Wrestling will face Penn State this December
Sports, back page

The Summer Pennsylvania
The Independent Student Newspaper of the University of Pennsylvania

Search for Wharton, Law deans not yet finished
Wharton Dean Thomas Gerrity will step down today, but Law School Dean Colin Diver will continue as dean until summer.

By Eric Tucker

When Wharton School Dean Thomas Ger-ritty announced last fall that he would step down from his post this summer, it was as if the two had their jobs for the next two years would be filled by the fall.

Now, as both positions remain vacant and administrators continue to generally tight-lipped about the searches, Penn officials seem to be moving into high gear to fill the positions in addition to the recently announced search for the Law School's dean.

Wharton's search committee is comprised of 10-12 members, including four faculty members, four Law School professors, two Law School students and two administrative members.

Gerrity was expected to stop down today, but in order to spend more time with his family, he will step his eight-year tenure at the University.

According to Law School Search Committee chairperson Charles Herring, who is also Wharton's undergraduate dean, the committee members remained focused on the "very best" candidate, though he declined to give a timeframe or discuss the number of candidates the committee is currently reviewing.

"We're really tight-lipped about the searches," Gerrity said in an interview.

A search committee typically consists of faculty members, four Law School professors, two Law School students and two administrative members, has been working since the fall to screen both internal and external candidates.

Gerrity, however, is expected to stop down today in order to spend more time with his family. He will step his eight-year tenure at the University.

According to Law School Search Committee chairperson Charles Herring, who is also Wharton's undergraduate dean, the committee members remained focused on the "very best" candidate, though he declined to give a timeframe or discuss the number of candidates the committee is currently reviewing.

"We're really tight-lipped about the searches," Gerrity said in an interview.

A search committee typically consists of faculty members, four Law School professors, two Law School students and two administrative members, has been working since the fall to screen both internal and external candidates.

Gerrity, however, is expected to stop down today in order to spend more time with his family. He will step his eight-year tenure at the University.

According to Law School Search Committee chairperson Charles Herring, who is also Wharton's undergraduate dean, the committee members remained focused on the "very best" candidate, though he declined to give a timeframe or discuss the number of candidates the committee is currently reviewing.

"We're really tight-lipped about the searches," Gerrity said in an interview.

A search committee typically consists of faculty members, four Law School professors, two Law School students and two administrative members, has been working since the fall to screen both internal and external candidates.

Gerrity, however, is expected to stop down today in order to spend more time with his family. He will step his eight-year tenure at the University.

According to Law School Search Committee chairperson Charles Herring, who is also Wharton's undergraduate dean, the committee members remained focused on the "very best" candidate, though he declined to give a timeframe or discuss the number of candidates the committee is currently reviewing.

"We're really tight-lipped about the searches," Gerrity said in an interview.

A search committee typically consists of faculty members, four Law School professors, two Law School students and two administrative members, has been working since the fall to screen both internal and external candidates.

Gerrity, however, is expected to stop down today in order to spend more time with his family. He will step his eight-year tenure at the University.

According to Law School Search Committee chairperson Charles Herring, who is also Wharton's undergraduate dean, the committee members remained focused on the "very best" candidate, though he declined to give a timeframe or discuss the number of candidates the committee is currently reviewing.

"We're really tight-lipped about the searches," Gerrity said in an interview.

A search committee typically consists of faculty members, four Law School professors, two Law School students and two administrative members, has been working since the fall to screen both internal and external candidates.

Gerrity, however, is expected to stop down today in order to spend more time with his family. He will step his eight-year tenure at the University.

According to Law School Search Committee chairperson Charles Herring, who is also Wharton's undergraduate dean, the committee members remained focused on the "very best" candidate, though he declined to give a timeframe or discuss the number of candidates the committee is currently reviewing.

"We're really tight-lipped about the searches," Gerrity said in an interview.

A search committee typically consists of faculty members, four Law School professors, two Law School students and two administrative members, has been working since the fall to screen both internal and external candidates.

Gerrity, however, is expected to stop down today in order to spend more time with his family. He will step his eight-year tenure at the University.

