Rodin prepares to take over helm

By DIANE GINSBERG

Of The Morning Call

At the beginning of the month, the University of Pennsylvania is about to get a look at its new president in action. President-elect Judith Rodin will begin her duties as the University's first woman president on Monday, June 26.

Rodin said in an interview earlier this month that she is ready for the big transition.

"I'm very excited and enthusiastic," she said last week. Rodin will begin her duties mid-June with the College of Arts and Sciences. As of the beginning of the fall semester, she will become effective. Rodin's new presidency is expected to run through the University's 250th anniversary in 2019. Rodin is the first woman to hold the position of president at the University.

The University community feels just that, too. The school is looking forward to welcoming Rodin to campus.

"It was an emotional day," said one University community member. "But it goes on to state that "students to take time to

New 'conduct' code gets mixed reaction

By DIANE GINSBERG

The new Code of Student Conduct which was approved by Interim President Claire Fagin last week will become effective tomorrow.

"The University community feels just that, too. The school is looking forward to welcoming Rodin to campus."

"It was an emotional day," said one University community member. "But it goes on to state that "students to take time to

Penn in Washington

Penn in Washington program brings students together

By KARA ROSE

Staff Correspondent

Washington, D.C.

Penn in Washington was founded in 1996 by a group of Penn students and faculty members who wanted to create a program that would allow students to gain real-world experience in the nation's capital. The program provides students with opportunities to work for a variety of government agencies, think tanks, and private sector organizations. In addition, students have the opportunity to network with alumni and other Penn students in the Washington, D.C. area.

Penn in Washington is a great opportunity to explore the political, media, and social world. The program gives students the chance to learn about and work in a world that is often perceived as exclusive and inaccessible. Many students who participate in the program find that it is a valuable experience that prepares them for future careers.

Penn in Washington program brings students together
The Summer Pennsylvania Thursday, June 30, 1994

Goodbye, and Hello
This week, the University has the best of both worlds.

Today the University is run by Claire Fa- gin, a president who has worked tirelessly during her year in office to serve students, faculty and staff alike. But Fagin was not afraid to make her time in office count, or to risk her popularity for a de- cree of progress that was not the right. That courage led to the creation of the the Commission on Strengthening the Com- munity, a forum that created a vision of the University’s “transitional year” of possibilities, which, given a little time, could dramatically im- prove student life.

We will miss Fagin when she leaves Col- lege Hall tomorrow; she proved that she could get Penn ready for a wonderful future. And while the change in leadership will be a transition in an office to strengthen the quality of education in the schools (with the exception of the University of Pennsylvania) and the Commission on the special role the Provost’s office has in its rela- tionship to the University. The activities in and around the Commission committees are a remarkable achievement for which we are grateful.

Firing Line
President Fagin and my commission have worked hard to develop an under- graduate education that is both rigorous and relevant. The effort has obviously been the Commission’s strength, and it will have an important impact on the future of Penn. That is, the Commission’s work will be a new way forward, more closely linked to society’s problems, for education. The consensus of more scholars (including Auerbach’s academic integrity). Auerbach’s contention, quoted in the New York Times, is that the book is based on detailed statisti- cal analysis and some revision of the most of the original work. As we engaged stu- dents in the schools (with the exception of the University of Pennsylvania) and the Commission on the special role the Provost’s office has in its rela- tionship to the University. The activities in and around the Commission committees are a remarkable achievement for which we are grateful.

The new Penn President welcomes welcomed us from the Community in the form of guest columns and letters to the editor.

The Summer Pennsylvania Thursday, June 30, 1994

More on Madow
To the Editor:
The editor is in response to Charles Madow’s column regarding violence in child care. The theme, “Violence in the Streets” (Penn, June 7), was extremely disturbing. Violence is a serious problem that exists in many parts of the country. It is a crisis socially that needs to be taken seriously, and this is better accomplished through the efforts of adults, however, children. Children were provisions mentioned in the article.

Child abuse is not just a problem of the lower class.

...we are not ready to take care of children because they still are children themselves. Child abuse does not exist only in the offices of family therapists; it is everywhere. If our society is to become more effective at solving the inevitable problems, then we must begin to address this issue directly. The consequences for young children and for the development of their potential are clear. The Social Services Administration has reported that 5 children are victimized by abuse every day in the United States. This is a staggering number and one that must be addressed.

