Students to protest feared U. Life cuts
Claim they weren’t consulted

By BETH TRITTER

Student leaders will be out full time today to protect the life of two controversy-stirring dormitories. The protests will likely be the latest in a string of demonstrations that have been occurring at the University. Rodin was the provost of the university last year and his efforts to cut the life of the dorms were met with resistance from student leaders. The protestors are calling for a complete halt to the proposed cuts and are demanding that the university consider the safety and well-being of its students.

Rodin was a star even as undergrad at U.

By JORDANA HORN

Rodin was a star even as undergrad at U. By Judy Seitz, she changed women’s social life. In another revolutionary move for the time, the WGSA under Rodin was able to alter $13,000 in the budget to create a community center. University President Louis D. Reardon approved Rodin’s vision for it. Even after Rodin was blasted in 1966, she added that student government had the right to a “second look.” The University has never had another leader like Judy Seitz.

Fagin says she’s no lame duck

By TARA TANASEVITCH

Fagin, who will step down from her interim position June 30, said she is ready for the renomination process. Fagin said she has been an advocate of a vice provost for university life. She called for a “second look” at the office of the vice provost for university life. The office could signal changes in certain areas, she said.

Fagin will continue her emphasis on communicating with the campus, Fagin said. She said that she will continue to focus on how to improve the university’s intellectual environment. Fagin said that because issues like the university’s intellectual environment suffer if she and Lazerson were to move on. The discussion will likely carry into the next council meeting in the office of the vice provost for university life.

Inside

Hands On

Weather

Students to protest feared U. Life cuts
Claim they weren’t consulted

The Ring, Please

Graduate students want tax removed

May petition Philadelphia City Council

By STEPHEN SANFORD

Graduate students are growing increasingly concerned about the city’s tax on graduate student income. The Graduate Student Association Council meeting yesterday, talked about the city’s tax mold. "These are really non-service felons," the editorial read. "There can be no doubt about it."

Rodin also voiced disappointment that there was no student-run honor system at the University.

When one residence assumed responsibility for a dorm-wide honor system, "it worked out reasonably well," Rodin said in 1966. She added that student government had the right to a “second look.” The University has never had another leader like Judy Seitz.

Fagin, who will step down from her interim position June 30, said she is ready for the renomination process. Fagin said she has been an advocate of a vice provost for university life. She called for a “second look” at the office of the vice provost for university life. The office could signal changes in certain areas, she said.

Fagin will continue her emphasis on communicating with the campus, Fagin said. She said that she will continue to focus on how to improve the university’s intellectual environment. Fagin said that because issues like the university’s intellectual environment suffer if she and Lazerson were to move on. The discussion will likely carry into the next council meeting in the office of the vice provost for university life.

Inside

Hands On

Weather

Students to protest feared U. Life cuts
Claim they weren’t consulted

The Ring, Please

Graduate students want tax removed

May petition Philadelphia City Council

By STEPHEN SANFORD

Graduate students are growing increasingly concerned about the city’s tax on graduate student income. The Graduate Student Association Council meeting yesterday, talked about the city’s tax mold. "These are really non-service felons," the editorial read. "There can be no doubt about it."

Rodin also voiced disappointment that there was no student-run honor system at the University.

When one residence assumed responsibility for a dorm-wide honor system, "it worked out reasonably well," Rodin said in 1966. She added that student government had the right to a “second look.” The University has never had another leader like Judy Seitz.

Fagin, who will step down from her interim position June 30, said she is ready for the renomination process. Fagin said she has been an advocate of a vice provost for university life. She called for a “second look” at the office of the vice provost for university life. The office could signal changes in certain areas, she said.

Fagin will continue her emphasis on communicating with the campus, Fagin said. She said that she will continue to focus on how to improve the university’s intellectual environment. Fagin said that because issues like the university’s intellectual environment suffer if she and Lazerson were to move on. The discussion will likely carry into the next council meeting in the office of the vice provost for university life.

Inside

Hands On

Weather

Students to protest feared U. Life cuts
Claim they weren’t consulted

The Ring, Please

Graduate students want tax removed

May petition Philadelphia City Council

By STEPHEN SANFORD

Graduate students are growing increasingly concerned about the city’s tax on graduate student income. The Graduate Student Association Council meeting yesterday, talked about the city’s tax mold. "These are really non-service felons," the editorial read. "There can be no doubt about it."