According to Law School Search Committee chairperson Charles Herring, who is also Wharton's undergraduate dean, the committee members remained focused on the "very best" candidate, though he declined to give a timeframe or discuss the number of candidates the committee is currently reviewing.

"We're really tight-lipped about the searches," Gerrity said in an interview.

A search committee typically consists of faculty members, four Law School professors, two Law School students and two administrative members, has been working since the fall to screen both internal and external candidates.

Gerrity, however, is expected to stop down today in order to spend more time with his family. He will step his eight-year tenure at the University.

According to Law School Search Committee chairperson Charles Herring, who is also Wharton's undergraduate dean, the committee members remained focused on the "very best" candidate, though he declined to give a timeframe or discuss the number of candidates the committee is currently reviewing.

"We're really tight-lipped about the searches," Gerrity said in an interview.

A search committee typically consists of faculty members, four Law School professors, two Law School students and two administrative members, has been working since the fall to screen both internal and external candidates.

Gerrity, however, is expected to stop down today in order to spend more time with his family. He will step his eight-year tenure at the University.

According to Law School Search Committee chairperson Charles Herring, who is also Wharton's undergraduate dean, the committee members remained focused on the "very best" candidate, though he declined to give a timeframe or discuss the number of candidates the committee is currently reviewing.

"We're really tight-lipped about the searches," Gerrity said in an interview.

A search committee typically consists of faculty members, four Law School professors, two Law School students and two administrative members, has been working since the fall to screen both internal and external candidates.

Gerrity, however, is expected to stop down today in order to spend more time with his family. He will step his eight-year tenure at the University.

According to Law School Search Committee chairperson Charles Herring, who is also Wharton's undergraduate dean, the committee members remained focused on the "very best" candidate, though he declined to give a timeframe or discuss the number of candidates the committee is currently reviewing.

"We're really tight-lipped about the searches," Gerrity said in an interview.

A search committee typically consists of faculty members, four Law School professors, two Law School students and two administrative members, has been working since the fall to screen both internal and external candidates.

Gerrity, however, is expected to stop down today in order to spend more time with his family. He will step his eight-year tenure at the University.

According to Law School Search Committee chairperson Charles Herring, who is also Wharton's undergraduate dean, the committee members remained focused on the "very best" candidate, though he declined to give a timeframe or discuss the number of candidates the committee is currently reviewing.

"We're really tight-lipped about the searches," Gerrity said in an interview.

A search committee typically consists of faculty members, four Law School professors, two Law School students and two administrative members, has been working since the fall to screen both internal and external candidates.

Gerrity, however, is expected to stop down today in order to spend more time with his family. He will step his eight-year tenure at the University.
In search of new leadership

Penn must pick up the pace and try to find new deans for two of its major schools as soon as possible.

Both search committees pledged that they would do everything within their power to find new deans by July 1, the date that both deans said they would leave. Administrators do recognize, quite properly, that Diver's decision to fulfill his responsibilities as dean is no way to advise the university. They each left a permanent impression on Penn.

But they now become part of Penn's history, and we would like to see Penn's future. They have done yeoman's work, and we hope that other Penn communities will help us to find the University the new leaders it needs. We hope that Penn will inspire the University community about its progress. For this reason alone, we must encourage the search committees to provide us with cryptic reports and mixed messages.

The community needs to be aware of major trouble in the University. Penn officials will be in charge of all departments and will be responsible for the university's education. They will be in charge of the administration and focus on student welfare, and financial aid. If the University appoints interim deans and continues to face permanent replacements, then the process could lag indefinitely. This will not improve the general health of the institution.

If the Penn wants to rise to the level of the Ivy League schools, then it needs to find replacements for Diver and Gerrity Soon.

Looking ahead to a new year

We don't know what will happen to you. What are you up to with your summer? What are you doing? What are your plans for your future? What is happening with your life? What are your goals for the next year?

I think the answer is that you need a good summer job. You need to earn some money, and you need to have a good time. You need to be thinking about your future, and you need to be thinking about your goals.

For instance, they want me home at a sensible time. I feel that I miss the Liberty Bell. I miss living in the city bursting at the seams. And, I miss our national parks, early and often.

The blazes were a natural and a part of an ordinary forest, and we would have mortgaged the park's future for it. But there's no other way. We need to keep them pristines.

