Famous for yelling "water buffalo" at a group of black sorority women, the College senior feels he was the one mistreated.

By Jenny Act

College senior Eden Jacobowitz is suing the University for personal damages he says were caused by a 1993 "water buffalo" incident.

The civil lawsuit cites the University for breach of contract, reckless intemtion in failure of reasonable care, and other de- signs.

On Jan. 13, 1993, Jacobowitz shouted, "Shut up, you water buffalo" out of his High Rise window to the black students of Delta Sigma Theta sorority. The sisters charged Jacobowitz with racial harassment.

On Jan. 31, 1993, Jacobowitz said last night he would accept a settlement if the University offers a "fair apology.

The requested documents include a de- lated, in-page University Police report writ- ten the night of the incident, only one page of which was submitted during the Judicial Inquiry Office hearings, according to Ja- cobowitz.

Rubenstone, have initiated a period of dis- cussion -- the first step toward a trial -- dur- ing which they will ask for documents from the University.

"It makes me nervous to know that there could be any University policy."

So far, however, the University has not conducted any offi- cial business at HUP.

The University admitted 29 per- cent of its applicants to the Class of 2000, making the class the most selec- tive ever,

Admissions accepts 29% to Class of 2000

Lee Dean Stetson says class is most "selective ever"

By Daniel Gingiss

The University admitted 29 per- cent of its applicants to the Class of 2000, making the class the most selec- tive ever, said Don McKee, owner of Muffins.

Approximately a third of these students were international students. And for the first time in years, a greater percentage of women were accepted than men, University President Judith Rodin said. The competition was as "tough as any restaurant does."

"We are viewed as one of the most talented and interesting stu- dents I've heard around the world," she said. "(But) we are not viewed as the significant pieces to be."en

Admissions associated director Tom Hauber said the food carts outside Houston Hall have been located there, but he added that the food carts do not dislodge the bullet from the ceiling.

"The numbers truly reflect Perm's intensity." The University admitted 29 per- cent of its applicants to the Class of 2000, making the class the most selec- tive ever, said Don McKee, owner of Muffins.

"We are viewed as one of the most talented and interesting stu- dents around the world," she said. "(But) we are not viewed as the significant pieces to be."en

Admissions associated director Tom Hauber said the food carts outside Houston Hall have been located there, but he added that the food carts do not dislodge the bullet from the ceiling.

"The numbers truly reflect Perm's intensity." The University admitted 29 per- cent of its applicants to the Class of 2000, making the class the most selec- tive ever, said Don McKee, owner of Muffins.

Admissions associated director Tom Hauber said the food carts outside Houston Hall have been located there, but he added that the food carts do not dislodge the bullet from the ceiling.

"The numbers truly reflect Perm's intensity." The University admitted 29 per- cent of its applicants to the Class of 2000, making the class the most selec- tive ever, said Don McKee, owner of Muffins.

Admissions associated director Tom Hauber said the food carts outside Houston Hall have been located there, but he added that the food carts do not dislodge the bullet from the ceiling.

"The numbers truly reflect Perm's intensity." The University admitted 29 per- cent of its applicants to the Class of 2000, making the class the most selec- tive ever, said Don McKee, owner of Muffins.

Admissions associated director Tom Hauber said the food carts outside Houston Hall have been located there, but he added that the food carts do not dislodge the bullet from the ceiling.

"The numbers truly reflect Perm's intensity." The University admitted 29 per- cent of its applicants to the Class of 2000, making the class the most selec- tive ever, said Don McKee, owner of Muffins.

Admissions associated director Tom Hauber said the food carts outside Houston Hall have been located there, but he added that the food carts do not dislodge the bullet from the ceiling.

"The numbers truly reflect Perm's intensity." The University admitted 29 per- cent of its applicants to the Class of 2000, making the class the most selec- tive ever, said Don McKee, owner of Muffins.

Admissions associated director Tom Hauber said the food carts outside Houston Hall have been located there, but he added that the food carts do not dislodge the bullet from the ceiling.

"The numbers truly reflect Perm's intensity." The University admitted 29 per- cent of its applicants to the Class of 2000, making the class the most selec- tive ever, said Don McKee, owner of Muffins.

