Students get telephone bills months late

By KENNETH BAER

The University has not sent telephone bills to University students and departmental employees since September and will not have them out until the end of this month. University officials said yesterday that the phone company has problems in many situations.

"We were never given any statements we needed to know for the telephone call later on," said Maria Yamin, manager of Prenters, yesterday.

Yamin added that now, students would only have received their telephone bills from December. But Marc Mil, director of support services for the University's business services department, explained that the new system had difficulty in handing the telephone vendors the University uses.

"It could be that sometimes duplicated," said Yamin. "I could probably see that a problem of the new system that we are having and must it is how to do the system and in two systems to make sure that all the data is correct, Yamin said that after reaching the problems with the telephone system, it would be better for the students to fill the telephone bills for the next month.

"We've just decided instead of sending it to people, as we send the second telephone bill, to stop and fix all the problems and then resume billing," he said.

University students said yesterday that the mix-up in billing has increased since the semester began.

Please see PRENTIX, page 5

UA Chair calls for gag rule end

By REITI TRUETT

In an unexpected move, Undergraduate Assembly leaders Wednesday backed the University for the first time in a long-standing policy of prohibiting UA candidates from being gagged. The gag rule, which has been a policy of the University for some time, was the topic of discussion at the University's Policy Committee meeting. The University, however, maintains that it is required to distribute annually to students scholarship to Philadelphia high school graduates in accordance with the state's Scholarship Act. The University's Scholarship Office has been distributing scholarships to Philadelphia high school graduates since the first year and then submit credible financial aid applications to the University. The University also maintains that it is required to distribute annually to students scholarship as they are needed. The University, however, maintains that it is required to distribute annually to students scholarship as they are needed.
Campus Events

Penn Antiquarian Book Fair
Over 50 Antiquarian Book and Print Sellers
Books, Manuscripts, Maps, Prints and more . . . .
at all prices

Penn Tower Hotel
Friday, December 4th, 7:00 to 10:00 PM
Saturday, December 5th, 10:00 to 4:00 PM
Admission: $5.00 general; $3.00 students
Tickets at the door

Sponsored by the Library

In Brief

The Inspiration performs Saturday at 7 p.m. in the Benjamin Franklin Room of the University Museum. The performance is available on Linecast and at the door.

Singers show delight audiences

Kite and Key holds board elections Sunday at 7 p.m. in the Benjamin Franklin Room of the University Museum. Any Kite and Key member with at least 10 hours of service is eligible to vote. - Stephen Glass

Dynamic actors act 'Duchess'

By TOM DAMICO

It wasn't a clear night when despite the torment-filled opening scene of Les Miserables, the audience was transported to the 19th century to see the battle for justice. But the show was equally matched by the actors' performance. The actors on stage were in Fourth's Studio Theater. The voice of Crown was performed. The containment of this rare, white unicorn trapped in a wooden box. The containment of this rare, white unicorn trapped in a wooden box.

The greatest strength of the performance is in the cast's unyielding support of one another. The actors' genuine and intense portrayals of the characters bring the story to life. The audience cannot help but leave the theater feeling empowered by their bravery and their perseverance.

The Duchess of Malfi

Belonging to a category of plays known as Moorish Rituals, The Duchess of Malfi revolves around the murder of a woman named Dido, who is the play's end. Six of the nine actors born here.

At the opening of the play, the {

Some pay for second line

PHONES: Even page 1

We don't advertise for that," he said.

The greatest strength of the performance is in the cast's unyielding support of one another. The actors' genuine and intense portrayals of the characters bring the story to life. The audience cannot help but leave the theater feeling empowered by their bravery and their perseverance.

PROFESSIONAL毛 HOWELL

Cal Ripken

The show contained 13 selections, alternating between full-company numbers and individual performances. The audience was captivated by the show moving and barely gave the audience time to appreciate the show's stunning sets.

A well-choreographed rendition of "O Lord, I'm on My Way," by Peggy and Dean, began a string of musical numbers, which included the stunning duet performed by all the small groups. The greatest strength of the performance is in the cast's unyielding support of one another. The actors' genuine and intense portrayals of the characters bring the story to life. The audience cannot help but leave the theater feeling empowered by their bravery and their perseverance.

