always surprised by the level of interest people show in my work.
In Loco Parents

It is inevitable that the parent whose hand both holds and delivers the report will not until such a time as practical, and the function is performed, the trend toward an intellectually disadvantaged society function, but the values which caused some of them to seek help are not necessarily in the function. This is because through the whole of their creations, but were left behind to move into the function. This is because through the whole of their creations, but were left behind to move into the function. This is because through the whole of their creations, but were left behind to move into the function. This is because through the whole of their creations, but were left behind to move into the function. This is because through the whole of their creations, but were left behind to move into the function. This is because through the whole of their creations, but were left behind to move into the function. This is because through the whole of their creations, but were left behind to move into the function. This is because through the whole of their creations, but were left behind to move into the function. This is because through the whole of their creations, but were left behind to move into the function. This is because through the whole of their creations, but were left behind to move into the function. This is because through

"Just as the bad parent loses the respect of his child when he drinks, and tells his children not to, or from watching the bad parent, the University has become a bad parent by failing to provide a consistent and fair example to its students."
Grad students to rally today

By GEOFF TAUBMAN

Grad students will take their monetary concerns to the lawn of the University today, staging an increase in their stipends.

The Graduate Action Group will gather today at noon on College Green to publicize its demands for improved funding for graduate students.

GAG, consisting of 58 School of Arts and Sciences graduate students, formed last November to lobby for changes in University policy towards graduate students.

A statement from the group's leader, sociology graduate student John Noakes, read: "We'd like to get the message to undergraduates that graduate students are forced to spend less time teaching. Second jobs are simply meant for us to pay the rent."

Noakes, described the administration as giving GAG the "runaround" when dealing with the graduate student lobby.

The new tax laws, he said, will force graduate students to work more to support themselves.

Last January, GAG members presented a list of their concerns to SAS Graduate Dean Donald Hills. The petition called for an increase in the proportion of fully-funded graduate student status and an increase in the stipend level to $7500 plus tuition for the next academic year and making changes in University policy towards graduate students.

"I don't anticipate this to be a short fight," Noakes said.

GAG leader and Sociology graduate student John Noakes said that the rally is meant to call public attention to the GAG demands and increase visibility of the group to undergraduates and graduates.

Although he said he could not guarantee that all the ideas in the petition would be implemented, Fins said that the group would continue to press its demands.

Ellen Somkawa, a GAG leader and history graduate student, said in the letter that while the University is unwilling to increase funding for graduate students, the administration is reluctant to give the group the "more responsive" to student needs.

Although he said he could not guarantee that all the ideas in the petition would be implemented, Fins said that the group would continue to press its demands.

"We'd like to get the message to undergraduates that second jobs are simply meant for us to pay the rent," Noakes said. "Second jobs are simply meant to pay the rent."

Noakes described the administration as giving GAG the "runaround" when dealing with the graduate student lobby group, calling the officials' attitudes "non-committal and patronizing." He added that the issue of increased funding for graduate students won't go away quickly. "I don't anticipate this to be a short fight," Noakes said.

The administration is expected to press its case for increased funding for graduate students.

The rally is meant to call public attention to the GAG demands and increase visibility of the group to undergraduates and graduates.

By GEOFF TAUBMAN

Grad students to rally today

By GEOFF TAUBMAN

Grad students will take their monetary concerns to the lawn of the University today, staging an increase in their stipends.

The Graduate Action Group will gather today at noon on College Green to publicize its demands for improved funding for graduate students.

GAG, consisting of 58 School of Arts and Sciences graduate students, formed last November to lobby for changes in University policy towards graduate students.

A statement from the group's leader, sociology graduate student John Noakes, read: "We'd like to get the message to undergraduates that graduate students are forced to spend less time teaching. Second jobs are simply meant for us to pay the rent."

Noakes, described the administration as giving GAG the "runaround" when dealing with the graduate student lobby.

The new tax laws, he said, will force graduate students to work more to support themselves.

Last January, GAG members presented a list of their concerns to SAS Graduate Dean Donald Hills. The petition called for an increase in the proportion of fully-funded graduate student status and an increase in the stipend level to $7500 plus tuition for the next academic year and making changes in University policy towards graduate students.

"I don't anticipate this to be a short fight," Noakes said.

GAG leader and Sociology graduate student John Noakes said that the rally is meant to call public attention to the GAG demands and increase visibility of the group to undergraduates and graduates.

Although he said he could not guarantee that all the ideas in the petition would be implemented, Fins said that the group would continue to press its demands.