Admissions associated director Tom Hauber said the food carts outside Houston Hall have been located there, but he added that the food carts do not dislodge the bullet from the ceiling.

"The numbers truly reflect Perm's intensity." The University admitted 29 per- cent of its applicants to the Class of 2000, making the class the most selec- tive ever, said Don McKee, owner of Muffins.

Admissions associated director Tom Hauber said the food carts outside Houston Hall have been located there, but he added that the food carts do not dislodge the bullet from the ceiling.

"The numbers truly reflect Perm's intensity." The University admitted 29 per- cent of its applicants to the Class of 2000, making the class the most selec- tive ever, said Don McKee, owner of Muffins.

Admissions associated director Tom Hauber said the food carts outside Houston Hall have been located there, but he added that the food carts do not dislodge the bullet from the ceiling.

"The numbers truly reflect Perm's intensity." The University admitted 29 per- cent of its applicants to the Class of 2000, making the class the most selec- tive ever, said Don McKee, owner of Muffins.
The University of Pennsylvania Medical Center has established a b corp-horvishing testing and treating program — and it’s being run by the director of emergency treatment for the Philadelphia Police Department. The program is only one of its kind in the surrounding area, medical experts say. The Philadelphia Police Department has been collaborating with the city to establish the treatment program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis.

"Because of our wide referral area, we have treated many of the cases in this area," Brennan said. According to Brennan, TB is one of the most common infectious diseases existing today. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Screening for TB has been a focus of the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.

Other physicians and facilities in the Philadelphia area have been collaborating with the program for comprehensive treatment of tuberculosis. The treatment for TB disease in the United States is considered to be successful when 70% to 75% cases in Pennsylvania are in Philadelphia.
FOOD TRUCKS

Food trucks aren't a new fad, but in recent years, they have become increasingly popular among urban dwellers. This is largely due to the convenience and variety of food options they offer. However, as with any business, food trucks face their own set of challenges. In this article, we will explore some of the issues facing food truck operators and how they are adapting to the changing landscape.

Jack Tran's family has operated the food truck at 34th and Walnut streets for more than six years. Tran, who is studying computer science at Rutgers University–Camden, said his Vietnamese family decided to serve traditional American foods, such as Asian fare, because of economic reasons. "It's easier to start a food truck than a restaurant," he said.

"The University does not have a vending policy," said Brian Dickson, director of University Dining and Food Services. "However, the policy is that vendors who park on the main campus are required to have a permit and have a group of vehicles that are owned by the same person."

Several students, faculty, and staff members have reported that some vendors are not following the rules. Dickson explained that they are trying to address the issue by enforcing the policy more strictly.

"We investigate every complaint," he said, "and if we find that a vendor is not following the rules, we will take action." Dickson added that the vendors are responsible for ensuring that their vehicles are clean and that their employees are following proper food-handling procedures.

"The Pizzeria Express is located outside the Quadrangle on 36th and Spruce Streets. Its food truck stands outside the Shops at Penn Food Court at the corner of 34th and Walnut streets."

This food truck stands outside the Shops at Penn Food Court at the corner of 34th and Walnut streets.

"I think it's a good idea," said Tran. "But I actually see it happen but not enough for it to hurt us," said Beijing co-owner Mark Gendelman. "The way it stands now, we're fine."

"We have to eat into some of our business, but not enough for it to hurt us," said Beijing co-owner Mark Gendelman. "I think it's a good idea, but it's not enough for it to hurt us," said Tran.

"But every so often, vendors do feel that they are being mistreated," said Gendelman. "I feel that vendors are being treated unfairly, but I don't think it's enough for it to hurt us."

"We have to eat into some of our business," said Gendelman. "But I think it's a good idea, if it's done properly." Tran added that the vendors are competing for businessacyjly.

"Several students, faculty, and staff members have reported that some vendors are not following the rules," said Dickson. "We investigate every complaint," he said, "and if we find that a vendor is not following the rules, we will take action." Dickson added that the vendors are responsible for ensuring that their vehicles are clean and that their employees are following proper food-handling procedures.

"We investigate every complaint," he said, "and if we find that a vendor is not following the rules, we will take action." Dickson added that the vendors are responsible for ensuring that their vehicles are clean and that their employees are following proper food-handling procedures.

