Proposed budget cuts could affect research

By SABAR KOTLER
Daily Pennsylvanian Staff Writer

Gov. Robert Casey's proposed state budget will not affect the future growth of University research, Vice President for Research Barry Cooperman said Friday.

Cooperman said the greatest loss will come in the form of internal cuts at the present and dean level.

"Most of the present and dean's discretionary funding is going to be cut back drastically," Cooperman said. "That's going to affect the ability to purchase equipment and laboratories.

"Gov. Casey proposed in January to cut all money that is not part of their budget, such as research and grants. The University's lawsuit over Mayor's Scholarships — contributed to the increase.

"It's pretty clear to us what we will need going into the future and what's happening now, that we simply need to cut more funds to be prepared for outside reduced fees," President Sheldon Hackney's chief of staff John Gould said. "Basically we're taking the budget in line with an unfortunate reality." The administration budgeted a total of about $1.5 million for the General Counsel's office in next year's budget, Budget Director Stephen Glass said. The offices, in addition to $815,000, or 13 percent of the total, with the remaining $762,000 for outside counsel, he said. The General Counsel's office — the University's in-house legal team — consists of six attorneys and support staff. The team handles "a full range of activities," such as taxes, human resources, real estate transactions, and outside counsel fees, he said.

In Brief

AEPI will begin hot tog fundraiser
The Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity will begin its second biggest Tab-Tob-A-Thon today.

The fraternity will maintain at least two fraternity members in hot tog on College Green for at least four hours and hold a raise to raise money for the Make a Wish Foundation.

The foundation uses money to grant wishes of terminally ill children. Donations will be accepted at the hot top and the information booth on Locust Walk.

Ms. Cheung, chair of the fundraiser, said that the most popular hot togs are those of Sister-Sister the Monkees and The Rocky Horror Picture Show.

Student assaulted indecently on Locust
Three men grabbed and indecently assaulted a University student at 2:30 a.m. Monday in the block of Locust Street, University Police Lieutenant Sheree Simon said today.

The female victim, who was not injured in the attack, reported the incident to University Police at 4:55 a.m. today.

Michael Holmes said there are no suspects in the case.

Rittenhouse Square

A historic place to walk, to read, to sleep, to live, or just to play.

Rittenhouse. Rittenhouse. Rittenhouse...

Hmmmmm, you say, the name sounds familiar. Been to a math class recently? Yep, the man whose name graces the hellish campus halls of mathematics, astronomy and physics also is the man whom the Center City park is named.

David Rittenhouse was born in 1732 and was an astronomer, mathematician, philosopher, the first director of the U.S. mint, the first treasurer of Pennsylvania and, of course, professor of astronomy at the University of Pennsylvania before he died in 1796. Rittenhouse Square was named after this eminent Philadelphian figure around 1826. In 1816, when other parks were being turned into cemeteries, Rittenhouse Square was saved by owners and occupants of property in the neighborhood, who raised $800 to lend the city for three years without interest. The city then enclosed the square with a fence of rough boards, and this is the section known today as Rittenhouse Square.

The square has been used for various purposes throughout the years.

During the Civil War, the whole square was transformed into a drilling ground where recruits were trained for the Army of the Potomac. In 1898, the first annual Flower Market was held in the Square. In 1918, the Art Alliance performed an exhibit of the figure of a youth equipped for war and singing "Honor eyes have seen the glory..." from the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Today, the Square is used by anyone who wants to rest in a quiet spot within the busy city. Weekends draw a diverse crowd — children chase pigeons on the benches, parents take their children for walks, artists draw, people read and others simply sit and enjoy the park.

The square has diverse architecture as well as people. Surrounding the square are high-priced condominiums, movie theaters, banks and ritzy hotels.

Rittenhouse Square, at 19th and Walnut streets, can be a haven away from campus, a relaxing and peaceful place, completely devoid of the mathematical confusion of David Rittenhouse's other namesake.

People of all types can be found simply taking a nap on the benches in the Square.
Students of the University of Pennsylvania:

Issues concerning the Drug and Alcohol Policy at the University of Pennsylvania, while always important, are of particular concern as we approach Alcohol/Drug Awareness Week and Spring Fling. While the University expects that each student will understand and abide by its policies, we want to emphasize that the health and safety of each member of our community is our primary concern.

If you or a friend find that you are in need of medical attention, do not hesitate to seek help for yourself or the person in need. University health and safety services available to students are listed below.

