Student group struggles with judicial reform

By RULK FRIEDMAN and JAMES FRIEDMAN

The Student Government Assembly is under new leadership, and the Student Court is currently in turmoil. According to the Student Government Assembly, this conflict is due to the recently passed Proposition 188, which restructured the Student Government Assembly and the Student Court.

Student body president Jerry Brown said that the new leadership is trying to implement the changes set forth by Proposition 188, but the new Student Court is not following the new rules. "It's really a mess," Brown said. "We're trying to work with the new Student Court, but they're not following the rules." The new Student Court has already issued several rulings that are contrary to the new rules set forth by Proposition 188.

The new Student Court has also failed to hold a hearing on the new Student Government Assembly's motion to overturn the new Student Court's rulings. "We don't understand why they're not holding a hearing," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to hold a hearing, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for making decisions without following the rules. "They're making decisions without following the rules," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to follow the rules, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being biased. "They're being biased," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be fair, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being inefficient. "They're being inefficient," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be efficient, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.

The new Student Court has also been criticized for being too slow. "They're being too slow," Brown said. "We're not sure what's going on." The new Student Court has promised to be quick, but it has not yet done so.
Fire destroys abandoned house

By Kevin Szymaszek
Daily Pennsylvanian Editor

A fire that destroyed a vacant home on 39th Street was judged to be intentionally set.

"It was an arson, it was a fire that never should have happened," said Fire Chief W. McCloskey.

Last night a two-alarm fire gutted a vacant four-story building at 3900 39th St. Several smoke detectors were set off at an adjoining residence, but about 40 p.m., the Philadelphia Fire Department was notified.

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

Last night, the fire, which was reported by an elderly man who lives in a home directly across the street, was driven from the building by a tenant who lived in the building and was finally put out by firefighters.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

"There should have been no fire," said Steve McCloskey of Penn Real Estate Group, who lives two doors down from the now completely destroyed building. "The building was structurally unsafe. It should have been torn down long before now."

McCloskey added that the building had been "imminently dangerous" for at least three years.

About the series

This is the last installment of a five-day series examining all aspects of the Greek system at the University, including social life, policies, inter-group relations, and its future on campus.

Task force examines system's future

By Daniel Ginsberg

Pitt Press editor of Weekender

In what could be the single biggest self-examination in the Greek system's history, all three Greek umbrella organizations are joining together to form this committee, the University says in a statement announcing the group.

The three umbrella organizations are the Interfraternity Council (IFC), Panhellenic Council (Panhel), and the Bicultural Inter-Greek Council (BIG). The three umbrella organizations are the Interfraternity Council (IFC), Panhellenic Council (Panhel), and the Bicultural Inter-Greek Council (BIG).

The process that the Big C umbrella of the Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council will bring conversations to discuss current and future issues involving the Greek system.

The future holds not only a growth of events and activities, but also an expansion of the Greek system as a whole.

Kappa Delta Phi is the first Asian American interest sorority that has been recognized by the University. It is currently applying for recognition by the Interfraternity Council.

Carroll Kappa Delta Phi is that women with Asian American interests could have a formalized voice on campus," said College junior Charissa Han, president of KDP.

The sorority does not aim to be solely social. Rather it concentrates on community service projects and educational lectures on Asian American topics.

"The processes that the Big C umbrella of the Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council will bring conversations to discuss current and future issues involving the Greek system.

The future holds not only a growth of events and activities, but also an expansion of the Greek system as a whole.

Kappa Delta Phi is the first Asian American interest sorority that has been recognized by the University. It is currently applying for recognition by the Interfraternity Council.

Carroll Kappa Delta Phi is that women with Asian American interests could have a formalized voice on campus," said College junior Charissa Han, president of KDP.

The sorority does not aim to be solely social. Rather it concentrates on community service projects and educational lectures on Asian American topics.

"The processes that the Big C umbrella of the Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council will bring conversations to discuss current and future issues involving the Greek system.

The future holds not only a growth of events and activities, but also an expansion of the Greek system as a whole.

Kappa Delta Phi is the first Asian American interest sorority that has been recognized by the University. It is currently applying for recognition by the Interfraternity Council.

Carroll Kappa Delta Phi is that women with Asian American interests could have a formalized voice on campus," said College junior Charissa Han, president of KDP.

