Greek leaders praise 21st century plan

The Greek chapter presidents voted to extend the preliminary draft of the 21st Century Report, which will be released to students and faculty at the University. The plan, which was devised by leaders of the Bicultural InterGreek Fraternity and Sorority Affairs, will implement changes in programming for the three umbrella organizations and is scheduled to be put in effect by the fall. The Sigma Pi Sigma President, Kuan Bajaj, said, "I believe the plan can be reformed if it is put in place, but it needs to be implemented together." Page 1

Public Safety Managing Director Thomas Seamon's new master plan recommends building a comprehensive strategy for improving the quality of life on campus. The plan, which will be released today, is divided into sections dealing with police, security, community and government. Seamon said yesterday it will be implemented over the next three to five years. Page 4

"We are recommending a proposal in the way of a "plan that is stronger and give it a better shape,"" she said.

The plan calls for an all-FPC and Panhellenic brother to select a faculty advisor from November 1 by 1996, and encourage further student faculty involvement on the Committee. IFC President Josh Gettschman, an Alpha Epsilon Pi brother, said he has received positive feedback from University faculty and administration. He said he believes that Penn is "looking for student interaction with faculty members." Page 5

Wharton holds forum on Indian economy

The mysteries and beauty of India took on a different form Friday as Wharton students learned firsthand the dynamic nature of India, including its economic changes, political trends, and investment opportunities.

Nearly 360 executives, professors, and students gathered in Philadelphia to learn about the current and future status of India. The symposium was organized by second-year Wharton student Ashwin Baigaj, who chaired the conference, and the Wharton School of Business professors in India, including top company executives, Indian graduates, and Wharton business professors.

The forum, entitled India, Opportunity, was held atop the Bellevue in Center City, and the organizers hoped to create an awareness of India as a thriving economy.

According to second-year Wharton student Mukund Krishnaswami, the conference serves as a bridge between America and India, and the event concludes in 1991 has spurred tremendous growth in the Indian economy.

He urged the audience to look at India through the eyes of a historian. "What happened in India in the '90s is the equivalent of what happened in the U.S. in the '70s," he said. "India is an emerging economy that is not to be ignored."

Nearly 360 executives, professors, students, and members of the press attended the day-long conference.

The conference took a humorous tone as she discussed India's current situation and the need for its continual growth in the future. She also noted that political changes must be made to reduce India's deficit and spending on economical implications.

Speakers also complimented the students in the initiative they had taken to promote India.

"I really think this is a major symposium event that a lot of interest has been generated on India at Wharton," said Management Professor Atman Singh after the conference closed. Students who attended said they were especially impressed by the event's organizers and efforts.

"The conference was amazingly well organized," Engineering senior Kishore Reddy noted.

Wharton junior Ashwin Baigaj, who helped to organize the conference, said it was a success. "I am confident that it has proved to the people in Wharton and in the business community that India is an exciting opportunity," Badinhal said.

Comprehensive new security plan lacks specific details

The department has no plans to expand its current facilities, while Seaman has often promised to seek student input in evaluating the plan. He neglected to say which students would be involved in the process, or through which organizational means he would solicit input. Nor does the plan specify who, besides Seaman, will be in the committees responsible for implementing the plan.

One proposal likely to be controversial is the department's oft-stated desire to upgrade its weaponry to semi-automatic handguns. But in light of the fact that almost every police department in the country is using semi-automatic weapons, the proposal seems justified.

Additionally, while University Police Captain John Richardson points out that many of the proposals would require a great deal of planning and when Public Safety might do so, there is nothing financially out of the ordinary at the new plan. It makes a strong counterargument to those who say that renovating a pre-existing building would be adequately.

Nonetheless, many of the plan's suggestions would be implemented and improvements made on campus and overall quality of life issues. The desire to upgrade its weaponry to semi-automatic weapons, the proposal seems justified.

Finally, while Seaman has often mentioned the importance of changing student perceptions of the department, neither he nor the Public Safety department has no plans to expand its coverage. This fact is definitely not lost on Seaman.

"Some things may not be practicable financially," he said. "Payment will definitely have a great impact on the timing and scope of what we implement.

But there is nothing financially outsourced at the new plan. It makes a strong counterargument to those who argue that renovating a pre-existing building would be adequate. the new Public Safety facility which is a priority of his department's plan.

