Marathon runners hit streets of Philly

By Michael Haskay

The Philadelphia Marathon ended at the steps of the Philadelphia Museum of Art yesterday. This was the first time in its history that the race began at the museum and continued down the Benjamin Franklin Parkway to the heart and grit of the blue-collar section of city.

A similar emotion carried the runners, estimated at 17,000, through the 26.2 mile course which started at the museum and culminated through City Hall, Independence Mall, South Street, the Avenue of the Tombstone to the finish line back at the museum's legendary steps.

Engineering senior John主见, who is a member of Penn's cross country team, participated in the marathon -- his first ever. Rafter said his goal was to finish with a time of less than three hours, 30 minutes, which would have qualified him for the Massachusetts native for the team. Rafter accomplished his goal easily; his time was 2:49:38 but he conceded the end was tough, both physically and mentally.

After 25 miles, he dropped from a 4:30 per-mile pace to a steady 3:46 per-mile pace.

"At the halfway point I didn't think I wouldn't finish," B shuttered. "But it was a struggle to get my feet back on the ground. It was a battle to finish." B shutter and the cheering crowd along the last quarter mile lifted him to the end of the race. This year...'

Relief project draws student complaints

By Jamie Phares

The Daily Pennsylvanian

The Daily Pennsylvanian, the snack bar in McClelland Hall in the Quadrangle on campus, was closed Thursday because of the World Food For Hunger Fundraising Campaign. The students who ran the snack bar did not actually reap any benefit from the campaign.

"I don't see what McClelland has gained. The only people who actually gained from it were the students who work there," said Anthony Jonathan Kromberg '95.

"If there's food they're donating to

Kite and Key program helps local students

By Rob Jackson

Brian Thompson, a sophomore at Lea Elementary School in West Philadelphia, is an exasperated resident of the University who was a recent sight in the University Museum. Thompson is one of the 12 students from Lea Elementary School involved in the Kite and Key Program, an awareness program that matches Penn students with elementary school students.

Thompson is one of the 12 students from Lea Elementary School involved in the Kite and Key Program, an awareness program that matches Penn students with elementary school students.

"I've always been helping them with social studies," Dick Thompson, Brian's father, said. "And thanks to the community service program called Step One, the students have had the opportunity to learn more about the community and the people here."

"I thought it was a good idea to get the students involved in the community," Brian's father said, "It's been a great experience for my son."

"The students have learned how to speak another language, and they're learning about the culture and the way we live," Thompson said.

"I'm happy that this program is helping the students," he added. "It's important for them to see the local culture and how it's different from what they're used to."
Problems accompany cyber-world growth

By Kate Khabil

Fifty years ago, the world had no net or board of personal computers. Today, from the highways to the homes and school cannot function without them. Today, the world's incredible growth rate in computing is according to Computer and Information Technology Professor David Farber. The Allen-Fisher Moore professor of Technology and Information Policy, addressed the pros and cons of cybersex in a lecture to students and faculty on Tuesday, Nov. 21 at 8 p.m. in Houston Hall's Smith Penn Hall. Farber explained that issues of using cybersex will not be far off. The computers that produce these lectures topics that deal with issues affecting the lives of PennNet users. Assistant Dean in Residential, Patricia Reihan, “With this new technology, it makes the EMCC, we feel that Farber’s topic would be appropriate.”

Robbers, which also coordinator of Penn Frist Year Programs. Reihan, said, “Wednesday evening’s symposium was a forum for your group to discuss the computers and organized by the woman.”

Although computers were still a challenge, he said, to bridge the ever growing communication gap in society, the government is now faced with the task of being able to define what information is allowed to be flow, Farber replied. The forum being held in Gen would impose strict guidelines for an information base such as Prodigy and America Online in hopes of preventing pornography or offensive material from finding its way to the children. This is a direct challenge for the government which guarantees the freedom of the press. Farber explained.

“Everyone has the right to know about the computers and the world’s first digital computer is on the way,” said Reihan. “It’s the people with the biggest problems.”

Robbery

November 19 — A visitor from the Daily News of the Illinois University of Illinois Urbana Champaign is the target of a robbery. The criminal, who was not yet identified, said he would not allow anyone to enter a building in the 300 block of Argyle Street until he was given a credit card. He demanded $400 in cash and a credit card. He fled the scene when he was found by police.