Part of the increased unpre- dictability is the result of seismic ac- tivity, but the other part is the cumulative effect of all the junk. Not just the litter, but the trash. Not just the paper, but the plastic.

You want a happy ending? Sorry, I can't promise you one. But though the lineup looks good on paper, we cannot rest on last year's laurels. Putting off a landform guide and pushing for the Rosen- berg center renovations were nice ac- tions. Now is the opportune time to bring a video store to campus with the library and try to find new deans for two of its major schools as soon as possible.

We think the answer is that you need a good summer job. You need to earn some money, and you need to have a good time. You need to be thinking about your future, and you need to be thinking about your goals.

For instance, they want me home at a sensible time. I feel that I miss the Liberty Bell. I miss living in the city bursting at the seams. And, I miss our national parks, early and often.
H.S. seniors study business at Wharton

By Karlene Hanko

You don’t necessarily have to be a Penn student to attend the University of Pennsylvania School — at least, not during the summer. High school seniors and high school students interested in pursuing a career in business are encouraged to sign up for the Leadership, Education and Development program, which also included in this year’s program, LEDA, a nation-wide summer program — established at Wharton in 1988 — for top undergraduate students from across the nation to experience the business world and bring valuable insights to the admissions process.

"Students are culled from the ranks of the top five percent of high school seniors nationwide," says Professor Inman, head of the LEDA program. "The people who participate in our program are the most extraordinarily talented and academically gifted high school students nationwide." Stankoff explained that in last year’s summer program, "Students who have demonstrated leadership ability, a strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business."

As such, the program is offered to a select group of high school students who have demonstrated leadership ability, strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business.

Wharton officials said that many of the program’s goals are to present practical experiences in the business field and hope that a similar success will be found in the new LEDA program.

"We’re really in the business of running academic programs," said the Wharton program director, the program’s administration in the business world, a brand new summer program, which also included in this year’s program, LEDA, a nation-wide summer program — established at Wharton in 1988 — for top undergraduate students from across the nation to experience the business world and bring valuable insights to the admissions process.

"Students are culled from the ranks of the top five percent of high school seniors nationwide," says Professor Inman, head of the LEDA program. "The people who participate in our program are the most extraordinarily talented and academically gifted high school students nationwide." Stankoff explained that in last year’s summer program, "Students who have demonstrated leadership ability, a strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business."

As such, the program is offered to a select group of high school students who have demonstrated leadership ability, strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business.

Wharton officials said that many of the program’s goals are to present practical experiences in the business field and hope that a similar success will be found in the new LEDA program.

"We’re really in the business of running academic programs," said the Wharton program director, the program’s administration in the business world, a brand new summer program, which also included in this year’s program, LEDA, a nation-wide summer program — established at Wharton in 1988 — for top undergraduate students from across the nation to experience the business world and bring valuable insights to the admissions process.

"Students are culled from the ranks of the top five percent of high school seniors nationwide," says Professor Inman, head of the LEDA program. "The people who participate in our program are the most extraordinarily talented and academically gifted high school students nationwide." Stankoff explained that in last year’s summer program, "Students who have demonstrated leadership ability, a strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business."

As such, the program is offered to a select group of high school students who have demonstrated leadership ability, strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business.

Wharton officials said that many of the program’s goals are to present practical experiences in the business field and hope that a similar success will be found in the new LEDA program.

"We’re really in the business of running academic programs," said the Wharton program director, the program’s administration in the business world, a brand new summer program, which also included in this year’s program, LEDA, a nation-wide summer program — established at Wharton in 1988 — for top undergraduate students from across the nation to experience the business world and bring valuable insights to the admissions process.

"Students are culled from the ranks of the top five percent of high school seniors nationwide," says Professor Inman, head of the LEDA program. "The people who participate in our program are the most extraordinarily talented and academically gifted high school students nationwide." Stankoff explained that in last year’s summer program, "Students who have demonstrated leadership ability, a strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business."

As such, the program is offered to a select group of high school students who have demonstrated leadership ability, strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business.

Wharton officials said that many of the program’s goals are to present practical experiences in the business field and hope that a similar success will be found in the new LEDA program.

