Local architect to lead Fine Arts

By JOSE BRENNER

PHILADELPHIA, April 11, 3191

The University named Patricia Harnson, a founding partner of one of the nation's leading architecture and interior design firms, the new director of the University's Campus Center.

Although the selection must still be confirmed by the Trustees, the process is expected to be completed by the end of this month. The selection of Ms. Harnson, who is currently a principal in the New York-based firm of Harnson Architects, was announced yesterday.

"She has been working on that project for some time," said Harnson. "It has been a wonderful opportunity to lead a design firm." She added that she is "thrilled" to be part of the University community.

"She was born and raised in Philadelphia and has a strong connection to the city," said Harnson's former business partner, Michael Garfinkel. "She is an architect and an urban designer, which is exactly the type of person we were looking for." Garfinkel, who is currently a professor at the University, added that Ms. Harnson's expertise in urban design will be crucial in the development of the Campus Center.

The Campus Center project is one of the University's top priorities and is expected to be completed by 2018. The $200 million project will include a new dining hall, a student center, and a library.

"This is a very exciting time for the University," said Garfinkel. "We are thrilled to have someone of Ms. Harnson's caliber leading the project."
In Brief

Extra performance of 'The Wall' added

Quartet "sings" songs from Pink Floyd's 'The Wall.' The performances, presented by the Pre-Health Society, were originally scheduled for April 5 and 6. With a "sold out" performance on April 7, President Helen O'Bannon said a new performance would be arranged for April 9 at 8 pm in the 8th floor room of the Student Union. The shows are free of charge.

Prof’s daughter, killed in Merion plane crash, honored at service

By DREW ZOLLER
Daily Pennsylvania Staff Writer

An “enormous” number of colleagues of Associate Rheumatology Professor Bruce Freundlich turned out yesterday for the funeral of his daughter Lauren, who was killed Thursday in the plane crash that also killed Sen. John Heinz.

Lauren, age six, was one of two students killed in the grounds of Merion Elementary School when they were struck by debris from the crash. The plane crashed with a helicopter directly above the school.

Medical School employees have established a fund in her name. Donations will be used for scholarships for underprivileged children to attend the University as undergraduates.

At funeral services held for her yesterday at Goldstein Funeral Home, an “enormous” number of University community members turned out to support the Freundlichs, according to former Chief of Rheumatology Robert Zurier, who said the hall was “totally full and overflowing.”

Freundlich said last night the turnout was a “terrific help” to his family.

“Every single person that came out is going to mean something to us,” he said.

Freundlich added that the tragedy was not only one for his family, but one for the community as well and that “We (Heinz) had to help other people.”

“The community is of tremendous importance and help,” he said. “We all desperately need each other for friendship and love and peace.”

Zurier praised Lauren as “an exceptional little six year old,” who “loved school and learning.”

Freundlich added that she “was able to live life to its fullest.”

Students robbed over weekend

by KELI LENDAU

Two University students were robbed on Saturday night, in a separate incident, by two young men dressed in dark clothing. The weekend, University Police offici riders stopped and talked to one of the men a little in the orga-ization that he also felt left behind.

But Winston said the advantages from having "new blood" reading the EA would outweigh the negatives.

"Before now, young people," he said, "we're going to be excluded with the new generation."

Winston defended Fink for the way he handled the investigation. "I think Mitch has the potential for being a decent; he's a capable young teacher," he said. "I don't think it's fair to say that he's always anonymous, we're working on it. If we have the chance to prove that's not the case, we will."
Release the Charity Drive Tallies

President Sheldon Hackney is expected to end a flurry of speculation when he announces his decision on whether to appeal the recommendation of the Select Committee on Student Conduct to remove him from the presidency. But Assistant to the President Linda Hyatt said that the release of the results of a recent employee referendum on the issue has been put on hold while yet another matter takes into consideration in making his decision. Who is the culprit for not releasing the results of the vote?

Continuing speculation about the results of the referendum would only serve to undermine Hackney's attempt to put the issue to rest once and for all.

Until a date is set for the hearing on the appeal, the results of the referendum will remain a mystery.

usually, when an institution takes a vote, it makes the results available to the public. In that case, it would be appropriate for Hackney to invite the public to participate in the decision-making process by releasing the results of the vote.

Some recent attempts to prevent the release of the results of a recent employee referendum on the issue have been put on hold while yet another matter takes into consideration in making his decision. Who is the culprit for not releasing the results of the vote?

Although the results of the referendum have not been released, it is clear that the issue of Hackney's leadership has become a matter of great concern among the University community. The vote on the referendum was a democratic process that should be respected by all parties involved.

The release of the results of the referendum is important in ensuring transparency and accountability in the decision-making process. It is crucial that the results of the vote be made available to the public, allowing them to have a say in the decision.

The University community has a right to know the results of the vote and participate in the decision-making process. The release of the results of the vote is essential in ensuring that the democratic process is respected and that the decision-making process is transparent and accountable.

In the meantime, the University community should continue to engage in dialogue and seek a solution that is acceptable to all parties involved.

U. forum, moderated by mayor, looks at homelessness problem

By IDPAK PATEL

Four homelessness experts emphasized a change in government priorities as fundamental in solving the problem of homelessness in a forum moderated by Mayor William Green this week.

Nearly 100 students attended the discussion, entitled "Homelessness in our Country," at City College, the site of a five-day series of events designed to raise more funds and increase awareness of the issue. The forum was sponsored by GAPSA (Graduate Student Political Action Committee) and the Security Committee since coming to campus more than a year ago.