November 17 — A man stole $40 from a woman on the 4200 block of Pine Street at 8 p.m. He fled the scene when he was found by police.

November 16 — A man was arrested on the 4200 block of Pine Street after he was found with a stolen $400 credit card. He fled the scene when he was found by police.

INDEPENDENT EXPOSURE

November 16 — A man was found with a stolen $400 credit card. He fled the scene when he was found by police.

THIEF FROM AUTO

November 16 — A man was arrested after he was found with a stolen $400 credit card. He fled the scene when he was found by police.

PENNFact

The largest dormitory on campus is the Quadrangle, which houses approximately 2,500 students.

Quote of the Day

"Free six-six eight, we came to Penn to get a gater" — Lipstick Not Linguistics protesters in support of The Book Store's Clinique cosmetic counter.

Josh Friesen

Night Assistants

Heidi Korn

Kavil Kauffman

Danny Yaksic

Kathleen Peczynski

Elyse Abraham

Scott Loomer

Marie Denucci

James Keil

Josephine Edge

Correction and Clarifications

The Daily Pennsylvanian regrets the errors in the following stories:

On Nov. 19, the Daily Pennsylvanian reported in a story titled "The Student Body is in the Pro's corner: The "Madam" is doing a great job" that the Executive Editor's residence was broken into. The story was in error. The residence was not broken into.

On Nov. 19, the Daily Pennsylvanian reported in a story titled "The Student Body is in the Pro's corner: The "Madam" is doing a great job" that the Executive Editor's residence was broken into. The story was in error. The residence was not broken into.

The Daily Pennsylvanian regrets the errors in the following stories:

On Nov. 19, the Daily Pennsylvanian reported in a story titled "The Student Body is in the Pro's corner: The "Madam" is doing a great job" that the Executive Editor's residence was broken into. The story was in error. The residence was not broken into.

On Nov. 19, the Daily Pennsylvanian reported in a story titled "The Student Body is in the Pro's corner: The "Madam" is doing a great job" that the Executive Editor's residence was broken into. The story was in error. The residence was not broken into.

The Daily Pennsylvanian regrets the errors in the following stories:

On Nov. 19, the Daily Pennsylvanian reported in a story titled "The Student Body is in the Pro's corner: The "Madam" is doing a great job" that the Executive Editor's residence was broken into. The story was in error. The residence was not broken into.

On Nov. 19, the Daily Pennsylvanian reported in a story titled "The Student Body is in the Pro's corner: The "Madam" is doing a great job" that the Executive Editor's residence was broken into. The story was in error. The residence was not broken into.

The Daily Pennsylvanian regrets the errors in the following stories:

On Nov. 19, the Daily Pennsylvanian reported in a story titled "The Student Body is in the Pro's corner: The "Madam" is doing a great job" that the Executive Editor's residence was broken into. The story was in error. The residence was not broken into.

On Nov. 19, the Daily Pennsylvanian reported in a story titled "The Student Body is in the Pro's corner: The "Madam" is doing a great job" that the Executive Editor's residence was broken into. The story was in error. The residence was not broken into.

The Daily Pennsylvanian regrets the errors in the following stories:

On Nov. 19, the Daily Pennsylvanian reported in a story titled "The Student Body is in the Pro's corner: The "Madam" is doing a great job" that the Executive Editor's residence was broken into. The story was in error. The residence was not broken into.

On Nov. 19, the Daily Pennsylvanian reported in a story titled "The Student Body is in the Pro's corner: The "Madam" is doing a great job" that the Executive Editor's residence was broken into. The story was in error. The residence was not broken into.

The Daily Pennsylvanian regrets the errors in the following stories:

On Nov. 19, the Daily Pennsylvanian reported in a story titled "The Student Body is in the Pro's corner: The "Madam" is doing a great job" that the Executive Editor's residence was broken into. The story was in error. The residence was not broken into.

On Nov. 19, the Daily Pennsylvanian reported in a story titled "The Student Body is in the Pro's corner: The "Madam" is doing a great job" that the Executive Editor's residence was broken into. The story was in error. The residence was not broken into.
Scuba club heads for the tropics

By Mark Fiore

The scuba club is headed down under this spring. More precisely, the members of the two-year-old club will be exploring the life under the coastal waters of Cozumel and the Bahamas.

