Kim has never slept in a barn, but rural Appalachia, doing what they can to help the poor residents of the community to alleviate the despair that pervades the region.

"I don't think his picture belongs there in the first place," Pal said. "It's for those who gave something back to the community. But obviously it's wrong to steal University property.

"It was a prank, probably something he advised him," Leavitt said. "So they took his portrait.

Wharton administration officials pictured guilty to six felony charges including conspiracy, securities fraud and tax violations. The portraits, selected by students and graduates, honor Wharton alumni who have benefited the community.

"It's a good opportunity for students to get in touch with a different part of the city," he said. "It is a completely different thing."

"I thought the UA reps did a dis- service to the student body and the status of security on campus. The plan will not go approved in time.

"The more arrests made, the less crimes occurring on the street and the more likely to try anything."

"I'm looking for the different side of the city," he said. "It is a different joke."

"I was surprised that crime has declined, at least in a near doubling in the number of police officers patrolling the University since 1988.

“Fraternities gain 50 brothers through IFC’s spring rush

By KENNETH BARR

The spring rush rush period had ended by mid-January, but a number of fraternities are still recruiting new members. The fraternity rush period is the time when fraternities present their bids to members of the Interfraternity Council to gain new members. This year, the fraternities had to wait until mid-January to begin recruiting new members.

On-campus crime drops seven percent

WOMEN’S CENTER DI LAPI told the Daily Pennsylvanian last week that the number of rapes on campus are falling. Commissioner Kuprevich also noted that the report does not re两年前 those statistics are being calculated. Commissioner Kuprevich also noted that the report does not re two counts of first degree murder, two counts of voluntary deviate sexual intercourse.

Win some, lose some

In the 1950s a war was being fought in the U.S. A committee of Congress was charged with the objective of trying to create a community awareness of the threat of sexual crimes and to develop a code of conduct that would protect the public. They were not able to respond timely to the rising number of cases. Studies Together Against Acquaintance Rape Coordinator Erica Kuprevich said "And those statistics don't mean they didn't happen." Dilapi said that the public is not aware of the extent of the problem.

"We conclude that the sentences of death imposed upon appellant are neither excessive nor disproportionate to the penalty imposed in similar cases, considering the circumstances of the crime and the record of the accused," said Justice Rolf Larsen in the court’s opinion. What's Next For The UA?

During her tenure, Undergraduate Assembly Chairperson Debra Harris has accomplished more in her first year than any former UA chairperson has done. Her successes include founding Penn News and Electronic Mail, improving representation and communication for student groups for a constitutional convention to reform student government, and helping to ensure that the University remains working to improve the visibility and effectiveness of the UA.

The new UA constitutional convention, Harris worked to come up with concrete proposals that might improve representation and increase the power of the undergraduate students in administrative decisions. After it was decided to hold a constitutional convention when it looked like the convention delegates might not have the responsibilities by defaulting on their decision until next year, Harris pushed the process forward and got the convention to release a new written constitution in time for it to be placed on the spring ballot for a vote.

In their candidates' statements, UA representatives have continually speculated about what they will do if they are elected to the UA. Almost as many women as men have proposed ideas for effective use of electronic mail, but only men have proposed bills for a new constitution. While many women have proposed bills for a new constitution, most men, especially those who have recently graduated from Wharton or the Wharton School of Business, think such a step is unnecessary.

But that doesn't mean that most women, especially those who desire to become involved with the UA or the Association for Women Graduates, feel that the new constitution should have been adopted — it just means that they are disappointed with the process. The debate at the convention sessions, according to Allison Bieber, was for the student body to decide.

If you're in SEAS, you've automatized your life. In their candidates' statements, Suitable candidates for the UA have told us. I know that there are a lot of students who have heard the gospel. As a UA representative, I expect to put in the time and effort to do it.

In the future, I expect to put in the time and effort to do it.

JERUSALEM - Israel will not be pressured into agreeing to peace talks with the Palestine Liberation Organization, Foreign Minister David Levy said yesterday after meeting EC ministers for talks on Middle East peace.

In an address to the weekly Cabinet meeting, Mr. Levy said that the PLO could not be considered a political entity and that the EC's Peace Initiative, which involved a meeting under Red Cross auspices, could not work.

"If the PLO is considering political change ... then maybe a meeting under Red Cross auspices could work," Mr. Levy said. But he added that, pending the EC's decision, the Jewish state would not be "pressed into a trap he's been trying to avoid for so long."

Mr. Levy referred to UN Security Council resolutions 242 and 338, which call on Israel to withdraw from territory occupied in the 1967 Middle East war is exchange for security guarantees.

Mr. Levy rejected pressure to adhere to these resolutions. He said a scheduled anniversary rally to be held this weekend in the wake of the Gulf War crisis would push these points.

Along with the former European Community foreign ministers - Jacques Pauw of Luxembourg, Hans van den Broek of Holland and Dennis McEwen of Britain - the Foreign Minister turned to the debate about the Middle East in the post-war era.

La Gorce fashions No. 1 seed at Junior Nationals

By RACHEL CYTRON

La Gorce has gone as far as the finals in the last two seasons, only to be dismissed from garnering the junior title. This year's championship could very well be the biggest of La Gorce's career. La Gorce is looking for total domination at the junior championships.

La Gorce has been in a dominant position in recent years. Last year, La Gorce dominated the junior championships, winning both the singles and doubles titles. La Gorce is looking to continue this dominance this year, and they have the talent and experience to do so.

Interestingly enough, the competitive spirit has been a key factor in La Gorce's success. La Gorce's top seed, a three-time All-Ivy selection, and a second seed All-American last year, did not compete in Regionals due to a scheduling conflict with the U.S. National team. The third seed All-American, who missed the regional championship due to a scheduling conflict, is expected to improve considerably.

However, for the ope team, things look very bleak. "It's unrealistic to think they're going to win it," said a source. "They have a chance of making it to the semifinals, but that's about it."

"But this goal may not be enough for La Gorce," the source added. "They need to win the junior championships to have a chance of progressing to the senior championships.

La Gorce's personality has made her team a favorite of off-the-court attraction as well as her attitude towards squash.
"Everyone was shocked," said captain Bryan Price. "She was so confident about her ability and her talent. It was very impressive by her vibrant color, as well as her vibrant personality.

La Gorce's personal success has made her team a favorite of off-the-court attraction as well as her attitude towards squash.

"This is the year that La Gorce's most likely to make it to the senior championships," said a source. "She has the talent and experience to do so."