The General Policy Statements and Guidelines on Alcohol Use at Penn clearly state that:

In cases of intoxication and/or alcohol poisoning, the primary concern is the health and safety of the individual(s) who are involved. Individuals are strongly encouraged to call for medical assistance for themselves or for a friend/acquaintance who is dangerously intoxicated. Such efforts to obtain emergency help will not in themselves lead to disciplinary charges.

Please use your best judgment at all times for your own safety and the safety of those around you.

ALCOHOL FIRST AID

Severe intoxication can certainly be dangerous. Here are some basic guidelines to help you size up the scene and decide how to help a drunken friend.

DO (1) Ask the person to a comfortable and safe place. (2) Cut a calm, strong voice; be firm. (3) Assess if the person is in a life-threatening situation and GET HELP IF YOU NEED IT. (4) Lay the person down on their side with knees up so won't hi-lp, and the person may choke. (5) Check breathing every 15 minutes. Do not leave them alone. (6) Stay with them if they want to, to be sure they don't swallow or choke in the vomit.

DONT (1) Give a drink, then make the person pass out. (2) Do not try to wake them up. (3) Don't provoke a fight by arguing with or laughing at someone who is drunk. (4) Do not try to control the person-confront behavior later when they are sober. (5) Do not give them anything to eat or drink off food and will not help, and the person may choke. (6) Do not permit the person to drive. (7) Don't give the person any drugs, they will not help them sober up and in combination with alcohol they may be lethal. (8) Do not leave. (9) Do not turn away.

GET HELP IMMEDIATELY IF: (10) the person cannot be aroused by shaking or shouting. (21) the person's breathing rate is shallow, irregular, or slowed to less than 8 breaths per minute. (22) the person drools in combination with any "dozer" (individually or tranquillizer). (23) the person moans into the bawl to the head or any injury which caused bleeding. (24) the person looks a large quantity (e.g. 1/2 oz) of liquid within a short period and then collapsed. (25) IF YOU'RE NOT SURE WHAT TO DO, BUT THINK THE PERSON NEEDS HELP CALL FOR MEDICAL ADVICE IMMEDIATELY, BUTTER TO CALL FOR UNNEEDED HELP THAN NOT TO CALL FOR HELP THAT IS NEEDED!

JIO to investigate water balloon incident

A University Police investigation of the University commuters who allegedly assaulted a graduate student with a water balloon is being focused on a male student yesterday, Holmes said.

Today, Holmes said, she had brown hair but Compher said she has blond hair.

She also insisted that the graduate student informed police officers that the woman who threw the balloon had brown hair but Compher said she has blond hair.

"I don't have any information to substantiate that," she said. "The woman who threw the balloons was a white female. She was not necessarily 'stout' in her handling of the case.

According to Compher, one of the officers had known to the victim, then tried to 'track them into confessing to the crime," she also said that officers demanded they apologise to the man.

"They told us we could get kicked out of school," Compher said.

Signals Before Suicide

While suicide among college students is seen as only half of the actual rate of the same age non-college population, it is seen as the second leading cause of death in this age group, with 47% of students who commit suicide being men. It is not always the person who looks depressed or who is the person who is about to commit suicide.

There isn't any one reason people are in their minds. It is some combination of events that cause these feelings and their futures. It could be a bad grade, it could be a stressful situation or an underlying life-long problem. As hopeful as one may feel at the time, it is important to keep looking for signs of suicide.

U. increases funding for outside lawyers

University General Counsel Shirley Green said.
But Green added that outside lawyers to represent the University in civil matters, the practice of providing outside legal services for litigation issues to the University lawyers are overburdened with large matters. Outside lawyers at the University, Green said, will be called in to handle specific cases as the need arises, and in big cases stems from a variety of factors, including that its own in-house team needs to focus on matters that might not be handled as efficiently or cost-effectively by outside counsel.

"We try to keep our outside counsel in sufficiently difficult to obtain," Green said. "We urge schools to respond, as we may need a priority for the next year. As you near the end of your Penn classes

U. admits 30 percent for Class of '96

The University of Pennsylvania said Wednesday that it will admit 30 percent of the students who applied for admission to the university, a significant increase over the 25 percent admitted the previous year. The figure represents a 36 percent increase over the 22.2 percent admitted last year, and was announced by Dean Christoph Guttentag. "It is a very difficult time for the University. We have a number of people accepting from the Mid-Atlantic region - which includes Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and the Northeastern states - this year. The number of admitted students, however, is down from last year, from 17,000 to 15,000.

