Society's bias prevents women from becoming trustees

By CAROL VIZNY

Society's bias prevents women from becoming trustees at the University, even though they are as qualified as men. The lack of University-wide mechanisms seems to be caused more by sociopolitical problems than by personal vision. Several administrators said this week that they see the board as a reflection of society.

According to Vice President Jacqueline Wilson, the trustees are working for a greater sense of equality.

"The board as a whole has done a very serious job of monitoring women with a deep commitment to the University of Pennsylvania," she said. "Moreover, the first woman—a Trustee Chairman—Alex Shomer has shown to be a very important aspect of getting women in the council."

"I've been working hard for that," Shomer said in February.

Shomer pointed the way for the creation of the Trustees' Counsel of Penn Women, which set out to promote awareness and improve the situation of women with the Trustees.

"There should be more trustees who are women," said Victorine, a student at the University. "The lack of women on the committee seems to be caused more by sociopolitical problems than by personal vision. Several administrators said this week that they see the board as a reflection of society.

Female ‘money men’ are hard to find

Choosing virtually on the same criteria of wisdom and the ability to work with people, wealth, and University commitments, Hubert said that the trustees must have ‘political savoir.’ knowledge of the University, interest in its problems, and the ability to relate to men. They do not need to be donating money to the University or being donors themselves.

The popular belief is that the women are the most important of these categories, although many administrators claim that dedication to the University is more important than politics. All trustees are elected for a period of five years.

The decade of the women will be a very exciting one, she said.

According to Vice President for Development and Diversity Rebecca Houghton, women have become more involved in these positions over the years.

‘As long as they decide who will give money, they’re not going to get women,’ she said.

Hubert explained that the unequal pay-scales of men and women is due to the fact that women are paid for every extra hour they work.

Women today are not allowed to advance to positions of highest responsibility. According to Hubert, women must be very tough and relentless in their goals.

As long as who decides policies is male, women are treated with respect and ‘not patronizingly,’ she added.

She called for swifter action by the Trustees. She claimed that women trustees are more willing to serve on committees.

Farrakhan: A man and his message

We're here now, we are on our own, but here bearing hands white in America is tough.

But if you think you're better, you violate others.

Does education make you better? God burns books.

That is the purpose of education, you are not to be made of what you are, but to be made of what you know you are not, therefore, you want to know nothing.

But how many of you have your PhD degrees, which is a material thing, consume a lot of time and energy? God gave us something else.

But once you get the degree and think you have arrived, that is the moment you begin to experience.

The true purpose of education is to cultivate the quality of the inner self.

In any case, I want to tell you that the PhD degree is nothing.

Some day you will have to say that it is nothing in comparison to what you have to learn in whatever you want to do.

The true purpose of education is to help you do what you want to do.

The true purpose of education is to help you do what you want to do, but also to help you do what you can do.

Spice up your summer studies with “hot” cuisine and cool jazz

Summer sizzles in New Orleans and not just from our tropical breezes. You’ll find swimming and sailing, streetcar and steamboats, shopping and sightseeing.

There’s real French bread, blackened softish, boiled crawfish, gumbo and jambalaya. There’s rock ‘n roll, rhythm & blues and a musical tradition that’s home to both Louis Armstrong and Wynton Marsalis.

And you can enjoy it all while earning academic credit at one of the nation’s premier private research universities, just a few minutes from the French Quarter. This summer we’re offering more than 250 courses in 40 areas of study. Four-week and six-week sessions begin May 23 and July 5.

For more information and our colorful Summer School catalog, call 215-898-5555 or write Summer School, Tulane University, New Orleans, LA 70118.

ZBT closes slate against University

The Zero Beaux Fraternity (ZBT) papers in the Philadephia District Court today and turned its appeal to the University.

A District Court judge reserved ZBT’s motion to gain a temporary restraining order against the University’s judicial hearing against the fraternity. The fraternity limited its October meeting procedures, according to Association Vice President Freda Engal.

Engal said yesterday the court's order is a "petty" project that we've done in the past decade." Engal said yesterday.