The sorority does not aim to be solely social. Rather it concentrates on community service projects and educational lectures on Asian American topics.

"The processes that the Big C umbrella of the Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council will bring conversations to discuss current and future issues involving the Greek system.

The future holds not only a growth of events and activities, but also an expansion of the Greek system as a whole.

Kappa Delta Phi is the first Asian American interest sorority that has been recognized by the University. It is currently applying for recognition by the Interfraternity Council.

Carroll Kappa Delta Phi is that women with Asian American interests could have a formalized voice on campus," said College junior Charissa Han, president of KDP.

The sorority does not aim to be solely social. Rather it concentrates on community service projects and educational lectures on Asian American topics.

"The processes that the Big C umbrella of the Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council will bring conversations to discuss current and future issues involving the Greek system.

The future holds not only a growth of events and activities, but also an expansion of the Greek system as a whole.

Kappa Delta Phi is the first Asian American interest sorority that has been recognized by the University. It is currently applying for recognition by the Interfraternity Council.

Carroll Kappa Delta Phi is that women with Asian American interests could have a formalized voice on campus," said College junior Charissa Han, president of KDP.

The sorority does not aim to be solely social. Rather it concentrates on community service projects and educational lectures on Asian American topics.

"The processes that the Big C umbrella of the Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council will bring conversations to discuss current and future issues involving the Greek system.

The future holds not only a growth of events and activities, but also an expansion of the Greek system as a whole.

Kappa Delta Phi is the first Asian American interest sorority that has been recognized by the University. It is currently applying for recognition by the Interfraternity Council.

Carroll Kappa Delta Phi is that women with Asian American interests could have a formalized voice on campus," said College junior Charissa Han, president of KDP.

The sorority does not aim to be solely social. Rather it concentrates on community service projects and educational lectures on Asian American topics.

"The processes that the Big C umbrella of the Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council will bring conversations to discuss current and future issues involving the Greek system.

The future holds not only a growth of events and activities, but also an expansion of the Greek system as a whole.

Kappa Delta Phi is the first Asian American interest sorority that has been recognized by the University. It is currently applying for recognition by the Interfraternity Council.

Carroll Kappa Delta Phi is that women with Asian American interests could have a formalized voice on campus," said College junior Charissa Han, president of KDP.

The sorority does not aim to be solely social. Rather it concentrates on community service projects and educational lectures on Asian American topics.

"The processes that the Big C umbrella of the Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council will bring conversations to discuss current and future issues involving the Greek system.

The future holds not only a growth of events and activities, but also an expansion of the Greek system as a whole.

Kappa Delta Phi is the first Asian American interest sorority that has been recognized by the University. It is currently applying for recognition by the Interfraternity Council.

Carroll Kappa Delta Phi is that women with Asian American interests could have a formalized voice on campus," said College junior Charissa Han, president of KDP.

The sorority does not aim to be solely social. Rather it concentrates on community service projects and educational lectures on Asian American topics.

"The processes that the Big C umbrella of the Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council will bring conversations to discuss current and future issues involving the Greek system.

The future holds not only a growth of events and activities, but also an expansion of the Greek system as a whole.

Kappa Delta Phi is the first Asian American interest sorority that has been recognized by the University. It is currently applying for recognition by the Interfraternity Council.

Carroll Kappa Delta Phi is that women with Asian American interests could have a formalized voice on campus," said College junior Charissa Han, president of KDP.

The sorority does not aim to be solely social. Rather it concentrates on community service projects and educational lectures on Asian American topics.

"The processes that the Big C umbrella of the Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council will bring conversations to discuss current and future issues involving the Greek system.
Traffic from page 1

Accident scares students

The issue of pedestrian safety is a difficult one for campus thoroughfares.

Kuprevich added that because the city classifies many of the streets surrounding campus as major thoroughfares, measures such as installing speed bumps are not feasible.

But the University is taking steps to ensure that student safety is not underestimated by municipal law.

"We have engaged city traffic engineers to investigate how we can get students safely across the street," Kuprevich said. "We are currently investigating traffic flow at Smith, Walk and 14th Street."

In the absence, he said each individual must be responsible for their own safety.

The best thing students can do is to cross at crosswalks and always pay attention regardless of who has the right of way, because in a collision no one really pays attention.