Rodin also voiced disappointment that there was no student-run honor system at the University.

When one residence assumed responsibility for a dorm-wide honor system, "it worked out reasonably well," Rodin said in 1966. She added that student government had the right to a “second look.” The University has never had another leader like Judy Seitz.

Fagin, who will step down from her interim position June 30, said she is ready for the renomination process. Fagin said she has been an advocate of a vice provost for university life. She called for a “second look” at the office of the vice provost for university life. The office could signal changes in certain areas, she said.

Fagin will continue her emphasis on communicating with the campus, Fagin said. She said that she will continue to focus on how to improve the university’s intellectual environment. Fagin said that because issues like the university’s intellectual environment suffer if she and Lazerson were to move on. The discussion will likely carry into the next council meeting in the office of the vice provost for university life.

Inside

Hands On

Weather

Students to protest feared U. Life cuts
Claim they weren’t consulted

The Ring, Please

Graduate students want tax removed

May petition Philadelphia City Council

By STEPHEN SANFORD

Graduate students are growing increasingly concerned about the city’s tax on graduate student income. The Graduate Student Association Council meeting yesterday, talked about the city’s tax mold. "These are really non-service felons," the editorial read. "There can be no doubt about it."

Rodin also voiced disappointment that there was no student-run honor system at the University.

When one residence assumed responsibility for a dorm-wide honor system, "it worked out reasonably well," Rodin said in 1966. She added that student government had the right to a “second look.” The University has never had another leader like Judy Seitz.

Fagin, who will step down from her interim position June 30, said she is ready for the renomination process. Fagin said she has been an advocate of a vice provost for university life. She called for a “second look” at the office of the vice provost for university life. The office could signal changes in certain areas, she said.

Fagin will continue her emphasis on communicating with the campus, Fagin said. She said that she will continue to focus on how to improve the university’s intellectual environment. Fagin said that because issues like the university’s intellectual environment suffer if she and Lazerson were to move on. The discussion will likely carry into the next council meeting in the office of the vice provost for university life.

Inside

Hands On

Weather

Students to protest feared U. Life cuts
Claim they weren’t consulted

The Ring, Please

Graduate students want tax removed

May petition Philadelphia City Council

By STEPHEN SANFORD

Graduate students are growing increasingly concerned about the city’s tax on graduate student income. The Graduate Student Association Council meeting yesterday, talked about the city’s tax mold. "These are really non-service felons," the editorial read. "There can be no doubt about it."

Rodin also voiced disappointment that there was no student-run honor system at the University.

When one residence assumed responsibility for a dorm-wide honor system, "it worked out reasonably well," Rodin said in 1966. She added that student government had the right to a “second look.” The University has never had another leader like Judy Seitz.

Fagin, who will step down from her interim position June 30, said she is ready for the renomination process. Fagin said she has been an advocate of a vice provost for university life. She called for a “second look” at the office of the vice provost for university life. The office could signal changes in certain areas, she said.

Fagin will continue her emphasis on communicating with the campus, Fagin said. She said that she will continue to focus on how to improve the university’s intellectual environment. Fagin said that because issues like the university’s intellectual environment suffer if she and Lazerson were to move on. The discussion will likely carry into the next council meeting in the office of the vice provost for university life.

Inside

Hands On

Weather
Campus Events

NOTICE

CAMPUS EVENTS are available in the Daily Pennsylvania on page 24, in The Philadelphia Inquirer on page 16, and in The Morning Call in the nearest weekly edition. The Daily Pennsylvanian reserves the right to edit announcements for space and content.

WEDNESDAY

FREE SHOES Come join the Un-Pennsylvanian on Wednesday. Take a Study Break at The Daily Pennsylvanian office and enjoy complimentary shoes, compliments of The Daily Pennsylvanian.

FRIDAY

EASY STUDY: Professors believe that a healthy and regular diet supports the student body. Take advantage of this resource and enjoy your favorite healthy food from the Student Union Salad Bar.

