Man charged in Temple rape

By MARGARET KANE

The son of former Phillies relief pitcher Tug McGraw was arrested yesterday and charged with the alleged rape-of a Temple University student.

By STEPHEN GLASS

President Hick Nahm said earlier this month, "My son is faced with a serious accusation. It is now in the legal system." McGraw, who is remembered for the 1980 World Series, yesterday returned to Philadelphia with the rape and released on bail.

According to the complaint filed in the University, McGraw, 23, was found in a small room in the Temple Towers, a room in the Temple Towers, a Temple dormitory. He then allegedly raped a student in the apartment.

McGraw, who is remembered for hitting the first pitch of the 1980 World Series, yesterday returned to Philadelphia with the rape and released on bail.

The female student charged that she was raped by Tug McGraw and Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Tug McGraw and Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.

The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992. The female student charged that she was raped by Stonus, a 1980-year-old Michael DeLancey, who is remembered for a gang rape that took place at the Academy Museum in 1992.
University of Pennsylvania Department of Recreation

Recreation Class Registration First and Second Sessions

PLEASE REGISTER AT GYM WHERE CLASS IS BEING HELD!
CHECK FALL RECREATION CLASS BROCHURE FOR DETAILS

HUTCHINSON GYM 10:00 AM - 4:00 PM
SEPTMBER 16, 17, 18, 19, 1991
GIMBEL GYM 11:00 AM - 4:00 PM
SEPTEMBER 16, 17, 18, 19, 1991

AVAILABLE CLASSES:

Beginner Swim
Advanced Swimmer's Swim
Intermediate Swim
Squash
Yoga
Balloon Dance
Scuba
Self-Defense
Tennis

PLEASE SEE CLASS BROCHURE FOR REGISTRATION FEES +ADDITIONAL AEROBICS CLASSES IN SUPERBLOCK.

High Rise North Roof Top Lounge

#17 Beginning Aerobics M W F
#118 Beginning Aerobics T Th Sa
#119 Beginning Aerobics M W F

HIGH RISE AEROBICS, PLEASE REGISTER AT GYM/HUTCHINSON GYM

In Brief

AKA will hold registration drive

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. will hold its annual registration drive on Lenin Wall today between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The drive is this year's first community service event for Corporations, a committee of the Black fraternity Council.

Todd Beals

Campus renovations, construction resume

The proposed construction of a parking garage at 40th and Walnut Streets has been put on hold for a second time.

Two concerns were raised by the city's new police headquarters on the bottom level, and the statue at the top, which was restored by a local government agency.

Although design plans were submitted, city officials have decided to delay the project until the city's budget improves

President Hackney stands by Walk report

One concern raised by several students was whether or not the project had been adequately reviewed.

President Hackney was praised for adding members to the committee when it first was formed, said thought the large size of the committee may have made decisions difficult.

"It was probably necessary to have all communities in the decision making process," Hackney said.

WQHS has stronger signal in Quadrangle

A survey of students at the University of Pennsylvania has shown that WQHS has a stronger signal in the Quadrangle area.

In addition to the installation of a number of new antennas, WQHS has also increased its power output.

President Hackney said that these improvements were necessary to ensure that the station would be able to serve the needs of the student body.

Freshmen are vulnerable

In an interview with the University of Pennsylvania Daily, freshmen were found to be vulnerable to a number of different types of harassment.

Freshmen were found to be victims of sexual harassment, aggressive behavior, and other types of abuse.

Some freshmen said that they had experienced these issues on campus, and that they were not aware of any resources or support systems available to them.

President Hackney said that the university was working to improve the situation, and that she would be meeting with freshmen to discuss their concerns.

The Daily Pennsylvanian

The Daily Pennsylvanian is the student newspaper of the University of Pennsylvania. Founded in 1887, the Daily Pennsylvanian is the largest student newspaper in the United States.

The Daily Pennsylvanian is published daily except Sundays, and is available online at daily.upenn.edu.
New Neighbors

A MOVE member discusses the past and future of the controversial group, which recently purchased a house in the University area.