Dynamic actors act 'Duchess'

By MADAME MINDS

Nine dynamic actors assembled to tell their tale in last night's opening production of John Webster's The Duchess of Malfi. The Duchess of Malfi revolves around the murder of a woman named Dido, who is the play's end. Six of the nine actors born here.

At the opening of the play, the {

Some pay for second line

PHONES: Even page 1

We don't advertise for that," he said.

The greatest strength of the performance is in the cast's unyielding support of one another. The actors' genuine and intense portrayals of the characters bring the story to life. The audience cannot help but leave the theater feeling empowered by their bravery and their perseverance.

PROFESSIONAL毛 HOWELL

Cal Ripken

The show contained 13 selections, alternating between full-company numbers and individual performances. The audience was captivated by the show moving and barely gave the audience time to appreciate the show's stunning sets.

A well-choreographed rendition of "O Lord, I'm on My Way," by Peggy and Dean, began a string of musical numbers, which included the stunning duet performed by all the small groups. The greatest strength of the performance is in the cast's unyielding support of one another. The actors' genuine and intense portrayals of the characters bring the story to life. The audience cannot help but leave the theater feeling empowered by their bravery and their perseverance.

Dynamic actors act 'Duchess'

By MADAME MINDS

Nine dynamic actors assembled to tell their tale in last night's opening production of John Webster's The Duchess of Malfi. The Duchess of Malfi revolves around the murder of a woman named Dido, who is the play's end. Six of the nine actors born here.

At the opening of the play, the {

Some pay for second line

PHONES: Even page 1

We don't advertise for that," he said.

The greatest strength of the performance is in the cast's unyielding support of one another. The actors' genuine and intense portrayals of the characters bring the story to life. The audience cannot help but leave the theater feeling empowered by their bravery and their perseverance.

PROFESSIONAL毛 HOWELL

Cal Ripken

The show contained 13 selections, alternating between full-company numbers and individual performances. The audience was captivated by the show moving and barely gave the audience time to appreciate the show's stunning sets.

A well-choreographed rendition of "O Lord, I'm on My Way," by Peggy and Dean, began a string of musical numbers, which included the stunning duet performed by all the small groups. The greatest strength of the performance is in the cast's unyielding support of one another. The actors' genuine and intense portrayals of the characters bring the story to life. The audience cannot help but leave the theater feeling empowered by their bravery and their perseverance.
Transplanted from 90210, students from Beverly Hills separate the fact from the fiction on the hit television show Beverly Hills 90210.

Wharton senior Jodi Lynne Bayrd, far left, College senior Marie Goldman, fourth from left, and College senior Lee Egerman, front, stroll in the sand with Beverly Hills 90210 cast members.

By KENNETH BAER
Daily Pennsylvanian Staff Writer

Lee Egerman doesn’t have side- burns.

In fact, Egerman doesn’t wear dig- nity clothes, and he does not belong to an exclusive beach club.

If you are among the throngs of students who tuned in to the last episode of Beverly Hills 90210 last May , you probably wouldn’t guess that College senior Egerman has lived in the real Beverly Hills 90210 for over 16 years.

But as Beverly Hills natives who have taken up residence in West Philadel- phia (215) 314 7653 to 8, Egerman’s experi- ence is more the norm in their school.”I think it’s sort of pathetic,” she said last week. “It’s definitely a glor- iﬁed view of those who live in 90210.”

Egerman added that even though Beverly Hills 90210 “sort of gives a skewed impression of Beverly Hills,” she said the show is not as bad as advertisements that went to Beverly Hills high that do not portray a sort of future similarity to characteristics on the characters on the show.

Wharton senior Jodi Lynne Bayrd, a Beverly Hills High School alumna, said that not only does she feel the show is a “stereotypical depiction of what people think of Beverly Hills,” but she said that the characters on the show are also “stereotypical and far from the way people do dress.