SATURDAY

THURSDAY

FRIDAY FEAST: Enjoy one of the best places to eat on campus, The Daily Pennsylvanian. Take advantage of this resource and enjoy your favorite healthy food from the Student Union Salad Bar.

WEDNESDAY

FREE SHOES Come join the Un-Pennsylvanian on Wednesday. Take a Study Break at The Daily Pennsylvanian office and enjoy complimentary shoes, compliments of The Daily Pennsylvanian.

FRIDAY

EASY STUDY: Professors believe that a healthy and regular diet supports the student body. Take advantage of this resource and enjoy your favorite healthy food from the Student Union Salad Bar.

SATURDAY

THURSDAY

FRIDAY FEAST: Enjoy one of the best places to eat on campus, The Daily Pennsylvanian. Take advantage of this resource and enjoy your favorite healthy food from the Student Union Salad Bar.

ADMISSIONS OFFICE on a roll

Early admission applications up; more students visit campus

By CHARLES ORNSTEIN

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.

The Admissions Office is on a roll.

In the last month, the office admitted five percent more early decision applicants than the previous year.

"The increase in early decision applications represents a major breakthrough," said University Communications Director Lee Shuster. "These new perspectives are rewarding over every corner of campus last spring, the office is the beacon of good news.

"We are hitting our prime," Fagin said. "It seems like we’re getting our point where it is beginning to match the reality.
From exploring the popularity of French food to explaining the response to gas station construction, graduate students redefine school work.
Commission holds second open forum

By RANDI FEIGENBAUM
Daily Princetonian Staff Writer

For the second time this year, the Commission on Strengthening the Community held an open forum Tuesday night to discuss the problems of the University community and to propose solutions. The non-Commission members who were present discussed a variety of issues.

The real way to improve the community in Penn is to improve the social life," College junior Dan Scheier said. "I understand why they're there, but the enormous restrictions interfere with the sense of community here."

Schorr, who is an Undergraduate Assembly representative, said that fraternity parties have become somewhat exclusive since the new alcohol policy went into effect and invitation lists became the norm. "It's really creating an alienation," said English Professor Rebecca Rootwell, the Commission's director.

The forum also discussed the College's core curriculum. "Many people think that the core curriculum is Euro-centric," College sophomore and Commission member Mike Nadel added. "The Commission is looking at various solutions to this problem," Mita Sanghavi said, adding that the Castle, which houses a community service program, could be used as a model.

"The Commission has talked with many student groups and will release recommendations in mid-January," Chisum said. "The future of the Racial Harassment Policy. After several students voiced objections to Interim President Claire Fagin's decision to keep the policy until a new one is implemented next June, Commission Chairman Gloria Chisum, said. From then on, it was decided that the supported Fagin's decision. A large majority of respondents for the policy and so... she made the right decision," she said. "We believe in First Amendment rights because they're a given."

"There is no debate," Schorr asked. "Is it a creation of people's minds that freedom of speech is an issue on campus?"

"Yes," Chisum said. The June 16 deadline also proved a problem for several students because school will not be in session then. "Students think that the decision should be made by April 1. But June 30 deadline also poses a problem for several students because they're a given," Schorr said. "Is it a creation of people's minds that freedom of speech is an issue on campus?"

"That's an unreasonable term," Chisum replied. The most controversy came during a conversation about the College's core curriculum. "Many people think that the core curriculum is Euro-centric," College sophomore and Commission member Jared Minst said. "The Commission is looking at various solutions to this problem," Sanghavi said.

"College sophomore Jesse Goldstein discussed examining the rules of college houses, especially Dulles House. "Dulles seems very mysterious to me," he said. "I think there should be open houses to invite people in and learn.""

"There were also objections to Interim President Claire Fagin's decision to keep the policy until a new one is implemented next June," Chisum said. "We believe in First Amendment rights because they're a given." From then on, Fagin's decision was supported. A large majority of respondents for the policy and so... "she made the right decision," she said. "We believe in First Amendment rights because they're a given."

"There is no debate," Schorr asked. "Is it a creation of people's minds that freedom of speech is an issue on campus?"