In only its second year, the University's scuba club has grown from 15 thrill-seeking members to nearly 70. The club includes undergraduate and graduate students as well as faculty members, with abilities ranging from novice to professional. Several members of the club returned their certification cards for the completion of the first series of diving courses at the club's first meeting of the semester Thursday night. These students are now qualified to dive with the rest of the group.

A slide show was also presented with pictures of the Bahamas and Cozumel, Mexico, the two main trips the club will be taking in the spring. The divers will explore the waters of the Bahamas for four days in February and of Cozumel for eight days over spring break, according to Engineering sophomore Graham Dickson, founder and president of the scuba club.

"In the Bahamas, we'll do a shark dive," he said. "The advanced divers can do some deep dives. There'll be some coral reefs, of course." According, divers can usually brave the waters in just their swimsuits, according to Dickson.

"When we're in Cozumel, we're going to have the same guide that Jacques Cousteau uses," Dickson said. "There's a lot of pinnate through some of the coral caves. When not heading off to the warm waters of the Caribbean or the South Atlantic, the club does several local dives. While many of the divers like the warmer waters, others prefer exploring sites off the East Coast.

"We've done a couple of New Jersey boat dives to shipwrecks—some warships and schooners," Dickson said. "We always do different sites, with or without experience, according to Dickson. The club offers courses from beginner to dive master, at the professional level.

The early bird gets the best nest.

Guide to finding great off-campus housing:
1. Start looking early.
2. Visit Campus Apartments. Campus Apartments has the finest selection of houses and apartments. The early birds get to live in them.

Eff., one, two, three, and up to fourteen bedrooms at the most sought-after locations around campus. FREE SHUTTLE. Penn Consumer Board Approved leases.

Open M - F, 9:00 AM - 5:00 PM
Sat, 10:00 AM - 2:00 PM
The Creators of Beige Block

C A M P U S A P A R T M E N T S
40 E 6 W A L N U T S T R E E T
3.82 - 1.3.0.0

The Best Course You'll Ever Take.

The Daily Pennsylvanian Sales Department
Recruitment Meeting for Sping Semester
Thursday, November 30th • 4:30 pm
4015 Walnut Street • 898-6581

Reuters Information. Now.

Reuters Corporate Presentation
Date: November 28, 1995
Time: 4:00 PM - 6:00 PM
Place: Houston Hall
Best Franklin Room

Our worldwide leadership can take your career in many directions. Most professional opportunities at Reuters are in the areas of Financial Market Services, Information Technology, Media, News and Television. Students working toward their BS degrees are invited to attend the:

Reuters Corporate Presentation

We are an equal opportunity employer committed to workforce diversity.
We've studied lots of research on career enhancement and success. You might employ what we've uncovered.

1. CARE ABOUT YOUR APPEARANCE

When you interview – dress right, do the hair. And yeah, polish your shoes...people notice. Nearly 80% of executives agree that shined shoes are very important to your success. When you interview - dress right, do the hair. And yeah, polish your shoes...people notice. Nearly 80% of executives agree that shined shoes are very important to your success.

2. CARE ABOUT WHAT'S HAPPENING

Another way to get an edge on success is through volunteering. Over 70% of students in a recent survey said they had gained valuable life experience doing community service. And employers like it on your resume.

3. SURF OUT TO THE KIWICARE NETWORK

On the Internet – at http://www.KIWICARE.com. For info on fashion, shoe care, interviewing skills, resume writing, volunteer service and more. From Kiwi Brands – the shoe care people who care about all the stuff that makes success.

NOW, KEEP STEPPIN'
Speaker discusses Bosnian struggles

By Brandi Thompson
The Daily Pennsylvania

Concluding Islam Awareness Week's four days of cultural festivity, more than 30 students, faculty and community members gathered in Houston Hall Thursday night to hear a lecture by Saffet Catovic, head of the Bosnian Mission in New York. Catovic, who left his job as budget director in a New York City hospital to give his full attention to the Bosnian effort.

Catovic's lecture was born in the United government and migrated to the United States after the war. By 1992, a war began in Bosnia, altering government's efforts. His support the new freedom movements. Catovic has been the counselor for full attention to the Bosnian effort. In 1992, a war began in Bosnia, altering Catovic's efforts. His focus shifted to Bosnian humanitarians.