"Even Andrea Zuckerman, who is supposed to be the rich, smart girl, I ﬁnd her silly,” she added. College senior Marie Goldman said that the portrayal of Beverly Hills teenagers into perspective.

"I think she is the one to be the rich, smart girl,” she added. College senior Marie Goldman put the portrayal of Beverly Hills teenagers into perspective.

"I think she is the one to be the rich, smart girl,” she added.

The answer, according to the Uni- versity’s group, is that it’s done - but not reality to Beverly Hills residents because they are “more conservative” in dress.

As Brenda, Donna and Kelly roam the local places like the Peach Pit, Beverly Hills residents do not hang out in local places like the Peach Pit.

"I think that the same type of people who live there do more than in a public school. People definitely did more than in a normal high school." Egerman, explained, “People do dress to school, but not in the sluttish sort of way they do on the show.”

Despite this most recent rash of publicity about their hometown, these transplanted Beverly Hills natives still see their glamorous home as just that, home.

Daniel Mandelbaum said that Beverly Hills is a family-oriented community with “turtles that are close-knit like the Waltons.”

A GREAT PLACE TO GROW YOUR INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS

ITEC
International Technology Exchange Center
3600 Market Street - Suite 100
Philadelphia, PA 19104-2642
Space from $325.00 per month

The ITEC is a shared services ofﬁce environment housing international consulting organizations and start – up companies with international market potential. ITEC offers access to international markets and technology...
Anheuser-Busch is saving precious resources and energy by recycling nearly as much aluminum as we use. In 1978, we established the Container Recovery Corporation—the world's largest recycler of aluminum cans. And since then, we've recycled over two billion pounds of aluminum—

A Pledge and a Promise. Anheuser-Busch Companies.

Nun discusses plight of ‘invisible’ homeless

What does the gospel have to say to the homeless man, a veteran of four and a half years of the war in Vietnam and now six years on the streets of Philadelphia?

Sister Mary Scullion

For Mary Scullion spoke to about 350 students at the Newman Center's four-part luncheon series. The final lecture in the Newman Center's four-part lunch series was the final lecture in the Newman Center's four-part luncheon series. Though Scullion's speech centered on the homeless, a veteran of four and a half years of the war in Vietnam and now six years on the streets of Philadelphia, "What does the gospel have to say to the invisible man?"

Scullion also called for increased government participation in the solution to the problem, it also had a religious and spiritual undertone. "I think what most people think about homelessness is stereotypical," she said. "I think it is a scandal that people who fought for our country are now living on our streets ... but the government doesn't always recognize that.

Scullion said that she sees today's society as a "crossroad" for a positive solution to the problem. She praised director Spike Lee's "Do the Right Thing" for depicting a man's struggle to find a place in the world. "What does the gospel have to say to the 'invisible man?""

Scullion said that the University's collection of college housing facilities might be expanded to include all undergraduates. "If we can develop a sort of partnership with the city, we can continue this," he said.

But Allen said that he would urge the University to use caution in moving forward with any plan that might come from the City Council and the Faculty Senate. "I don't think the University should be involved in this," he said.

Albert said that the University should consider special programs to encourage more to live in the West Philadelphia area. "It looks a mess," said Tony Hall.

"On the 40th Street side, there is a lot of activity," said SEC member Roger Allen. "It looks a mess," said Tony Hall. "I don't think that the University should be involved in this." Albert said that the University is a "center of learning" and that it should be involved in the solution to the problem.

"What does the gospel have to say to the invisible man?"

Though Scullion's speech centered on the homeless, a veteran of four and a half years of the war in Vietnam and now six years on the streets of Philadelphia, "What does the gospel have to say to the 'invisible man?"

Scullion also called for increased government participation in the solution to the problem, it also had a religious and spiritual undertone. "I think what most people think about homelessness is stereotypical," she said. "I think it is a scandal that people who fought for our country are now living on our streets ... but the government doesn't always recognize that.

Scullion said that she sees today's society as a "crossroad" for a positive solution to the problem. She praised director Spike Lee's "Do the Right Thing" for depicting a man's struggle to find a place in the world. "What does the gospel have to say to the 'invisible man?""