"Yes," Chisum said. The June 16 deadline also proved a problem for several students because school will not be in session then. "Students think that the decision should be made by April 1. But June 30 deadline also poses a problem for several students because they're a given," Schorr said. "Is it a creation of people's minds that freedom of speech is an issue on campus?"

"That's an unreasonable term," Chisum replied. The most controversy came during a conversation about the College's core curriculum. "Many people think that the core curriculum is Euro-centric," College sophomore and Commission member Jared Minst said. "The Commission is looking at various solutions to this problem," Sanghavi said.

"College sophomore Jesse Goldstein discussed examining the rules of college houses, especially Dulles House. "Dulles seems very mysterious to me," he said. "I think there should be open houses to invite people in and learn.""
"Merchant of Venice" hits stage

By MELISSA GESCHWIND
Daily Pennsylvania Staff Writer

Prejudice, intolerance and revenge have been recurring topics of discussion at the University over the past few months. This week, Theater Arts will use the words of William Shakespeare to further the conversation on stage.

Theater Arts' 'Merchant of Venice,' which will open, ironically, on the first night of Hanukkah, deals with the relationship between a Jewish creditor and his Christian debtors.

According to director and College senior Chris Stillwell, theater groups often avoid this play for fear of offending their audiences. But Stillwell feels that the timely nature of the play makes it especially relevant and important to perform.

"The irony of attempting to do a play with racial themes) at the ultimate 'P.C' capital of the world struck me as an interesting project," he said.

Stillwell added that he believes the company's interpretation of the script will not be offensive.

"Although some of the characters in the play are racist," he pointed out, "that does not mean that the play is racist."

College junior Riaz Patel, who plays the Jewish businessman Shylock, said the entire cast has had to work hard to fill Shakespeare's words into a modern context.

"To a large degree," he said, "we're fighting the script."

Theater Arts Department Chairperson Cary Mazer, the show's faculty advisor, said he was not overly worried about the implications of performing 'The Merchant of Venice' at the University.

"I was concerned with... how the director would deal with the tensions and ideological concerns of the play," he said. "But we were more concerned with the value of the artistic exercise."

Some of Stillwell's interpretive decisions include putting the actors in modern dress and turning two of the Bard's characters into newscasters.

The changes were designed to make the themes of 'The Merchant of Venice' hit home, a choice which could cause some controversy.

"Controversy is a good thing," he said.

'The Merchant of Venice' will run tonight, tomorrow, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Annenberg Center's Studio Theater. Tickets are on sale at the Annenberg ticket office and on Locust Walk for $5.

"We've got the best jobs"

The best you say... yes, the best because these jobs pay well, give you real-world business experience, and involve you in one of the largest student activities on campus.

The Daily Pennsylvania is looking for 4 individuals to work in our business office, 10-15 hrs. per week. You will be responsible for full customer service to clients interested in placing ads and backing orders for advertisements. You will gain valuable computer experience and develop communication skills, all while working at one of the country's top-ranked college newspapers.

Compensation is a base wage plus commission, equaling between $5-$8 per hour. No experience necessary. Individuals must have 10 hrs/week available to work. Must be motivated, dependable, responsible and have good communication skills.

If interested call Shabnam Rezaei at 898-6581 between 2 — 5, or leave a message to schedule an interview, or stop by 4015 Walnut St. to fill out an application and class schedule before Friday, December 10th.

The Daily Pennsylvania
4015 Walnut Street • 898-6581

We've got the best jobs

The Daily Pennsylvania
38th & Spruce
222-7366

UNIVERSITY SPORTSWEAR

BUY ONE GET ONE FREE

HEAVYWEIGHT COTTON
PENN AND WHARTON
SWEATSHIRTS

* ALL SIZES * ALL COLORS * ALL DESIGNS (OVER 20)

The Largest Selection Of Penn T-Shirts, Sweatshirts, Hats
And Much More At The Absolute LOWEST PRICES!

Mon. — Fri. 9 — 7, Sat. 10 — 7, Sun. 11 — 6

CHECKS ACCEPTED
Right on Rodin

We welcome Judith Rodin back to our campus, and we look forward to her new administration.