Seamon said; the plan also establishes the infra-structure to technical infrastructure as an improved alarm and security systems, limited use of closed-circuit television and new, and upgrading the plan. The plan also proposes to establish a protocol for alerting the campus, as well as a comprehensive security plan to be agreed upon to determine what more has to be done for the buildings. Seamon added that he would like to see a University only using one campus-wide security provider, and that the plan would allow each department to secure their own needs. Currently, individual schools have contracts with different companies.

In the case of eating negative body images, encouraging women to "think that your body thought when it happens," she explained that negative images are a "very large component of the negative body images," encouraging women to "think about what your body thought when it happens" and "apologize for yourself." Hirschmann added that we would not speak to their worst enemy, and that the plan to avoid these problems is being developed by women, with women taking a "driver of the plan" role.

Gays discuss ‘coming out’ to parents

The decision to reveal one's homophobia to a parent can be a very trying time in the life of a gay or lesbian student. According to members of PFLAG, bisexuality, and though it took some time, they have grown to accept him for who he is.

Seamon released a campus security plan on Sunday night's intimate discussion, which was not totally closed to the idea of accepting a change in the University. "The plan will be reviewed and re-evaluated every year to determine what is working and what to change," Seamon said afterword that she found the speech "very, very appropriate to this campus."
The future of student government depends on your vote. Cast a blank ballot.

It's that time of year again — the snow's melted, breezes are chilly and it's spawning from the ground anew, in the blank ballot. vote: students dissatisfied with the way the system works, no. 1, would alter only one part of the ballot. And the resolution, known as "No. 1," introduced constitutional referenda and a resolution designating the result of student referenda to remove all that's wrong with the Undergraduate Assembly. Some things are new. This year's referenda don't have fancy names like "A" and "B," nor do they rate 80 tickets to the prom.

But the future of student government depends on your vote.
Crystal incenses readers again

While reading Don Crystal's column ("Palestinian heritage"); 05.320. Voting tie for inx wrong

In election, one of the more powerful tools of voting is a ballot. One might abstain from voting because one is un- aware of the issues or candidates being debated. This is because one might disagree with the entire system, or simply because none of the alternatives seem advantageous. In any case, it is a student's own decision whether to vote or to abstain. The right to vote should also be m a student's own decision on who to vote for.

Therefore, it is alarming that during next week's Undergraduate Assembly elections, those who vote will exclusively decide to support the pro-Bill event ("Billy Joel raffle combined with Undergraduate Assembly elections," 04.21.96). This is a serious flaw in arguments he presented against Palestinian claims to land in the Middle East. It is obviously Crystal who is in the "hate on the intellectual integrity of the Ivy League," not his definition.

When the British push for the State of Israel and its establishment in 1948 most likely led the Palestinian angered and heretofore. Though this is so, we should not declare the terrorist acts recently perpetrated by the state leading up to the current situation is necessary if we hope to demonstrate the problem with this, in stead of simply naming down to the same level as terrorism. Crystal denounces this as nothing more than a "campaigning trick," but what about the right to vote? Should there be a debate if students must spend their money to enter a certain school? Should there be a debate if students must spend their money to enter a certain school? Should there be a debate if students must spend their money to enter a certain school?

AFL-CIO endorses Clinton

WASHINGTON - The AFL-CIO endorsed President Clinton for re-election yesterday and increased the dues it charges member unions to fund a $35 million campaign to support the Democratic ticket.

The union group, which represents 13 million workers, also endorsed Sen. Daniel Moynihan, D-N.Y., who is running against Republican Sen. Robert Dole in the Senate race.

The union's endorsement was a key victory for Clinton, who has been struggling to gain support from organized labor in the run-up to the November election.

Greek Twenty-First-Century Preliminary Report

A Plan for an "Ivy League Greek System"

Greek Community

Greek life is a long and prosperous history at the University. The fraternity/sorority experience has been an integral part of both Pennsylvania students' lives and the university's for over one hundred and fifty years and it has an essential role in the development of the University. As the University moves into the next millennium, this plan seeks to meet the demands of both history and progress.

This report delineates the Greek Life for the 21st century. It outlines a specific set of directions in which Greek life will move in the next century. More specifically, it describes the academic and community goals that the Greek system will aim to achieve as it evolves through the 21st century.