The purpose of the week was to increase awareness of Islam at the University and throughout the world, to dispel several misconceptions and stereotypes.

Our 17th year of excellence on the campus on

The University of Pennsylvania

• GRE, GMAT, MCAT, & LSAT courses, basic & advanced, for small groups
• Individual SAT, GRE, GMAT, MCAT, & LSAT tutoring

DISCOUNT FOR EARLY MAC REGISTRATION

UNIVERSITY TEST PREPARATION SERVICES

(215) 366-4766 or 366-8378 (CU-C: T-O-S-T)

Big or Small, We Ship It All™

Looking for help with packing and shipping for the holiday season? By noon Monday, all handle your holiday packages with care. Each MBF Center provides expert packing services and complete shipping services. We can help you ship fragile, oversized or overweight items.

Free Pick-up!

3741 Walnut St. • (215) 222-2840
Open Mon. - Fri. 8AM - 8PM • Sat. 9AM - 5PM

BUY ONE GET ONE FREE

ON ALL HEAVYWEIGHT COTTON PENN & WHARTON SWEATSHIRTS (OVER 75 DESIGNS TO CHOOSE FROM)

PLUS, the largest selection of PENN T-shirts, Sweatshirts, & Hats, all at the ABSOLUTE LOWEST PRICES Anywhere! Come See Us First To Save Lots of Money!
Crushing Student Spirit

Safeguard the first battle I genuinely cherished for anyone before this one. It was a game that had to be played and won, not just in front of a few hundred students and parents, but in front of the entire nation. The Ivy League football title on their program, that’s how Paul Odysseus column Crossing the Racial Dinial success had been to have our demands met by the administration to stop this madness. We were here to stand up for those who could not. The administration had to respect our right to speak out against discrimination and injustice.

O

In the section where I used to write, I raged against the administration for not understanding our perspective. It was a struggle to be heard, a struggle to be taken seriously. But now, it feels like a victory. The administration has finally acknowledged our efforts and our voices are being heard.

The response from the administration was swift and decisive. They immediately began to implement changes to ensure that discrimination and injustice would not happen again. I am grateful for their willingness to listen and act.

As I sit here reflecting on this victory, I am reminded of the words of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.: “In the end, we will remember not the words of our enemies, but the silence of our friends.”

We have won a small victory, but we cannot rest on our laurels. There is still much work to be done. Discrimination and injustice still exist in many forms. But for now, we can take pride in our accomplishments and the progress that has been made.

To the Editor,

I am writing in response to the letters to the editor discussing the racial issues on campus. As a member of the black student organization, I wanted to express my thoughts on the matter.

It is true that there are many instances of discrimination and injustice that occur on campus. Some are more visible than others, but they all contribute to a culture of inequality. I believe that it is important for us to speak out against these issues and work towards creating a more inclusive and equitable environment.

I appreciate the response from the administration, but I also believe that more needs to be done. We need to continue to pressure the administration to make lasting changes. This is not something that can be accomplished overnight.

Thank you for listening to our concerns and taking action. We will continue to fight for our rights and for a campus that is free from discrimination.

Yours sincerely,

[Student Name]

Pawing the Way

Charles Ornstein

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Racial Debate Continues

I am writing in response to the letters to the editor discussing the racial issues on campus. As a member of the black student organization, I wanted to express my thoughts on the matter.

It is true that there are many instances of discrimination and injustice that occur on campus. Some are more visible than others, but they all contribute to a culture of inequality. I believe that it is important for us to speak out against these issues and work towards creating a more inclusive and equitable environment.

I appreciate the response from the administration, but I also believe that more needs to be done. We need to continue to pressure the administration to make lasting changes. This is not something that can be accomplished overnight.

Thank you for listening to our concerns and taking action. We will continue to fight for our rights and for a campus that is free from discrimination.

Yours sincerely,

[Student Name]
games matter is entirely different the preseason. Delivering when the result is failing isn't something new. Penn's women's squash team delivered. Three victories in two days, including one against traditional power Trinity, and validated claims that they are indeed capable of playing with anyone in the nation. It was the first time Penn had ever defeated Trinity, and senior Ussa Hunsicker. "I thought we showed good chemistry. As a class we have a great opportunity to see action because of B sprained ankle, her"). said senior Lisa Hanneck.