"We investigate every complaint," he said, "and if we find that a vendor is not following the rules, we will take action." Dickson added that the vendors are responsible for ensuring that their vehicles are clean and that their employees are following proper food-handling procedures.

"We investigate every complaint," he said, "and if we find that a vendor is not following the rules, we will take action." Dickson added that the vendors are responsible for ensuring that their vehicles are clean and that their employees are following proper food-handling procedures.

"We investigate every complaint," he said, "and if we find that a vendor is not following the rules, we will take action." Dickson added that the vendors are responsible for ensuring that their vehicles are clean and that their employees are following proper food-handling procedures.

"We investigate every complaint," he said, "and if we find that a vendor is not following the rules, we will take action." Dickson added that the vendors are responsible for ensuring that their vehicles are clean and that their employees are following proper food-handling procedures.

"We investigate every complaint," he said, "and if we find that a vendor is not following the rules, we will take action." Dickson added that the vendors are responsible for ensuring that their vehicles are clean and that their employees are following proper food-handling procedures.

"We investigate every complaint," he said, "and if we find that a vendor is not following the rules, we will take action." Dickson added that the vendors are responsible for ensuring that their vehicles are clean and that their employees are following proper food-handling procedures.

"We investigate every complaint," he said, "and if we find that a vendor is not following the rules, we will take action." Dickson added that the vendors are responsible for ensuring that their vehicles are clean and that their employees are following proper food-handling procedures.

"We investigate every complaint," he said, "and if we find that a vendor is not following the rules, we will take action." Dickson added that the vendors are responsible for ensuring that their vehicles are clean and that their employees are following proper food-handling procedures.

"We investigate every complaint," he said, "and if we find that a vendor is not following the rules, we will take action." Dickson added that the vendors are responsible for ensuring that their vehicles are clean and that their employees are following proper food-handling procedures.

"We investigate every complaint," he said, "and if we find that a vendor is not following the rules, we will take action." Dickson added that the vendors are responsible for ensuring that their vehicles are clean and that their employees are following proper food-handling procedures.

"We investigate every complaint," he said, "and if we find that a vendor is not following the rules, we will take action." Dickson added that the vendors are responsible for ensuring that their vehicles are clean and that their employees are following proper food-handling procedures.

"We investigate every complaint," he said, "and if we find that a vendor is not following the rules, we will take action." Dickson added that the vendors are responsible for ensuring that their vehicles are clean and that their employees are following proper food-handling procedures.

"We investigate every complaint," he said, "and if we find that a vendor is not following the rules, we will take action." Dickson added that the vendors are responsible for ensuring that their vehicles are clean and that their employees are following proper food-handling procedures.
Summer in the Windy City sounds like a great time. Chicago has jazzfest, bluesfests, and gopfeests, Cubs and Sox games, some of the best museums and art galleries in the world, and ethnic festivals all summer long...I'd have plenty to do, and it's all just minutes from the Northwestern campus. Northwestern's study abroad programs sound great. Prague, Czech Republic; Alexandria, Egypt; and South Africa...They'd all be great opportunities to earn college credit, and they're all places I'd like to visit. They've changed so much in recent years. With the three- or six-week program in Prague, I could learn about Czech politics from the inside, visit parts of Bohemia and Moravia, enjoy pubs and restaurants, and experience the renaissance city's world-renowned architecture. Then again, seeing Alexandria, Egypt has its advantages. A five-day Nile cruise, a visit to Cairo's Great Pyramids, and all the festivals, beaches, and bazaars. Can't wait to visit.

Northwestern's study abroad programs sound great. Prague, Czech Republic; Alexandria, Egypt; and South Africa...They'd all be great opportunities to earn college credit, and they're all places I'd like to visit. They've changed so much in recent years. With the three- or six-week program in Prague, I could learn about Czech politics from the inside, visit parts of Bohemia and Moravia, enjoy pubs and restaurants, and experience the renaissance city's world-renowned architecture. Then again, seeing Alexandria, Egypt has its advantages. A five-day Nile cruise, a visit to Cairo's Great Pyramids, and all the festivals, beaches, and bazaars. Can't wait to visit.