City Limits

A weekly look at issues facing Philadelphia

By EMILY CULBERTSON

A MOVE member discusses the past and future of the controversial group, which recently purchased a house in the University area.

Alberta Africa sits in front of MOVE's newly purchased home at 44th and Kingsessing streets. Their children do not attend school, and instead of letting down full-time jobs, MOVE members do odd jobs or operate their own businesses. The new house sits at 45th and Kingsessing streets, which is a few blocks south of Baltimore Avenue, a source of curiosity and fear among neighbors and many other people in West Philadelphia. In many residents' minds, the attention over MOVE's new house has brought back memories of a day six years ago almost everyone in the city was turned to the next set of reporters. But Wilson Goode's blue-ribbon commission cleared the air. Alberta Africa was queen of her block.

But because of the delay, flames raced themselves in the building and the group has nothing to lose, they don't really need, such as move and the group's beliefs.

Alberta Africa sits in front of MOVE's newly purchased home at 44th and Kingsessing streets. Their children do not attend school, and instead of letting down full-time jobs, MOVE members do odd jobs or operate their own businesses.

A MOVE member discusses the past and future of the controversial group, which recently purchased a house in the University area.

Alberta Africa sits in front of MOVE's newly purchased home at 44th and Kingsessing streets. Their children do not attend school, and instead of letting down full-time jobs, MOVE members do odd jobs or operate their own businesses.

A MOVE member discusses the past and future of the controversial group, which recently purchased a house in the University area.

Alberta Africa sits in front of MOVE's newly purchased home at 44th and Kingsessing streets. Their children do not attend school, and instead of letting down full-time jobs, MOVE members do odd jobs or operate their own businesses.

A MOVE member discusses the past and future of the controversial group, which recently purchased a house in the University area.

Alberta Africa sits in front of MOVE's newly purchased home at 44th and Kingsessing streets. Their children do not attend school, and instead of letting down full-time jobs, MOVE members do odd jobs or operate their own businesses.

A MOVE member discusses the past and future of the controversial group, which recently purchased a house in the University area.

Alberta Africa sits in front of MOVE's newly purchased home at 44th and Kingsessing streets. Their children do not attend school, and instead of letting down full-time jobs, MOVE members do odd jobs or operate their own businesses.

A MOVE member discusses the past and future of the controversial group, which recently purchased a house in the University area.

Alberta Africa sits in front of MOVE's newly purchased home at 44th and Kingsessing streets. Their children do not attend school, and instead of letting down full-time jobs, MOVE members do odd jobs or operate their own businesses.

A MOVE member discusses the past and future of the controversial group, which recently purchased a house in the University area.

Alberta Africa sits in front of MOVE's newly purchased home at 44th and Kingsessing streets. Their children do not attend school, and instead of letting down full-time jobs, MOVE members do odd jobs or operate their own businesses.

A MOVE member discusses the past and future of the controversial group, which recently purchased a house in the University area.

Alberta Africa sits in front of MOVE's newly purchased home at 44th and Kingsessing streets. Their children do not attend school, and instead of letting down full-time jobs, MOVE members do odd jobs or operate their own businesses.

A MOVE member discusses the past and future of the controversial group, which recently purchased a house in the University area.

Alberta Africa sits in front of MOVE's newly purchased home at 44th and Kingsessing streets. Their children do not attend school, and instead of letting down full-time jobs, MOVE members do odd jobs or operate their own businesses.

A MOVE member discusses the past and future of the controversial group, which recently purchased a house in the University area.

Alberta Africa sits in front of MOVE's newly purchased home at 44th and Kingsessing streets. Their children do not attend school, and instead of letting down full-time jobs, MOVE members do odd jobs or operate their own businesses.

A MOVE member discusses the past and future of the controversial group, which recently purchased a house in the University area.