In the 1965 freshman issue, the Daily Pennsylvanian praised the work of women in student government heading the Women's Student Government Association (WSGA). But Seitz, now Dr. Judith Rodin, is anything but an outsider. She headed to Coates College as Vice-President for Student Affairs in 1966, Rodin headed to Coates College as Vice-President for Student Affairs in 1966, and then went on to Yale where she joined the faculty. Along the way, Rodin also made a huge impact in her field, including serving as the first female regent of the University of Pennsylvania and the first female president of the Yale Women's Organization. Her leadership and academic achievements have been recognized with numerous awards and honors, most notably a 2004 commencement address at Harvard University. We are very pleased to see Rodin return to her alma mater and look forward to her contributions to our University.

So you wanna be a D.P. columnist?!

Fried! Have something to say? Ready to share it with 50,000 readers? Then we have the place for you:

We need a dozen intelligent and witty, conscientious and creative people to write the DP's weekly column, Summer Internships. Applications should be typewritten, double-spaced, at least one page, and include a background statement of no more than two pages. All applications should be submitted to Mandy Mishefske at 4015 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, PA 19104. Application deadline: January 7, 1993.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Judy:

Congratulations on your appointment as President. You have a very tough task — it's a big step from Provost to President. You've been preparing for this position for 37 years.

We are very excited to see you in your new role and look forward to your leadership. Please stay true to your principles and values.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Note: All letters are subject to editing for length and clarity.

The Daily Pennsylvanian

The Independent Student Newspaper of the University of Pennsylvania

1899 S. 33rd St.

Philadelphia, PA 19104

Telephone: 215-898-6585

Copy (c) 1993 Daily Pennsylvanian

Letters to the Editor

Lewd

To the Editor:

Unnecessary impropriety. Tacitly, my Higher Power and I have agreed not to be revolvement for the past three years. I am writing this letter to bring to people's attention a behavior that I believe is not only inappropriate but also offensive.

In my opinion, the recent incident involving the students in the Quad has been particularly egregious. The behavior of these students is not only unbecoming, but it also sets a terrible example for others who may be watching.

We need to be more mindful of our actions and the impact they have on others. It is important to remember that our behavior reflects on our institution and can have a negative impact on our community.

Sincerely,

[Signature]
And they say Monet had an eye for color.

Yes, there is a technical side to hair coloring. After all, you’re working with chemicals, so you have to know what you’re doing. And Michael Colabelli, our resident color expert, knows the technical side. He ought to. He studied it for years.

But that Michael, he’s more than a technician. He’s an artist.

He can capture just the right highlight to complement your complexion, just the shade to accentuate your eyes. Tell him what you want, he’ll achieve it. Ask him what you should have, he’ll create it.

So for sure-fire color, come to Michael. He’s like Monet in the bank.

The Daily Pennsylvania

The Hundreds of Gift-Ideas Program For Your Holiday

Large Selections and Big Savings 30% to 60% OFF

From Reg. Price Choose From Our Six Divisional Gift Lines

MATTRESS SALES

The Hundreds of Gift-Ideas Program For Your Holiday

Large Selections and Big Savings 30% to 60% OFF

From Reg. Price Choose From Our Six Divisional Gift Lines

*Italian Class — Fine collections of Italian porcelain and figures

Copodimonte Vanity Set special $360

Copodimonte Vase from a set of 2 or more, a collection to last a lifetime. We only sell Award Winning Mattresses

Hand-painted Vase Made in Italy starting from $299

Excellent Men's Gifts — Wide variety of gifts, perfect for that special man in your life

Excellent value $189

Professionals Marbles Book-Ends Special $52

Black Leather Recliner With Ottoman

CD & CASSSETTE HOLDER Original Price $99

#Pros Gifts for Pros — Various desk-top gifts and decor suitable for professionals

Excellent Desk Clock/wall clock Special $34

Bass Desk Clock/wall clock Special $34

Fishbowl Planter Special $85

Oriental Porcelain Vases a treasure of beauty, a true decor specialty

Crystal Candy Jar Made in Italy starting from $11

Crystal Candle Jar Made in Italy starting from $11

Crystal Banker's Lamp

Crystal Banker's Lamp

FREE DELIVERY & ASSEMBLY IN PHILA. AREA THAT SAVES YOU A LOT OF MONEY

WE HAVE 25 STYLES TO CHOOSE FROM—WE ARE A VOLUME PRICER—WE PASS OUR SAVINGS TO OUR CUSTOMERS.

