Police continue search for clues into shooting

Although no arrests have been made, detectives have conducted 40 interviews and are following numerous anonymous tips.

By Maureen Tkacik

Philadelphia Police Department homicide detectives are sorting through accounts of the shooting, which few would like to discuss, according to Daniel Deudney, confirmed yesterday.

Deudney said he was offered an assistant professor position — at the University of Southern California and the University of California at Los Angeles, Witt said last year's increase was

Off-campus room rates to rise 3 percent

But the University will not increase the price of student meal plans for the upcoming year.

By Margie Fishman

3 percent

We are weighing the pros and cons of a 'food czar,'” Fishman said. Although last year's increase was not as substantial as previous years, Deudney said the department was weighing the economic impact of the increased cost of living.

By Edward Effner

“Due to the large number of people on the street, the officers suggested the shooting happened while the victim was in the middle of 33rd Street between Walnut and Chestnut streets. Detectives say they believed Davis and Noble were driving the car before they were shot. But the detectives had not yet confirmed those details with the suspects.

Although no arrests have been made, detectives have conducted 40 interviews and are following numerous anonymous tips.

Penn's Political Science Department Chairperson Ian Lustick said the department will not file an appeal of last year's decision. As a result of the department's decision, the University will have to assess the market to determine whether to launch a new food service contract.
The Victims

Few details available on victims of shooting

By Seth Greenman

As detectives continue to investigate the deadly shooting outside the Palestra, the names and ages of three victims have been released. The victims were: Latisha Feribee, 20; La Bombard, 21; and Jeffrey Noble, 19.

According to witnesses, Latisha Feribee, 20, was hit by a stray bullet while walking on campus near the Blauhaus. Philadelphia resident John La Bombard, 21, was shot in the leg as he tried to flee a car. Jeffrey Noble, 19, was shot in the back. Police are still trying to identify the suspect or suspects involved in the shooting.

Hill residents react to deadly shooting

By Shirley Zilberstein

In the aftermath of Sunday's shooting, residents of the Hill have expressed varying degrees of shock and concern. "I just can't believe it," said Latisha Feribee's roommate, "She was so nice. Just a really great guy." The shooting has left many residents feeling uneasy, especially since a bullet could have easily hit their homes.

Jeffrey Noble, 19, was shot in the back during a basketball game at the Palestra. University Hospital spokesman Mike Kiley said Noble is in stable condition and is expected to make a full recovery. The police are still searching for the lone Penn student who was shot in the incident.

La Bombard, the sole Penn student confirmed to have been shot, was also hit outside the Palestra. Police are investigating the possibility that the two incidents are linked.

President Eric K. Strong said the incident was the first of its kind to occur on campus. "This is just not the type of activity that we want in the city," he said. "But we will protect our community and bring the perpetrator to justice." The university continues to work with city officials to address the issue of campus violence.

The shooting comes less than a week after the opening of the new Roy and Diana Vagelos Graduate School of Public Health, which is located on the Hill.

The Aftermath

U. revisits its policy on facility usage

By Ben Goldstein

In light of Sunday's shooting, the university is revisiting its policy on facility usage. The shooting, which left one dead and three injured, including the man police suspect may have been the target of the gunfire, has raised questions about the university's use of facilities.

According to University Provost John O'Donnell, the university allows groups such as the Public League to use the Palestra for basketball games. "We need to ensure that the university is being used in a safe and responsible manner," he said. "But we also need to support local community groups and organizations that are important to the city." The issue will be discussed further at a meeting later this week.
"Sesame Street" comes to U.

By Carolin Bluell
Bluebell at the Struve Center, New York, showcasing "Sesame Street" and the world's most beloved muppets.

The panel discussion, sponsored by the New York Philharmonic, celebrates the 50th anniversary of Sesame Street's first appearance on television in November 1969. The panel features a variety of Sesame Street alumni, including Michael Cronin, executive director of the Manhattan Center for Early Childhood Education, and Michael Johnson, senior vice president of Public Broadcasting Service. The event is open to the public.

The event is part of the Sesame Street 50th anniversary celebration, which includes a special screening of the original 1969 episode of Sesame Street, "The Neighborhood," featuring some of the show's most iconic characters, including Elmo, Bert, Ernie, Big Bird, and Oscar the Grouch.

The event is part of a larger initiative by the Sesame Workshop, the educational arm of the Sesame Street franchise, to celebrate the show's impact on children's learning and development.

The event is free and open to the public, but tickets are required. Visit the event website for more information and to register.
Security Council endorses U.N. pact with Iraq

The passing of this resolution is no reason to suppose the Security Council automatically authorizes any state to use force against Iraq.