LOS ANGELES — Actor Adam Rich, who played the youngest of the Bradford clan on the television comedy "Eight is Enough," was freed on bail after his arrest for "public intoxication" Saturday night, Officer Dan Gonzalez said.

Police provided no further details.

According to Garfinkel, because of the fines that GAPSA levied, the chairperson must be elected at the meeting prior to the election of other executive members. The elections for the remaining seven positions will be held at the GAPSA meeting at the end of the month and installed in early May.

CANDIDATES’ STATEMENTS FOR THE CLASS OF 1992 SENIOR CLASS ELECTIONS

The Daily Pennsylvania, Monday, April 12, 1991

Candidates for President:

JEAN BALIO

I can look back on my four years at Penn, not with regret for what was, but satisfaction for what could have been. To the students of the Class of 1992, I offer you an alternative vision of what you can make our college years. The following is my platform for the senior administration:

1. Making the most of your time at Penn. As President, I will work with the Senior Class to ensure that events of our last year at Penn are the most memorable and meaningful. We will attend to the students' needs and interests, and encourage the participation of the entire Penn community. Your senior year at Penn should be one of the most rewarding experiences of your lives.

2. Getting the most out of your education. As President, I will work with the University to ensure that our education is both challenging and rewarding. I will support initiatives that enhance the quality of our academic experience, and encourage the students to take advantage of these opportunities.

3. Promoting a spirit of unity and cooperation. As President, I will work to create a spirit of unity and cooperation among the students, and encourage the students to work together to achieve their goals.

4. Encouraging a sense of service. As President, I will encourage the students to take an active role in service to the community and to the University.

5. Making our senior year unforgettable. As President, I will work to make our senior year unforgettable. I will encourage the students to participate in a wide variety of activities, and to develop their leadership skills.

6. Promoting a healthy and active lifestyle. As President, I will promote a healthy and active lifestyle among the students. I will encourage the students to participate in sports and other activities, and to develop their physical and mental health.

7. Providing a voice for the students. As President, I will work to ensure that the students' voices are heard. I will provide a forum for the students to express their opinions, and I will work to ensure that their concerns are addressed.

8. Encouraging a sense of responsibility and accountability. As President, I will encourage the students to take responsibility for their actions, and to be accountable for the consequences of their decisions.

9. Encouraging a sense of community. As President, I will encourage the students to engage in community activities and to develop a sense of community among the students.

10. Promoting a sense of tradition. As President, I will encourage the students to participate in the traditions of the University, and to develop a sense of tradition among the students.

I believe that the students of the Class of 1992 can make this a year of discovery and growth. As President, I will work to ensure that our senior year at Penn is a year of unforgettable experiences.
Baseball splits again, not following EIBL title pattern

Says smartly, it's a two-game split. The Brown softball team was defeated by Princeton, 11-2, in the first game today. The second game was unplayed due to rain. As a result, the game was rescheduled for tomorrow.

In game two, Penn and the visiting St. Lawrence Bobcats were tied, 1-1, at the end of the sixth inning. The game was eventually postponed due to rain. The game will be rescheduled for tomorrow.

The Quakers, who were led by senior catcher Mike Tripp, had their chances to score in the first game. In the fifth inning, with runners on first and second, Tripp lined a double to left field, but the Bobcats' defense made the play to get both runners out. In the sixth inning, with runners on second and third, Tripp again lined a double, but this time the Bobcats' defense was unable to make the play to get both runners out.

The game was eventually postponed due to rain and will be rescheduled for tomorrow.

The Quakers' offense was led by senior catcher Mike Tripp, who had a double in the first game and a triple in the second game.

Sophomore Allison House attempts to clear 6 feet, 6 inches during Saturday’s men’s track meet.

W. Track has fun in sun at Penn Invit.

“The disqualification really put a damper on the rest of my day,” Denson said.

Penn went into the meet with a three-prong attack. First, to gauge its current level of competition; secondly, to use the weather and the non-scoring system of the Invitational to their advantage in attempts to set new personal records, and finally to improve seed times for the Heptagonal Championships.

“Smart stars for M. Track

“I wish I didn’t do any of that event experimentation stuff.” Brown said.

Meanwhile, junior co-captain Cecil Smart ran in his specialty events, the 110- and 400-meter hurdles, and won both events. He bested Birmingham’s Martin Briggs, an ‘84 Olympian, with times of 14.5 seconds and 51.84 respectively.

Other first-place finishes included the 4x400 relay team (3:14.5), freshman Mamadou Johnson in the pole vault (15-4), sophomore Tom FeuJ in the long jump (23-5) and junior Andy Graham in the javelin (201-9).

In the meet, there were neither IC4A qualifying performances nor were there any personal records set.

It was Philadelphia's eighth overtime victory this season. No team has won more OT games in a season, matching the mark set by Milwaukee in 1977-78. The Visit also extended a streak of 14 games with their 14th overtime game of the season, matching the mark set by the Michael Jordan, who finished the game with 44 points, added 25 in the continuation, making one of two free throws with less than a second left.
Ron Anderson scored 39 points for Chicago, while Amon Givens added 25. Scottie Pippen had 22 points for Chicago.
Washington had not been shut out in any of the seven games in which Phillips was hit by the state's overtime rules.

Baseball splits again, stays one game behind

The baseball team has won the Eastern Inter-Divisional Baseball League championship by getting off to a quick start and then holding on to the lead for the pennant. The 1980 and 1982 Quakers used a strong first eight games to begin the league season. After two EIL victories, the 1982 Quakers have yet to show the type of consistency and teamwork that demonstrated a championship team.