© 1993 The Daily Pennsylvania
Elders: Legalizing drugs would reduce crime rate

WASHINGTON — Surgeon General Joycelyn Elders, who is also a pediatrician, said that one of her goals would be to develop "a community-based and targeted approach" to reducing violence.

"The whole issue of violence is not going to be resolved by a single program," she said. "We need to look at all the factors that contribute to violence." She added that such factors include poverty, education, and access to health care.

"We need to work with communities to identify the needs of their youth and then develop programs that address those needs," she said. "It's not about punishment; it's about prevention." She also said that the government needs to work with other agencies, such as the Department of Education and the Department of Health and Human Services, to develop a comprehensive approach to reducing violence.

"We need to work with communities to identify the needs of their youth and then develop programs that address those needs," she said. "It's not about punishment; it's about prevention." She also said that the government needs to work with other agencies, such as the Department of Education and the Department of Health and Human Services, to develop a comprehensive approach to reducing violence.

"We need to work with communities to identify the needs of their youth and then develop programs that address those needs," she said. "It's not about punishment; it's about prevention." She also said that the government needs to work with other agencies, such as the Department of Education and the Department of Health and Human Services, to develop a comprehensive approach to reducing violence.

"We need to work with communities to identify the needs of their youth and then develop programs that address those needs," she said. "It's not about punishment; it's about prevention." She also said that the government needs to work with other agencies, such as the Department of Education and the Department of Health and Human Services, to develop a comprehensive approach to reducing violence.

"We need to work with communities to identify the needs of their youth and then develop programs that address those needs," she said. "It's not about punishment; it's about prevention." She also said that the government needs to work with other agencies, such as the Department of Education and the Department of Health and Human Services, to develop a comprehensive approach to reducing violence.
Grads want city to repeal wage tax law

Graduate students are upset about a University memo which states that Philadelphia wage tax will be removed from the paychecks of teaching assistants and research fellows beginning January 1.

Nicholson, a Classics graduate student, said he thinks taxing students will not be an effective policy for the university where fellowship money is overtaxed. "This just seems like a bad way to raise just a little money," he said.

"In addition to concerns about the university where fellowship money is overtaxed," Nicholson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazerson said, "I don't think anything I've read bears any relationship to what I've been reading." Lazern
Women at U. hail Rodin pick
Many consider nominee's gender one of many pluses

By DANIEL GINGISS
Women at the University are buzzing over Judy Rodin's nomination to serve as the next University president. "It is absolutely wonderful that Penn has chosen a woman," Risa Rosenthal, Senior, College, SDT President, said. "I think it's definitely a positive thing and I think she's very accomplished." Others might say it fulfills a prophecy.

Rodin excelled as U. student in 1960s
She was a very accomplished, involved and achieving person. Whatever she took on, she excelled at, which is probably a quality she maintains through today.

Jean Marx

Fagin not ready to give up control of U.

Live in a close-knit community. Participate in social activities & service events for the campus and community.

For more information, contact Larry at 573-7464.
Applications available at the Castle, Due 12/8. Interviews on 12/29.

Women at the University are buzzing over Judy Rodin's nomination to serve as the next University president. "It is absolutely wonderful that Penn has chosen a woman," Risa Rosenthal, Senior, College, SDT President, said. "I think it's definitely a positive thing and I think she's very accomplished." Others might say it fulfills a prophecy.

Rodin excelled as U. student in 1960s
She was a very accomplished, involved and achieving person. Whatever she took on, she excelled at, which is probably a quality she maintains through today.

Jean Marx

Fagin not ready to give up control of U.

Live in a close-knit community. Participate in social activities & service events for the campus and community.

For more information, contact Larry at 573-7464.
Applications available at the Castle, Due 12/8. Interviews on 12/29.

Women at the University are buzzing over Judy Rodin's nomination to serve as the next University president. "It is absolutely wonderful that Penn has chosen a woman," Risa Rosenthal, Senior, College, SDT President, said. "I think it's definitely a positive thing and I think she's very accomplished." Others might say it fulfills a prophecy.