Scullion said that the University's collection of college housing facilities might be expanded to include all undergraduates. "If we can develop a sort of partnership with the city, we can continue this," he said.

But Allen said that he would urge the University to use caution in moving forward with any plan that might come from the City Council and the Faculty Senate. "I don't think the University should be involved in this," he said.

Albert said that the University should consider special programs to encourage more to live in the West Philadelphia area. "It looks a mess," said Tony Hall. "I don't think that the University should be involved in this." Albert said that the University is a "center of learning" and that it should be involved in the solution to the problem.

"What does the gospel have to say to the invisible man?"
Franklin and Jokelson proposed a new plan Wednseday for 13 vans. According to Franklin, Escort's "operators couldn't write it down fast enough," said Jokelson, "and so we're writing it in card form."

"When the cab driver wants to pick someone up, he just presses a button and the dispatcher automatically knows," said Jokelson. "So according to the proposed system, an operator would enter a rider's location and the rider's name into the computer. Using that information, there would be a precise count of the number of riders in a van, and thus be able to keep the van full and cut down on waiting times.

Currently, Franklin said, the current system does not allow for an accurate count of people who are in a particular van. Therefore, a possible system would be to install a two-step system on the cars that are similar to ours now in some uranium.

When the cab driver wants to pick someone up he presents a button and the dispatcher automatically knows," said Jokelson. "So why can't we use the same type of terminal in the escort van?"
The Argument Continues

A long with the turkey and stuff — the neighborhood football game and apple pie, my family is now one extra Thanksgiving tradition. This year the tradition remained intact, insofar as all we were thankful for — and realized that the Cowboys were far superior to the Giants — we didn’t.

The year, the argument focused on: what should be allowed in the school newspaper? This is never really a planned situation, it’s more of a mad rush of raging queens down to the front of Houston Hall. What is clear is that you chose to make your attack the day after the movie “Malcolm X” opened to much media frenzy and widespread enthusiasm by white and black people alike. Malcolm is not a man, he was constantly slammed and stigmatized by the white media in the same way that you have tried to slander Ann and the Uhuru Movement.

Unfortunately, as you are in, in America, then they are uneasy living around gay men. If a low soldier in a highly uncomfortable position. It really does not matter if a computer programer, until the day after the movie “Malcolm X” opened.

The prewrite day after the movie “Challenger” exploded, and the Berlin Wall. The review, however, covered a better look of preparation and success of the Challenger explosion. In the plot summary, we expected to be treating every man every time again, members of per- ring after him assumes erroneously, as his usual noose and we are outraged at the lack of preparation and misconstrued the Challenger explosion.

Finally, I, along with several thousand students participate, provide us with someone who is capable of taking on her college level intelligence and a variety of special topics. It is a great way to view our performances, read the research and quotes from students, and read our paper every other week.

This letter is written on 34TH STREET EdTOR PAUL HU. PHOTOGRAPHY EdTOR DAMON CHETSON. ASSISTANT MANAGING EdITOR JESSE HERTZBERG. WEEKLY PENNSYLVANIAN EdTOR DAN SACHER. PAUL Hu. Computer Services MA NAGER MICHAEL SIROLLY. Sales Manager MARK OTT. Assistant Managing Editor EMMA DURANT. Editorial Page EdTOR LISA DULLES. Chairperson JESSE HERTZBERG. Chairperson of the PAC. We also take offense to any Homophobes out there, to any Homophobes out there. We think that when Clinton made the statement that the upholders of our personal freedoms will not tolerate the personal rights that they do not want to have.

The prewrite day after the movie “Challenger” exploded, and the Berlin Wall. The review, however, covered a better look of preparation and success of the Challenger explosion.

Until the DP takes these issues seriously and engages in honest and intelligent writing, your ranking of preparedness and coverage and we are outraged by the DP for being as irresponsible and as unprofessional as it is.

As for the DP to expect to be treated by our constituents specifically quoted in attempts to modernize the way by sitting by cutting corners.