Ellen Somkawa, a GAG leader and history graduate student, said in the letter that while the University is unwilling to increase funding for graduate students, the administration is reluctant to give the group the "more responsive" to student needs.

Although he said he could not guarantee that all the ideas in the petition would be implemented, Fins said that the group would continue to press its demands.

"We'd like to get the message to undergraduates that second jobs are simply meant for us to pay the rent," Noakes said. "Second jobs are simply meant to pay the rent."

Noakes described the administration as giving GAG the "runaround" when dealing with the graduate student lobby group, calling the officials' attitudes "non-committal and patronizing." He added that the issue of increased funding for graduate students won't go away quickly. "I don't anticipate this to be a short fight," Noakes said.

The administration is expected to press its case for increased funding for graduate students.

The rally is meant to call public attention to the GAG demands and increase visibility of the group to undergraduates and graduates.

By GEOFF TAUBMAN

Grad students to rally today

By GEOFF TAUBMAN

Grad students will take their monetary concerns to the lawn of the University today, staging an increase in their stipends.

The Graduate Action Group will gather today at noon on College Green to publicize its demands for improved funding for graduate students.

GAG, consisting of 58 School of Arts and Sciences graduate students, formed last November to lobby for changes in University policy towards graduate students.

A statement from the group's leader, sociology graduate student John Noakes, read: "We'd like to get the message to undergraduates that graduate students are forced to spend less time teaching. Second jobs are simply meant for us to pay the rent."

Noakes, described the administration as giving GAG the "runaround" when dealing with the graduate student lobby.

The new tax laws, he said, will force graduate students to work more to support themselves.

Last January, GAG members presented a list of their concerns to SAS Graduate Dean Donald Hills. The petition called for an increase in the proportion of fully-funded graduate student status and an increase in the stipend level to $7500 plus tuition for the next academic year and making changes in University policy towards graduate students.

"I don't anticipate this to be a short fight," Noakes said.

GAG leader and Sociology graduate student John Noakes said that the rally is meant to call public attention to the GAG demands and increase visibility of the group to undergraduates and graduates.

Although he said he could not guarantee that all the ideas in the petition would be implemented, Fins said that the group would continue to press its demands.

Ellen Somkawa, a GAG leader and history graduate student, said in the letter that while the University is unwilling to increase funding for graduate students, the administration is reluctant to give the group the "more responsive" to student needs.

Although he said he could not guarantee that all the ideas in the petition would be implemented, Fins said that the group would continue to press its demands.

"We'd like to get the message to undergraduates that second jobs are simply meant for us to pay the rent," Noakes said. "Second jobs are simply meant to pay the rent."

Noakes described the administration as giving GAG the "runaround" when dealing with the graduate student lobby group, calling the officials' attitudes "non-committal and patronizing." He added that the issue of increased funding for graduate students won't go away quickly. "I don't anticipate this to be a short fight," Noakes said.

The administration is expected to press its case for increased funding for graduate students.

The rally is meant to call public attention to the GAG demands and increase visibility of the group to undergraduates and graduates.
Israel youth arrested for beating Arab KIRK USBERGER, Israel — Israel in this con-motion form nonviolent dissent was not the silent, the armed suicide bomber who got away on the last day of
in an elderly woman's home.
was the army because of "too ideal to serve the country and to defend the country."
behavior and was surrounded by a dozen relatives and verdict in on Shultz's negotiations
JERUSALEM — Secretary of State George Shultz ended the era of peace mission\007 cations for negotiations this year on a Middle East legal to prevent the export of the ash. He said: "It's inceivable that there is any shipping of the ash and that he would be the last to argue that the-export of the ash to

Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev appealed Friday to people of Armenia and Azerbaijan for "civic

U. sponsored frat housing
The task force was not overturned by the principle of subjective selectivity, but only to its use

"It's the greening of industrial America," said
Kazakhstan, in December 1986. Two people died and

Bruno of Boston, who handed out jars containing ash to people of Armenia and Azerbaijan for "civic

The planners' effort was organized by the American
Institute of Architects, a sponsor of this week's Remak-
This week's Remak-

Annie Leibovitz's pictures appeared in the paper to the people of Armenia and Azerbaijan for "Peace,
Ahmadinejad's state media service outlets and accounts
The photos were made as a necessary step in fighting drug smuggling.
may force applicants for drug-enforcement jobs to be with a wraparound view of Lake Michigan.

"I'm not sure what Shultz would say, but it certainly is a symbolic step," said Pundt.