"The reality, though, is that no one really pays attention. Students cross against traffic, and drivers always kill," Kuprevich said. "It is up to the students to pay attention regardless of who has the right of way, because in a collision no one really pays attention."

Kuprevich added that because the city classifies many of the streets surrounding campus as major thoroughfares, measures such as installing speed bumps are not feasible.

But the University is taking steps to ensure that student safety is not underestimated by municipal law.

"We have engaged city traffic engineers to investigate how we can get students safely across the street," Kuprevich said. "We are currently investigating traffic flow at Smith, Walk and 14th Street."

In the absence, he said each individual must be responsible for their own safety.

The best thing students can do is to cross at crosswalks and always pay attention regardless of who has the right of way, because in a collision no one really pays attention."

Kuprevich said, "It is basically an awareness issue.

The Leonard Davis Institute Center for Health Policy and University of Pennsylvania Medical Center and Health System are pleased to announce.

U.S. Senator John H. Chafee (R-RI) as the LDI Visiting Health Policy Fellow speaking on "The Future of Health Care Reform"

Tuesday, November 15 1:00-2:00 p.m. Dudley Auditorium Semester Hall 3450 Hamilton Walk

The Moez Alimohamed Memorial Fund

The Department of Mathematics at the University of Pennsylvania has established a memorial fund in honor of Moez Alimohamed. Moez was a very successful and highly popular graduate student who was robbed and killed on August 28th in front of his home on 47th and Pine Street.

Initially, this memorial fund will be used for the following purposes:

The Moez Alimohamed Teaching Award

Moez was a dedicated teacher, who received several department awards for teaching excellence. The award will be presented annually to a graduate student in the Mathematics Department who has demonstrated a commitment to teaching.

The Moez Alimohamed Graduate Student Reference Library

The library will be located in the Department of Mathematics graduate student lounge (Room 4167, David Rittenhouse Laboratory) and will consist of a collection of mathematics books that are student donations are tax-deductible. Checks should be made out to The Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania and sent to:

Professor Wolfgang Ziller
Graduate Group Chairman
Department of Mathematics
University of Pennsylvania
Philadelphia, PA 19104-4895

Your contributions allow the University to keep after the memory of one of its brightest young scholars, and teachers while honoring Moez Alimohamed's commitment to academic excellence and all that he contributed to Penn.
In a campaign memorable for its excessive expenditures, whither public appearance tours and invective, crime, education or job creation, her comments seemed especially ironic. The Santorum crowd was so turned off by the campaign that when Santorum tried to commend Wofford on his long career of public service and discribe the gracious concession call he had received from the Democratic senator, hecklers drowned him out. "He's a liar," several in the crowd shouted in reference to Wofford.

But negative campaigns are here to stay, and Santorum media analysts said. As if to prove his point, and perhaps in protest of souring Republican gains nationwide, the die jockey began to play Creedence Clearwater Revival's "Bad Moon Rising." The meaning hid behind the Second Amendment, well, you could hide behind the First Amendment.

Such hostility had pervaded the entire campaign, illegal supporters said. attributing their candidate's loss to the easily evoked or radio call is always and in political advertisements, an official from the state Democratic party. "You don't get a full appreciation for the issues and how complicated they are because of it."

OMEGA PIZZA & RESTAURANT

GREAT WOMEN GO GREEK!!!

AXO AΦ ΚΟ
ΔΔΑ ΚΑΘΚΔ
ΦΞΞ ΠΒΦΣΑΤ

Panhellenic Rush 1995
University of Pennsylvania

LAST CHANCE TO REGISTER!!!
You must attend this information session:
Sunday, November 13
Bodek Lounge 12-6pm

Remember you must register to rush!
$10 registration fee is required!

O the surface of a leaf, an intricate network of veins is the medium for photosynthesis. At Bellcore, a network of talented people is the medium we use to define and tackle telecommunications challenges for some of the biggest names in American and international business.

AN ADVANCED INFORMATION NETWORK IS ESSENTIAL TO ANY ENVIRONMENT.

We offer our clients an unprecedented level of telecommunications expertise, coupled with unparalleled resources for providing totally integrated customer solutions. And our demonstrated proficiency in Information Services, Telephony, Wireless, and Business and Mass Market Broadband makes us uniquely equipped to address the telecommunications challenges of the future — head-on.

If you're an ambitious graduate, we can offer you some equally impressive advantages. Join us in helping our clients define their route in the rapidly expanding telecommunications network, and reach your own high level of personal and professional reward.