I could use some extra credit this summer, and I think Northwestern's the place to go. Summerterm means smaller classes and better access to some of Northwestern's most popular professors. They even have a course on the Beatles, and if I get ambitious, I can earn a full- year degree of college credit with Northwestern's eight-week intensive course sequences in physics, chemistry, and nine languages. I'd be nice to go back to school in the fall with a few extra credits on my transcript.
Asian Amer. judge speaks to students

By Ravi Adhikary

Sharing anecdotes from her campaign for state judge, Judge Jen Chen described her rise to the position of first Asian American state judge in Pennsylvania.

She touched lightly upon her high school life and college days, saying she was not a standout student. "I thought the book on how to win was a very important tool to those involved."

Chen said it was obvious she was very inexperienced at the start of her campaign. "I think there are many ways people can open up doors for other people," she said.

Several students said they thought the speech was a motivational BU event. "It shows what we can do," Wong said.

To our valued readers:

Happy Passover & Easter!

Emily M. Cohen, Esq.

ASIAN AMERICAN JUDGE SPEAKS TO STUDENTS

By Ravi Adhikary

Sharing anecdotes from her campaign for state judge, Judge Jen Chen (above) described her rise to the position of first Asian American state judge in Pennsylvania.

She touched lightly upon her high school life and college days, saying she was not a standout student. "I thought the book on how to win was a very important tool to those involved."

Chen said it was obvious she was very inexperienced at the start of her campaign. "I think there are many ways people can open up doors for other people," she said.

Several students said they thought the speech was a motivational BU event. "It shows what we can do," Wong said.

To our valued readers:

Happy Passover & Easter!

Emily M. Cohen, Esq.

Centered on Chen's outlook as an Asian American followed her speech. When asked if being a minority caused her to take on more responsibility, Chen said she had not given that much thought.

"I feel the responsibility," she added, saying she was always reminded of her minority status during the promotion of her career. "It is not that you are always conscious of it, but it is in the back of your mind," she said.

Chen said it was obvious she was very inexperienced at the start of her campaign. "I think there are many ways people can open up doors for other people," she said.

Several students said they thought her speech was a motivational tool for those involved. "I welcome the responsibility," she said.

When asked if being a minority made her campaign different, she said she had not given that much thought. "I bought the book on how to win at the beginning of my campaign," she said.

When she's not teaching law at Temple University, Chen stays busy with her many board positions and activities in the community. "Asian Americans' societal roles, but also to the legal system.

"I welcome the responsibility," she said.

When asked if being a minority made her campaign different, she said she had not given that much thought. "I bought the book on how to win at the beginning of my campaign," she said.

When she's not teaching law at Temple University, Chen stays busy with her many board positions and activities in the community. "Asian Americans' societal roles, but also to the legal system.

"I welcome the responsibility," she said.

When asked if being a minority made her campaign different, she said she had not given that much thought. "I bought the book on how to win at the beginning of my campaign," she said.

When she's not teaching law at Temple University, Chen stays busy with her many board positions and activities in the community. "Asian Americans' societal roles, but also to the legal system.

"I welcome the responsibility," she said.

When asked if being a minority made her campaign different, she said she had not given that much thought. "I bought the book on how to win at the beginning of my campaign," she said.

When she's not teaching law at Temple University, Chen stays busy with her many board positions and activities in the community. "Asian Americans' societal roles, but also to the legal system.

"I welcome the responsibility," she said.

When asked if being a minority made her campaign different, she said she had not given that much thought. "I bought the book on how to win at the beginning of my campaign," she said.

When she's not teaching law at Temple University, Chen stays busy with her many board positions and activities in the community. "Asian Americans' societal roles, but also to the legal system.

"I welcome the responsibility," she said.

When asked if being a minority made her campaign different, she said she had not given that much thought. "I bought the book on how to win at the beginning of my campaign," she said.

When she's not teaching law at Temple University, Chen stays busy with her many board positions and activities in the community. "Asian Americans' societal roles, but also to the legal system.

"I welcome the responsibility," she said.

When asked if being a minority made her campaign different, she said she had not given that much thought. "I bought the book on how to win at the beginning of my campaign," she said.

When she's not teaching law at Temple University, Chen stays busy with her many board positions and activities in the community. "Asian Americans' societal roles, but also to the legal system.

"I welcome the responsibility," she said.

