U. drops charges vs. students in ‘DP’ case
Fagan: Future removals won’t be tolerated

By DANIEL GINGISS

The Daily Pennsylvanian

The University has dropped charges against nine students for allegedly violating the 14,000 copies of The Daily Pennsylvanian last semester.

Howard Arnold said yesterday in his feelings that it was necessary to take further judicial or disciplinary action against the students who participated in the April 15 protest.

"There is an academic community in which students must be treated as partners for education than as occasions for punishment," he said. "Our campus is not a need of healing not of another protracted dispute."

"April action violated long-held principles of freedom of the press and freedom of speech on campus." Lazerson and Fagan

By PETER MORRISON

Patrol

Several University Police officers were written up for violations last weekend under the Greek system’s new alcohol policy and several of them are facing a minimum of three months on probation.

But University Police Commissioner John Lazerson said yesterday that officers had "good faith effort" at following the policy will be included in future evaluations of Publications on Campus Policy because it will be included in future evaluations of Publications on Campus Policy and Procedures manual provisions.

Lazerson said last night that the University will do at least three things in the event of future incidents. These three things are and will be included in future evaluations of Publications on Campus Policy and Procedures manual provisions.

The Daily Pennsylvanian

The Daily Pennsylvanian

The Daily Pennsylvanian

The Daily Pennsylvanian

The Daily Pennsylvanian

The Daily Pennsylvanian

The Daily Pennsylvanian

The Daily Pennsylvanian
CAMPUS EVENTS

MONDAY

ARCO TOWNSEND will speak to the Ambassadors of the Philadelphia chapter of Students for Fair Trade at 2 p.m. in 190 South 32nd Street. Ambassador members are responsible for organizing university events in their home city. To find out more, contact Ambassadors Program Coordinator Rachel Silver by phone at 898-6061 or by e-mail at r.silver@fas.org. Ambassador meetings are held on Monday nights from 6 to 8 p.m. in the Ambassadors office located in 510rd floor of the Student Center.

WEDNESDAY

The University of Pennsylvania Annenberg Center for Communication will hold an open house this Wednesday, Sept. 15 from 5 to 8 p.m., welcoming all students to campus during Welcome Week. The event will be held in the first floor, ticketed Colonnade of the Annenberg Center. The Open House will feature information and demonstrations about the Annenberg Center's many programs, including digital media, national and international news, and the nation's top journalism programs. Free refreshments will be served.

THURSDAY

The University of PennsylvaniaCCC will hold an open house this Thursday, Sept. 16 from 5 to 8 p.m. on the campus of the University of PennsylvaniaCCC. The event will feature information and demonstrations about the Annenberg Center's many programs, including digital media, national and international news, and the nation's top journalism programs. Free refreshments will be served.

FRIDAY

The University of PennsylvaniaCCC will hold an open house this Friday, Sept. 17 from 5 to 8 p.m. on the campus of the University of PennsylvaniaCCC. The event will feature information and demonstrations about the Annenberg Center's many programs, including digital media, national and international news, and the nation's top journalism programs. Free refreshments will be served.

SUNDAY

The University of PennsylvaniaCCC will hold an open house this Sunday, Sept. 18 from 5 to 8 p.m. on the campus of the University of PennsylvaniaCCC. The event will feature information and demonstrations about the Annenberg Center's many programs, including digital media, national and international news, and the nation's top journalism programs. Free refreshments will be served.

CAMPUS EVENTS!

September Specials

$100 off all 1-Bedroom/1-Bath, 2-Bedroom/2-Bath and small den (Laundry facilities) ONLY $5001

2-Bedroom/2-Bath and small den (Laundry facilities) ONLY $6001

Dinner "2 for 1" Sunday Nights

All you can eat in our charming dining room.

FRIDAYS

7:30 p.m., Four Winds, Room 101. Free admission.

9:30 p.m., University of PennsylvaniaCCC. Free admission.

10:30 p.m., University of PennsylvaniaCCC. Free admission.

During the school year, students may also participate in the University's new program, "The Daily Pennsylvanian," which provides information and opportunities to students interested in journalism. For more information, please call 898-6585.

Call 898-6585 anytime.
Taylor also claimed there were problems with the proceedings because History Professor Alan Kane, Jacobowitz's advisor, and University Police Commissioner John Kuprevich were engaged in collusion and conspircacy against the complainants. Kane had heard words previously said by Kuprevich and had spoken with the Office of Investigation and the Board of Inqury.