In formulating this report, the executive boards of the three Greek umbrella organizations worked collaboratively to address the members of their constituencies and the University. The preliminary report represents the first step in the planning of an "Ivy League Greek System" and as such, it is only a work in progress as the coming months, we will absorb the feedback from various branches of the University - to develop a final product that represents a unified vision in line with the future of the University.

We welcome your comments, and ask that you be sent to the Greek Twenty-One Planning Committee at greek21@pobox.upenn.edu or expressed at one of the "Greek Twenty-One Meetings" scheduled for the coming weeks.

and established a thorough set of deadlines throughout the year. Pennsylvania recognizes that enforcement is a key element of the new chapter program and has established a detailed and comprehensive system of enforcement and sanctions to expedite and ensure the success of this plan.

Implementation

In December 1995, the University Panhellenic Council at the University of Pennsylvania recognizes that enforcement is a key element of the new chapter program and has established a detailed and comprehensive system of enforcement and sanctions to expedite and ensure the success of this plan.

II. Enforcement

A. The Enforcement Committee

1. The IFC Executive Board and chapter presidents recognize the importance of deadline enforcement and sanctions. The enforcement plan calls for a thorough and detailed implementation of all the procedures outlined in the Creek plan for the 21st Century and will be achieved through a detailed and comprehensive system of enforcement and sanctions.

A. Specific Deadlines

1. To ensure the implementation of the guidelines described above, specific deadlines have been established. The IFC has outlined a host of specific deadlines. The IFC Executive Board and chapter presidents will work with the University to ensure that all deadlines are met.

B. Documentation

1. The IFC Executive Board and chapter presidents recognize the importance of record keeping and documentation. The enforcement plan calls for a thorough and comprehensive system of documentation to ensure that all deadlines are met.

C. Specific Sanctions

1. In the case of non-compliance with the guidelines described above, specific sanctions have been established. The enforcement plan calls for a thorough and comprehensive system of sanctions to ensure that all deadlines are met.

III. New Member Education

A. Overview

Historical

Affirmative action and separatism began their expansion throughout the latter half of the twentieth century. In the beginning of the nineteenth century, minorities were not given the same opportunities as their white counterparts. The beginning of the twentieth century saw the beginning of a process of desegregation. On many campuses, the need for support became an increasing one. As the founder of one of the most influential African American intercollegiate fraternities, I would suggest that our fraternity has come a long way. The fraternity's mission, which has been to create a strong and supportive environment for all students, is one that continues to be relevant today. Today, our fraternity is dedicated to the pursuit of excellence, community service, and the pursuit of higher education. The BICG has been a part of the University of Pennsylvania's rich history, and we are committed to continuing this legacy. Through our work, we aim to continue to serve the community.

III. Undergraduate Involvement

A. The Panhellenic Council will encourage members to be active in the on-campus community and between the Panhellenic membership and between the Greek system and the University. This involves attending meetings, participating in events, and engaging in activities that promote the interests of the Panhellenic Council.

B. Panhellenic and sororities of the Panhellenic Council will organize at least one social event per semester.

C. Panhellenic will continue to provide social events at the University of Pennsylvania in order to promote unity and cooperation among all Greek organizations.

III. Extracurricular Activities

Panhellenic members will be strongly encouraged to participate in extracurricular activities. These activities may include, but are not limited to, service organizations, professional organizations, and student government. This involvement will provide opportunities for students to develop their skills and interests.

I. Communications

A. The Panhellenic Council will continue to update all websites. Links will be updated to include all events and information about upcoming activities.

B. Panhellenic will increase the number of meetings in order to better communicate with members and the University.

C. Panhellenic will establish a system that will ensure the effective and efficient exchange of information.

D. The Panhellenic newsletter will be posted on the Internet.

II. Academics

A. The Panhellenic homepage will provide links to all academic resources and information.

B. Each website will include updates of all academic events and activities.

III. Security

A. Panhellenic will develop a comprehensive security plan for all Greek organizations. This plan will include steps to ensure the safety and security of all members.

IV. Programming

A. The Panhellenic homepage will provide information and updates on all programming.

B. Programming will involve the development of a comprehensive programming plan for all Panhellenic organizations.

C. Programming will include a variety of activities, such as educational programs, cultural events, and social events.

III. Cultural Sensitivity Programming

A. The Panhellenic Council is committed to diversity and inclusion in all aspects of programming. This includes ensuring that all events and activities are inclusive and that all members feel welcome.