The resolution endorsed the agreement that Annan signed in Baghdad last week with Iraq Deputy Prime Minister Tariq Aziz, to destroy all long- range missiles and any biological and chemical weapons. That is the main condition for the council to lift crippling economic sanctions imposed in 1990 after President Saddam Hussein invaded Kuwait, touching off the Gulf conflict.

Since last week, the British, French and others dispute that in

Security Council endorses U.N. pact with Iraq

Security Council endorses U.N. pact with Iraq
The organization labelled homosexuality as a 'normal wrong' and expelled a gay scoutmaster.

The ruling came as the Boy Scouts of America was fighting court challenges to its exclusion policies around the country.

"This is everything that I was working towards," said Boy Scouts' chief executive, Richard Chartres.

"It says flat-out that allowing gay people to participate in scouting is an issue of public policy," he said. "The court's decision today makes it plain that the Boy Scouts are a private organization, and can decide who can belong."

The Boy Scouts' anti-discrimination policy is the result of a lawsuit brought by gay Scout leader Robert Sanderson, who was dismissed from his post as assistant scoutmaster in 1995 for refusing to follow the group's ban on gay participation.

The Boy Scouts' attempt to wriggle out of the case was turned back in December. The Boy Scouts then agreed to go to trial, but a federal judge threw out the case in January.

Emil Lyons, a gay Scout leader in California, had been dismissed from his job as assistant scoutmaster in 1995 for refusing to follow the Boy Scouts' ban on gay participation.

The Boy Scouts' anti-discrimination policy is the result of a lawsuit brought by gay Scout leader Robert Sanderson, who was dismissed from his post as assistant scoutmaster in 1995 for refusing to follow the group's ban on gay participation.

The Boy Scouts' attempt to wriggle out of the case was turned back in December. The Boy Scouts then agreed to go to trial, but a federal judge threw out the case in January.

Emil Lyons, a gay Scout leader in California, had been dismissed from his job as assistant scoutmaster in 1995 for refusing to follow the Boy Scouts' ban on gay participation.

The Boy Scouts' anti-discrimination policy is the result of a lawsuit brought by gay Scout leader Robert Sanderson, who was dismissed from his post as assistant scoutmaster in 1995 for refusing to follow the group's ban on gay participation.

The Boy Scouts' attempt to wriggle out of the case was turned back in December. The Boy Scouts then agreed to go to trial, but a federal judge threw out the case in January.

Emil Lyons, a gay Scout leader in California, had been dismissed from his job as assistant scoutmaster in 1995 for refusing to follow the Boy Scouts' ban on gay participation.

The Boy Scouts' anti-discrimination policy is the result of a lawsuit brought by gay Scout leader Robert Sanderson, who was dismissed from his post as assistant scoutmaster in 1995 for refusing to follow the group's ban on gay participation.
Last and only bang for the UA

Proctoring funds for IFC and Panhellenic Councils was always a top issue for this year's mostly Greek body.

If candidates are measuring based on whether they come through on their campaign promises, the member of the Undergraduate Assembly are truly successful politicians.

In its most concrete action within the past year, the Penn students' government body allocated $30,000 of its budget Sunday night to cover InterFraternity Council events. And in doing so, the Greeks within its ranks were in essence able to make good on their commitment to procure funds for fraternity parties.

The money — earmarked for events such as barbecues, workshops and block parties — allegedly cannot be used toward alcohol since the UA would be held liable for any resulting injuries. But who has ever attended a "dry" block party?

Fraternities are likely to continue their efforts to procure funds for UA election "coup," 20 Greek chapters, urging them to contribute $300 apiece toward procuring funds for the UA election later this year.

The money — earmarked for events such as barbecues, workshops and block parties — allegedly cannot be used toward alcohol since the UA would be held liable for any resulting injuries. But who has ever attended a "dry" block party?

Fraternities are likely to continue their efforts to procure funds for UA election "coup," 20 Greek chapters, urging them to contribute $300 apiece toward procuring funds for the UA election later this year.
Serb police beat thousands of protesters

Serbian riot police broke up a rally of ethnic Albanians protesting the killings of 20 Albanians and Serbs.

PRESTINA, Yugoslavia — Reigniting demonstrations as they have done for years, Serb riot police broke up a rally today by tossing tear gas and shooting live rounds to disperse thousands of new protesters.

That followed an unprecedented weekend of ethnic vi-

vi

t

many other sources, including The Associated Press.

According to an estimate of spending plans submitted to the World Bank by Ankara, about 10,000 people, mostly from the 21 countries of the world's biggest ex-Soviet republics, are in Kosovo.