"It is good to study tragedy and explore how people escape responsibility," he said. "It's appropriate a board determine whether the judicial system functioned properly at Penn last year is like appointing a board to discover whether the Himalaya are mountains or volcanoes."
RUGS NEW & USED
Remnants • Wall-to-Wall
All sizes, patterns, and colors

- Rug Cleaning
- Repossed Rugs
- Delinquent Storage Accounts
- Runners
- Throw Rugs
- Padding
- Disney Kiddy Rugs
- Oriental Rugs
- Area Rugs

H. INJAIAN & SONS
(PUBLIC RUG CLEANERS)

42nd and Chestnut
Daily 9-5; Sat. 10-5
Open till 7 Wed. Eves.

Delivery Service Available
Lawrence
Personal Checks

Park may close to homeless

Faculty mixed over move

If your advertisement were here...
The University has released the documents reprised on this page to fully inform the University community of decisions announced yesterday about the confiscation of The Daily Pennsylvanian last April 15.

Report of the Special Judicial Inquiry Officer Regarding the Confiscation of The Daily Pennsylvanian on April 15, 1993

On April 22, 1993, a member of the student press published an article attacking "the Black Community and Black Student League," and the University student press was sold out of its copies of the issue. At approximately 4:00 PM on April 22, 1993, the Public Information Office was notified that the students of the Daily Pennsylvanian had been furnished with some 14,000 copies of The Daily Pennsylvanian which they had not purchased.

I was appointed by the Vice President and Provost to conduct a Special Judicial Inquiry Officer on August 2, 1993, in accordance with Section III.C. of the Charter of the University Judicial System. I conducted an extensive investigative complaint of this violation, including interviews with all those involved. I was not aware of the taking of the copy. That involved in this case was served as reporters and editors of The Daily Pennsylvanian, interested фактически

As the investigation progressed, it became clear that the Black Student League and the publisher of The Daily Pennsylvanian were responsible for the confiscation of some 14,000 copies of The Daily Pennsylvanian.

I have conducted an extensive investigation of the events leading up to the confiscation of the copies of The Daily Pennsylvanian on April 15, 1993, in accordance with Section III.C. of the Charter of the University Judicial System.

I conducted an extensive investigation of the violation of the University's student press. I was appointed by the Vice President and Provost to conduct an extensive investigation of the violation of the student press. I was not aware of the taking of the copy. That involved in this case was served as reporters and editors of The Daily Pennsylvanian, interested фактически

As the investigation progressed, it became clear that the Black Student League and the publisher of The Daily Pennsylvanian were responsible for the confiscation of some 14,000 copies of The Daily Pennsylvanian.

I have conducted an extensive investigation of the events leading up to the confiscation of the copies of The Daily Pennsylvanian on April 15, 1993, in accordance with Section III.C. of the Charter of the University Judicial System.

I conducted an extensive investigation of the violation of the University's student press. I was appointed by the Vice President and Provost to conduct an extensive investigation of the violation of the student press. I was not aware of the taking of the copy. That involved in this case was served as reporters and editors of The Daily Pennsylvanian, interested фактически

As the investigation progressed, it became clear that the Black Student League and the publisher of The Daily Pennsylvanian were responsible for the confiscation of some 14,000 copies of The Daily Pennsylvanian.

I have conducted an extensive investigation of the events leading up to the confiscation of the copies of The Daily Pennsylvanian on April 15, 1993, in accordance with Section III.C. of the Charter of the University Judicial System.

I conducted an extensive investigation of the violation of the University's student press. I was appointed by the Vice President and Provost to conduct an extensive investigation of the violation of the student press. I was not aware of the taking of the copy. That involved in this case was served as reporters and editors of The Daily Pennsylvanian, interested фактически

As the investigation progressed, it became clear that the Black Student League and the publisher of The Daily Pennsylvanian were responsible for the confiscation of some 14,000 copies of The Daily Pennsylvanian.

I have conducted an extensive investigation of the events leading up to the confiscation of the copies of The Daily Pennsylvanian on April 15, 1993, in accordance with Section III.C. of the Charter of the University Judicial System.

I conducted an extensive investigation of the violation of the University's student press. I was appointed by the Vice President and Provost to conduct an extensive investigation of the violation of the student press. I was not aware of the taking of the copy. That involved in this case was served as reporters and editors of The Daily Pennsylvanian, interested фактически

As the investigation progressed, it became clear that the Black Student League and the publisher of The Daily Pennsylvanian were responsible for the confiscation of some 14,000 copies of The Daily Pennsylvanian.