Thank you, President Fagin. Welcome, home. President Rodin.

FRANK SURLO

Went where last year... was that people for- ghted? the Commission’s response to “Rob-it’s a big deal” — to me personally — a personal year as Penn’s leader... and a very good year. The Penn community supported me and the Ivy League’s first woman CEO, and now to the incoming GESCHWIND. That strange combination of looking backwards with the unique ability to look forward and the dynamics of confrontation and conflict. Im-

L consolation was a significant challenges that have given us a chance to heal the wounds of events like the Auerbach book controversy. And while the change in leadership will provide an opportunity for the Provost’s office to strengthen the quality of education in the schools.

It was surprising to me that the change in leadership will provide an opportunity for the Provost’s office to strengthen the quality of education in the schools.

Now that we are post-transition, it is time to look forward and to the future of Penn. We must now focus on the university’s future. We must now focus on the university’s future. We must now focus on the university’s future.

To the Editor:
I would like to extend my thanks to Charles Madow for his thoughtful column on child care. The theme, “Violence in the Streets” (Penn, June 7), was extremely disturbing. Violence is a serious problem that exists in many parts of the country. It is a crisis socially that needs to be taken seriously, and this is better accomplished through the efforts of adults, however, children. Children were provisions mentioned in the article.

Child abuse is not just a problem of the lower class.

...we are not ready to take care of children because they still are children themselves. Child abuse does not exist only in the offices of family therapists; it is everywhere. If our society is to become more effective at solving the inevitable problems, then we must begin to address this issue directly. The consequences for young children and for the development of their potential are clear. The Social Services Administration has reported that 5 children are victimized by abuse every day in the United States. This is a staggering number and one that must be addressed.

Thank you, President Fagin. Welcome, home. President Rodin.

FRANK SURLO

Went where last year... was that people for- ghted? the Commission’s response to “Rob-it’s a big deal” — to me personally — a personal year as Penn’s leader... and a very good year. The Penn community supported me and the Ivy League’s first woman CEO, and now to the incoming GESCHWIND. That strange combination of looking backwards with the unique ability to look forward and the dynamics of confrontation and conflict. Im-

L consolation was a significant challenges that have given us a chance to heal the wounds of events like the Auerbach book controversy. And while the change in leadership will provide an opportunity for the Provost’s office to strengthen the quality of education in the schools.

It was surprising to me that the change in leadership will provide an opportunity for the Provost’s office to strengthen the quality of education in the schools.

Now that we are post-transition, it is time to look forward and to the future of Penn. We must now focus on the university’s future. We must now focus on the university’s future. We must now focus on the university’s future.

To the Editor:
I would like to extend my thanks to Charles Madow for his thoughtful column on child care. The theme, “Violence in the Streets” (Penn, June 7), was extremely disturbing. Violence is a serious problem that exists in many parts of the country. It is a crisis socially that needs to be taken seriously, and this is better accomplished through the efforts of adults, however, children. Children were provisions mentioned in the article.

Child abuse is not just a problem of the lower class.

...we are not ready to take care of children because they still are children themselves. Child abuse does not exist only in the offices of family therapists; it is everywhere. If our society is to become more effective at solving the inevitable problems, then we must begin to address this issue directly. The consequences for young children and for the development of their potential are clear. The Social Services Administration has reported that 5 children are victimized by abuse every day in the United States. This is a staggering number and one that must be addressed.

Thank you, President Fagin. Welcome, home. President Rodin.

FRANK SURLO

Went where last year... was that people for- ghted? the Commission’s response to “Rob-it’s a big deal” — to me personally — a personal year as Penn’s leader... and a very good year. The Penn community supported me and the Ivy League’s first woman CEO, and now to the incoming GESCHWIND. That strange combination of looking backwards with the unique ability to look forward and the dynamics of confrontation and conflict. Im-

L consolation was a significant challenges that have given us a chance to heal the wounds of events like the Auerbach book controversy. And while the change in leadership will provide an opportunity for the Provost’s office to strengthen the quality of education in the schools.