Rodin excelled as U. student in 1960s
She was a very accomplished, involved and achieving person. Whatever she took on, she excelled at, which is probably a quality she maintains through today.

Jean Marx

Fagin not ready to give up control of U.

Live in a close-knit community. Participate in social activities & service events for the campus and community.

For more information, contact Larry at 573-7464.
Applications available at the Castle, Due 12/8. Interviews on 12/29.
Alexander Moskovits - ex-student, convicted drug trafficker - could gain freedom soon

Governing lawyers never got approval to file an appeal, which delayed a new trial. Moskovits' lawyers say he was deprived of a speedy trial and, therefore, should be set free.

"How can I advertise without breaking my budget?"
That information is classified. (Call 898-6581.)
STUDIO
find a heading in the listings, order listed below. If you can't search today's newspaper.)
evidence of leadership potential, exemplary academic Information
898-1111
Undergraduate Education at
Just One Short Block From High Rises
THE RIGHT PLACES
HELP WANTED
Eff. fr. $275+

INDEX
DP Classifieds appear in 15 available classifications, in the order listed below. If you can't find a listing in the listings, there are no ads of that type in today's newspaper.
FOR RENT
SUBLET
ROOMMATES
HELP WANTED
SERVICES
TYPES
TIME
TRADE
INSTRUCTION
WANTED
RIDES
TRAVEL
ADOPTION
LOST & FOUND
MISCELLANEOUS
DP PERSONAL

THE RIGHT PLACES
AT THE RIGHT TIME!
Available for occupancy December & January.
ASTOR APPTS.
10-12 S. 36th St.
Eff. fr. $275+
1 BR fr. $373+
Tel. Entry System
In-house Laundry
Just One Short Block From High Fives
Short Term Lease Available
Office at Chestnut Hall Front Desk
For Info. and Appt. Call 386-3350

WEDNESDAY EVENING DEC. 8, 1993
BROADCAST STATIONS

6:00  6:30  7:00  7:30  8:00  8:30  9:00  9:30  10:00  10:30  11:00  11:30

122
down,
THREE
to go!!

M. Hoops hitting a good number of threes

COMEBACK DOG BACK PAGE
had a lot of fun today. Saw the game with Shari Macyroy - made a commitment to help him when he will never forget. Macyroy promised to wear Baratta's No. 21 in honor of him.
"It was very special to me," Baratta said. "We did it on the nghts that I

1st ever against my team."

front. I thought I would be the best friends and

real heart-warming."

Given a second chance, the individuals, the in-

2nd, individual re-

guidance and ap-

2 years ago."

I always felt lucky to play basket-

as I was."

the game even more.

judging by the stats from the first three games of the season, it

aged just over 10 years attempts per game,

making 46 percent of their three-pointers.

This season, through three games, the Quakers are an exactly the same 46 percent shooting with

18 attempts, while making 43 percent of their three-pointers. If a player has a nightmare game, like

Lawrence's 1-for-10 disaster at Ohio,

State, you can still look for the

Quakers to hit their targets from down
down.

I have a lot of confidence in their ability to make the

shot," Dusadny said. "You

never know how things will turn in a game, and you have to take what

the defenders give you. In the Ohio

State game, they pressed on which left us open shots in transition,

and Jerome (Allen) took advantage of them. It's a strength of our team."

"Always felt lucky to play basketball

at Penn...[The injury] makes you appreciate the game more."

Andy Baratta

Bennett senior

terrior by thethree-point shot. Last year, the Quakers, who relied heavily on three shots from downtown, averaged just over 10 years attempts per game,

making 46 percent of their three-pointers.

This season, through three

games, the Quakers are an

exactly the same 46 percent shooting with

18 attempts, while making 43 percent of their three-pointers. If a player has a nightmare game, like

Lawrence's 1-for-10 disaster at Ohio,

State, you can still look for the

Quakers to hit their targets from down
down.

I have a lot of confidence in their ability to make the

shot," Dusadny said. "You

never know how things will turn in

a game, and you have to take what

the defenders give you. In the Ohio

State game, they pressed on which

left us open shots in transition,

and Jerome (Allen) took advantage of them. It's a strength of our team."