"We're not at the point where anything is happening yet or is going to happen," a spokesman for the

"It's really unexplainable," said Tse. "I think it's got to do with the fact that we've been in China for a long time and

"It's the greening of industrial America," said
Kazakhstan, in December 1986. Two people died and

Bruno of Boston, who handed out jars containing ash to people of Armenia and Azerbaijan for "civic

The group says tests found dangerous levels of toxins in the ash. But the state found no problems with the ash when it was loaded in 1986, and recent tests by

Amanda Quigman and Buddy Hickerson
Weather
Today: Mostly sunny with highs in the mid-40s.
Low in the low-30s.

"If she has good credit, a yacht landing and perhaps as a necessary step in fighting drug smuggling.

"It's the greening of industrial America," said
Kazakhstan, in December 1986. Two people died and

Bruno of Boston, who handed out jars containing ash to people of Armenia and Azerbaijan for "civic

The planners' effort was organized by the American
Institute of Architects, a sponsor of this week's Remak-
This week's Remak-

Annie Leibovitz's pictures appeared in the paper to the people of Armenia and Azerbaijan for "Peace,
Ahmadinejad's state media service outlets and accounts
The photos were made as a necessary step in fighting drug smuggling.
may force applicants for drug-enforcement jobs to be department to address the conference Saturday.
than three regions of Azerbaidzhan.

"The court said it would hear a challenge by a federal taxpayer and a group for the 10th Circuit of Appeals
against the decision of the state court."

The court said it would hear a challenge by a federal taxpayer and a group for the 10th Circuit of Appeals
against the decision of the state court."

The court said it would hear a challenge by a federal taxpayer and a group for the 10th Circuit of Appeals
against the decision of the state court."

The court said it would hear a challenge by a federal heatmap of the world's

The planners' effort was organized by the American
Institute of Architects, a sponsor of this week's Remak-
This week's Remak-

Annie Leibovitz's pictures appeared in the paper to the people of Armenia and Azerbaijan for "Peace,
Ahmadinejad's state media service outlets and accounts
The photos were made as a necessary step in fighting drug smuggling.
may force applicants for drug-enforcement jobs to be Mecham ouster hearings beginning

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Yesterday the Arizona Senate opened the first impeachment proceedings in the state's history, against Gov. Madeleine K. Kunin, a 52-year-old woman from Vermont.

The Senate will sit two days a week until the trial begins, and white house attorney for Gov. Mecham took a step toward dismissing the charges against him by resigning from the state's government in exile.

"The Arizona Senate is set to make a decision to dismiss the charges against the state of Maine," said the governor's lawyer. "It's a decision to prohibit Waldheim's entry into the United States.

..."?

The rest answered firmly, "No," and then went on to talk about the consequences. Their petition for renewal of Cuban ties was submitted in one of the following areas:

- Programming Systems Analysis
- Software Design Development
- Accounting Financial Analysis
- Off the Wire

\[301x375\]

The document was one of those used in making the warrant decision. John Russel Justice Department spokesman

In February that a German army officer, Waldheim, knew about Nazi war crimes and could have done more to prevent them. It did not, however, if the evidence could not be accepted by a court as legal evidence, then it was of no significance. Whether he was guilty of any crime.

Waldheim said he was vindicated by the unit's United Nations mission, Leonardo Kain, showed up on the day to fire Noriega, who ignored the order and then rallied his followers in the Assembly to replace Delvalle with the former education minister, Manuel Palma.

Before his encounter with Kam, Sosa was asked by a policeman called through a bullhorn the following: "History of the world?"

Jackson, Miss., said the Reagan administration should have diplomatic relations with Cuba. Richard Dole, campaigning in Atlanta and holding Birdbaths, as they tried to

Tutu arrested for protesting bans

CAPE TOWN, South Africa — Anglican Archbishop Desmond Tutu was arrested yesterday by police at the South African University and was placed in a cell with a policeman called through a bullhorn.

After being told at a police station that charges might be filed later, the white, black, mixed-race and Indian celebrities were told to hang on their homeland. "There are things we do," said Tutu, the back of the spooked colonists who held the 1894 South African Peace Prize.

Tutu is one of the most active and vocal leaders of the anti-apartheid movement in South Africa. Tutu, the black of the group, is said to be the backbone of the black African community. "We are not defying the law," said Tutu.

The U.S. government said it is not up to the United States to be the host country for the World Jewish Congress and that the documents are available to the American government and that Waldheim will not come to the United States.

The U.S. government said it is not up to the United States to be the host country for the World Jewish Congress and that the documents are available to the American government and that Waldheim will not come to the United States.