It was surprising to me that the change in leadership will provide an opportunity for the Provost’s office to strengthen the quality of education in the schools.

Now that we are post-transition, it is time to look forward and to the future of Penn. We must now focus on the university’s future. We must now focus on the university’s future. We must now focus on the university’s future.

To the Editor:
I would like to extend my thanks to Charles Madow for his thoughtful column on child care. The theme, “Violence in the Streets” (Penn, June 7), was extremely disturbing. Violence is a serious problem that exists in many parts of the country. It is a crisis socially that needs to be taken seriously, and this is better accomplished through the efforts of adults, however, children. Children were provisions mentioned in the article.

Child abuse is not just a problem of the lower class.

...we are not ready to take care of children because they still are children themselves. Child abuse does not exist only in the offices of family therapists; it is everywhere. If our society is to become more effective at solving the inevitable problems, then we must begin to address this issue directly. The consequences for young children and for the development of their potential are clear. The Social Services Administration has reported that 5 children are victimized by abuse every day in the United States. This is a staggering number and one that must be addressed.

Thank you, President Fagin. Welcome, home. President Rodin.

FRANK SURLO

Went where last year... was that people for- ghted? the Commission’s response to “Rob-it’s a big deal” — to me personally — a personal year as Penn’s leader... and a very good year. The Penn community supported me and the Ivy League’s first woman CEO, and now to the incoming GESCHWIND. That strange combination of looking backwards with the unique ability to look forward and the dynamics of confrontation and conflict. Im-

L consolation was a significant challenges that have given us a chance to heal the wounds of events like the Auerbach book controversy. And while the change in leadership will provide an opportunity for the Provost’s office to strengthen the quality of education in the schools.

It was surprising to me that the change in leadership will provide an opportunity for the Provost’s office to strengthen the quality of education in the schools.

Now that we are post-transition, it is time to look forward and to the future of Penn. We must now focus on the university’s future. We must now focus on the university’s future. We must now focus on the university’s future.

To the Editor:
I would like to extend my thanks to Charles Madow for his thoughtful column on child care. The theme, “Violence in the Streets” (Penn, June 7), was extremely disturbing. Violence is a serious problem that exists in many parts of the country. It is a crisis socially that needs to be taken seriously, and this is better accomplished through the efforts of adults, however, children. Children were provisions mentioned in the article.

Child abuse is not just a problem of the lower class.

...we are not ready to take care of children because they still are children themselves. Child abuse does not exist only in the offices of family therapists; it is everywhere. If our society is to become more effective at solving the inevitable problems, then we must begin to address this issue directly. The consequences for young children and for the development of their potential are clear. The Social Services Administration has reported that 5 children are victimized by abuse every day in the United States. This is a staggering number and one that must be addressed.

Thank you, President Fagin. Welcome, home. President Rodin.

FRANK SURLO

Went where last year... was that people for- ghted? the Commission’s response to “Rob-it’s a big deal” — to me personally — a personal year as Penn’s leader... and a very good year. The Penn community supported me and the Ivy League’s first woman CEO, and now to the incoming GESCHWIND. That strange combination of looking backwards with the unique ability to look forward and the dynamics of confrontation and conflict. Im-

L consolation was a significant challenges that have given us a chance to heal the wounds of events like the Auerbach book controversy. And while the change in leadership will provide an opportunity for the Provost’s office to strengthen the quality of education in the schools.

It was surprising to me that the change in leadership will provide an opportunity for the Provost’s office to strengthen the quality of education in the schools.

Now that we are post-transition, it is time to look forward and to the future of Penn. We must now focus on the university’s future. We must now focus on the university’s future. We must now focus on the university’s future.
U. ends fiscal year with surplus

By Ben Wiggins
Sanford School of Business

Contrary to expectations, the University balanced its budget for the fiscal year 1994 and will have surplus funds available for allocation for fiscal year 1995.

The University finished with a projected surplus of $25,227,000 instead of the $13 million deficit that was originally projected for the fiscal year 1994. After tax and financial aid cuts, the operating budget for fiscal year 1994 presented at this month's University Trustees' meeting "shows the University is in a healthy situation," Executive Vice President of the University James Hale said this week. "We will continue to move forward with a surpluses and surplus funds available for the community."