B. Panhellenic will work with other Student Government organizations, the Office of Diversity and Inclusion, and the University to promote a culture of diversity and inclusion.

III. Religious Acceptance

A. Panhellenic will continue to encourage all Panhellenic organizations to be open to individuals of all religions.

B. Panhellenic will work with other Student Government organizations, the Office of Diversity and Inclusion, and the University to promote a culture of religious acceptance.

DENVER — Gov. Roy Romer vetoed a bill banning same-sex marriages Tuesday, saying such unions may deserve legal recognition.

"We cannot prohibit or ban these relationships," Romer said. "It is quite another to believe, as I do, that marriage is the union of a man and a woman, and we shouldn’t use our law to attempt to do so," he said.

The bill would have mandated that counties refuse to issue marriage licenses to same-sex couples. Opponents said the bill was introduced in response to a court case in Hawaii of bowing to political pressure. But Romer said his group will consider bringing the issue to the electorate, he said. He is in the pocket of pro-homosexual interests and is attempting to undermine the constitution," Espinosa said.

7. Steven Schorr
(UC #14)
As treasurer of the UA during this past year, I voted with many in other student organizations. I wanted to do more than just write checks. We have worked with the administration and alumni to improve the UA's ability to initiate projects, respond to student concerns and represent them to the administration. So, Please Vote!, I organized UA members to go door-to-door and hear student feedback. I and I have worked to amend the Judicial Charter so that students can get a fair hearing. If I'm elected to the UA and the UC, I will continue to help change the UA for the better by voicing the views of the majority of students who might not otherwise be heard.

BE SURE WITH STEVE SCHORR

8. Mike Steib
A few weeks ago, the DP claimed that most university students don't have that much to say. This is true for one simple reason: most people on this campus don't have a problem with the way I, 21Y, I'm a light-hearted, fun-loving, gregarious, I know one person you should know. I'm a C.A. student from New Jersey (you get the idea). I'm品, I got the TV's working in Stouffer. In short, I'm a man with a plan. For $30,000 a year, do you think there should be a room to get that also? I'm a student who spent a lot of time into them!)

Do you think we should have a burglar alarm? I have absolutely no experience whatsoever, which should automatically make me more qualified than all those stuffy, conservative politicians.

9. Meredith Hertz
(UC #10)
I want a position on the UC and the UA as a way to further the work I have been doing since last year. As UA liaison to College Dean, I address student concerns and have worked on such projects as the Tenure Process, TA fluency and the Judicial Charter. I know how to be diplomatic, to approach faculty and administrators, so I am asking for your vote on March 26 and 27. So remember, it's quite difficult to be asked to vote for UA representatives. If elected, I will ensure that student funds are spent appropriately, and that the Greek system is supported. I will also lower the drinking age to 18, and promise no new taxes.

10. Courtney Fine
(UC #19)
I叫做VOTE FOR COURTNEY FINE, FOR THE CAMPUS AND THE UNIVERSITY Council Elections Spring 1996

11. Mark Sagat
(UC #5)
Hi, My name is Mark Sagat and I want to be your servant again. I urge you to base your vote on ratings andthings that students feel. We have worked with the administration and alumni to improve the UA's ability to initiate projects, respond to student concerns and represent them to the administration. So, Please Vote!, I organized UA members to go door-to-door and hear student feedback. I have had the opportunity to work with the Greek system, and understand its needs. Based on my experience on committees and focus groups, I will continue to work in the best interests of students. Vote SAGAT.

12. Noah Bilenker
(UC #6)
As a member of the Undergraduate Assembly this past year, I learned much in my role as floor writer and clergyperson. I am well versed on committees, meeting with university officials, and working with student safety. I am prepared for many committees and focus groups. I have discussed concerns with officials in departments ranging from recreation to the dining services. I have taken active roles in the workings of the student government, and standing where in group venue. For hard work and genuine interest in student concerns, vote Noah Bilenker.