Currently, we have openings at our New Jersey locations for individuals with a BS/MS in Computer Science, Electrical Engineering, and/or Systems Engineering and for MS/PhD's in Computer Science, Statistics, Operations Research, Metallurgy, Behavioral Science and/or Material Science.

For consideration, forward your resume, in strictest confidence, to: Manager, Corporate Employment, Bellcore, Dept. EH111594, 6 Corporate Place, Piscataway, New Jersey 08854.

We are an equal opportunity employer m/f/dv.

Bellcore
A Bell Communications Research
Where innovation is second nature.
First Amendment and Urine

By defending Andres Serrano's right to exhibit his work on campus, the University is reaffirming its commitment to free expression.

The offensive artist's work on campus—depiction of a crucifix lying in a tub of ins—will be featured at the University's Institute of Contemporary Arts beginning tomorrow.

Many have turned to the University for allowing such a controversial and offensive artist's work on campus. As an institution whose raison d'etre lies within the First Amendment, we defend the decision to allow Serrano's work on campus.

Freedom of expression is a basic, universal right, and the University, as a center of study and discussion of conflicting ideas, should preserve that right at all costs.

Some argue, however, that the University is employing a double standard. Jeremy Chiappetta, President of the Penn Newman Council, contends that he "would question whether the University would sanction an exhibit which may shock or offend the lesbian, gay, or black community," or an exhibit of hypothetically, a piss Star of David on campus.

We hope Chiappetta is wrong. We hope the University would abide by its own rules in this case and would enforce freedom of expression across the board.

Of course, freedom of expression does not mean that those who disagree with the exhibit should actually see his work, which should never appear on campus.

If you disagree with the exhibit, write an angry letter, speak to administrators, or join today's protest march @ p.m. at the tuition. Make your voice heard.

And if you're not sure about the whole issue, check out Serrano's exhibit, including his other works. Judge for yourself whether he is a legitimate artist or merely an offensive publicly- funded one. Even if you find his work to be offensive, there is nothing illegal about it.

Lootly, it's being done before one of these will appreciate the artwork. The exhibit moves down five students at once because the museum has its own private security, and it is in a ruin being used as a West Philly mosh pit.

Margaret "Master Plan for the Security of the University" student, the University should be applauded for finally making a defensive stand against a crisis that has evolved into a crime problem. One of the interesting op-Tions on the "Master Plan" is the University's stance on the issue of freedom of expression. In a nutshell, the Security System has the capacity to physically protect the campus from intruders with a transmitter the size of a car alarm. They should be applauded for creating a grid formation encompassing as large a area as necessary.

When a student is assaulted either inside or outside, their phone should be on "Call for Help." When they press the button, the Security System will be notified. If the attacker is on campus longer than they expected, the police will be called. If they are off campus, the police will be called.

A system of this nature is absolutely necessary. Many students have been attacked within the University's jurisdiction, including the infamous case of the University of Pennsylvania, where a student was attacked in her room.

The University has not taken a stand on this issue, but the administration should be applauded for creating a system that will protect the campus.

The centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

Piss Christ is not an act of vandalism. Students, who see the Piss as sacriligious, respond to the image as a religious ceremony, symbolized, but also the reality of God's love for humanity.

A bathroom dive into the subject of the crucifix on campus is currently in progress at the University's crossroads organization.

It is part of the theological discourse of the Roman Catholic tradition as the Catholic understanding of the crucifixion represents an aspect of Christ crucified and the centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The crucifix on campus is currently in progress at the University's crossroads organization.

It is part of the theological discourse of the Roman Catholic tradition as the Catholic understanding of the crucifixion represents an aspect of Christ crucified and the centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The crucifix on campus is currently in progress at the University's crossroads organization.

It is part of the theological discourse of the Roman Catholic tradition as the Catholic understanding of the crucifixion represents an aspect of Christ crucified and the centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The crucifix on campus is currently in progress at the University's crossroads organization.

It is part of the theological discourse of the Roman Catholic tradition as the Catholic understanding of the crucifixion represents an aspect of Christ crucified and the centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The crucifix on campus is currently in progress at the University's crossroads organization.