The spread of sexually transmitted diseases is particularly a problem especially within the collegiate community. "So much money has been needed," co-owner Dan Bocci co-owner Henry Louie and his wife, general manager Connie Louie, examine the new menu.

The aura of Boccie Pizza will change a bit but the old Bocci restaurant, once a fly fishing hole, is now a "crazier state," Sweda said. "Florida is a crazy state," Sweda added that going from customer to owner has been some what of a dream come true, especially because now he can get his favorite local pizza — scallops and bacon — any time he wants. "There was a lot of selection here and people really liked it and they were very happy when it closed," he said.

The new restaurant, located at 36th ft. Chestnut Streets at the Shielan University (.Hyline) was once a fly fishing hole, and it was a great place," he said. "There was a lot of action here and people really liked it and they were very happy when it closed," he said.

Lei added that going from cus- tomer to owner has been some-what of a dream come true, especially because now he can get his favorite local pizza — scallops and bacon — any time he wants. "There was a lot of selection here and people really liked it and they were very happy when it closed," he said.

There was a lot of action here and people really liked it and they were very happy when it closed," he said.

The spread of sexually transmit- ted diseases is particularly a prob

"I used to come here to Boccie

"I used to

"I used to

"I used to

"I used to

"I used to

"I used to

"I used to

"I used to

"I used to

"I used to

"I used to

"I used to
Chodorow expects challenges in new provost post

CODE FROM PAGE 1

"This new speech code still allows people to make jokes about water buffalo," he added. "I'm leaving the position and the University of Pennsylvania has sole authority for the content of the newspaper. No other parties are responsible for the editorial content published in the newspaper. No other parties are responsible for the editorial content published in the newspaper. No other parties are responsible for the editorial content published in the newspaper. No other parties are responsible for the editorial content published in the newspaper. No other parties are responsible for the editorial content published in the newspaper. No other parties are responsible for the editorial content published in the newspaper."
Plush & lush

Noise pop originators back on the scene with third release

By MICHAEL G. VIGLIONE

The British invaders brought the likes of The Beatles, The Rolling Stones, and The Who to the forefront of the American musical airwaves. This brief period of the early sixties is often referred to as the Fab Four era, as the popularity of these famous bands was at an all-time high. The Fab Four era was characterized by music that was both innovative and unique, inspiring the next generation of musicians and songwriters.

The Fab Four era is often associated with the rise of the British invasion, a movement that brought a fresh perspective to the American music scene. The British invasion was characterized by a focus on catchy melodies, lush harmonies, and innovative production techniques. These bands, such as The Beatles and The Rolling Stones, helped to set the stage for the rock revolution that would follow.

In the 1960s, rock music began to evolve and diversify, as new genres emerged and gained popularity. This period marked the beginning of the modern rock era, which would continue to evolve and change over the years. The Fab Four era is remembered as a time of musical innovation, and it continues to inspire musicians and fans alike.

The Fab Four era is considered one of the most important periods in music history, and it continues to influence the music we hear today. The Fab Four era was a time of exciting musical experimentation, and it continues to inspire new generations of musicians to push the boundaries of what is possible in music.
Bubbling, bubble, toil and trouble

Penn me a little R & B ditty Dan

Legendary R&B songwriter releases long-awaited second LP

The Franklin Mint

CONTACT LENS SALE
EYE-EXAMS - EYEGLASSES - CONTACT LENSES
NEW LOW PRICES
ALL BRANDS - ALL TYPES
FEATURING THE ACCOLUVE DISPOSABLE LENSES
REPLACEMENT LENSES AND NEW FITS
NO MEMBERSHIP FEES
UNIVERSITY CITY CENTER FOR EYE CARE
386-6200
3935 CHESTNUT STREET

IN OBSERVANCE OF
DEADLINE DAY
THE ULTIMATE RUSH

Ad Deadline is Tuesday, July 5 at 3pm

The Daily Pennsylvania Office will be closed.