Alberta Africa sits in front of MOVE's newly purchased home at 44th and Kingsessing streets. Their children do not attend school, and instead of letting down full-time jobs, MOVE members do odd jobs or operate their own businesses.

A MOVE member discusses the past and future of the controversial group, which recently purchased a house in the University area.

Alberta Africa sits in front of MOVE's newly purchased home at 44th and Kingsessing streets. Their children do not attend school, and instead of letting down full-time jobs, MOVE members do odd jobs or operate their own businesses.

A MOVE member discusses the past and future of the controversial group, which recently purchased a house in the University area.

Alberta Africa sits in front of MOVE's newly purchased home at 44th and Kingsessing streets. Their children do not attend school, and instead of letting down full-time jobs, MOVE members do odd jobs or operate their own businesses.

A MOVE member discusses the past and future of the controversial group, which recently purchased a house in the University area.
Victims tend to shy from police when reporting acquaintance rapes.

From page 1:

Victims fear that police will not believe or support them. The police, in turn, fear that victims will not report crimes unless police officers push for it.

The police have not shed this fear.

Of the 131 students who said they had been raped or sexually assaulted, 9 percent said they did not report to the police, while only 1 percent of victims reported that they never reported to the police.

About 12 percent of women who had not been victims of sexual assault or rape said they were likely to go to University Police if they were fresh out of high school. Females were most reluctant to report, at 69 percent.

About 30 percent of those surveyed admitted to being uncharacteristic of normal people, which police believe is a sign that the victim is not to be trusted.

A female junior said that she did not believe the police if she was the victim of acquaintance rape because she was unhappy with how the police handled a string of chicken phone calls she received.

Several others said that they believed that the police were not being fair or that they were not doing their job.

One student said that she was afraid to go to the police because she had been arrested for a crime.

Victims and Security Services Director Beth Sayle said that the University's general policy is that the female police officer will respond to a female complaint.

"If you want a woman officer, you get a woman officer, a black officer, an Asian, or black, we get it for you," Victim Support Police Officer John Wylie said.

"That is just part of the sensitivity and the caring that we have as police officers," he added.

In other cases, police officers may be more comfortable with their reporting system and they may be less likely to report crimes.

Although the University Police have improved their system in recent years, many students still feel that the police are not responsive to their needs.

One female junior said that she reported the police to the police because she had been arrested for a crime.

"I think there has been so much sensitivity in the past," Victim Support Officer John Wylie said. "We are working very hard to improve our system.

Some students have said that they would not trust the police to handle their cases because of personal experiences.

One female junior said that she reported the police to the police because she had been arrested for a crime.

"I think what is on the rise is the number of students who are victimized," Victim Support Officer John Wylie said. "But this sense of support may not be the same as before.

The number of students who said they would not report to the police, but that they would tell Student Affairs, also received approval from the Student Affairs student support group.

Many of the students who said they would not report to the police, but that they would tell Student Affairs, also received approval from the Student Affairs student support group.

But only five students of the 74 students surveyed did not report their cases.

But one freshman who had been sexually assaulted said she would not report the incident because she did not have a partner to support her.

"I think that I would be the person to report it," she said.

The University Police Detective Larry Stiger said that the incident was the seventh bicycle-theft case the police had received.

"With a new central reporting system, "the University Police" and the new centralized policy, "the University Police" will make sure that all of the files, and only victim support, are available at one location.

"Victim Support will have access to all the files", Victim Support Officer John Wylie said.

But one freshman who had been sexually assaulted said she would not report the incident because she did not have a partner to support her.

"I think that I would be the person to report it," she said.
YOUR BROTHER ACED THAT CLASS, YOU KNOW.

SORRY, YOU'RE SHORT TWO CREDITS.

WOULD YOU CARE TO SHARE THAT WITH THE REST OF THE CLASS?

YOU DON'T HAVE A DATE FOR HOMECOMING?

OF COURSE, 90% OF YOUR GRADE WILL DEPEND ON THE FINAL.

YOU HAVEN'T PICKED A MAJOR YET?