"We’re really in the business of running academic programs," said the Wharton program director, the program’s administration in the business world, a brand new summer program, which also included in this year’s program, LEDA, a nation-wide summer program — established at Wharton in 1988 — for top undergraduate students from across the nation to experience the business world and bring valuable insights to the admissions process.

"Students are culled from the ranks of the top five percent of high school seniors nationwide," says Professor Inman, head of the LEDA program. "The people who participate in our program are the most extraordinarily talented and academically gifted high school students nationwide." Stankoff explained that in last year’s summer program, "Students who have demonstrated leadership ability, a strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business."

As such, the program is offered to a select group of high school students who have demonstrated leadership ability, strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business.

Wharton officials said that many of the program’s goals are to present practical experiences in the business field and hope that a similar success will be found in the new LEDA program.

"We’re really in the business of running academic programs," said the Wharton program director, the program’s administration in the business world, a brand new summer program, which also included in this year’s program, LEDA, a nation-wide summer program — established at Wharton in 1988 — for top undergraduate students from across the nation to experience the business world and bring valuable insights to the admissions process.

"Students are culled from the ranks of the top five percent of high school seniors nationwide," says Professor Inman, head of the LEDA program. "The people who participate in our program are the most extraordinarily talented and academically gifted high school students nationwide." Stankoff explained that in last year’s summer program, "Students who have demonstrated leadership ability, a strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business."

As such, the program is offered to a select group of high school students who have demonstrated leadership ability, strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business.

Wharton officials said that many of the program’s goals are to present practical experiences in the business field and hope that a similar success will be found in the new LEDA program.

"We’re really in the business of running academic programs," said the Wharton program director, the program’s administration in the business world, a brand new summer program, which also included in this year’s program, LEDA, a nation-wide summer program — established at Wharton in 1988 — for top undergraduate students from across the nation to experience the business world and bring valuable insights to the admissions process.

"Students are culled from the ranks of the top five percent of high school seniors nationwide," says Professor Inman, head of the LEDA program. "The people who participate in our program are the most extraordinarily talented and academically gifted high school students nationwide." Stankoff explained that in last year’s summer program, "Students who have demonstrated leadership ability, a strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business."

As such, the program is offered to a select group of high school students who have demonstrated leadership ability, strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business.

Wharton officials said that many of the program’s goals are to present practical experiences in the business field and hope that a similar success will be found in the new LEDA program.

"We’re really in the business of running academic programs," said the Wharton program director, the program’s administration in the business world, a brand new summer program, which also included in this year’s program, LEDA, a nation-wide summer program — established at Wharton in 1988 — for top undergraduate students from across the nation to experience the business world and bring valuable insights to the admissions process.

"Students are culled from the ranks of the top five percent of high school seniors nationwide," says Professor Inman, head of the LEDA program. "The people who participate in our program are the most extraordinarily talented and academically gifted high school students nationwide." Stankoff explained that in last year’s summer program, "Students who have demonstrated leadership ability, a strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business."

As such, the program is offered to a select group of high school students who have demonstrated leadership ability, strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business.

Wharton officials said that many of the program’s goals are to present practical experiences in the business field and hope that a similar success will be found in the new LEDA program.

"We’re really in the business of running academic programs," said the Wharton program director, the program’s administration in the business world, a brand new summer program, which also included in this year’s program, LEDA, a nation-wide summer program — established at Wharton in 1988 — for top undergraduate students from across the nation to experience the business world and bring valuable insights to the admissions process.

"Students are culled from the ranks of the top five percent of high school seniors nationwide," says Professor Inman, head of the LEDA program. "The people who participate in our program are the most extraordinarily talented and academically gifted high school students nationwide." Stankoff explained that in last year’s summer program, "Students who have demonstrated leadership ability, a strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business."

As such, the program is offered to a select group of high school students who have demonstrated leadership ability, strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business.

Wharton officials said that many of the program’s goals are to present practical experiences in the business field and hope that a similar success will be found in the new LEDA program.

"We’re really in the business of running academic programs," said the Wharton program director, the program’s administration in the business world, a brand new summer program, which also included in this year’s program, LEDA, a nation-wide summer program — established at Wharton in 1988 — for top undergraduate students from across the nation to experience the business world and bring valuable insights to the admissions process.