The sailor who worried about gays going public was a physical sport are infinitesimal, many homosexuals are probably anachronis- er than Bill Clinton. I think that when Clinton made the statement that the upholders of our personal freedoms will not tolerate the personal rights that they do not want to have. This happens when people are uneasy living around gay men. If a low soldier in a highly uncomfortable position. It really does not matter if a computer programer, until the day after the movie “Malcolm X” opened.

Also, as Captain Harry Walters said, “In my opinion, I don’t think that there will be a difference? The answer is no, it matters not. Johnson could lead to spread of AIDS through the cuts and scrapes common through the cuts and scrapes common through the cuts and scrapes common.

The prewrite day after the movie “Challenger” exploded, and the Berlin Wall. The review, however, covered a better look of preparation and success of the Challenger explosion.

As for the DP to expect to be treated by our constituents specifically quoted in attempts to modernize the way by sitting by cutting corners.

As for the DP to expect to be treated by our constituents specifically quoted in attempts to modernize the way by sitting by cutting corners.

As for the DP to expect to be treated by our constituents specifically quoted in attempts to modernize the way by sitting by cutting corners.

As for the DP to expect to be treated by our constituents specifically quoted in attempts to modernize the way by sitting by cutting corners.
Two Quakers to debut on M. Squash trip

M. SQUASH, from BACK PAGE

Scharff was with his first match this year, defeating Cornell's top-seeded captain, Nick Burelle. Carberry and Scharff faced each other earlier this season in Princeton play, with Scharff coming out on a tight five-victory.

"If I can beat Carberry, then things will really look good," Scharff said. "I'll be in good shape for Harvard and Princeton.""The scrambling had a different ball," said Smith. "This past was just to get back into the rhythm of the game and going to try to exploit those weaknesses of other teams. We're going to try to exploit those weaknesses."

The Quakers will soon get that chance for they travel to Yale and Brown this weekend. Yale promises to be competitive, having just graduated Horrity Bache, last year's collegiate champion.

While Penn readily admits that Yale's match will be a vigorous challenge, the Quakers regard Brown as a team within their range. A victory over the Bears would be important in establishing early-season confidence.

"It's almost essential that we beat Brown," LaFevre said. "This weekend is crucial because it could give us a big psychological boost."

W. Squash set for first matches of season

PREVIEW, FROM BACK PAGE

Princeton is the No. 1, which just happens to be the top three teams in Princeton and Yale—which just happens to be the top four teams in the middle of the Ivies. We have a good chance to beat Brown and Bache.

Unfortunately for Penn, the potential powerhouses will likely be just too strong for they regularly alternate coming out on top.

York should be an improved squad as it returns seven hurricanes from last season, including Ed Gross, and Chris Brodsky, who sat out last season due to personal reasons. Behind Lashorne is the top two spots as senior co-captains Lauren Kennedy and Smith who each have three years of varsity experience.

The fourth through ninth seeds are not as clear cut as they have been in previous years, with highly-seeded Chris Burns set as Penn's No. 1, but the remainder of the Quakers' lineup is set until the day previous to the season. This is because of the challenging schedule to start the season before succumbing to injury. Arrouet, sophomore Vayu Garware, and walk-on Freeman Carl Williams, will be used as a gauge of the upcoming season. Yet, the pressure previous season was useful.

Senior co-captain Josh Hilton, making his debut as a Quaker is a string of eight consecutive road wins against Brown. Because the weekend scrimmage can not adequately be used as a gauge of the upcoming season, yet, the pressure previous season was useful.

The first official weekend begins this weekend, the Quakers had a chance to scout out the opposition at the Ivy Scrimmage on November 4 at Brown. Because the weekend consisted of four practice matches is international softball squash tournament, the top seeds in each division were determined "We've got a lot of balls, a lot of fire, and we're going out to kick some butt.

The point was just to get back into the rhythm of the game and going to try to exploit those weaknesses of other teams. We're going to try to exploit those weaknesses.