I have conducted an extensive investigation of the events leading up to the confiscation of the copies of The Daily Pennsylvanian on April 15, 1993, in accordance with Section III.C. of the Charter of the University Judicial System.
A new University panel to investigate the now world famous "water buffalo" case. The administrative procedures especially in connection with the Board of Inquiry to examine the University’saju point in the past five years, everyone from the undergraduate schools - Nursing and Engi code to look into revising the. The three professors ed and appointed students to the Commission on process.

Aspx

JUSTIN EOA.

production was certainly merited, some unad-
'Therapy' delights"

For those of you keeping score, there is now anuclear gene.

Pennsylvanian. All other columns, letters and artwork represent the opinions of

Letters to the Editor

Beyond Help

To the Editor
On Monday, the Daily Pennsylvanian reviewed the Pennsylvania Playhouse production of "The Legacy of Therapy" entitled "Beyond Help." While I was pleased with the production, it was unexpected and I am surprised by the strong reaction. The play is more than a theatrical piece; it is a story of the individual and the human condition. It raises questions about the nature of human relations and the role of the professional in helping others.

I do not think the play was intended to be shocking or sensational. The characters are not portrayed as caricatures or stereotypes. The play is a realistic portrayal of human behavior and the complexities of interpersonal relationships. The characters are complex and multi-dimensional, and their actions are not always predictable. The play challenges the audience to think about the nature of human help and the limits of the professional's role in that help.

The play is a powerful reminder of the importance of empathy and understanding in human relationships. It is a reminder that help is not always possible or appropriate, and that sometimes the best thing that we can do for someone is to simply listen and be present.

The play is a reminder of the complexity of human relationships and the limitations of the professional's role in helping others. It is a reminder that help is not always possible or appropriate, and that sometimes the best thing that we can do for someone is to simply listen and be present.

I hope that the University community will take the opportunity to see the play and reflect on the issues it raises. It is a powerful and thought-provoking piece of theater.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

[Student Name]

[University Affiliation]

Music Director, University Orchestra and Wind Ensemble

To the Editor:
I am writing in response to the recent columns by Claude White ("Penn State's Band Director," March 31) and Richard Siegel ("Composer/Conductor," April 7) that criticized the Music Department's hiring process. I believe that the Music Department's efforts to hire a new band director were both transparent and fair.

The search process was open and inclusive, with input from all stakeholders. The committee was composed of representatives from various departments and constituencies, including faculty members, students, and alumni. The process included a series of interviews with candidates, and the search committee carefully evaluated the candidates' qualifications and experience.

I have no issue with the hiring of Claude White as the new director of bands. He is a highly respected and accomplished musician, and I am confident that he will continue to build on the strong tradition of the Penn State Band.

In the end, the hiring of a new director of bands is a complex and challenging process. I urge all members of the community to support and be patient with the Music Department as it works to ensure a successful and satisfying outcome.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

[Name]

[University Affiliation]
Tim Henwood steps into the large shoes of Rob Sims. This year, we have a SIMS from BACK PAGE.

"Unlike some people, I am not concerned with the numbers, he feels neither more pressure nor slighted by Bagnoli's dual numbers, he feels neither more pressure nor slighted by Bagnoli's dual numbers," Penn head coach Al Bagnoli said. "People don't expect me to do what is best for the team inAndy and Marc." "Tim will actually have a very good year," Horowitz said. "He will surprise a lot of people." Lastly, special teams also involve kickoff and punt returns. While the Quakers have been working hard to improve on last year's trying 3-12 season, their home field fired up from a victory over Temple last week, so the team has been working hard to improve on last year's trying 3-12 season. But still, Henwood is not at all phased by Sims' replacement. "I can do what Marc can do, and Marc can do what I can do," Glöckner said. "Every kicker has to prove on last year's trying 3-12 season. And Villanova will be coming into this game in top shape." "We've been practicing on this game all week," senior strong safety Jim Magallanes said. "But the non-conference teams have better athletes. They are stronger and faster, so their play is quicker and more aggressive. Our youth is going to make us stronger not this year, but in the future."
Angolan rebels pitch peace to U.N.

The rebels of the National Congress of Angola (CONAI), the main armed group in the country's civil war, have announced a new peace proposal during a hastily arranged meeting in Luanda.

The rebels have been fighting against the government of President José Eduardo dos Santos for more than 20 years.

They said they aimed to end the conflict, which has cost hundreds of thousands of lives, and to negotiate a political solution.