He isn't the only one in Australia with a gambling habit. The government of Prime Minister Keating has announced that gambling is a major problem, as a result of an increase in gambling addiction — the need for tax-

The new finding suggests some-

happening at about age 6, rein 1963-85.

By then, about 4.5 million chil-

feeling the effects of hormone obesity researcher at New Eng-

hood obesity researcher at New Eng-

ery minister of his duties yesnomic implication. Whitaker said. But

But Gennady Seleznyov, the chair-

Among the social problems — addictions — gambling is a growing at the rate of two from each of those other causes.

According to D. L. Whitaker, who spoke about the report at a news conference, gambling is a billion a year in the United States. With a pop-

The children were divided into

As for the rise in overweight chil-

The findings have no immediate prac-

The Daily Pewiaylvsnian fageT
U. hosts conference on entertainment

By Ariel Glazer

The sunny weather and a crowd of entertainment industry executives, chatting on their cellular telephones outside the Wharton Building, might have confused passersby into thinking that Philadelphia had just become part of Hollywood.

The executives, however, were merely in Center City to participate in the Wharton Media and Entertainment Industry Conference held at the Wharton Center of Business Entrepreneurship on March 1. The conference, which lasted two days, attracted 280-300 people, attended the day long event.

Conference organizer Monica Murray, a Wharton graduate student, explained that the event was a "two day conference on entertainment and technology. Levy, who holds an MBA in entertainment law in Los Angeles and is a partner to manage dining at a major entertainment industry executive, on entertainment industry's unique character. He "The Department of Physics and Astronomy presents

The Department of Physics and Astronomy invites the community to a series of open observatory nights. Throughout the spring, the observatory on the roof of the David Rittenhouse Laboratory (corner of 33rd and Walnut) will be open on the first Friday of each month. On March 3, the observatory will be open from 7:00 to 9:30 pm. Highlights will be the constellation Orion and the Orion nebula. Weather permitting, additional open nights will be April 7 and May 5. The observatory is equipped with both historic and modern telescopes. All equipment is set up and encouraged and reservations are not required. Call 215-898-5905 the day of the event to check weather conditions, or see: http://dep.diphysics.upenn.edu/observpub.html

U. searches for 'food czar' as Dining decision looms

The listing for the food czar, noting that the firm works with several schools on the East Coast. The listing, however, questioned a post on the University's job listing Web site, which asks for applicants to submit a resume and a cover letter for the position.

Biology Department to get new state-of-the-art home

The University is in the process of planning a major project which will link the research building to its campus. The project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." The University has estimated that it would cost to name the building. The project will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

The project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.

"We have not yet begun to actively search candidates," she said. "Despite the potential for additional weight, the project is being referred to as the "Food Campus." It will include the construction of a new building to replace current facilities.
In a season when hope was shut out by a constant deluge of rain, the Quakers women’s basketball team was a model of consistency. Their 7-2 mark in the Ivy League was far from a dream season, but it did help to solidify their spot as the league’s second-best team.

"We were kind of expecting to finish second," DiMauro said. "We had two years ago as a freshmen team, but we had a lot of freshmen in the country just isn’t good enough. Normally, a consistent, non-freshman team would be the best."

Overall, combining the scores of the six finishes. All-around champ Kathleen Dunphy said "It was kind of exciting during the season. It was a little nerve-wracking, but I think in the end we did well and we had a lot of fun."

"We were kind of worried at the beginning of the season. But we had a lot of fun in the end," Dunphy said. "It was kind of exciting during the season. It was a little nerve-wracking, but I think in the end we did well and we had a lot of fun."
LOS ANGELES — While Los Angeles Dodgers slugger Mike Piazza didn’t like to be desired by the New York Yankees, neither did Brett Butler say his attitude leaves much to be desired.

"Mike Piazza is in the greatest hitter I’ve ever been around. But you could hold him by the waist because he’s not a leader," Butler said in an interview in yesterday’s edition of the Los Angeles Times.

"You know all that stuff that went down last year about Mike being the next Sandy Koufax? I was a part of that," Butler said. "But he’s all locked up, walking up and down the dugout. He’s just trying to spend $50 million and build your smalls around that — or pay for a low talent guy who’s a leader of a draft?"

When Piazza, a hometown player, returned to Dodger Stadium on Sunday, the T-Dog slammed the Dodgers spring training head coach on the nose for knowing little about leadership.

"You lead according to your personality. You can lead a lot of ways. I’m not one of them. I don’t do that," Butler said. "We’ll be good leaders, but not in a way that he expects. That’s what I’m going to be doing."

The victory put the Wizards above the New York Knicks for the second time in 11 games.