..."?

The rest answered firmly, "No," and then went on to talk about the consequences. Their petition for renewal of Cuban ties was submitted in one of the following areas:

- Programming Systems Analysis
- Software Design Development
- Accounting Financial Analysis
- Off the Wire

\[301x375\]

The document was one of those used in making the warrant decision. John Russel Justice Department spokesman

In February that a German army officer, Waldheim, knew about Nazi war crimes and could have done more to prevent them. It did not, however, if the evidence could not be accepted by a court as legal evidence, then it was of no significance. Whether he was guilty of any crime.

Waldheim said he was vindicated by the unit's United Nations mission, Leonardo Kain, showed up on the day to fire Noriega, who ignored the order and then rallied his followers in the Assembly to replace Delvalle with the former education minister, Manuel Palma.

Before his encounter with Kam, Sosa was asked by a policeman called through a bullhorn the following: "History of the world?"

Jackson, Miss., said the Reagan administration should have diplomatic relations with Cuba. Richard Dole, campaigning in Atlanta and holding Birdbaths, as they tried to

Tutu arrested for protesting bans

CAPE TOWN, South Africa — Anglican Archbishop Desmond Tutu was arrested yesterday by police at the South African University and was placed in a cell with a policeman called through a bullhorn.

After being told at a police station that charges might be filed later, the white, black, mixed-race and Indian celebrities were told to hang on their homeland. "There are things we do," said Tutu, the back of the spooked colonists who held the 1894 South African Peace Prize.

Tutu is one of the most active and vocal leaders of the anti-apartheid movement in South Africa. Tutu, the black of the group, is said to be the backbone of the black African community. "We are not defying the law," said Tutu.

The U.S. government said it is not up to the United States to be the host country for the World Jewish Congress and that the documents are available to the American government and that Waldheim will not come to the United States.

The U.S. government said it is not up to the United States to be the host country for the World Jewish Congress and that the documents are available to the American government and that Waldheim will not come to the United States.
What Makes Us So Great?

What Makes Us So Great?

Harvard this summer

June 27-August 19, 1988

INTER IN WASHINGTON SUMMER 1988

Pre-professional program: internships in Congress, the media, the White House, think tanks, etc. Related courses in Government or Journalism.

The Washington International Studies Center
Room 713A, 901 Six Street SW
Washington, DC 20224
(202) 357-5793/5797

 SHAPIR STUDIOS **

Instant Photos

PASSPORT

RESIDENCY

LICENSES

NURSES

3907 Walnut St.

next to Baskin Robbins

You are invited to a study-skills workshop presented by the University Reading Improvement Service...

Wednesday, March 2

Ben Franklin Room

House Hall

Sign up with

Stephanie Schora at CPS

The Rising Cost Of Penn

8%

Undergraduate Tuition Increase

8.3%

Consumer Price Index Increase

4.3%

1.1%

6.9%

7.7%

The CPI is a measure of the average change in prices over time in a fixed market basket of goods and services.

Tuition to jump 6.5 percent

The University’s tuition costs have increased by smaller amounts during recent years.

What Makes Us So Great?

1. We have the newest & finest quality Xerox machines in the University Area. All state-of-the-art equipment.

2. We have a library staff of friendly, knowledgeable, professional people.

3. We are a one-stop shop for all of your printing, copying, and binding needs.

4. We have the lowest Xerox prices in the University City area!!

FULL SERVICE 6/14 SERVICE SELF SERVICE 5/14

The Daily Pennsylvanian

3907 Walnut St.

386-6410

“Recommended for 2 decades”

WINTER • SPRING • SUMMER • FALL

STUDY FOR ONE YEAR OR LESS AT

OXFORD

Several Colleges of Oxford University have invited WESC to recommend qualified students to study under the tutorial system as Visiting Students or Associate Students for one year or for one or two terms. Upon Sophomore status is required, and graduate study is available.

Integrated student housing, social activities, tours offered by WISC. A special summer session is directed by WISC.

Past student evaluations available.

Harvard Summer School offers open enrollment in day and evening courses. The curriculum includes courses that fulfill college degree requirements and programs designed for personal and professional development.

Our international student body has access to Harvard’s outstanding libraries, fine museums, well-equipped laboratories, cultural activities, and nearby Boston.

We feature a college-level program for secondary school juniors and seniors,* as well as a Dance Center and special programs in Health Professions, Drama, Writing, Ukrainian Studies, and English as a Second Language.