Although squash titles are determined by the season's end, the result of Elissa Hell's match was the highlight of the weekend. "It's been a long time since we have gotten a "B" victory. I know a feeling (that the meet depended on one match) is a little unfounded," said Jessica DiMauro, one of two quakers who got the victory. It was the first time Penn had won a close 5-4 match over the weekend. "I was the main take that our team has ever gotten," Hanneck said. "The next afternoon, Penn met two more opponents in Hartford. Coon. The first was the host, Trinity, which ranked fourth in the nation last season. The two teams exchanged wins, five-square, until only one match was left. Everything depended upon the result of Elissa Hell's match. She had the game tied at 2, but it fell behind two games to one. She fought back, but the other player gathered in the gallery to watch. Hell clinched herself level at 2-2. "She didn't want to lose," said her teammate, "She had one more thing to prove that she's the best player here!"). "Playing in the fifth position. Helt had nothing to prove. She was the deciding game 3 giving the Quakers a 3-4 victory over Trinity. It was the first time Penn had ever defeated Trinity in women's squash. It was also the first time Penn had ever sent a class 2 match on over a year. "It was the main thing that our team has ever gotten," Hanneck said. It was a few minutes later after the Quakers were back on the court, this time playing waste to the Cardinals of Wesley. "It's huge. Our coach was freaking out," DiMauro said. "I didn't expect them to win the match, but we got it determined by the Henshaw Cup. a tournament at the end of the season. The regular season is meaningful. Penn scored in the final few matches, where a 1-1 record prevented the Quakers from reaching a November high-noon title. The scoring in 3, including a win against a very high caliber. Penn is like Trinity, is a step in the right direction.

"You have to be excellent from the beginning to the end of the season," Hanneck said. "Penn took that message to heart over the weekend."

RUSSIANS

from Back Page

M. Hoops knocks off Russian Select team

"It is one thing to throw around phrases like "This is the nation's" and "troubles of playing with anyone" in the press room. Delivering when the game matters is entirely different. Last weekend, the Penn women's squash team delivered. The team has won three victories in two days, including one against traditional power Trinity, and validated claims that they are indeed capable of playing with anyone in the nation. It was the first time Penn had ever defeated Trinity, and senior Ussa Hunsicker. "I thought we showed good chemistry. As a class we have a great opportunity to see action because of B sprained ankle, her"). said senior Lisa Hanneck.

Although squash titles are determined by the season's end, the result of Elissa Hell's match was the highlight of the weekend. "It's been a long time since we have gotten a "B" victory. I know a feeling (that the meet depended on one match) is a little unfounded," said Jessica DiMauro, one of two quakers who got the victory. It was the first time Penn had won a close 5-4 match over the weekend. "I was the main take that our team has ever gotten," Hanneck said. "The next afternoon, Penn met two more opponents in Hartford. Coon. The first was the host, Trinity, which ranked fourth in the nation last season. The two teams exchanged wins, five-square, until only one match was left. Everything depended upon the result of Elissa Hell's match. She had the game tied at 2, but it fell behind two games to one. She fought back, but the other player gathered in the gallery to watch. Hell clinched herself level at 2-2. "She didn't want to lose," said her teammate, "She had one more thing to prove that she's the best player here!"). "Playing in the fifth position. Helt had nothing to prove. She was the deciding game 3 giving the Quakers a 3-4 victory over Trinity. It was the first time Penn had ever defeated Trinity in women's squash. It was also the first time Penn had ever sent a class 2 match over a year. "It was the main thing that our team has ever gotten," Hanneck said. It was a few minutes later after the Quakers were back on the court, this time playing waste to the Cardinals of Wesley. "It's huge. Our coach was freaking out," DiMauro said. "I didn't expect them to win the match, but we got it determined by the Henshaw Cup. a tournament at the end of the season. The regular season is meaningful. Penn scored in the final few matches, where a 1-1 record prevented the Quakers from reaching a November high-noon title. The scoring in 3, including a win against a very high caliber. Penn is like Trinity, is a step in the right direction.

"You have to be excellent from the beginning to the end of the season," Hanneck said. "Penn took that message to heart over the weekend."

Are you a Native Speaker of German or American English?