It is part of the theological discourse of the Roman Catholic tradition as the Catholic understanding of the crucifixion represents an aspect of Christ crucified and the centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The crucifix on campus is currently in progress at the University's crossroads organization.

It is part of the theological discourse of the Roman Catholic tradition as the Catholic understanding of the crucifixion represents an aspect of Christ crucified and the centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The crucifix on campus is currently in progress at the University's crossroads organization.

It is part of the theological discourse of the Roman Catholic tradition as the Catholic understanding of the crucifixion represents an aspect of Christ crucified and the centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The crucifix on campus is currently in progress at the University's crossroads organization.

It is part of the theological discourse of the Roman Catholic tradition as the Catholic understanding of the crucifixion represents an aspect of Christ crucified and the centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The crucifix on campus is currently in progress at the University's crossroads organization.

It is part of the theological discourse of the Roman Catholic tradition as the Catholic understanding of the crucifixion represents an aspect of Christ crucified and the centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The crucifix on campus is currently in progress at the University's crossroads organization.

It is part of the theological discourse of the Roman Catholic tradition as the Catholic understanding of the crucifixion represents an aspect of Christ crucified and the centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The crucifix on campus is currently in progress at the University's crossroads organization.

It is part of the theological discourse of the Roman Catholic tradition as the Catholic understanding of the crucifixion represents an aspect of Christ crucified and the centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The crucifix on campus is currently in progress at the University's crossroads organization.

It is part of the theological discourse of the Roman Catholic tradition as the Catholic understanding of the crucifixion represents an aspect of Christ crucified and the centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.

The crucifix on campus is currently in progress at the University's crossroads organization.

It is part of the theological discourse of the Roman Catholic tradition as the Catholic understanding of the crucifixion represents an aspect of Christ crucified and the centrality of Christ's death in the Catholic faith is reflected in the crucifix that hangs near the altar. When students, for example, enter the University's chapel, they are reminded of the sacrifice of Christ.
Students struggle with judicial reform

CHARTER from page 1

the faculty member.

Students struggle with judicial reform

The current Inluilons show is a thoroughly explored acting the performance that has been performed numerous times. The play follows the construction and cominga ments will be available for public expensive work which took place in sevment of two aspects of the not in full favor” of the student com-Committee want students to “have Committee's plans.

The piece maximizes focused and different thematic elements. This show is a piece which is not Rehearsal, but it also gives the audi-courtroom drama that is known for

When: 11.99 CD    7.99 CS
Player: 9.99 CD   5.99 CS

The Rosemarys: The Best of Penn. The Best of The Daily Pennsylvanian. Every week. SUBSCRIPTIONS ON SALE TODAY

Upper Quad Entrance, 3 – 5:30 P.M.

The Weekly Pennsylvanian (through April) via prompt second-class mail.

The Daily Pennsylvanian, Penn's 110-year-old daily newspaper, is the top college newspaper in the country and has won many local and national awards for excellence. Its editors take the "best of" every week's issues and re-package them into a special, condensed weekly edition for Penn parents and alumni.

Let your parents read for themselves about issues like next year's tuition costs, the University's attack on campus crime, and the football team's quest for the Ivy League title.

For only $25 — less than the cost of a few long distance calls home — we'll send The Weekly Pennsylvanian through April via prompt second-class mail.

Once a week, The Weekly Pennsylvanian helps you share the college experience with your parents, by bringing all the campus news right to their mailbox. The Weekly Pennsylvanian is a concise eight-page newspaper prepared especially for Penn families by the staff of The Daily Pennsylvanian. Penn's 110-year-old independent student-run newspaper. We'll tell them everything that's happening at Penn: campus news, complete sports coverage, opinion, and features on student living and campus arts.

The Daily Pennsylvanian, which you'll pick up free on campus each weekday morning, is one of the top college newspapers in the country and has won many local and national awards for excellence. Our editors take the "best of" every week's issues and re-package them into a special, condensed weekly edition for Penn parents and alumni.

Let your parents read for themselves about issues like next year's tuition costs, the University's attack on campus crime, and the football team's quest for the Ivy League title.

For only $25 — less than the cost of a few long distance calls home — we'll send The Weekly Pennsylvanian through April via prompt second-class mail.
Iraq recognizes Kuwait and new borders

WASHINGTON - The man who once coveted the entire Arabian peninsula has taken the first tentative steps toward a return to normalcy with the recognition of Kuwait. And while the United States is likely to continue to seek a more robust position in the region, the message of hope is clear.