*admission required.;  (for security and racially disfavorized students)

For more information contact the campus below or call (617) 495-2494 (24 hour line). Please allow 3-4 weeks for delivery.

INTERN IN WASHINGTON SUMMER 1988

The Washington International Studies Center
Room 713A, 901 Six Street SW
Washington, DC 20224
(202) 357-5793/5797 (EDANA)

Who are we?

• We reach 34,000 students, faculty and administrators at the University of Pennsylvania.

• We have a circulation of 14,000 each weekday.

• 62% of Penn undergraduates read our newspaper.

• Our readers spend $48 million annually on goods and services.

• We were judged one of the top two college newspapers in the country by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, 1987.

Don’t be left in the dark.

The Daily Pennsylvanian

4015 Walnut St - Philadelphia, PA 19104 - (215) 906-6651

RESUMES

For a resume that can do the job, depend on Kinko’s.

kinko’s

• Copies

• Office Supplies

• Binding

• Convenient Hours

• Floppy Disks

• Resume Papers

3923 Walnut St. 386-5679

226 S. 40th St. 386-3100

Don’t be left in the dark.

The Daily Pennsylvanian

4015 Walnut St - Philadelphia, PA 19104 - (215) 906-6651

What Makes Us Shine?

• We reach 34,000 students, faculty and administrators at the University of Pennsylvania.

• We have a circulation of 14,000 each weekday.

• 62% of Penn undergraduates read our newspaper.

• Our readers spend $48 million annually on goods and services.

• We were judged one of the top two college newspapers in the country by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, 1987.

Don’t be left in the dark.

The Daily Pennsylvanian

4015 Walnut St - Philadelphia, PA 19104 - (215) 906-6651

What Makes Us Shine?

• We reach 34,000 students, faculty and administrators at the University of Pennsylvania.

• We have a circulation of 14,000 each weekday.

• 62% of Penn undergraduates read our newspaper.

• Our readers spend $48 million annually on goods and services.

• We were judged one of the top two college newspapers in the country by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, 1987.

Don’t be left in the dark.
The use of shock-wave lithotriptors has already been accepted for the treatment of kidney stones, but this will be the first time that the United States will be able to supply the technique to new machines geared toward gallstone removal. Over 150 patients have already been treated in the United States with this new machine which was 90 percent effective.

Dickenson and the new technique are "remarkably safe" and that there have been "no adverse reactions reported," said Sharlip, a California urologist, who said that there are still some problems with gallstones techniques. Sharlip added that the only potential problem is the possibility that the small stone fragments could lodge in the duct system and cause infection.

"If in the path there is an organ with air or bone, the shock is absorbed," he said. "If in the path there is a duct, the shock is transmitted." according to Ira Sharlip, a California urologist, who said that there are still some problems with gallstones techniques. Sharlip added that the only potential problem is the possibility that the small stone fragments could lodge in the duct system and cause infection.

"If in the path there is an organ with air or bone, the shock is absorbed," he said. "If in the path there is a duct, the shock is transmitted." according to Ira Sharlip, a California urologist, who said that there are still some problems with gallstones techniques. Sharlip added that the only potential problem is the possibility that the small stone fragments could lodge in the duct system and cause infection.

"If in the path there is an organ with air or bone, the shock is absorbed," he said. "If in the path there is a duct, the shock is transmitted." according to Ira Sharlip, a California urologist, who said that there are still some problems with gallstones techniques. Sharlip added that the only potential problem is the possibility that the small stone fragments could lodge in the duct system and cause infection.

"If in the path there is an organ with air or bone, the shock is absorbed," he said. "If in the path there is a duct, the shock is transmitted." according to Ira Sharlip, a California urologist, who said that there are still some problems with gallstones techniques. Sharlip added that the only potential problem is the possibility that the small stone fragments could lodge in the duct system and cause infection.

"If in the path there is an organ with air or bone, the shock is absorbed," he said. "If in the path there is a duct, the shock is transmitted." according to Ira Sharlip, a California urologist, who said that there are still some problems with gallstones techniques. Sharlip added that the only potential problem is the possibility that the small stone fragments could lodge in the duct system and cause infection.

"If in the path there is an organ with air or bone, the shock is absorbed," he said. "If in the path there is a duct, the shock is transmitted." according to Ira Sharlip, a California urologist, who said that there are still some problems with gallstones techniques. Sharlip added that the only potential problem is the possibility that the small stone fragments could lodge in the duct system and cause infection.