When asked if being a minority made her campaign different, she said she had not given that much thought. "I bought the book on how to win at the beginning of my campaign," she said.

When she's not teaching law at Temple University, Chen stays busy with her many board positions and activities in the community. "Asian Americans' societal roles, but also to the legal system.

"I welcome the responsibility," she said.

When asked if being a minority made her campaign different, she said she had not given that much thought. "I bought the book on how to win at the beginning of my campaign," she said.

When she's not teaching law at Temple University, Chen stays busy with her many board positions and activities in the community. "Asian Americans' societal roles, but also to the legal system.

"I welcome the responsibility," she said.
The dark side of free enterprise

To the Editor

I have been a loyal and appropriate member of Lauder House for over a year. J. Christopher Roberts's column (The Daily Pennsylvanian, February 25) is a perfect example of the idea that Roberts neglects in his columns. He seems to believe that the rights of a person are absolute, and that no one, not even those who are not of the same race, can challenge them. He seems to believe that free enterprise is the only way to make the world a better place, and that anyone who disagrees with him must be wrong.

Please consider the example he gave on Monday, February 25, about the use of the word "nigger." He said that if you owned a business, you could use the word any way you wanted, and that no one should challenge you. He then went on to say that if you were a passerby, you could also use the word, and that no one should challenge you.

I believe that this is a dangerous and harmful way to look at the world. When you own a business, you do not own the right to say whatever you want. You have a responsibility to the people who work for you, and to the people who are affected by your actions. When you are a passerby, you also have a responsibility to other people. You cannot say whatever you want, and expect no one to challenge you.

I believe that free enterprise is important, but it should not be used as an excuse to say whatever you want. We all have the right to free speech, but we also have the responsibility to use it wisely. We should all work together to make the world a better place, and to ensure that everyone has the right to be treated with respect.

Seth Lasser

For Mass Consumption

Ms. Lasser, a sophomor in Political Science from Princeton, R.I. For Mass Consumption appears alternate Fridays.

Mural sale angers alumni

To the Editor:

I am one of the faculty members at Harvard University, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the Rhode Island School of Design. I understand the need to fundraise for the university, but I believe that the mural sale is a bad idea. I am concerned that the sale of the mural will be a blow to the arts community.

The mural, completed in 1971, was created by the students of the university. It is a beautiful and meaningful work of art. I believe that the mural should be preserved and displayed in a place where it can be enjoyed by everyone.

I have spoken to the administration about the mural sale, and I have been told that the mural will be sold to the highest bidder. I believe that this is a bad idea. The mural should not be sold for profit. It should be displayed in a place where it can be enjoyed by everyone.

I urge the university to reconsider the mural sale. I believe that the mural is an important part of the university's history, and that it should be preserved and displayed in a place where it can be enjoyed by everyone.

Greg Brownstein

The Daily Pennsylvanian

One evening, I was having a conversation with a fellow student, and for no reason that I could think of, we started to argue. She was being really rude, and I thought that it was unfair, so I didn't think his cursing was a problem.

Profanity

I had never really been bothered by someone cursing before, but I think that it was because I have been taught that it was something that was just not acceptable. So when I started to see that it was something that was being done, I really did not know what to think. The language scared me, and I did not want to be around it. The use of profanity was something that I had never really thought about before.

One example of profanity that almost guar- anteed a fight was when the two of us were talking and another person was there who was also cursing. It was almost as if we were in a room with no one else, and that we were the only two people who could hear each other.

The first time that this happened, I was really shocked. I had never really thought about the way that people talk, and I did not realize how wrong I was. The language scared me, and I did not want to be around it. It was something that I had never really thought about before.

Profanity and cursing have become so commonplace that people will curse without giv- ing any thought to it. They are using it as a way to degrade others. Swearing before exams is something that has become so common that it is almost expected.

I believe that the use of profanity is a problem, and that it needs to be addressed. We all have the right to be treated with respect, and we should all make an effort to treat others that way.

Professor

The Daily Pennsylvanian

The Most Important Issue at Penn Is...
NSF grant mixes math and science

By Alana Kaselitz

The Daily Pennsylvanian

Spin through space, a strand of DNA displayed on a VCR to a room filled with chemistry students — one of the multimedia graphics developed from a National Science Foundation grant Penn received two years ago.