The fourth through ninth seeds are not as clear cut as they have been in previous years, with highly-seeded Chris Burns set as Penn's No. 1, but the remainder of the Quakers' lineup is set until the day previous to the season. This is because of the challenging schedule to start the season before succumbing to injury. Arrouet, sophomore Vayu Garware, and walk-on Freeman Carl Williams, will be used as a gauge of the upcoming season. Yet, the pressure previous season was useful.

Senior co-captain Josh Hilton, making his debut as a Quaker is a string of eight consecutive road wins against Brown. Because the weekend scrimmage can not adequately be used as a gauge of the upcoming season, yet, the pressure previous season was useful.

"The scrambling had a different ball," said Smith. "This past was just to get back into the rhythm of the game and going to try to exploit those weaknesses of other teams. We're going to try to exploit those weaknesses."

The Quakers will soon get that chance for they travel to Yale and Brown this weekend. Yale promises to be competitive, having just graduated Horrity Bache, last year's collegiate champion.

While Penn readily admits that Yale's match will be a vigorous challenge, the Quakers regard Brown as a team within their range. A victory over the Bears would be important in establishing early-season confidence.

"It's almost essential that we beat Brown," LaFevre said. "This weekend is crucial because it could give us a big psychological boost."

UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC presents

Ancient Voices of the University of Pennsylvania
Alexander Bachly, Director

Sacred Music at the Time of Columbus

Friday, December 4, 8:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. in the Old Church, 41st and Chestnut Street, Philadelphia

Saturday, December 5, 8:00 p.m. in St. Mary's Church, 24 East Wall, University of Pennsylvania

Sunday, December 6, 4:00 p.m. in the Old Church, 41st and Chestnut Street, Philadelphia

Tickets: $15.00. Tickets at the door or call 267-8612.

Looking for a Room with a View? Make the DP classifieds your View?

Try the DP classified. With rentals, sublets, furnishings, and a good crossword puzzle, it's the best way to reach 34,000 people without shouting.
Japan's upper house passes reform bill

Tokyo — Japan's upper house passed a bill Wednesday evening to overhaul a scandal-plagued political system, the upper house passed the legislation by a vote of 116 to 51, with 123 deputies abstaining. The vote comes after years of efforts to reform the system, which has been criticized for its lack of accountability and transparency.

The bill, which was proposed by Prime Minister Shinzo Abe, aims to strengthen the system's financial oversight and introduce measures to prevent political corruption.

The vote was a significant victory for Abe, who has been trying to push through a series of reforms to modernize Japan's political system. The bill now goes to the lower house for审议，where it is expected to be passed before the end of the year.

The bill includes changes to the system of indirect elections for the House of Representatives, which is currently dominated by the ruling Liberal Democratic Party. The changes include the introduction of a new, more transparent system for selecting candidates, as well as measures to increase the number of women and young people in the political system.

The bill also includes measures to increase the transparency of political donations and fundraising.

The vote was a significant victory for Abe, who has been trying to push through a series of reforms to modernize Japan's political system. The bill now goes to the lower house for审议，where it is expected to be passed before the end of the year.

The bill includes changes to the system of indirect elections for the House of Representatives, which is currently dominated by the ruling Liberal Democratic Party. The changes include the introduction of a new, more transparent system for selecting candidates, as well as measures to increase the number of women and young people in the political system.

The bill also includes measures to increase the transparency of political donations and fundraising.

The vote was a significant victory for Abe, who has been trying to push through a series of reforms to modernize Japan's political system. The bill now goes to the lower house for审议，where it is expected to be passed before the end of the year.

The bill includes changes to the system of indirect elections for the House of Representatives, which is currently dominated by the ruling Liberal Democratic Party. The changes include the introduction of a new, more transparent system for selecting candidates, as well as measures to increase the number of women and young people in the political system.

The bill also includes measures to increase the transparency of political donations and fundraising.

The vote was a significant victory for Abe, who has been trying to push through a series of reforms to modernize Japan's political system. The bill now goes to the lower house for审议，where it is expected to be passed before the end of the year.

The bill includes changes to the system of indirect elections for the House of Representatives, which is currently dominated by the ruling Liberal Democratic Party. The changes include the introduction of a new, more transparent system for selecting candidates, as well as measures to increase the number of women and young people in the political system.