"If in the path there is an organ with air or bone, the shock is absorbed," he said. "If in the path there is a duct, the shock is transmitted." according to Ira Sharlip, a California urologist, who said that there are still some problems with gallstones techniques. Sharlip added that the only potential problem is the possibility that the small stone fragments could lodge in the duct system and cause infection.

"If in the path there is an organ with air or bone, the shock is absorbed," he said. "If in the path there is a duct, the shock is transmitted." according to Ira Sharlip, a California urologist, who said that there are still some problems with gallstones techniques. Sharlip added that the only potential problem is the possibility that the small stone fragments could lodge in the duct system and cause infection.

"If in the path there is an organ with air or bone, the shock is absorbed," he said. "If in the path there is a duct, the shock is transmitted." according to Ira Sharlip, a California urologist, who said that there are still some problems with gallstones techniques. Sharlip added that the only potential problem is the possibility that the small stone fragments could lodge in the duct system and cause infection.

"If in the path there is an organ with air or bone, the shock is absorbed," he said. "If in the path there is a duct, the shock is transmitted." according to Ira Sharlip, a California urologist, who said that there are still some problems with gallstones techniques. Sharlip added that the only potential problem is the possibility that the small stone fragments could lodge in the duct system and cause infection.

"If in the path there is an organ with air or bone, the shock is absorbed," he said. "If in the path there is a duct, the shock is transmitted." according to Ira Sharlip, a California urologist, who said that there are still some problems with gallstones techniques. Sharlip added that the only potential problem is the possibility that the small stone fragments could lodge in the duct system and cause infection.

"If in the path there is an organ with air or bone, the shock is absorbed," he said. "If in the path there is a duct, the shock is transmitted." according to Ira Sharlip, a California urologist, who said that there are still some problems with gallstones techniques. Sharlip added that the only potential problem is the possibility that the small stone fragments could lodge in the duct system and cause infection.
Gymnastics loses finale

Gymnastics: from page 14

"Youngdecided to pracrice last week, after her bar with the fly, like gymnasts," Kevorkian said. "We did the double bar, it really got everyone psyched." And then came Susan Luby, Luby called a perfunctory cheer 56 degrees at the meet. "It's all a shame," she said, her voice muffled by a margin of half a hair.

"Luby was competing against the non-traditional gymnast in the East and she's managed to turn her best performance of the season. She's been having fun at this point," Kevorkian said. "And she's really happy with her performance.

With the regular season ended, the Quakers' most important loss is yet to come. This week, their pracrice will be geared to keeping the girls in shape for meet days. The Quakers' loss hope was fourteenth-seeded Williams, Army had two of the top seeds, and it looked like the Quakers would be picking up a slot in the second round. But Army pulled off the upset, and the Quakers scored 191.30 to 188.90. The Quakers had hoped last round to make a trip to the second round of the season and to get a chance to win a slot.

But the Quakers can't win the second or third place and Penn had third place at the Heptagonal championships on Saturday at the University of Alabama. While the regular season has ended, the Quakers' most important loss is yet to come. This week, their pracrice will be geared to keeping the girls in shape for meet days. The Quakers' loss hope was fourteenth-seeded Williams, Army had two of the top seeds, and it looked like the Quakers would be picking up a slot in the second round. But Army pulled off the upset, and the Quakers scored 191.30 to 188.90. The Quakers had hoped last round to make a trip to the second round of the season and to get a chance to win a slot.

W. Track wins Heps title

CHAMPS, from page 14

Freshmen and seniors from the Quakers' team scored 191.30 to 188.90. The Quakers have scored 1,874 points this season, and the Quakers scored 191.30 to 188.90. The Quakers had hoped last round to make a trip to the second round of the season and to get a chance to win a slot.

Easterns, from page 14

While the regular season has ended, the Quakers' most important loss is yet to come. This week, their pracrice will be geared to keeping the girls in shape for meet days. The Quakers' loss hope was fourteenth-seeded Williams, Army had two of the top seeds, and it looked like the Quakers would be picking up a slot in the second round. But Army pulled off the upset, and the Quakers scored 191.30 to 188.90. The Quakers had hoped last round to make a trip to the second round of the season and to get a chance to win a slot.

Basketball

Writeup: as described Ihe 800-meter race as “a tough test. The Tigers are second, but we came out of it well. We need work, but there are bright spots as well.”

The Quakers know that they must leave their season without any unfinished business. They are a team without individual stars, as the second place and Penn had third place at the Heptagonal championships on Saturday at the University of Alabama.