The court will be open to the public for use on a first-come, first-serve basis. The Association will offer ten lessons to community youth.

New Bolton Center sued for negligence

The New Bolton Center, a premier private research universities, has been charged with negligence in a recent malpractice lawsuit brought by the family of a seven-year-old girl who died of cancer.

The plaintiff has requested a jury trial and asked the court to award damages of more than $170,000.

The court was scheduled to open yesterday.

Two killed, four wounded in Israel

JERUSALEM — Shooters hit two Arab girls on Friday, killing one and wounding the other, in what the Israeli army described as an assassination attempt.

The attack came after a wave of violence in Jerusalem and the West Bank that has left 11 people dead since Tuesday.

The shooting occurred in a predominantly Arab neighborhood in Jerusalem, where a 15-year-old girl was killed and two others wounded.

The Israeli army said the attackers were members of a militant group called the Islamic Jihad, which has been involved in a series of attacks in recent weeks.

The group has claimed responsibility for a number of recent attacks, including a bombing in Jerusalem and a shooting in the West Bank.

The army said it had launched a search for the attackers and was working with security forces in other countries to stop the group.

Israel has been on high alert since the start of the week, with Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu calling on his security cabinet to meet daily to discuss the situation.

The attacks have been condemned by the international community, which has called for an end to the violence and a return to negotiations.

Soviet media lauds pact in short story

MOSCOW — Soviet media concen- trated yesterday on the agreement to return of refugees. But there was little mention of the Kremlin's commit- ment to stop interfering in the region's affairs. The insurgents, who have been fighting since the Com- munist coup in April 1979, have been turned out and cities on Pakistan's side of the border, denied

The most violent crimes being committed, over 51 percent of the violent crimes in America committed by teenagers. I see 96 percent of our youth unemployed. No hope for the youth, and the black leadership standing down waiting for the government to create jobs for us.

What is the matrix with the leadership? Why can’t we take what we have learned in America and take the black leadership in America and help create jobs for the youth? Why don’t we help get the black community and other communities putting us together and put the youth to work so they can be self-sufficient?

Gang warfare is the war. Where do these gangs come from? We’ve always had gangs in the black community, but never gangs like these. These are gangs that are fed from outside sources. These are gangs that are being manipulated from outside. Drugs being put into the gangs. The gangs are funding and feeding each other. I believe the government is funding the gangs to prevent the blacks from coming together and the government is funding the gangs to prevent the blacks from coming together and helping themselves. The neighborhood. ‘Cause whites want to come in and take over the city.

The White House is worried because black men and women are having babies and the pled doesn’t seem to be working. They’re losing their community with fertility drugs, white birth rate going down. Black birth rate going up. Hispanic birth rate going up. Native American birth rate going up. The demographers are saying that by the year 2030, the blacks could be equal to the whites in population or ahead. In less than 100 years, the black man might be the majority of the United States. He might be the majority of the United States. How do you define a black president? That’s the question we are asking in our minds. How do you define a black president? Now when I heard that it was my task, I was a man who had never been around in my life. I was 16 years old, I grew up in the ghetto. I'm not rich man's child. I come up from a woman who was on welfare and didn't know how to raise. I thank God for the welfare system because without it I might not have had food to eat.

But my mother was a wonderful woman. And when I was a child I went to a school where she did not know a black teacher and she took it back to the welfare office and said: Thank you. You have helped to this point and my last foot have graduated from high school. I think we'll take it from here.

W. Crew attempts to overcome tough Big Red, Rutgers

By TRENA OBSTER

The Pennsylvania State University in State College, Pa., is one of the schools that has been working on improving its rowing team this season. The Quakers hope to make a statement this weekend against Cornell and Rutgers.

The Quakers have been working on improving their rowing team this week. The team has been practicing on the Schuylkill River this week during practices.

The Quakers' first race of the season against its Ivy League opponents will be on the Schuylkill River this weekend. The regatta will feature some of the top rowing teams in the country.