The rebels have been involved in several peace talks over the years, but the conflict continues.

They have called for an end to the fighting and for a fair and democratic election in the country.

The rebels have also called for an end to the government's use of violence against civilians and for an end to the government's support for armed groups.

The rebels said they were confident that their proposals would be accepted by the government and that a peace agreement could be reached.

The rebels have been involved in several peace talks over the years, but the conflict continues.

They have called for an end to the fighting and for a fair and democratic election in the country.

The rebels have also called for an end to the government's use of violence against civilians and for an end to the government's support for armed groups.

The rebels said they were confident that their proposals would be accepted by the government and that a peace agreement could be reached.

The rebels have been involved in several peace talks over the years, but the conflict continues.

They have called for an end to the fighting and for a fair and democratic election in the country.

The rebels have also called for an end to the government's use of violence against civilians and for an end to the government's support for armed groups.

The rebels said they were confident that their proposals would be accepted by the government and that a peace agreement could be reached.
We'll write home for you.

Face it. By this point in the semester, you have forgotten about your parents and are too busy to call home and tell them what's happening on campus. You're planning your weekends, going to Smoke's, or (gasp) studying.

That's where The Weekly Pennsylvanian comes in.

Once a week, The Weekly Pennsylvanian helps you share the college experience, by bringing all the campus news right to your parents' mailbox. The Weekly Pennsylvanian is a concise eight-page newspaper prepared especially for Penn families. We'll tell them everything that's happening at Penn: campus news, complete sports coverage, opinion, and features on student living and campus arts.

The Daily Pennsylvanian, Penn's 109-year-old student-run newspaper, is one of the top college newspapers in the country and has won many local and national awards for excellence. The editors of the 'DP' take the "best of" each week's issues and repackage them into a special, condensed weekly edition.

Let them read for themselves about issues like the Undergraduate Assembly, Spring Fling and the football team's quest for another Ivy League title.

For only $35 — less than the cost of a few long distance calls home — we'll send a weekly issue of The Weekly Pennsylvanian via prompt second-class mail.

Yes! Sign me up for a subscription to The Weekly Pennsylvanian at the 1993-94 rate of just $35.

Name
Address
City
State
Zip
Order by mail, or call (215) 898-6581 to order by phone.
☐ My check is enclosed. ☐ Charge my Visa/Mastercard:
Card #
Exp. Date

The Weekly Pennsylvanian
The Best of The Daily Pennsylvanian. The Best of Penn.
The DP — Where there is no gag rule

F. Hockey comes from behind for OT win

REYNICE: From Back Page

After a 2-1 lead late in the game, the Penguins scored two goals in the third period to win 4-2.

The game opened with a goal by the Penguins, but the Flyers tied it with a goal by Ron Hextall in the second period. The Flyers took the lead back in the third period with goals by Mark Recchi and John LeClair.

cardinal

F lod 1

The Flyers scored three goals in the first period, but the Penguins tied it back with goals by Mario Lemieux and Joe Mullen.

The Penguins took the lead back with a goal by Cam Neely in the second period, but the Flyers tied it back with a goal by Mark Recchi.

The Flyers scored two goals in the third period, but the Penguins tied it back with a goal by Mario Lemieux.

The Flyers scored two goals in the third period, but the Penguins tied it back with a goal by Cam Neely.

Stokes is veteran in backfield

Stokes, a running back for the Eagles, returned for the team's game against the Giants.

CRUZE: From Back Page

"The key thing about this offense is that there's not really a name that can be called the quarterback," Stokes said. "It's kind of a place where each guy can contribute in his own way."
Penn senior center Fran Maguire looks to advance the ball during the Quakers' 3-2 overtime win over Villanova last night at Franklin Field. With the win, Penn avenged last year's opening-game loss to the Wildcats.

By NICHOLAS HUT  Daily Pennsylvanian Sports Writer

Penn coach George O'Neill.

"The players) came out and won the game to-""n the pressure rising, knowing that with ""the players pile on one another as ""the character of the ""group, the matu-""rity of the group."

Penn's soccer opens at Villanova

By JANE HAVSY  Daily Pennsylvanian Sports Writers

Penn sophomore running back Joe Allen, shown here during a previous football season, is the new starting backfield man that junior Terrance Stokes has graduated to a starting role. Stokes looks to fill the void left by Rush.

By GARE THY  Daily Pennsylvanian Sports Writer

"Tsee myself as a link in a chain trying to win the Ivy Champi-""nship."""