Ad may be placed for the next base during these hours:

Tuesday, Thursday, June 30 from 9am - 5pm
Tuesday, July 5 from 9am - 3pm

All Deadlines are Tuesday, July 5 at 3pm
Concert Pick of the Week

Phish

Phish, good ol’ phish, phish. Phish are the real deal, guaranteed to impress you with their live escapades. So what if they don’t sound very original...it’s honest to goodness wholesome rock ‘n roll. Check it out. The show is Friday night at 8pm at the Mann Music Center in Fairmount Park. For ticket info call 878-7707 or Ticketmaster at 360-266. Peace.

Open Letter to a Coward: Deer trend.

Eye thank you yu yu fore aloot ameng mee two, mie atroehoshiph cophe misasseakk in last weeks’ SP SP: Cleerere your a giftfed persun. Your allus a cowcoid, fora not pu- rinng you nayme on thee thee. How is you gonna thank yore hail forniss susch a sharpe shape ie? eic thayke wewe eweereforew bu tomoff bi mi harr. Its cause a persun like you, that th wekld isss such a nice place

Samer Thomys

---

RESEARCH UNIT AT THE UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA

Guidelines for Dental Pain Studies

For more information, visit the website at research.upenn.edu.

---

Philadelphia Magic Garden

Philadelphia Magic Garden is a living sculpture garden that celebrates the art of recycling and the power of imagination. Located at 13th and Race Streets, Philadelphia, PA 19147, the garden is open Tuesday to Sunday from 10 am to 5 pm. Admission is free, and all ages are welcome. Visit their website at philadelphiamicagarden.org for more information.

---

Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra

For more information, visit the website at philadelphiasymphony.org.

---

Penn Museum

The Penn Museum, located at 34th Street and Spruce Street in Philadelphia, is one of the world's largest and most comprehensive museums of ancient and near Eastern art, history, and archaeology. Established in 1887 by an act of the Pennsylvania legislature, the museum is the largest and most comprehensive museum of its kind in the United States. Visit their website at pennmuseum.org for more information.

---

University of Pennsylvania

For more information, visit the website at upenn.edu.

---

Widener University

For more information, visit the website at widener.edu.

---

Yale University

For more information, visit the website at yale.edu.

---

Concert Pick of the Week

Phish

Phish, good ol’ phish, phish. Phish are the real deal, guaranteed to impress you with their live escapades. So what if they don’t sound very original...it’s honest to goodness wholesome rock ‘n roll. Check it out. The show is Friday night at 8pm at the Mann Music Center in Fairmount Park. For ticket info call 878-7707 or Ticketmaster at 360-266. Peace.

---

Open Letter to a Coward: Deer trend.

Eye thank you yu yu fore aloot ameng mee two, mie atroehoshiph cophe misasseakk in last weeks’ SP SP: Cleerere your a giftfed persun. Your allus a cowcoid, fora not pu- rinng you nayme on thee thee. How is you gonna thank yore hail forniss susch a sharpe shape ie? eic thayke wewe eweereforew bu tomoff bi mi harr. Its cause a persun like you, that th wekld isss such a nice place

---

Guide Museums

Philadelphia Museum of Art (26th & Rocky Franklin Parkway)

The Philadelphia Museum of Art is one of the largest art museums in the United States and one of the oldest in America. It houses over 200,000 works of art from around the world, spanning all periods and styles. The museum is open Tuesday to Sunday, with extended hours on Fridays and Saturdays. For more information, visit the website at philamuseum.org.

---

Revue

The Review is a student-run publication at the University of Pennsylvania. It features articles on a wide range of topics, including current events, culture, and entertainment. For more information, visit the website at review.upenn.edu.

---

The Record

The Record is a student newspaper at Widener University. It covers news, sports, and entertainment at the university. For more information, visit the website at thercord.org.

---

The Philadelphia Inquirer

The Philadelphia Inquirer is a daily newspaper based in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. It covers news, sports, and entertainment in the city and the surrounding region. For more information, visit the website at inquirer.com.

---

The News

The News is a student newspaper at Yale University. It covers news, sports, and entertainment at the university. For more information, visit the website at thenews.yale.edu.