Heavyweight Crew journeys to Stanford regatta

By MARK DKO/DOWSKI

The Quakers will have to put in some work before they can compete with such teams. Their first race of the season will be against Cornell on the Schuylkill River.

The regatta will feature some of the top rowing teams in the country. The winner of the San Diego Crew Classic will be the early favorite for the Eastern or Intercollegiate Rowing Association Championship.

Pike Craft is the Penn men's tennis team head coach for this season and is known for his mathematical prowess in the sport. The Quakers fared well against the conference leaders in their season opener against Princeton.

The Quakers are favored against Brown in this weekend's contest. However, the Quakers know that they will have to be at their best to win this match.

Dodge Cup to test Lightweight Crew

B. ROBERT LII

Lightweight crew shows potential but can't match Yale and Columbia tomorrow for the Dodge Cup unless predictable. Yale will be good – maybe not good enough to win, but good. Columbia will be tough – it has about as much a chance as Yale to win or break two. But since San Diego, the Elis have taken second while Penn began the season two weeks ago, beat the Quakers in a close race and have been improving steadily since that time. Meanwhile, Columbia has been improving steadily since they last met MIT's crew. And while Yale is a strong team, one might be able to beat them, which have plagued them over the past few weeks which have been their toughest. Meanwhile, Columbia has been improving steadily since they last met MIT's crew. And while Yale is a strong team, one might be able to beat them. "We're in more of a racing frame of mind," captain Steve Lasztos said. "We're racing more aggressively and taking more chances against Harvard last week.

Last weekend, the Elis narrowly lost to Yale. And while Yale is a strong team, we've been improving steadily since that time. Meanwhile, Columbia has been improving steadily since they last met the Elis. Meanwhile, Columbia lost their last two races, against Navy and Rutgers. "We're better than last week — we're more crisp," Penn head coach Fred Leonard said. "We've pretty much decided that we can race a good race and beat any of the teams we face." The race should be easier against the Quakers on the track, as they have more experience than Columbia which has played them over the past few weeks.

"It'll be 30 degrees; it'll be snowing; we're all going to have the mumps," senior Jim Defilipi said. "We want to stay for Spring Fling."

A handful of Quakers have already been sidelined. Betsy Deja and Tara Fitzpatrick are both out with the mumps, according to coach Belly Coscia. "It all depends on the weather," she said. "It's a stepping block to the Penn Relays and the Heps." She said she would use the meet as a test for the Relays and the Heps. "It's a stepping block to the Relays and the Heps," she said. "We're not the best as practice."

Unselfish Rose speaks out for Baseball on, off field
W. Lax hosts Brown

By TAYLOR SPOONER

In search of a transfer student to let Penn's lacrosse team learn, assistant coach Chris Senopoulos, a sophomore attacker, is not a guy who faded into the background.

"Everyone says I'm intimidating," Senopoulos said. "I'd like to think I am. I want to make the runners scared of me, because I'm planning to show them what they're missing.

"I can only hope that I can get them going," Senopoulos said. "And I've been having a lot of fun so far." Brown seniors have allowed only seven hits and three goals in 10 first-inning innings.

Senopoulos has been further complemented by runners returning into the starting lineup in recent weeks.

"There have been some key injuries which have hurt the team," Brown coach Rose said. "But this team is very resilient, including one of our co-captains, who has been out since last weekend at the beginning of the season.

"The Breakers' (4-3) 2-1 win over the 10-ear-old seniors was a sign of improvement.

"We are starting to feel fresh under the guidance of a young team with a lot of enthusiasm. The offense has become both more potent and more balanced. The defense is impenetrable to the team's vocal leader.

"As long as I can run, I'll play," Rose said. "If I can't run, I'll try to keep the team going, but that doesn't mean I'll be playing.

"If they don't throw the parks, I'm not sure they'll be good speed and arc capable of scoring goals on their team," Head Coach Rose said. "If they don't throw our mistakes and try to run with the ball, the guy with the most speed, senior wide receiver John Green, will score them.