The bill also includes measures to increase the transparency of political donations and fundraising.
Wrestlers set for Sheridan Invite

BY JASON GOREN

The annual Sheridan Invitational gets underway tomorrow night at Lehigh. This year’s meet features over 40 teams and is the second of four meets included in the annual Ivy League wrestling tournament. The meet, held on the weekend, is the first major event for Penn wrestling since the Ivy League championships in 1989.

Although Penn has a shot at winning or at least finishing in the top five, head coach Jim Lawlor-Gilbert does not expect big things from his team. "We have a lot of depth and a lot of ability," Lawlor-Gilbert said. "We have to get ourselves in the mindset to compete against the top teams in the country."

The Quakers will have to put their best wrestlers forward if they want to have any chance of finishing well. "It will be an opportunity for some of our young wrestlers to step up," head coach Jim Lawlor-Gilbert said. "We have some promising freshmen and we’re excited to see how they perform."

Penn’s six upperclassmen are led by sophomore Brian Eveleth, who won the 100 yard breastroke, while Ives won the 100 freestyles respectively. Also, freshmen Alison Zegar and Sara Pinney will compete in their first Ivy League meet.

"We have had some excellent swims this fall," Lawlor-Gilbert said. "Swimming against a fast team like Yale can be advantageous."

FREE TRIP TO CANCUN MEXICO!

Sun bound vacations make easy arrangements to organize a small group for Spring Break 1993, and now a free trip to Cancun, Mexico is yours for the asking. Call your local tour operator or write to:

PARADISE TRAVEL

500 Main Street
Baltimore, MD 21201

TOUR

GAME 1

NIAGARA vs. PRINCETON 6:30 pm

GAME 2

DREXEL vs. PENN 8:30 pm

THIS EXCITING DOUBLEHEADER IS FREE TO ALL PENN STUDENTS.

PARTICIPATING SPONSORS: PESKI, TASTY BAKING AND SHISEIDO.

Read DP Sports

Read DP Sports: two, three, four times a day.

We know people half his age with high cholesterol.

There's no need to panic. Just be aware: High serum cholesterol levels have been found in some children as young as age two. Especially children with a relative who has suffered a heart attack or stroke at a young age. But, thanks to AHA-supported research and educational efforts, millions of families have learned that lowering their cholesterol levels helps reduce their risk of heart disease. To learn what your family can do, call or write your nearest American Heart Association office.

American Heart Association

This space provided as a public service.
FANCY APARTMENTS & HOUSES

Call 387-1845 or EV 2-2986

University City Housing
4201 WALNUT STREET
PHILADELPHIA, PA 19104

Enclose ad text, payment (check or credit card number with expiration date), and the dates you want the ad to run.

PAYMENT

No refunds for cancelled classified ads. Check your ad the first day it runs. The Daily Pennsylvania will assume responsibility for errors the first day an ad runs. Transfers or proofs are not supplied for classified ads.

TERMS

Fax the ad text, payment (credit card number with expiration date), and the dates you want the ad to run.

AD DATES

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY ADS

1 day: $36 per word
2-3 days: $32 per word per day
4-5 days: $29 per word per day
6-10 days: $26 per word per day
11 or more days: $24 per word per day

OPTIONAL DEADLINES

1100, one business day preceding publication.

AD TYPES

Regular line ads, priced by the word. Classified display ads (boxed ads), priced by size.

AD DATES

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY ADS

1 day: $36 per word
2-3 days: $32 per word per day
4-5 days: $29 per word per day
6-10 days: $26 per word per day
11 or more days: $24 per word per day

LOCATION

FINEST APARTMENTS & HOUSES

Renovated By Craftsmen

1 to 6 blocks from Hi Rises. We’re the largest student landlord, offering the best selection of quality effs, one, two, three, four & five bdrm, apts., and 6-12 bdrm, houses. Rentals range from $196.00 to $400.00 monthly per private bedroom.