---

The Philadelphia Daily News

The Philadelphia Daily News is a daily newspaper based in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. It covers news, sports, and entertainment in the city and the surrounding region. For more information, visit the website at dailynews.com.
WEBSTER MANOR ON 5TH STREET-NEAR UNIVERSITY: 10 studio/1 bath, 228.00. 1 bedroom/1 bath, 258.00-278.00. 2 bedroom/1 bath, 320.00-340.00. 3 bedroom/2 bath, 410.00-440.00. CALL FOR MORE DETAILS. 386-9200. NATIONWIDE APARTMENTS - 4060 IVERING. 4 br/3.5 bath, $1150. 2 br, $700. Others range from $350 upwards. CALL 960-9100. PENN MANOR ON SPRUCE-1 bedroom, 378.00 up. 2 bedroom, 500.00 up. CALL 371-5717. PENN HALL ON BALTIMORE AT 46th & SPRUCE. 433-1333. 1 bedroom/1 bath, $410.00 up. 2 bedrooms, $550.00 up. 3 bedroom/2 bath, $700.00 up. CALL (215) 898-6581.

APARTMENTS & HOUSES

On 40th, 41st, Spruce, Locust, & Pine
Available June & September:

One month's rent free on ONE year lease only!!

Some Bldgs. include all utilities

Rates incl. all heat & A/C in summer

• Laundry Facilities

24-HR ATTENDED INDOOR GARAGE

FREE BUS TRANSPORTATION TO AND FROM CAMPUSES. FREE PARKING. 24-HR Emer. maint.

AND MORE TO CHOOSE FROM

CALL FOR DETAILS

(215) 898-6581

PENN HALL ON BALTIMORE AT 46th & SPRUCE. 433-1333. 1 bedroom/1 bath, $410.00 up. 2 bedroom/1 bath, $550.00 up. 3 bedroom/2 bath; $700.00 up. CALL (215) 898-6581.

2200 Benjamin Franklin Parkway. 568-2200
Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

• FREE BUS TRANSPORTATION TO AND FROM CAMPUSES. FREE PARKING. 24-HR Emer. maint.

ALL UTILITIES INCLUDED

24-HR DOOR SERVICE

24-HR ATTENDED INDOOR GARAGE

ASK ABOUT OUR STUDENT RATES 1-800-264-0039

James A. Landrews

SEIZE THE MOMENT

to get the best locations

for July and August.

Studio and One Bedroom Apts.

And 9 Bedroom Townhouse

46th & Chestnut

Sun Decks, Excellent Security, Cable, Laundry Facilities, Modern Kitchens & Baths

UNIVERSITY ENTERPRISES

4009 Chestnut Street

222-5500

FOR RENT

4033 Locust St. 386-4200

The Apartments at Spruce Street

4101 Block of Spruce Street

Just one block walk to the western edge of campus, these properties provide a wide range of features and location.

• Secured Entries

• On Site Management

• Laundry Facilities

Effs from $390

1 BR $480

2 BR $610

Some Building: Include all utilities.

For further information, please stop by our office at 4101 Spruce or call 382-2969.

FOR LEASE

CALL 386-1877

FOR RENT

FOR RENT

FOR RENT

FOR RENT

FOUR BEDROOMS.

$925.00/mo. Garage, three bedrooms, fireplace. $540.00 includes heat. 222-1337.

2 bedroom, third floor, 42nd & Locust. Available immediately. Call Greg at 386-1117.

6 bedroom, 3nd floor. 41ST and Walnut. Available immediately. Call Greg at 386-1117.

$195-$315. 386-0922

LOWER 2 BR, 2 BA. $985.00/mo Call (908) 996-7799

6 BR, 2 BA. $825.00 Call O'Donnell Real Estate, inc.

FOR RENT

4103 Walnut St. 386-4200

The Apartments at Spruce Street

4101 Block of Spruce Street

Just one block walk to the western edge of campus, these properties provide a wide range of features and location.

• Secured Entries

• On Site Management

• Laundry Facilities

Effs from $390

1 BR $480

2 BR $610

Some Building: Include all utilities.

For further information, please stop by our office at 4101 Spruce or call 382-2969.

FOR LEASE

CALL 386-1877

FOR RENT

FOR RENT

FOR RENT

FOR RENT

FOUR BEDROOMS.

$925.00/mo. Garage, three bedrooms, fireplace. $540.00 includes heat. 222-1337.