University City Housing
CALL 222-2000

You'll like what you see.

Looking for a New Home
For A New Year
Bartley Square Apartments, 215-2600
Park Lane East Apt. 239-9000 (E1C to 1Br)
AL ALL
FREE PARKING
* FREE GYM & HEAT COOKING & HWH
* SWIMMING POOL
* On #1 BUS ROUTE
* Mins from West N. Acres, 3 Mins to Penn
The excitement of campus living with

WELCOME HOME

FINEST APARTMENTS & HOUSES

University City Housing
CALL 222-2000

You'll like what you see.
SportsWire

Compiled from Associated Press dispatches

Thorp scores 40 as Rockets dismantle Charlotte

Nora tripped up; Marquette upset No. 16 Illinois; Nixon signs with Red Sox; Faulk to go pro

College Basketball

Providence 68, Villanova 65

Nixon scored on a driving layup with 2.7 seconds left in overtime and added a final free throw with 2.4 seconds remaining, giving the Friars an 87-85 overtime victory over Villanova in a Big East game.

Franklin was 13-for-20 from the floor, but had 10 of his points in the second half, as Charlotte defeated Toledo 75-64.

College Basketball

Providence 68, Villanova 65

Nixon scored on a driving layup with 2.7 seconds left in overtime and added a final free throw with 2.4 seconds remaining, giving the Friars an 87-85 overtime victory over Villanova in a Big East game.

Franklin was 13-for-20 from the floor, but had 10 of his points in the second half, as Charlotte defeated Toledo 75-64.

Baseball

Boston has been one of the slowest teams in the major leagues for several seasons and didn't have a switch hitter in its starting lineup this year.

Nixon has excellent range in center field, but is an asset more as a left fielder or designated hitter.

Lansing and Atlanta, has a .988 career fielding percentage. PHOTO: HATENOS

College Football

SUN DEVILS at Memphis State.

Subjects Wanted

50 needed to donate eggs for in-vitro fertilization research.

32 A contemporary... 1/8" thick... 1000 Gaylord Drama"

SUN DEVILS at Memphis State.

Subjects Wanted

50 needed to donate eggs for in-vitro fertilization research.
W. Hoops looks to earn first win Penn faces St. Joe’s at Temple

By LEE GOLDSMITH

The Penn basketball team is looking forward to its first real game of the season against St. Joseph’s University on Thursday night. The Quakers have had a bit of a rough start to the season, with losses to Penn State and St. Joseph’s on the opening night. But this will be an opportunity for them to prove themselves against a quality opponent.

The Quakers are coming off a loss to St. Joseph’s, but they have shown improvement in recent games. They are looking to build on that momentum as they prepare for their first Big 5 matchup of the season.

Baratta may see action in home opener

By STEPHEN KARAS

Despite his injuries, the Quakers are still hopeful that he will see some action against St. Joseph’s. The team is looking to build on their recent success and make a statement against a tough opponent.

The freshmen are looking forward to their first home game of the season. They are excited to play in front of a hometown crowd and show their support for the team.

Baratta may see limited action, but his presence will be welcomed by the Quakers. He is a key player for the team and his return will be a boost for their morale.

The freshmen are also eager to see how they perform against a strong opponent. They are ready to step up and contribute to the team’s success.

The Quakers are looking to make a statement against St. Joseph’s and prove themselves as a team to be reckoned with in the Big 5.

Notebook

Despite the absence of Marcus Baratta, the team is still looking to improve and build on their recent success. They are working hard to get ready for the upcoming games.

The freshmen are excited to make their mark on the team and contribute to their success. They are eager to see how they perform against a tough opponent.

The Quakers are looking to keep their momentum going and build on their recent success. They are ready to take on St. Joseph’s and show their support for the team.

Baratta may not see much action, but his presence will be welcomed by the team. He is a key player for the Quakers and his return will be a boost for their morale.

The freshmen are looking forward to their first home game of the season. They are excited to play in front of a hometown crowd and show their support for the team.

The freshmen are also eager to see how they perform against a strong opponent. They are ready to step up and contribute to the team’s success.

The Quakers are looking to make a statement against St. Joseph’s and prove themselves as a team to be reckoned with in the Big 5.