13. Julie Minder
(UC #11)
In a university this large, communication becomes critical. The student body and the administration is often difficult to establish. The UA was created to give you the opportunity to provide a voice for the majority of the undergraduate students. In the recent DP poll indicated that the majority of the undergraduates don't know what the UA is or have no interest in it. I want to make the UA more accessible to the student body because the UA cannot accurately represent the undergraduate student body and is not interested in it. Rather than such as the new judicial charter, efforts of all students, so it is imperative that the student body be involved. The only way this can be achieved is by making the UA more approachable to the student body. The UA is one of the key resources to be voted on.

14. Olivia Troye
(UC #2)
My name is Olivia Troye. I would need your vote. I would like to represent you on the UC. As a member of the United Alumni Council, I have met a diverse number of people which allow me to voice as many student opinions and allow them to make more representation in student governance. I would also give you the opportunity to work with administrators, so I am a safety net for the campus. I am just one person, but I will continue to take an active role in the workings of the student government.

You should vote for me because I know how to do the job. I was Student Government President of my high school. However, unlike the other candidates around you, I have a background in the bureaucratic galaxy that is today UA. I am trained to the heart of the matter and solve the problem. Thank you.
18. Larry Kamin
(UC #18)
From the Judicial Charter to the Penn-Quad, from academic to faculty to the UA, I'm playing as increasingly important role on campus, and I hope to help the UA be the voice of the student body.

Also, I feel that the UA needs to do more to promote student unity and interaction on campus. And this begins with listening, and with understanding students' concerns and opinions.

Wow, if I'm going to be in the DP on all, I hope my picture doesn't look too goofy. Anyways, I really should stop thinking whether things pop into my head, because people might stop taking me seriously.

If you would like to know more about my views and ideas for student government, feel free to email me at @Schoolhouse.com. Thank you.

19. Wendy Mongillo
(UC #17)

Hi. I'm Wendy Mongillo and I am running for the UA/UC. I'm a sophomore in the college and a current UA member. In the past year, the UA has worked hard to make students more aware and involved in their student government. I personally worked on the residential living committee which actively pursues students' opinions about on and off-campus living in order to obtain a clearer view of what students want and to advocate their concerns. If re-elected, I would like to expand the effort to all aspects of student life. Using an open mind and my past year as a base, I will help advocate students' views on the UA and accomplish what the students want to see done by their government. I would appreciate your support. Vote for me, Wendy Mongillo for the UA/UC.

20. Jess McGrath

As News Director of UTV13, I, JESS McGRATH, have had extensive exposure to the political world at Penn. Even though I am technically an "outsider", as I have no prior political experience, I feel this tenure is something one must practice and earn. I follow the philosophy set by an ancient Chinese Philosopher, Lao Tzu, when he said, "The strong and unified voice in dealing with the administration is something one must practice and earn." I believe that the UA should represent the Engineering School, and to work on issues that dealt with SEAS and its students. This will also be my focus for next year as well.

My name is Chris Hyzer, and I would like to represent SEAS on the UA again. Next year, I will be continuing my current projects, and expanding on my base of experience. As a first-year as a UA member, I want to be a representative for the Engineering School, and to work on issues that dealt with SEAS and its students. I will also be my focus for next year as well. I started out this UA term with the idea of having a newsgroup for the students interested in working with Dean Farrington, to whom I am the liaison from the Undergraduate Council. I am running for a position in the Undergraduate Assembly of SEAS this year. I am running for a position in the Undergraduate Assembly of SEAS this year.

21. Joel Rockoff
(UC #4)
Improving students' lives is what the UA stands for. Telling or thinking about how to do it is not the goal, acting on it is. Look at a few examples. Like getting a mailbox in Street, something that was on the back burner. Or getting a new weightroom in Multiversity Gymnasium, a place where no one wants to work out on. Or, just being there for all of you, willing to talk and listen. It is a hard road that we students are not isolated in front of seemingly insurmountable tasks, stick to it by being the one to reach them. Whether it's dealing with University Policy or Residential Maintenance, I look at all of you, working with administrators and students to achieve the most effective solution to any problem. Rock the Vote, Penn. Vote for Joel Rockoff. And prepare for change.

23. Angie Hsu
At the end of my freshman year quickly approaches. I find myself thinking about future at this university. In my next three years at Penn, I hope to get more involved in the community. I want to be a part of the UA because it would allow me to take action in University issues and events. I feel that Penn is growing stronger every year, but still has share of problems. Like the lack of problem accommodation. I find that as a student and represent the Engineering School, and to work on issues that dealt with SEAS and its students. This will also be my focus for next year as well. My name is Peter Wright, I am a leader, communicator, and good listener. I have had several leadership positions throughout my life including President of my high school, and President of the Youth Court Association, and much time trying to make Penn a fun place.