With the $1.2 million grant, math and science professors have created visual aids to integrate and demonstrate the usefulness of these two subjects in the real world.

"This video shows DNA replication and illustrates differential equations," Chemistry Professor Ponzy Lu said.

"When you use PENNCare preferred "in network" providers for covered services, the only charges you incur are low co-pays.

Pre-Health Information Session

A representative from MCP/Hahnemann will be on campus, Thursday, April 11, 1996, 7:00 - 8:00 p.m., in Room 301, Houston Hall.

You will be able to ask questions about the programs available at MCPHU, the admissions process, financial aid, student services, etc.

Sign up at the Pre-Health Desk or call Teisa at 898-5261 to RSVP.

MUNCHEON, NEW YORK

PARIS

SAN FRANCISCO

TORONTO

WASHINGTON, DC

ZURICH
Rescuers search for cause of crash

"I am not sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown." - Hasan Muratovic, Bosnian Prime Minister

Gulnaris said he could not speculate on what caused the crash, but cited a driving rules of wind storm, and another man.

"The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

Sklarski, in his cabin, that the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Croatia's air traffic control system said the plane had drifted left in its approach to the airport, about 12 miles southeast from the ancient city.

The plane was not where it should be, that's all." Gulnaris said. "I have no information about the cause of the crash, but I am sure we can overcome the loss of Mr. Brown."

The head of Cro
The Penn sprinters have traditionally been a dominant force for the team, and this year is no exception. The Quakers are looking to improve upon a recent performance at the University of Pennsylvania Invitational tomorrow at 11 a.m. at Franklin Field.

"The expectations for the sprinters are very high," said senior co-captain Chris Harper. "We have a very talented group throughout history who have been the strongest," Harper stated. "I think we will do well this year." Assistant coach Bob Stefko added, "Their mindset has not changed from last year. They are confident and have prepared well for this season.

The Penn men's track team will use the University of Pennsylvania Invitational to do speed work in training for the postseason. Harper has high expectations for the season, adding, "We have a real opportunity to have a national-quality team. We have the talent, and we need to show it." Stefko echoed Harper's sentiments, saying, "I'm excited about this team. They are hungry and ready to prove themselves." The team is expected to do well in the invitational.

"Penn sprinters have been the dominant force for the team, but is experiencing tightness in his hamstring, is not sure whether he will compete this weekend. "If I do run," Harper said, "it will be a meet to train through." Stefko added, "He's been inconsistent, and (the juniors) are always busy, and (the seniors) are always busy.

The seniors are the key to the team's success. "With so many throwers, (assistant coach) Allan Weidner has done so well this year are the seniors," Stefko stated. "Their leadership and competitive spirit have set an indoor school record of 3 minutes 10.60 seconds in the 200 meters. They are also part of the 4x100 meter run and will be focusing on the 4x400 meter relay team. To qualify for the 100-meter event, both sprinters will need to run fast enough to earn a permanent spot on the team at all. Seddon said They'll be focused on the team. "We have a lot of talent and experience this year. We are confident when we go out there," Stefko added, "and I feel confident when I go out there."

"The expectations for the sprinters are very high," said senior co-captain Chris Harper. "We have a very talented group throughout history who have been the strongest," Harper stated. "I think we will do well this year." Assistant coach Bob Stefko added, "Their mindset has not changed from last year. They are confident and have prepared well for this season.

The Penn men's track team will use the University of Pennsylvania Invitational to do speed work in training for the postseason. Harper has high expectations for the season, adding, "We have a real opportunity to have a national-quality team. We have the talent, and we need to show it." Stefko echoed Harper's sentiments, saying, "I'm excited about this team. They are hungry and ready to prove themselves." The team is expected to do well in the invitational.

"Penn sprinters have been the dominant force for the team, but is experiencing tightness in his hamstring, is not sure whether he will compete this weekend. "If I do run," Harper said, "it will be a meet to train through." Stefko added, "He's been inconsistent, and (the juniors) are always busy, and (the seniors) are always busy.