YOU CAN'T GO OUT LOOKING LIKE THAT!

WHAT'LL YOU BE DOING FIVE YEARS FROM NOW, HUH?

SHOW A LITTLE RESPECT.

ISN'T IT TIME YOU GOT SERIOUS?

WHERE WERE YOU TILL 4 IN THE MORNING?

JanSport quality collegiate apparel and backpacks are available at your college store.
Next Time, Look At Fraternities

Each year, the University should relocate one of the nine fraternity houses in the center of campus and make it into a dormitory open to students of both genders and all backgrounds. Such a move would guarantee freshmen a truly residential experience on campus and one year on campus.

Perhaps this is the best way to begin to diversify residence halls.

Probably not. Maybe we would have come up with a better idea if we had confronted Sheldon Hackney before writing this editorial to see what he thought we should have written. Maybe our idea would have been improved if we had taken a year to mull over our opinions and solicit input from every possible special interest group on and off campus.

But we are offering a bold solution to deal with the extraordinary problems of fraternity life on the University's campus. The committee, which meets regularly and is chaired by Alyson Gordon, is doing excellent work, the Committee to Divest Locust Walk. Although, the committee made some recommendations that would not affect this central issue to the Divest Locust Walk debate.

President Hackney focused on his desire to achieve change and rejected my suggestions. On the other hand, the committee recommended the relocation of any fraternities currently located on Locust Walk. While his committee is composed of many students and community communicators, there was no student input or feedback.

In 15 minutes of brainstorming, we were able to suggest one possible solution to the problem that fraternities pose to diversity on Locust Walk.

First, the University should suggest one possible solution to the problem that fraternities pose to diversity on Locust Walk. Mr. Hackney and his cabal are responsible for this failure of the hazing committee. The committee discussed the dilemma at great length, and had the President not resigned clearly the intentions of the committee would have been revealed to the University community for a Locust Walk without Fraternities.

Since the committee was able to hand over to the president, it was left to suggest a new chart and philosophical goal, which, while commendable, are still halting our progress.

The entire University community, including President Hackney, could have been enlightened if the committee had suggested ways to go about removing at least some fraternities from Locust Walk.

President Hackney and his hazing czar are responsible for this failure of the hazing committee. The committee focused on the need to remove the leadership of the fraternities and to legislate against their return. The committee itself had long insisted that they would focus on the problem of the future and perhaps even consider sponsors for a Locust Walk without Fraternities.

This brings me to a highlight of the Penn food service. If we can keep our meal plans and save ourselves lots of trouble and money, we're all set. Why else are we here? In order to fit in, girls should be sure that they know how to do this. They must learn to do this.

Men should learn to handle heavy drugs. Heavy drugs are usually worse than no drugs. Girls should find out what Penn system. After three days here, you're going to learn that penn's fairly are not your best friends, and that other girls are droppings about their girlfriends. You cannot tell about the party some Penn system. So, when you find the right one, you're going to make a mark on her book. It is nothing like jn a Penn system.

In 15 minutes of brainstorming, we were able to suggest one possible solution to the problem that fraternities pose to diversity on Locust Walk. Mr. Hackney and his cabal are responsible for this failure of the hazing committee. The committee discussed the dilemma at great length, and had the President not resigned clearly the intentions of the committee would have been revealed to the University community for a Locust Walk without Fraternities.

Since the committee was able to hand over to the president, it was left to suggest a new chart and philosophical goal, which, while commendable, are still halting our progress.

The entire University community, including President Hackney, could have been enlightened if the committee had suggested ways to go about removing at least some fraternities from Locust Walk.

First, the University should suggest one possible solution to the problem that fraternities pose to diversity on Locust Walk. Mr. Hackney and his hazing czar are responsible for this failure of the hazing committee. The committee focused on the need to remove the leadership of the fraternities and to legislate against their return. The committee itself had long insisted that they would focus on the problem of the future and perhaps even consider sponsors for a Locust Walk without Fraternities.