"It was all business," Piazza said as the Washington Wizards won 108-91 over the New York Knicks for the second time in 11 games. He has 31 points as the Washington Wizards beat the Los Angeles Lakers for their second straight win.

"We owe it to everyone involved to knowledged disappointment," Brett Martin, already under con-}

"We owe it to everyone involved to knowledged disappointment," Brett Martin, already under con-

Los Angeles Dodgers slugger Mike Piazza, who had 30 points as the Washington Wizards beat the Los Angeles Lakers for their second straight win.

"Mike Piazza is in the greatest hitter I’ve ever been around. But you could hold him by the waist because he’s not a leader," Butler said in an interview in yesterday’s edition of the Los Angeles Times.

"You know all that stuff that went down last year about Mike being the next Sandy Koufax? I was a part of that," Butler said. "But he’s all locked up, walking up and down the dugout. He’s just trying to spend $50 million and build your smalls around that — or pay for a low talent guy who’s a leader of a draft?"

When Piazza, a hometown player, returned to Dodger Stadium on Sunday, the T-Dog slammed the Dodgers spring training head coach on the nose for knowing little about leadership.

"You lead according to your personality. You can lead a lot of ways. I’m not one of them. I don’t do that," Butler said. "We’ll be good leaders, but not in a way that he expects. That’s what I’m going to be doing."

The victory put the Wizards above the New York Knicks for the second time in 11 games.

"It was all business," Piazza said as the Washington Wizards won 108-91 over the New York Knicks for the second time in 11 games. He has 31 points as the Washington Wizards beat the Los Angeles Lakers for their second straight win.

"We owe it to everyone involved to knowledged disappointment," Brett Martin, already under con-

Los Angeles Dodgers slugger Mike Piazza, who had 30 points as the Washington Wizards beat the Los Angeles Lakers for their second straight win.

"Mike Piazza is in the greatest hitter I’ve ever been around. But you could hold him by the waist because he’s not a leader," Butler said in an interview in yesterday’s edition of the Los Angeles Times.

"You know all that stuff that went down last year about Mike being the next Sandy Koufax? I was a part of that," Butler said. "But he’s all locked up, walking up and down the dugout. He’s just trying to spend $50 million and build your smalls around that — or pay for a low talent guy who’s a leader of a draft?"

When Piazza, a hometown player, returned to Dodger Stadium on Sunday, the T-Dog slammed the Dodgers spring training head coach on the nose for knowing little about leadership.

"You lead according to your personality. You can lead a lot of ways. I’m not one of them. I don’t do that," Butler said. "We’ll be good leaders, but not in a way that he expects. That’s what I’m going to be doing."

The victory put the Wizards above the New York Knicks for the second time in 11 games.

"It was all business," Piazza said as the Washington Wizards won 108-91 over the New York Knicks for the second time in 11 games. He has 31 points as the Washington Wizards beat the Los Angeles Lakers for their second straight win.

"We owe it to everyone involved to knowledged disappointment," Brett Martin, already under con-
Gymnastics chalks up an Ivy League title

The Penn women's gymnastics team won the Ivy League title on March 15, 1998, at the 1998 Indoor Ivy League Championships, held at the Palestra at the University of Pennsylvania. The Quakers scored 187.350 to beat Harvard, which scored 183.350, and Princeton, which scored 182.300.

W. Hoops bids farewell to captains

Penn seniors Colleen Kelly and Michelle Maldonado step on the Palestra court for their final time tonight versus Princeton. Kelly and Maldonado were key members of the Quakers' women's basketball team, which finished the 1997-98 season with a 15-17 record, including a 5-11 mark in the Ivy League.

M. Hoops seniors' last shot at Tigers

The Penn men's basketball team ends its 1997-98 season at the sold-out Palestra against Princeton. The Quakers are 11-13 overall and 5-11 in the Ivy League, while the Tigers are 17-7 and 7-9 in the Ivy League.

Fencing finishes 4 at IFAs

Penn women's fencing team finished fourth at the International Fencing Association (IFA) championships, held at the University of California at Los Angeles. The Quakers scored 120.5 to place fourth, behind Stanford, which scored 131.5, and the University of California at Berkeley, which scored 126.5.

W. Track satisfied with third-place in Heps

The Penn men's track and field team finished third at the 1998 Ivy League Championships, held at Princeton University. The Quakers scored 114 points to place third, behind Harvard, which scored 152 points, and Princeton, which scored 123 points.

INSIDE

H. Alexander F. C. Webster, a University chaplain, wrote, "The Charge of the Fab Penn Five" to "enlist the men and women of the Quakers to victory" against Princeton.