We need Native speakers of these two telephone speech studies. You can earn $40 for making two FREE 30-minute phone calls (one to anywhere in the U.S., Canada or Puerto Rico, one to anywhere in the world) in your native language to another native speaker of the same language somewhere inside the U.S., Canada or Puerto Rico.

Are you a Native Speaker of Farsi, Korean, Vietnamese, Mandarin, Tamil, Hindi, Spanish, Igbo or Yoruba?

You can earn $20 for making a FREE 30-minute phone call in your native language to another native speaker of the same language anywhere inside the world in your native language to another native speaker.

Are you a Native Speaker of German or American English?

We need Native speakers of these two telephone speech studies. You can earn $40 for making two FREE 30-minute phone calls (one to anywhere in the U.S., Canada or Puerto Rico, one to anywhere in the world) in your native language to another native speaker of the same language somewhere inside the U.S., Canada or Puerto Rico.

For research and educational purposes, the Linguistic Data Consortium of the UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA is collecting phone conversations in eleven languages.

For More Information Call: 1-800-380-PENN (73666)
Short-term funding provided through December 15

WASHINGTON — Ending a tense six day budget standoff, the Republican con-

_rolled Congress rushed to enact legislation ending a partial shutdown of government yesterday afternoon as the White House announced a compromise that would keep the government open for another month.

"Tomorrow the government will go back to work and now the debate will begin in earnest," President Clinton said, apar-

"I hope the net three or four weeks we will produce a balanced budget with the present on the desk.

The White House and Republicans agreed the bal-annual budget legislation would protect fufiscal 1996, assure Medicare, unemployment, welfare, provide ade-funding for Medicare, education, agriculture, national defense, veterans and the environment.

In a compromise that was key to the agreement, the two sides agreed the Congressional Budget Office will monitor the budget. Legislative staff will monitor deficits, but only after consult-

The president said he believes the agreement is the first step toward a balanced budget. "This is the first step toward a balanced budget, but I believe that we have a long way to go."

WASHINGTON — The Bosnia peace talks will conclude today.

A draft provides for a collective presidency, with

Istvan Tarjanyi, who endorsed Dole two weeks

wouldn't go as far as Perot but said

the White House and other gov-

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan — A suicide bomb attack ripped into the shrine of a sufi saint yesterday, killing 19 people and wounding 59 others in a bomb rocks l'j»vptian Embassj

Aseff All said on national television.

Most of the dead were Pakistani security workers who may have bladed his way through the gate and exiled his pickup

A draft provides for a collective presidency, with

IAIAN TON, Ohio       The Bosnia peace talks will end today.

Faded Solidarity hero Lech Kwasniewski won 31.3 percent of the vote during his five year term, looked dour as he voted.

NASHUA, N.H. — Even in victory, there was cause for Bob Dole to worry about his own future in the Republican primary race.

The president was expected to sign the wasn't very ran undergo a straw poll in Orlando, Saturday. The poll included the nine candidates that debated on CNN Friday night.

Senators Minority Leader Thomas Daschle, D, D., and the White House chief of staff, Leon Panetta, said for the moment they will stick with the White House as the go-to family. "It preserves all of our options," Daschle said.

Said Dole in a statement carried on local radio this morning, "We have achieved a significant milestone in our seven months of discussion and debate."

The president said the agreement is the first step toward a balanced budget, but conceded that it was a "stubby"

"I'll call it a 'starkey attack.'"

The president said the agreement is the first step toward a balanced budget, but conceded that it was a "stubby"

The Second/Innuol

First Lady's decisions, the deal reflected their sevperemptorily. It was only after an entire side off the turreted embassy said

Cord to end a l:; war month war in the former Yubuildings,

other

Muslim

enclaves seized by the S

state

WarrenChristophei met again with Serbian spokesman Nicholas Burns said as Secretary Of

I   S officials

Burns said   it could go either way political life against a

Kx-Communisl overcomes Walesa during his five year term, looked dour as he during his five year term, looked dour as he victory

proposed budget legislation would "protect fu-

House and Bepublicans agreed the bal-

the government and private economi eliminates deficits, but only after consult-with the White House and other go-

He said that his victory margin was about as low as he would have preferred when he launched his campaign in June.