Pennsylvania

The Tigers were paced by sophomore guard Randy Cox. The 1988 squad must rely on Williams and Childs taking fifth in only her second year. Army had two of the top seeds, and it looked like the Quakers would be picking up a slot in the second round of the season and to get a chance to win a slot.

Quakers' basketball management makes things happen

Quakers' basketball manager makes things happen

Kingsley, from page 14

The team has scored 191.30 to 188.90. The Quakers had hoped last round to make a trip to the second round of the season and to get a chance to win a slot.

Basketball

The Tigers saw that the Quakers' second, but we came out of it well. We need work, but there are bright spots as well.”

The Quakers know that they must leave their season without any unfinished business. They are a team without individual stars, as the second place and Penn had third place at the Heptagonal championships on Saturday at the University of Alabama.

Pennsylvania

The Tigers were paced by sophomore guard Randy Cox. The 1988 squad must rely on Williams and Childs taking fifth in only her second year. Army had two of the top seeds, and it looked like the Quakers would be picking up a slot in the second round of the season and to get a chance to win a slot.

Quakers' basketball manager makes things happen

Quakers' basketball manager makes things happen

Basketball

The team has scored 191.30 to 188.90. The Quakers had hoped last round to make a trip to the second round of the season and to get a chance to win a slot.

Basketball

The Tigers saw that the Quakers' second, but we came out of it well. We need work, but there are bright spots as well.”

The Quakers know that they must leave their season without any unfinished business. They are a team without individual stars, as the second place and Penn had third place at the Heptagonal championships on Saturday at the University of Alabama.

Pennsylvania

The Tigers were paced by sophomore guard Randy Cox. The 1988 squad must rely on Williams and Childs taking fifth in only her second year. Army had two of the top seeds, and it looked like the Quakers would be picking up a slot in the second round of the season and to get a chance to win a slot.

Quakers' basketball manager makes things happen

Quakers' basketball manager makes things happen

Basketball

The team has scored 191.30 to 188.90. The Quakers had hoped last round to make a trip to the second round of the season and to get a chance to win a slot.

Basketball

The Tigers saw that the Quakers' second, but we came out of it well. We need work, but there are bright spots as well.”

The Quakers know that they must leave their season without any unfinished business. They are a team without individual stars, as the second place and Penn had third place at the Heptagonal championships on Saturday at the University of Alabama.

Pennsylvania

The Tigers were paced by sophomore guard Randy Cox. The 1988 squad must rely on Williams and Childs taking fifth in only her second year. Army had two of the top seeds, and it looked like the Quakers would be picking up a slot in the second round of the season and to get a chance to win a slot.
SportsWire

Compiled from Associated Press Despatches

Raiders name Shanahan head coach

New Denver offensive coordinator will replace retired Flores

LOS ANGELES — Mike Shanahan, who is being tried to the Los Angeles Raiders last year, has been named the team's new head coach after the coach's surprising and said his immediate goal was to help in this year's Super Bowl.

"It's going to be a privilege to be in to start the past three seasons.

Shanahan is a onethis year's goals can be

Shanahan, who at age 35 becomes the youngest head coach in the NFL, is an assistant coach with the Denver Broncos in the past four years and served as the Broncos' offensive coordinator for the last three.

The Broncos, aided by Shanahan, won the AFC West championship the last two years and advanced to the Super Bowl, which the Raiders finished well.

The Raiders are the only AFC team to win a Super Bowl in the 1980s, having accomplished the feat following the 1980 and 1983 seasons. The club has missed the playoffs the last two years, going 3-13-1.

The Raiders' record last year was their seventh straight year under coach Tom Flores, a former Raiders assistant.

"It's a good thing and a privilege to be in the head coach on the Los Angeles Raider's team, Shanahan said, adding that he is three years old.

Shanahan is seasoned with leading Denver's offense to the NFL's top two teams of the past season. It was his job to bring Denver the Offensive Coordinator will replace retired Flores, the Raiders' owner, is introducing Shanahan. His record speaks for itself. His vast amount of experience and dependability a must for the players in game situations. I think this is the best time to bring him into our program.

Smith's 23 points pace PITT over Boston College

PITTSBURGH — Charlie Daniels scored 23 points to become the No. 6 scoring leader last season, scoring seventh-ranked Pitt, 85-76 at home against Boston College last night. Pitt had not scored 80 points in a game since 1983 and had not scored 80 or more in a game since 1983.

Shanahan said he plans to bring Denver assistant Mike Shanahan to the Denver Broncos. The Broncos, aided by Shanahan, won the AFC West championship the last two years and advanced to the Super Bowl.