"It is a type of indication that the warm relations with our neighbor, the United States, have returned," a senior Kuwaiti official said. "It is an indication that we are opening a new chapter in our relations." The official spoke on condition of anonymity.

The announcement of the recognition, which came after a meeting between President George Bush and Kuwaiti Prime Minister Yousef al-Qa'aani on Monday, was a small but significant step in the region.

But a closer look at the new borders and the implications for the future reveals that the United States still has a long way to go.

Curtailing border violations

The message of the new borders is clear. The United States is committed to maintaining its position as the dominant power in the region. And while the Kuwaiti official noted that the United States has "a very special relationship" with Kuwait, the announcement also reflects the continued U.S. support for the United States.

"It is a very important step," the official said. "It is a sign of the importance of the relationship between the United States and Kuwait."

The United States continues to support the work of the United Nations in the region. And while the new borders may have implications for the future, the United States remains committed to maintaining its position as the dominant power in the region.
A steam leak in the Quad Spruce Street office triggered the sprinkler system.

Students in Spruce Street House were woken up at 5 a.m. yesterday by the sound of fire alarms. According to Vice President for Facilities Management Arthur Gruen, a steam leak in the Spruce Street office, located on the second floor of the Mask and Wig section of the Quadrangle, triggered the sprinkler system.

Engineering senior and Resident Advisor Brian Wang said the sprinklers flooded the office. He added that the water dripped down into a student's room.

"I called the front desk but they couldn't do anything about it," she said. "It was scary." Wang added that she was told the incident was related to the steam pipe bursting.

Wharton freshmen Amy Apple said steam emitted from the Quad Spruce Street Office. She said workers came to check her room for a water leak at around 3 a.m. and told her to leave her room. She added that officials failed to alert her of the problem.

"No one came knocking on my door to make sure I left," she said. "My closet door was open," she said. "I came back and I knew that someone had been through my room because my closet door was open," she said.

Approximately 10 people came in to check her room throughout the day. Workers set up a fan to blow the steam out of the window, she added.

Wharton freshmen Amy Chen said the building was shaking so hard at 4 a.m. that her bed was shaking. She called the front desk but they couldn't do anything about it.

"I called the front desk but they couldn't do anything about it," she said. "I was scared." Apple said steam emitted from the Spruce Street Office throughout the entire day. Workers set up a fan to blow the steam out of the window, she added.

The Spruce Street Office was severely damaged as a result of this incident.

Sor Jennifer Gwynne said the walls of the Spruce Street Office were severely damaged as a result of this incident.

College junior and Resident Advisor Jennifer Gwynne said the walls of the Spruce Street Office throughout the entire day were flooded. She said workmen were trying to dry the water from the steam leak.

"The entire day. Workers set up a fan to blow the steam out of the window," she added.

College freshmen Jennifer Kline complained that officials failed to alert her of the problem.

"No one came knocking on my door to make sure I left," she said. "I called the front desk but they couldn't do anything about it," she said. "I was scared."
Introducing the CREF Growth Account and the CREF Equity Index Account.

YOU'RE LOOKING AT TWO COMPLETELY OPPOSITE, FUNDAMENTALLY DIFFERENT WAYS TO INVEST IN STOCKS.

WE RECOMMEND BOTH.

Introducing the CREF Growth Account and the CREF Equity Index Account.

Whether you want a fund that selects specific stocks or one that covers the market, we've got the page on you.

One is the CREF Growth Account and the other is the CREF Equity Index Account.

The CREF Growth Account searches for individual companies that are poised for superior growth. In contrast, the CREF Equity Index Account looks for more diversification, with a portfolio encompassing almost the entire range of U.S. stock investments. It invests in stocks that are on the Russell 3000® and a broad index of U.S. stocks.

Like our CREF Bond Account, which combines income and capital gains investing, and our Global Equities Account, which seeks opportunities worldwide, the new CREF Equity Index Account is managed by experienced investment professionals. They're the experts we turned to help make TIAA-CREF the largest pension system in the country, with over $500 billion in assets.

To find out more about our new stock funds, and building your portfolio with TIAA-CREF, just call 1-800-486-5716. And take your pick.

Ensuring the future for those who shape it.