The president said the agreement is the first step toward a balanced budget, but conceded that it was a "stubby"

But as the campaign moved

And some voters who broke from the some register to vote in local races, possibly as a vote for Bob Dole and the Republican ticket.

He acknowledged that Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, R, Kans., is leading the GOP pack, having won a "whopper of a win" in Florida on Tuesday.

The president was expected to sign the will expire again December 15, the dead line for the temporary funding accord

funding for Medicaid education, the envi-

neantional defense,

For information please contact:

short-term funding provided through December 15

WASHINGTON — Ending a tense six day budget standoff, the Republican con-

rolled Congress rushed to enact legislation ending a partial shutdown of government yesterday afternoon as the White House announced a compromise that would keep the government open for another month.

"Tomorrow the government will go back to work and now the debate will begin in earnest," President Clinton said, appar-

Today

Cloudy with occasional sunshine. High 52.

Tomorrow

Cloudy and breezy with afternoon showers. High 57.

International

Car bomb rocks Egyptian Embassy

Ahmed was later killed, hospital of Said

said the I

Army neighbors.

I

in recent killings.

Several of the powerful blast that ripped an entire side off the turreted embassy said there were two explosions. They occurred at about 9:30 a.m. when the embassy was in full operation Sunday is a regular working day m embassy was In hill operation Sunday is a major step forward in the peace process, and a draft provides for a collective presidency, with

Istvan Tarjanyi, who endorsed Dole two weeks

wouldn't go as far as Perot but said
Macik and Rouse lead way to victory

By Michael Haasday

Senior Mike Macik and Paul Rouse could help control how the senior class, the most inexperienced unit in the country, was able to avenge its previous season's 21-0 loss to the

Ivy League powerhouse.

On the Sidelines

Macik and Rouse, each with more than 10 receiving yards for the day, starred in the 24-10 Penn victory. "This was a big one and it was great to get it like this," said the all American Macik, who came into the game 201 yards short of the

Penn record for receiving yardage, caught his 21st career touchdown pass with 7:59 left in the first half and ended the day with a storied career with 7

touchdowns.

Quakers took control as soon as the opening kickoff by Penn's Levitt tumbled in the end zone at the 2-yard line, giving Penn the opening possession. "I'm really proud of everything this team has accomplished," said Macik. "It's a great feeling." Penn coach Al" Joyce added, "I wouldn't have put it any other way. It was a great win for the rest of my life."

Penn kicker Jeremiah Greathease breaks the Ivy League record for field goals in a season with his 11th of the year Saturday.

Seniors did Penn proud even without a title

GOLSTEIN Penn Back Page

Penn kicker Jeremiah Greathease breaks the Ivy League record for field goals in a season with his 11th of the year Saturday.

When pressed to name his favorite catch from the game, the 18-year-old senior said: "It was definitely the one in the end zone at the 2-yard line.

Macik and Rouse lead way to victory

By Michael Haasday

Senior Mike Macik and Paul Rouse could help control how the senior class, the most inexperienced unit in the country, was able to avenge its previous season's 21-0 loss to the

Ivy League powerhouse.

On the Sidelines

Macik and Rouse, each with more than 10 receiving yards for the day, starred in the 24-10 Penn victory. "This was a big one and it was great to get it like this," said the all American Macik, who came into the game 201 yards short of the

Penn record for receiving yardage, caught his 21st career touchdown pass with 7:59 left in the first half and ended the day with a storied career with 7

touchdowns.

Quakers took control as soon as the opening kickoff by Penn's Levitt tumbled in the end zone at the 2-yard line, giving Penn the opening possession. "I'm really proud of everything this team has accomplished," said Macik. "It's a great feeling." Penn coach Al" Joyce added, "I wouldn't have put it any other way. It was a great win for the rest of my life."

Penn kicker Jeremiah Greathease breaks the Ivy League record for field goals in a season with his 11th of the year Saturday.

Seniors did Penn proud even without a title

GOLSTEIN Penn Back Page

When pressed to name his favorite catch from the game, the 18-year-old senior said: "It was definitely the one in the end zone at the 2-yard line.

Macik and Rouse lead way to victory

By Michael Haasday

Senior Mike Macik and Paul Rouse could help control how the senior class, the most inexperienced unit in the country, was able to avenge its previous season's 21-0 loss to the

Ivy League powerhouse.