2 bedroom, third floor, 42nd & Locust. Available immediately. Call Greg at 386-1117.

6 bedroom, 3nd floor. 41ST and Walnut. Available immediately. Call Greg at 386-1117.

$195-$315. 386-0922

LOWER 2 BR, 2 BA. $985.00/mo Call (908) 996-7799

6 BR, 2 BA. $825.00 Call O'Donnell Real Estate, inc.

FOR RENT

4103 Walnut St. 386-4200

The Apartments at Spruce Street

4101 Block of Spruce Street

Just one block walk to the western edge of campus, these properties provide a wide range of features and location.

• Secured Entries

• On Site Management

• Laundry Facilities

Effs from $390

1 BR $480

2 BR $610

Some Building: Include all utilities.

For further information, please stop by our office at 4101 Spruce or call 382-2969.
Money pacifies NIT all-stars

MALONEY from BACK PAGE

Experiences like those are excruciating to share with the Maloney's and the Quakers to take their gains to the next level. "With good balance and a good team," Senior backcourt mate Jerome Allen said. "Maloney and the Quakers will continue to work just a little harder in the preseason. It may take them far into the postseason."

SP Sports Challenge

Who was the first official Athlete Director for the University of Pennsylvania?

A) John Heisman
B) Ben Franklin
C) Jeff Davis
D) H. John Heisman
E) Paul Heisman

Tuesday's question: Is the Lorus watch on the left or right hand?

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

The SP -- Where there is absolutely no gag rule.

OJ’s tragedy puts heroes in a new light

WALENTS ON from BACK PAGE

It is not to say that many athletes don’t fill their chosen shoes: heroes and heroines. Many do. It is only to respect every star athlete in America that all the experts for our children. They are the role models should keep as their heroes.

All three rookies are excited about coming to West

Although Kapitonovich would provide some always-needed size up front, Kapitonovich made it clear that he would keep in mind the interest of the team. "I'm very happy with the stars, especially considering we didn't do a lot of preparing time to lose," Kapitonovich said. "We're looking for the best possible student athlete every year and these are solid prospects."

All three guard players are excited about coming to West

The Quakers were looking desperately for size upfront, butts about it. PS: I have the thigh:

Penn senior guard Matt Maloney is having his skills this summer, a member of the Foster Lover NIT All Star team in Canada and Europe.

Basketball programs build for the future

RECRUITS ON BACK PAGE

"Having a year to learn the system and concentrate on the academic transition will really help," Roys said. "Maloney, I hope we'll be able to get into the league."

In addition, reports indicate that 6’10 forward/center Renata Zappala, 6’1 forwards Michelle Maloney, and Molly McLean and 5’10 guard Karen Smith and Terri Sewer, Smith, a local product from West Catholic. High School, averaged 14 points and nine rebounds last season and could see considerable time on the Pizza Patrón this winter. They are also freshened on the mobility and quickness of these freshmen and hopes to implement a more aggressive and attacking defensive style.

"We will now have the personnel to press and extend our defense over half court," Bartender said. Adding depth and scoring to an already stable backcourt, the Quakers were looking desperately for size upfront, and Senior guard Jerome Allen discussing his upcoming game against Dream Team II in August.

BARTENDER: I’ve been a bartender all my life, and Senior guard Jerome Allen discussing his upcoming game against Dream Team II in August.

This is not to say that many athletes don’t fill their chosen shoes: heroes and heroines. Many do. It is only to respect every star athlete in America that all the experts for our children. They are the role models should keep as their heroes.

All three rookies are excited about coming to West

Although Kapitonovich would provide some always-needed size up front, Kapitonovich made it clear that he would keep in mind the interest of the team. "I'm very happy with the stars, especially considering we didn't do a lot of preparing time to lose," Kapitonovich said. "We're looking for the best possible student athlete every year and these are solid prospects."

All three guard players are excited about coming to West

The Quakers were looking desperately for size upfront, butts about it. PS: I have the thigh:

Penn senior guard Matt Maloney is having his skills this summer, a member of the Foster Lover NIT All Star team in Canada and Europe.

Basketball programs build for the future

RECRUITS ON BACK PAGE

"Having a year to learn the system and concentrate on the academic transition will really help," Roys said. "Maloney, I hope we'll be able to get into the league."