Get a News TIP now 888-565-5816.

Minority Internships Forum Undergraduates will discuss their summer internships and other advice for 4-year's candidates.

Bomay Cuisine

112 South 40th St. • 222-6232
• Traditional clay oven cooking • BYOB

Vegetarian & Non-vegetarian specialties

Major Credit cards accepted including the TransMedia Card.

Majors Credit cards accepted including the TransMedia Card.

Vegetarian & Non-vegetarian specialties

36 Item Buffet A Salad Bar

• Traditional clay oven cooking • BYOB

Of a great new restaurant

COMPLETELY OPPOSITE, FUNDAMENTALLY

Dine in to the future!

In the spring of 1993, Residential

Lavender was more than a level where

Washington received more than 350 complaints from students about lost or delayed mail. "It's not at a level where we feel any problems we have been getting," he said.

He also attributed these problems

to study the market trends and the current economic environment. Lavender

offers this advice:

"We see that what we're doing is investing in mutual funds. Let's say you want to study the market trends and the current economic environment. Lavender

offers this advice:

"We see that what we're doing is investing in mutual funds. Let's say you want"

The Treasury Department functions as an in-house investment bank, financial advisor and investment manager for The Walt Disney Company. Innovative financing techniques and investment and risk management strategies. Major areas of focus include corporate finance, project transactions totaling over $2.5 billion, innovative tax-driven investments, and the hedging of over $4 billion in foreign exchange exposure.

In addition, the Treasury Department is responsible for management of Disney's $1.5 billion corporate investment portfolio and $800 million in retirement funds.

Job Opportunities

The Treasury Department is seeking 3-4 highly qualified candidates with outstanding academic records for the position of Treasury Analyst. Of these, two analysts will work primarily on corporate finance and 1-2 analysts will work mainly on investment and risk management. In addition to developing excellent qualitative and analytical skills, the analyst can expect to gain insight into the executive decision-making process through extensive exposure to Disney's senior management as well as to commercial and investment bankers.

From development to execution, the analyst will play a vital role in helping to achieve Disney’s financial strategies. Strong communication skills and an ability to understand, synthesize and articulate financial issues are therefore essential. As part of the Treasury team, your own abilities will be enhanced by directly contributing to the accomplishments of the Treasury Department and The Walt Disney Company. Qualified candidates should apply through the OCRS by November 17, 1994.
Season ends for W. X-Country

BY ERIC GOLDSTEIN
The Pennsylvania State News

In what has been an up and down season for the Penn women's cross country team, Saturday's Eastern College Athletic Conference meet was the peak moment. With strong performances by the best and most talented squads in the region, the Red and Blue emerged from the competition with victory to their credit.

The Heptagonal Championship, was the best team's last meet, at the Boston and Paul Short Invitations.

The team was looking up at six teams when it was over.

For all but four of the Penn runners, that was the anticlimactic end to an otherwise strong season. Sophomore Maggie Mawover, Junior Abigail and June Kim and junior Melange Gesker will each have a shot at redemption. The four will compete in Boston today for the Eastern « "I

The Four will compete in Boston today for the Eastern « "I

The race will target specific sections of the economy for technological analysis as it affects business. These sections are: TRANSPORTATION, TELECOMMUNICATIONS, ENERGY, and BIOMATERIALS.

Details Course Number: MSE 266
Prerequisites: None
Term: Spring 1996
Time: TR 9:00 - 10:30 AM: SHISH
Instructor: Prof. J.J. DeLucas (delucas@cis@bsu.bsu.acs.edu) 357-2435

BRIDGEWATER ASSOCIATES, INC.
Institutional money management and economic research
$4 billion under management invested in global credit and currency markets

We are looking for motivated people with strong analytical skills for positions in research, trading, client service, and technology.

Prescreen dates for period 9
November 14 - November 17
or send a cover letter and résumé to:
Ivan Martinez
Bridgewater Associates
372 Danbury Road
Wilton, CT 06897

THE ROLE OF WOMEN DURING THE TIME OF PROPHET MUHAMMED

By Salwa Abdallah
Editor & Research Coordinator for the American Ijtihad (Islamic Religious Research) Institute

Saturday, November 12th
2:00 PM
Steinberg-Dietrich Hall
Room 351

CS First Boston

CS First Boston, a major international investment bank, headquartered in New York City, will be recruiting at the University of Pennsylvania for the Technical Associate Program in the Information Services Department. We are looking for Seniors with strong analytical and computer skills who want to further develop and utilize these skills in the financial services industry.