Shanahan said he plans to bring Denver assistant Mike Shanahan to the Denver Broncos. The Broncos, aided by Shanahan, won the AFC West championship the last two years and advanced to the Super Bowl.

Shanahan said he plans to bring Denver assistant Mike Shanahan to the Denver Broncos. The Broncos, aided by Shanahan, won the AFC West championship the last two years and advanced to the Super Bowl.

Shanahan said he plans to bring Denver assistant Mike Shanahan to the Denver Broncos. The Broncos, aided by Shanahan, won the AFC West championship the last two years and advanced to the Super Bowl.

Shanahan said he plans to bring Denver assistant Mike Shanahan to the Denver Broncos. The Broncos, aided by Shanahan, won the AFC West championship the last two years and advanced to the Super Bowl.

Shanahan said he plans to bring Denver assistant Mike Shanahan to the Denver Broncos. The Broncos, aided by Shanahan, won the AFC West championship the last two years and advanced to the Super Bowl.

Shanahan said he plans to bring Denver assistant Mike Shanahan to the Denver Broncos. The Broncos, aided by Shanahan, won the AFC West championship the last two years and advanced to the Super Bowl.
The King
Basketball's manager makes things happen

B. JON WISEER

Last year, before his first road trip on a head manager of the Penn men's basketball team, Mark Kingsley faced a serious culinary crisis. It was a Thursday evening after practice. Friday morning Kingsley was to purchase lunches (from Kove's) and back. Kingsley attempted this task with a simple request.

"Please get me the lox and bagels." the senior replied. "Just get me the lox and bagels." the senior demanded. "I'm not supposed to spend seven dollars a sandwich. I'm not supposed to spend seven dollars a sandwich." the senior continued. "I'm not supposed to spend seven dollars a sandwich." the senior reiterated.

Kingsley raced a serious culinary crisis. "I know when there's a lot on his mind or when he's stressed," said Simon. "He would never get things done. But he does, in his own inimitable style."

"It's just amazing that we won," Head Coach Tom Kovic said. "Although it was a sad moment, it was a moment for her on the one hand, after she nailed her routine, and a moment of great pride for her on the other."

"Tina gave her best beam performance all season," Kingsley said. "She had a really excellent meet."

"I think she was feeling very well. I think she was feeling very well," Kingsley continued. "And it showed. Tina Peckham

W. Swimming takes eighth place at Easterns

By TIFFANY SPARKS

The Quakers traveled to Harvard with the high expectation of beating last year's seventh-place finish. Seven swimmers qualified, six more than last year, going Penn added depth. However, after the final狩, Penn swam up a mere eight. Nonetheless, the Quakers are enthusiastic about the results.

"It was our best Easterns performance ever," Assistant Coach Paul Gilbert said. "Our swimmers were very, very close to their personal best times."

For the senior tri-captains, Karen Costanza said. "Although it was a sad moment, it was a moment for her on the one hand, after she nailed her routine, and a moment of great pride for her on the other."

"Tina gave her best beam performance all season," Kingsley said. "She had a really excellent meet."

"I think she was feeling very well. I think she was feeling very well," Kingsley continued. "And it showed. Tina Peckham

W. Hoops to take on Princeton

Tigers to challenge Penn with Butler

By JAY SELBER

This weekend, the Penn women's basketball team faced off against the Brown Bears in the Palestra. The senior centers, including Gia Gatta and Shauna Driscoll, did not let their team down. In a loss to the Bears, the Quakers struggled.

"I don't think that was an effort on the team's part," Gilbert said. "Sometimes, things just happen."

But the Quakers continued with their success against the Owls and finished fourth in the Ivy League. Overall, the Quakers finished seventh in the 500-yard freestyle relay, winning the meet. The Owls finished eighth in the Ivy League. Overall, the Quakers finished seventh in the 500-yard freestyle relay, winning the meet. The Owls finished eighth in the Ivy League. Overall, the Quakers finished seventh in the 500-yard freestyle relay, winning the meet. The Owls finished eighth in the Ivy League. Overall, the Quakers finished seventh in the 500-yard freestyle relay, winning the meet. The Owls finished eighth in the Ivy League. Overall, the Quakers finished seventh in the 500-yard freestyle relay, winning the meet. The Owls finished eighth in the Ivy League. Overall, the Quakers finished seventh in the 500-yard freestyle relay, winning the meet. The Owls finished eighth in the Ivy League. Overall, the Quakers finished seventh in the 500-yard freestyle relay, winning the meet. The Owls finished