In addition, reports indicate that 6’10 forward/center Renata Zappala, 6’1 forwards Michelle Maloney, and Molly McLean and 5’10 guard Karen Smith and Terri Sewer, Smith, a local product from West Catholic. High School, averaged 14 points and nine rebounds last season and could see considerable time on the Pizza Patrón this winter. They are also freshened on the mobility and quickness of these freshmen and hopes to implement a more aggressive and attacking defensive style.

"We will now have the personnel to press and extend our defense over half court," Bartender said. Adding depth and scoring to an already stable backcourt, the Quakers were looking desperately for size upfront, and Senior guard Jerome Allen discussing his upcoming game against Dream Team II in August.

BARTENDER: I’ve been a bartender all my life, and Senior guard Jerome Allen discussing his upcoming game against Dream Team II in August.

This is not to say that many athletes don’t fill their chosen shoes: heroes and heroines. Many do. It is only to respect every star athlete in America that all the experts for our children. They are the role models should keep as their heroes.

All three rookies are excited about coming to West

Although Kapitonovich would provide some always-needed size up front, Kapitonovich made it clear that he would keep in mind the interest of the team. "I'm very happy with the stars, especially considering we didn't do a lot of preparing time to lose," Kapitonovich said. "We're looking for the best possible student athlete every year and these are solid prospects."

All three guard players are excited about coming to West

The Quakers were looking desperately for size upfront, butts about it. PS: I have the thigh:

Penn senior guard Matt Maloney is having his skills this summer, a member of the Foster Lover NIT All Star team in Canada and Europe.

Basketball programs build for the future

RECRUITS ON BACK PAGE

"Having a year to learn the system and concentrate on the academic transition will really help," Roys said. "Maloney, I hope we'll be able to get into the league."

In addition, reports indicate that 6’10 forward/center Renata Zappala, 6’1 forwards Michelle Maloney, and Molly McLean and 5’10 guard Karen Smith and Terri Sewer, Smith, a local product from West Catholic. High School, averaged 14 points and nine rebounds last season and could see considerable time on the Pizza Patrón this winter. They are also freshened on the mobility and quickness of these freshmen and hopes to implement a more aggressive and attacking defensive style.

"We will now have the personnel to press and extend our defense over half court," Bartender said. Adding depth and scoring to an already stable backcourt, the Quakers were looking desperately for size upfront, and Senior guard Jerome Allen discussing his upcoming game against Dream Team II in August.

BARTENDER: I’ve been a bartender all my life, and Senior guard Jerome Allen discussing his upcoming game against Dream Team II in August.

This is not to say that many athletes don’t fill their chosen shoes: heroes and heroines. Many do. It is only to respect every star athlete in America that all the experts for our children. They are the role models should keep as their heroes.

All three rookies are excited about coming to West

Although Kapitonovich would provide some always-needed size up front, Kapitonovich made it clear that he would keep in mind the interest of the team. "I'm very happy with the stars, especially considering we didn't do a lot of preparing time to lose," Kapitonovich said. "We're looking for the best possible student athlete every year and these are solid prospects."

All three guard players are excited about coming to West

The Quakers were looking desperately for size upfront, butts about it. PS: I have the thigh:

Penn senior guard Matt Maloney is having his skills this summer, a member of the Foster Lover NIT All Star team in Canada and Europe.
Maloney is running
Foot Locker show

By JIM WALANT

Don't be surprised if you see Penn senior guard Matt Maloney in a Foot Locker commercial this fall. The New Jersey native, who is averaging 17 points and 7 assists per game, is one of 25 collegiate basketball players to be featured in the Foot Locker event.

"I'm not a role model. Role models are role models," Maloney said.

Maloney is leading a Penn team that is ranked 18th in the nation and will most likely be favored when they travel to West Virginia to face the 13th-ranked Mountaineers.

Maloney scored 17 points in the Quakers' 74-63 victory over the Mountaineers this past Saturday. His scoring total is the highest among the five SEC teams that he has faced this season.

"I think I'm a pretty good shooter and scorer," Maloney said. "I'm also a pretty decent driver to the basket and I'm good at getting to the foul line."