"Part of the increase in applicants is due to the high visibility of the University's scholarship programs," said Guttentag. "We are delighted that so many students are interested in our institution."

Arafat vanishes in plane

TRIPOLI, Libya — A jet carrying PLO chief Yasser Arafat disappeared in a sandstorm last night, just before it was to have landed in Libya on a flight from Sudan, PLO officials reported.

"We're trying to find him now," said Bassam Al-Sharif, Arafat's chief adviser, speaking early Wednesday from Paris, Tunisia.

At that time the plane, made, Algerian-Armenian to Libyan, escapers, that plane was more than seven hours overdue.

Al-Sharif, adding that the plane made an emergency landing in the desert, appeared in France, Italy, the United States and Egypt "to help with all possible means to locate the aircraft."

Other sources reached at the Tu- nisian embassy in the United States said that Arafat had been located in Tunisia. They spoke by phone to the AP office in Nicosia, Cyprus.

The 62-year-old Arafat has been for 23 years a wanted man, his bodyguards and administrative assistants. They included the aircraft."

The United States economy is debated on the topic of how it affects the world. Whatever happens if it is to grow the total potential of Great Britain, for example, is touched by the recession in the world economy.

Kathy Williams, the host of television's "The Effect of U.S. foreign relations, Congress discussed the problem of the United States for its own benefit. She emphasized, however, that her remarks were not a direct call to action for human rights. She stated that the international community's focus should be on providing services to the world's human rights expectations.

But Michael Arsentz, director of the Office of Human Rights Affairs in the Bureau of Human Rights and Humanitarian Affairs Overseas observed that human rights are complex, and there are certain countries that do not consider human rights to be important.

Although the discussion continued on how human rights abuses affect U.S. foreign relations, Congressman Ted Shrum of Hawaii, a member of the Executive Comitée of the Congressional Human Rights Committee, voiced his opinion.

"It's one of the most important human rights issues that we face," he said. "In the last few years, there has been an increase in the number of cases where countries are not taking action to prevent the abuse of human rights.

"I'm very concerned about the treatment of people in the United States," he continued.

"It's important that we work together to ensure that human rights are respected and protected."

Arsentz emphasized the importance of the United States' role in promoting human rights around the world.

However, Arsentz noted that the U.S. has not always been a leader in this area.

"In the past, the U.S. has fallen short of its commitments," he said. "But I think there has been a shift in recent years to a greater commitment to human rights."

Of course, our team is still in it by the fourth quarter, we'll have a great shot to win.

Unfortunately for the Quakers, they have yet to find themselves out of the game by the fourth quarter. Against Cornell last Saturday, Penn played an extremely good first half against the 13th-ranked Big Red, only to self-destruct in the third quarter as Cornell scored five runs in the third. Against Cornell last Saturday "It was a perfect game."

Mix said, "We have been playing really slow in the first half of the game."

‘Misleading’ Softball hosts Tigers

By ADAM RUBIN

The Tigers, who captured the Ivy title last season with a 7-1 Ivy record, suffered their lone league loss to Princeton (Warren, Field, 4-0), and thus their chances for possession of first place in the Ivy League, with matching 7-1 records.

The Quakers, who entered the contest with a 4-1 Ivy record, and thus their chances for possession of first place in the Ivy League, with matching 7-1 records.

Phillies drop eighth straight opener

Yanks top BoSox; Gillen turns down Villanova coaching offer

Mark Grace's two-run homer capped the ninth-offifth-inning jam that helped the Chicago Cubs down the Philadelphia Phillies 4-2 yesterday.

The Phillies lost their eighth straight opener and 17th in the last 21. The crowd of 36,031 was the largest ever at Veterans Stadium for a day game. The record for a day game is 34,570 on April 19, 1978, when the Los Dodgers won in the Coliseum.

Trailing 1-0, Chicago reached the eighth on a bases-loaded single by Milt May, who is 3-for-4 this season, that scored Whitey Herzog from third.

In the fifth, Maddux opened with a single and scored to second on a single by Shawn Dunston. Sammy Sosa doubled, scoring Maddux with advantage to third. The Cubs then broke the run on Ron Schobinger's long fly single.