This week's 64 entrants in the DP/Smoke's Sweet Sixteen contest is down to the Final Four. Those still alive: Western Penn State, Drexel, and Penn State. In addition, Penn's men's basketball administration have confirmed that Bill Donnelly, Penn's head coach, will be in attendance at the final three games.

Penn Athletic Director Steve Bilsky said "That group could almost make the Hall of Fame set of going back to the 1800s, we don't have a Hall of Fame."

To be considered for the Hall of Fame, a player or coach must have graduated at least 10 years ago and a former Penn player or coach must have earned a minimum of five years at Penn.

The inaugural class will be inducted on April 13 during a black tie dinner at the Franklin Wyndham Penn Hotel.

"As great a historical record Penn athletics has going back to the 1800s, we don't have a Hall of Fame," Penn Athletic Director Steve Bilsky said. "It's something that's long overdue."

Penn Baseball and Softball

Penn's baseball and softball teams are off to solid starts in the 1996 season. The baseball team leads the Ivy League in hitting and the softball team has the best record in the league.

The baseball team is currently 8-2 and the softball team is 10-1. Both teams are looking to build on their early season success and continue their strong performances throughout the rest of the season.

Penn is a member of the Ivy League and competes against other top college programs in the region. The baseball and softball programs have a rich history of success and are always looking to compete at the highest level.

The Daily Pennsylvanian is the student newspaper of the University of Pennsylvania and provides coverage of all University of Pennsylvania sports and other campus news.

Hextall shuts out Whalers in Flyers win

PHILADELPHIA — The Flyers had no answer for their second straight shutout and fourth of the season, as John LeClair and Curtis Ramirez made 36 saves to lead the Flyers to a 3-0 win over the Whalers.

The Whalers, which have scored only 13 times in their last three games, were held to two shots on goal in the first period and were outshot 22-8 in the game. The Flyers, who won their third straight game, have scored 15 goals in their last three games.

Bartow resigns as UAB coach

BAHAMAS — Bartow has resigned as the coach of the Bahamas national team after six years at the helm.

Bartow, who led the Bahamas to three Central American and Caribbean Games gold medals, said his departure is due to personal reasons.

Spurs 95, Nets 86

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — The San An- tonio Spurs overcame fatigue and a cold-shooting fourth quarter to clinch their fourth game in a row with a 108-88 victory over the New York Nets.

The Spurs shot just 47.1% in the fourth quarter but made 16 three-point shots. Despite missing 15 three-pointers, the Spurs were able to pull away from the Nets in the final minutes of the game.

The inaugural class of the Penn Athletic Hall of Fame includes Olympic gold medalists, NFL Hall of Famers and some of the greatest collegiate athletes of all time.

"This is such an outstanding group that one isn't more impressive than another," said Steve Bilsky, Penn Athletic Director.

After running up a 4-3 record before spring break and splitting its four matches during spring break trip to Puerto Rico, the Penn men's home team looks to add two more victories this afternoon as against St. Joseph's and Washington College.

The floor routine, the final event of the meet, proved to be the show with a near flawless performance, resulting in a team score of 45.625.

The bottom of the Quakers' lineup also helped key the upset.

The Syracuse naught led to the putting of the game away with a 1-0 victory against the Orange, to make it 4-0. The Quakers' improved play has been matched off the court.

The overall record of the Quakers' and the Orange is 11-0-1.

Afanassiev's Surprise Win

Afanassiev was highly favored to win the match, but was upset by Quakers' coach Cissie Leary. In the third set, Afanassiev fell behind 4-1 and was forced to come from behind to win the match 7-6, 6-7, 6-4.

The floor routine, the final event of the meet, proved to be the show with a near flawless performance, resulting in a team score of 45.625.

It became obvious that anybody getting into this Inaugural class had to have an athletic impact well beyond just being an all league player.'

"And those are just the nominees that came to our attention," Penn Athletic Director Bob Hyde said. "There are thousands of people who are eligible but a handful of people who have created such an impression that the nominations could actually be made.

When you look at the list, you have to be impressed with the pure athletic excellence.