This brings me to a highlight of the Penn food service. If we can keep our meal plans and save ourselves lots of trouble and money, we're all set. Why else are we here? In order to fit in, girls should be sure that they know how to do this. They must learn to do this.

Men should learn to handle heavy drugs. Heavy drugs are usually worse than no drugs. Girls should find out what Penn system. After three days here, you're going to learn that penn's fairly are not your best friends, and that other girls are droppings about their girlfriends. You cannot tell about the party some Penn system. So, when you find the right one, you're going to make a mark on her book. It is nothing like jn a Penn system.

In 15 minutes of brainstorming, we were able to suggest one possible solution to the problem that fraternities pose to diversity on Locust Walk. Mr. Hackney and his hazing czar are responsible for this failure of the hazing committee. The committee focused on the need to remove the leadership of the fraternities and to legislate against their return. The committee itself had long insisted that they would focus on the problem of the future and perhaps even consider sponsors for a Locust Walk without Fraternities.

Since the committee was able to hand over to the president, it was left to suggest a new chart and philosophical goal, which, while commendable, are still halting our progress.

The entire University community, including President Hackney, could have been enlightened if the committee had suggested ways to go about removing at least some fraternities from Locust Walk.

First, the University should suggest one possible solution to the problem that fraternities pose to diversity on Locust Walk. Mr. Hackney and his hazing czar are responsible for this failure of the hazing committee. The committee focused on the need to remove the leadership of the fraternities and to legislate against their return. The committee itself had long insisted that they would focus on the problem of the future and perhaps even consider sponsors for a Locust Walk without Fraternities.
Solzhenitsyn case closed by prosecutor

MOSCOW - The Soviet government yesterday officially closed the case against Alexander Solzhenitsyn, paving the way for the exiled writer's return to Moscow that he found "no proof whatever" to back up the treason charge against Alexander Solzhenitsyn. paving the way for the exiled writer's return to

"The case is closed because of the absence of any actions by Alexander Solzhenitsyn with criminal intent," the prosecutor said.

Solzhenitsyn, who was expelled from the Soviet Union 17 years ago, was offered his Soviet citizenship last year and his first name was added to his passport. But he said he would not return until the treason charge was revoked.

"The case is closed because of the absence of any actions by Alexander Solzhenitsyn with criminal intent," the prosecutor said.
Dodgers retake first place in NL West
Bo's first HR keys White Sox win; Holmes continues comeback

"What a joke!" Carst said, pinching

"I sort of lost interest in it."

"It's been a year of ups and downs -

"We've been through a lot."
McKinnon to drive offense

By JOHN DIAMO

The Quakers' season will hinge on quarterback Fitz McKinnon. The senior quarterback will carry the Penn football team through the next season. McKinnon has all the tools to lead the Quakers to the Ivy League championship.

With the added disadvantages of playing on turf, McKinnon is more confident and more poised. His role is to be a leader, an inspirational guy, the team motivator.

In the second half, McKinnon (5-10, 185 pounds) showed off his drive offense skills. McKinnon brought to the Quakers an entirely new offense. McKinnon will be looking to ignite the Penn offense as the starting signal-caller.

This season, McKinnon will look to ignite the Penn offense as the starting signal-caller.

F. Hockey battles one too many opponents in 4-2 loss

By STEVEN COOK

The Quakers' season will hinge on quarterback Fitz McKinnon. The senior quarterback will carry the Penn football team through the next season. McKinnon has all the tools to lead the Quakers to the Ivy League championship.

McKinnon's assessment of the first half was: "We were very fortunate to score the two goals when we did. I never felt we were in control of the game."

Val Cloud

Penn assistant coach

"On track to win two games," Cloud said. "I thought that the ball might be going to come up in the first half, having scored our first goal, but we were still able to keep our composure.

The Keeper will be looking to ignite the Penn offense as the starting signal-caller.

The Keeper will be looking to ignite the Penn offense as the starting signal-caller.