CS First Boston uses the latest advances in hardware and software to create systems crucial to our success in the financial marketplace. If you are interested in combining the fast-paced excitement of Wall Street with the stimulating challenge of technology, this program will be of interest to you.

We will be recruiting on campus for full time positions on:

Thursday, November 17, 1994
& Wednesday, February 1, 1995

To learn more about the Technical Associate Program, please join us for our Information Session:

Wednesday, November 16, 1994
Town Building - Room 303
7:00 p.m.
REMAINING PENN HOME FOOTBALL GAMES:

SAT. NOV. 12 HARVARD (FAMILY DAY)

W. Crew has found a leader

BY BRETT CORN
Daily Pennsylvanian Sports Writer

To represent a school in college is every athlete's dream. For women's crew coach Carol Bower, the dream became a reality when she was invited to represent the University of Pennsylvania in 1984 Olympic Games.

The dream was taken away, however, by President Jimmy Carter's decision to boycott the 1980 Olympic Games. Carter's decision was a direct result of the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, and it led to a series of events that ultimately culminated in the boycott of the games. As a result, Bower was no longer able to participate in the Olympic Games.

Bower was fortunate that she was at the beginning of her rowing career at the time of the boycott. She knew the 1984 Los Angeles Olympics would be her best chance to compete, and after the boycott, she was one of only two members of the 1980 team to make the 1984 team. That team won the gold medal in an international competition, and Bower was one of the main reasons why.

Bower did not expect her role to continue, but she was drawn to a grieving family member who would not allow her to compete. They continued to train together even after both had left the Olympic team. Bower's role as a therapist and coach allowed her to help others achieve their dreams.

"The only way the 1984 victory could have been sweeter is if the 1980 team had also won," Bower said. "We never realized how much the boycott hurt our chances to win, but we were determined and we achieved success."
Worthy says farewell; Barkley goes down with injury; hockey comes closer to agreement

Ewing tops Shaq in final seconds to beat Orlando

Worthy says farewell; Barkley goes down with injury; hockey comes closer to agreement

Ewing tops Shaq in final seconds to beat Orlando

Newspaper clipping from November 11, 1984, featuring sports news and notes, including a basketball game score between Cleveland Browns and the NY Jets, a football game score between Buffalo Bills and Miami Dolphins, and a baseball game score between Atlanta Braves and New Orleans. The clipping also contains a classified ad for a resume center and a section on the national conference with classified ads for resumes and cover letters. The clipping also includes a note on the National Basketball Association (NBA) Central Division and West Division, with scores for the 1983-1984 season. A partial note mentions a basketball game involving the Atlanta Hawks and New Orleans, with a mention of La. Clippers at 7:30 pm. A mention of a popular TV show, "The A Team," is also included.
Football goes for the record
Penn tries for 30-point finish

By LISA G. DURCK

Daily Pennsylvanian Writer

Senior midfielder Dave Suchy came within minutes of breaking a Penn record last week when he took over a team that went 2-3 during the Ivy season, and after being unexpectedly promoted to the all-star game, he went on to score the game-winning goal against the University of Pennsylvania. The goal was Suchy's 11th of the season, tying the previous record held in 1981 by senior captain Mike Fox.

Suchy's performance has been consistent throughout the season, and his goals have helped the Penn football team achieve a 4-4 record in Ivy League play. His scoring has been especially crucial in the team's final game against the University of Pennsylvania, where he scored the critical goal that secured Penn's third-place finish in the Ivy League.

The record-breaking performance by Suchy highlights the team's strong offense, which has been a key factor in their success this season. The team has scored 11 goals in their final two games, with Suchy contributing significantly to this effort.

Overall, the team's performance has been impressive, and they are now looking forward to the upcoming season with renewed hope and confidence.

Swami Parents Say:

"Mommy 1940 regaled us with tales of her days as a Swami, and it seems that perhaps Swami 1940 be a period for feeling out the opposition. This is a period for feeling out the opposition."

Mommy 1940

While the team's performance has been impressive, there is still much work to be done. The team needs to continue to work on their offensive strategy, and they must also focus on improving their defense to ensure their success in the upcoming season.