The seniors are the key to the team's success. "With so many throwers, (assistant coach) Allan Weidner has done so well this year are the seniors," Stefko stated. "Their leadership and competitive spirit have set an indoor school record of 3 minutes 10.60 seconds in the 200 meters. They are also part of the 4x100 meter run and will be focusing on the 4x400 meter relay team. To qualify for the 100-meter event, both sprinters will need to run fast enough to earn a permanent spot on the team at all. Seddon said They'll be focused on the team. "We have a lot of talent and experience this year. We are confident when we go out there," Stefko added, "and I feel confident when I go out there."

"The expectations for the sprinters are very high," said senior co-captain Chris Harper. "We have a very talented group throughout history who have been the strongest," Harper stated. "I think we will do well this year." Assistant coach Bob Stefko added, "Their mindset has not changed from last year. They are confident and have prepared well for this season.
OFF-CAMPUS LIVING ANNUAL HOUSING FAIR

Specials on All June Leases!

In honor of OCU's Housing Fair, University City Housing is offering a special on all June leases, from spacious studios to ten-bedroom townhouses. Bring your coupon below to the University City Housing Fair on Tuesday, April 9 (rain date April 10), and receive half off of OCU's June renters rent for a fifteen month lease. The coupon must be validated at the Housing Fair, and applies only to new leases signed after April 9.

University City Housing: The Best Locations, The Best Selection, The Best Deals! Call or stop by our table at the Housing Fair for more information on our extensive selection of graduate and undergraduate studio apartments and townhouses. With rates starting as low as $375 per person, and many within one block of campus, University City Housing is the affordable, convenient and comfortable choice for off-campus living.

For more information or to reserve a table, please call Steve 222-2600.

---

Off-Campus Living Annual Housing Fair

Specials on All June Leases!

In honor of OCU's Housing Fair, University City Housing is offering a special on all June leases, from spacious studios to ten-bedroom townhouses. Bring your coupon below to the University City Housing Fair on Tuesday, April 9 (rain date April 10), and receive half off of OCU's June renters rent for a fifteen month lease. The coupon must be validated at the Housing Fair, and applies only to new leases signed after April 9.

University City Housing: The Best Locations, The Best Selection, The Best Deals! Call or stop by our table at the Housing Fair for more information on our extensive selection of graduate and undergraduate studio apartments and townhouses. With rates starting as low as $375 per person, and many within one block of campus, University City Housing is the affordable, convenient and comfortable choice for off-campus living.

For more information or to reserve a table, please call Steve 222-2600.

---

Off-Campus Living Annual Housing Fair

Specials on All June Leases!

In honor of OCU's Housing Fair, University City Housing is offering a special on all June leases, from spacious studios to ten-bedroom townhouses. Bring your coupon below to the University City Housing Fair on Tuesday, April 9 (rain date April 10), and receive half off of OCU's June renters rent for a fifteen month lease. The coupon must be validated at the Housing Fair, and applies only to new leases signed after April 9.

University City Housing: The Best Locations, The Best Selection, The Best Deals! Call or stop by our table at the Housing Fair for more information on our extensive selection of graduate and undergraduate studio apartments and townhouses. With rates starting as low as $375 per person, and many within one block of campus, University City Housing is the affordable, convenient and comfortable choice for off-campus living.

For more information or to reserve a table, please call Steve 222-2600.
PHILADELPHIA - Rookie Kevin Jordan, playing his first base for the first time all season, led the Philadelphia Phillies to a 7-4 victory over the Colorado Rockies last night.

"It was a great feeling," a elated Jordan said of his first major league debut by the Mets' highly regarded top prospect. "I got a big hit, and a big hit."

The Mets scored four runs in the second inning and never looked back, dominating the Rockies 10 runs by the seventh inning.

"He never got another out," Oates said of Jordan, who allowed 10 runs on 14 hits in seven innings. "He never got another out. The Oats sent 10 men to the mound before Terry Clark relieved and got Tony Tarasco hit a force play at second was too late for the double play. Jeff Hoiles followed with an infield single, loading the l>
W. Lax looks to get in Ivy race
Penn to take on Big Green, Tigers, Bears in upcoming week

By Jeremy Thompson
The Daily Pennsylvanian

A lot is riding on this week — a lot.
If the Penn women's lacrosse team is going to challenge for the Ivy League crown, it must turn in a strong performance in the next three games. The performance in the next three games will make or break Penn's chances.

So the Quakers will be hard-pressed to get by Dartmouth, the defending Ivy champ...