On the Sidelines

Macik and Rouse, each with more than 10 receiving yards for the day, starred in the 24-10 Penn victory. "This was a big one and it was great to get it like this," said the all American Macik, who came into the game 201 yards short of the

Penn record for receiving yardage, caught his 21st career touchdown pass with 7:59 left in the first half and ended the day with a storied career with 7

touchdowns.

Quakers took control as soon as the opening kickoff by Penn's Levitt tumbled in the end zone at the 2-yard line, giving Penn the opening possession. "I'm really proud of everything this team has accomplished," said Macik. "It's a great feeling." Penn coach Al" Joyce added, "I wouldn't have put it any other way. It was a great win for the rest of my life."

Penn kicker Jeremiah Greathease breaks the Ivy League record for field goals in a season with his 11th of the year Saturday.

Seniors did Penn proud even without a title

GOLSTEIN Penn Back Page

When pressed to name his favorite catch from the game, the 18-year-old senior said: "It was definitely the one in the end zone at the 2-yard line.
Cowboys whip Raiders; Chiefs, Broncos, Bills score dramatic wins

The Dallas Cowboys completed a three-touchdown performance by Michael Irvin as they continued their domination of the NFC, surviving a late Oakland rally to remain 9-0. From their loss to the San Francisco 49ers on Oct. 8, the Cowboys have won seven straight, including 10-3 over the Philadelphia Eagles yesterday. The Eagles (8-4) — with seven games to play and behind the Giants (10-2) by four losses in the division — have now seen its first starting quarterback, John Fassel, lose his starting job.

Harriett, medium. tiles over the New York Giants, this week's thrashing by NFC rival San Francisco provided yet more proof of the Dallas Cowboys' tamed the best record in the NFL.

Pittsburgh quarterback Kordell Stewart had a 150-yard game against the Giants, who were without their top two receivers. Stewart had two touchdowns with the seventh knock down, a 20-yard lob to his first play, in their 10-3 loss to the Giants. The Giants, trailing 21-7 with 3:34 left in the game, had two huge turnovers, including one by running back Natrone Means, moved into field position and with less than a minute left to play, they had first down on the Giants 1-yard line. But they couldn't get in for the winning touchdown in 15-14 loss.

The Giants, trailing 21-7 with 3:34 left in the game, had two huge turnovers, including one by running back Natrone Means, moved into field position and with less than a minute left to play, they had first down on the Giants 1-yard line. But they couldn't get in for the winning touchdown in 15-14 loss.

Harmon had two The Giants Wi...
Penn defensive end Ron Heller celebrates a sack of Cornell quarterback Steve Joyce. It was an emotional day for Heller and the rest of the Penn defense as they turned the entire Ivy League up a notch with a 21-10 win over the Big Red in Princeton. The victory gave the Quakers control of the Ivy League for the first time since 1991.

The game was marked by a的一切 highlight of the Quakers defense, as Heller and his fellow linemen forced four turnovers and held Cornell to just 102 yards of offense. Heller's big play was just one of many as the Quakers dominated the Big Red in every phase of the game.

The win was a testament to the hard work and dedication of the entire Penn football team, as they prepared for the final game of the season against Dartmouth. The Quakers knew that they needed to win in order to secure the Ivy League title, and they delivered in a big way.

The game was filled with big plays and intense moments, as the Quakers battled back from a 10-0 deficit to take control of the game. The defense was exceptional, forcing three turnovers and limiting Cornell to just three first downs. Heller and his fellow linemen were instrumental in this effort, as they constantly put pressure on Cornell quarterback Steve Joyce.

Overall, it was an impressive performance by the Quakers, as they showed that they are a team on the rise. The win was especially sweet for Heller, who had been working hard and waiting for his big moment. He was finally able to make the most of his opportunity, and it paid off in a big way.

The Quakers will now turn their attention to Dartmouth, as they look to secure the Ivy League title and cap off a historic season. The team is confident that they can do so, and they are looking forward to the challenge that awaits them.

Despite the high expectations, the Quakers remain humble and focused on their goals. They know that they have a lot of work to do, but they are confident that they have the talent and the willpower to get the job done.

The future looks bright for the Quakers, as they continue to build on their success. With Heller and his fellow linemen leading the way, the team is poised for a big season in 2023.