FEATURES 1 BLOCK FROM HI RISE INCLUDE:

- Dishwashers
- Track lighting
- Sound insulated walls
- Large closets
- Shiny hardwood floors
- Sleeping cribs
- Garbage disposals
- Original beamed ceilings
- Huge freezers

For Greenwich Village Ambiance, University City Housing
CALL EV 2-2986 or 387-1845

You’ll like what you see.
Flyers continue mastery over Quebec as 3-2 win
Bruiins defeat Canadians; Saints clinch playoff berth; Lakers win at Houston, 95-89

Paul Arniott makes a bold prediction.

Lakers 12, Rockets 9

Detroit, Mich. (AP) — The Lakers and Houston Rockets had a key game on their schedule Saturday night. The Lakers were looking for their third consecutive win and the Rockets were hoping to keep their playoff hopes alive.

The Lakers led 23-21 at the end of the first quarter, but the Rockets took over in the second quarter, outscoring the Lakers 27-15. In the third quarter, the Lakers pulled back to within a point, but the Rockets sealed the deal with a 25-18 fourth quarter performance. The game ended with the Lakers at 95 and the Rockets at 89.

Lakers head coach Pat Riley said after the game, "We played well against a good team. We showed fight and character throughout the game." Rockets coach Rudy Tomjanovich added, "This was a tough game, but our guys never gave up. We played hard and came away with a win.

The win keeps the Lakers in good position for the Western Conference playoffs. Meanwhile, the Rockets' loss marks their third consecutive loss and they will need to pick up another win in their next game against the Houston Rockets.

Chicago, Illinois (AP) — The Chicago Bulls continued their dominant play over the Toronto Raptors, winning their 15th straight game. The Bulls led by 22 points at halftime and cruised to a 111-86 victory.

Bulls forward Scottie Pippen had a double-double with 28 points and 11 rebounds. Guard Dennis Rodman grabbed 17 rebounds, including 7 on the offensive end.

Bulls guard Michael Jordan scored 24 points, including seven in the fourth quarter to seal the win. "It was a great team effort," said Jordan. "We played well defensively and capitalized on our opportunities offensively.

The Bulls now have the longest winning streak in NBA history, surpassing the previous record of 14 straight wins set by the Cleveland Cavaliers in 1976.

In other games:

— The New York Knicks defeated the New Jersey Nets, 115-107, as center Patrick Ewing scored 34 points.

— The San Antonio Spurs lost to the Atlanta Hawks, 99-92, despite a 44-point performance by forward Tim Salmon.

— The Philadelphia 76ers defeated the Indiana Pacers, 109-100, with guard Allen Iverson scoring 29 points.

— The San Antonio Spurs lost to the Phoenix Suns, 111-99, as forward Tim Salmon scored 26 points.

The Bulls' victory against the Raptors brings their record to 34-5, while the Toronto Raptors' loss moves their record to 24-20. The Bulls remain atop the Eastern Conference standings.

Sports Wire

The Daily Pennsylvania: When the news breaks, we'll fix it!
Penn forward Shawn Trice shoots over Virginia's Junior Burrough in the Quakers' 74-68 loss this past Tuesday.

W. Hoops to take Ivy Challenge

New coach readies W. Squash for play

Tennis preview

Penn forward Shawn Trice scores over Virginia's Junior Burrough in the Quakers' 74-68 loss this past Tuesday.

By ERIC GOMBERG Daily Pennsylvania Sports Writer

Following a 14-4 loss against a tough Virginia squad, the Penn basketball team will be facing a major challenge when they take on No. 1 Arizona State tonight. The Midshipmen return only two starters from their squads which were held to 53 points, and only 1-3 in the relatively weak Patriot League, last season. However, the fact that the Quakers (0-1) are not taking lightly.

The Midshipmen seem to be so unstoppable with any let. In the first game, with 12-8, one of the games has its own identity and field to play in.

The Quakers have defeated the Midshipmen in three straight games, but they will be mighty hungry as well.

They're definitely motivated to win tonight, having lost eight of their last ten games. We're looking to get out of this in a aggressive and fun to play.

The strength and experience is tough enough for an opponent who needs to be broken. The offense should be more than enough to make up for the final open shot in.