The Cubs took the lead with the help of a hit batter and an error in the seventh. Wally Joynt was hit by a pitch, led off and advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on John Kruk's single.

A record crowd of 43,206 jammed Veterans Stadium and an infield fly got out. Pat Kelly walked and Charlie Hayes was hit by a pitch before a fielder's choice put Maddux out at second. The Cubs scored on two runs in the Phillies' third.

Maddux opened with a double toward third and advanced to second on a Schobinger sacrifice before enjoying a traffic jam on Mulholland's sacrifice. Maddux scored on a play that tied the game.

A swinging bunt single by Mickey Hatcher put the lead-hugging ninth at bay, and the Cubs defeated the Rockies 2-1. Hatcher moved from first to third and advanced to second on a play that tied the game.

College Basketball

CINCINNATI — Pete Gillen, the Dayton coach, said yesterday he has withdrawn his name even consideration for the Villanova coach. Gillen could not immediately be reached for comment on his office yesterday afternoon, and he has an scheduled home phone number.

Jill Foggia, Xavier athletic director, said he was pleased with Gillen's decision.

"It is a valuable asset to the university and his presence assures the continued growth of our basketball program," Foggia said.

Gillen, who has been an assistant to DiPiazza at St. John's and Bob Mazzie at Villanova, was 41-25 at Dayton in three seasons to 1989. He also has 1-3 overall at Villanova.

Winner Scott Sanderson overcame early struggles and the Blue Jays' 10 runs in the second inning for his third straight win of the year. The Blue Jays made it 4-0 in the seventh with a run of Greg Harris, and three for a leadoff singles in the sixth for a 7-0 lead.

A crowd of 8,573 marked the second at Veterans Stadium since 1970. The crowd of 60,431 was the largest at Yankee Stadium since the 1960 World Series.

"This was the toughest tournament opener we've had," said the Blue Jays' third baseman Gary Scott, who moved and the ball fell between players. Scott also had a hit.

Baseball

Yanks, Red Sox 3-2

VIRGINIA — Roger Clemens began his bid for a fourth Cy Young award yesterday when the New York Yankees rewarded his biggest crowd since 1978 with big lead to beat the Boston Red Sox 3-2.

Scott Kelly drove in three runs, from right-hander Randy Tompkins for more than 20 of the afternoon. But he was ruled out at second.

Clemens, coming of a season in which he lost his bid for the AL's best pitcher, pitched the whole way, giving up three runs and four hits in seven innings.

The Cubs scored in the fourth when an out and Arnie Tavarno singled and Greg Runen moved over the right side.

The Cubs took the lead with the help of a hit batter and an error in the seventh. Wally Joynt was hit by a pitch, led off and advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on John Kruk's single.

A record crowd of 43,206 jammed Veterans Stadium and an infield fly got out. Pat Kelly walked and Charlie Hayes was hit by a pitch before a fielder's choice put Maddux out at second. The Cubs scored on two runs in the Phillies' third.

A swinging bunt single by Mickey Hatcher put the lead-hugging ninth at bay, and the Cubs defeated the Rockies 2-1. Hatcher moved from first to third and advanced to second on a play that tied the game.

Peter Appleton, Philip H. "Smitty" Smith, and three for a leadoff singles in the sixth for a 7-0 lead.

A crowd of 8,573 marked the second at Veterans Stadium since 1970. The crowd of 60,431 was the largest at Yankee Stadium since the 1960 World Series.

"This was the toughest tournament opener we've had," said the Blue Jays' third baseman Gary Scott, who moved and the ball fell between players. Scott also had a hit.
Quakers rout Swarthmore
Freshmen spark Baseball

By ADAM STEINNETZ

For much of the spring, the two programs were strangers than they did hit. But yesterday at Bowdoin Field, the freshmen sparked the Penn baseball team to a sweep of the University of Maine in the opening game of a five-game series.

Swarthmore was the senior of the two sides, but the freshmen played a major role in the victory. Freshman Eli Fischler started at first base, and the freshmen combined for five hits in the game.

Fischler's performance was particularly impressive. He went 3-for-4 with an RBI and a run scored, and his three hits included a double and a triple. His efforts helped to set the tone early in the game for the freshmen.

Senior centerfielder Todd MacMillan was hitting 1.000 in the series through the first three games. His performance was critical to the team's success.

Despite Swarthmore's impressive early season, the Quakers were able to take advantage of their opportunities. The freshmen played a key role in the team's success.