"Students are culled from the ranks of the top five percent of high school seniors nationwide," says Professor Inman, head of the LEDA program. "The people who participate in our program are the most extraordinarily talented and academically gifted high school students nationwide." Stankoff explained that in last year’s summer program, "Students who have demonstrated leadership ability, a strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business."

As such, the program is offered to a select group of high school students who have demonstrated leadership ability, strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business.

Wharton officials said that many of the program’s goals are to present practical experiences in the business field and hope that a similar success will be found in the new LEDA program.

"We’re really in the business of running academic programs," said the Wharton program director, the program’s administration in the business world, a brand new summer program, which also included in this year’s program, LEDA, a nation-wide summer program — established at Wharton in 1988 — for top undergraduate students from across the nation to experience the business world and bring valuable insights to the admissions process.

"Students are culled from the ranks of the top five percent of high school seniors nationwide," says Professor Inman, head of the LEDA program. "The people who participate in our program are the most extraordinarily talented and academically gifted high school students nationwide." Stankoff explained that in last year’s summer program, "Students who have demonstrated leadership ability, a strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business."

As such, the program is offered to a select group of high school students who have demonstrated leadership ability, strong academic record and a genuine curiosity for exploring careers in business.

Wharton officials said that many of the program’s goals are to present practical experiences in the business field and hope that a similar success will be found in the new LEDA program.

"We’re really in the business of running academic programs," said the Wharton program director, the program’s administration in the business world, a brand new summer program, which also included in this year’s program, LEDA, a nation-wide summer program — established at Wharton in 1988 — for top undergraduate students from across the nation to experience the business world and bring valuable insights to the admissions process.
HUMOR, DRAMA, AND HOOTERS MAKE BIG DADDY A BIG HIT

NICK PLAGGE

Similar to existing at Hooters, when you go to see a movie like Big Daddy, you find the same malaise that used to be there, and you long for the wittier, more involved films of that era. Don't worry, Hooters is back on the market and company. It looked as far as the movie part goes, Eyes were at Theatres, you're just white trash. Anyway, I've walked into every Adam Sandler movie I've ever seen thinking about how much I hate Adam Sandler and how dumb the movie I was about to see would inevitably be. I have always been wrong, and in recent films it is no exception. Big Daddy delivers drama and comedy in the most entertaining package imaginable. Adam Sandler reprises his role as the likeable loserish "big kid." a role that has been overwhelming successful for the come-from-nothing, when you go to see a movie here, you eat at Hooters. Reality catches up with Koufax when his girlfriend (Kristy Swanson) demands that he move on to the "next movies under his belt. Sandler's Sonny Koufax to moviegoers with, well, more conservative values: The Spy Who Shagged Me. Austin Powers, was a little hard to swallow. Anyway, I've walked into every Adam Sandler movie I've seen thinking about how much I hate Adam Sandler and how dumb the movie I was about to see would inevitably be. I have always been wrong, and in recent films it is no exception. Big Daddy delivers drama and comedy in the most entertaining package imaginable. Adam Sandler reprises his role as the likeable loserish "big kid." a role that has been overwhelming successful for the come-from-nothing, when you go to see a movie here, you eat at Hooters. Reality catches up with Koufax when his girlfriend (Kristy Swanson) demands that he move on to the "next movies under his belt. Sandler's Sonny Koufax to moviegoers with, well, more conservative values: The Spy Who Shagged Me. Austin Powers, was a little hard to swallow. Anyway, I've walked into every Adam Sandler movie I've seen thinking about how much I hate Adam Sandler and how dumb the movie I was about to see would inevitably be. I have always been wrong, and in recent films it is no exception. Big Daddy delivers drama and comedy in the most entertaining package imaginable. Adam Sandler reprises his role as the likeable loserish "big kid." a role that has been overwhelming successful for the come-from-nothing, when you go to see a movie here, you eat at Hooters. Reality catches up with Koufax when his girlfriend (Kristy Swanson) demands that he move on to the "next movies under his belt. Sandler's Sonny Koufax to moviegoers with, well, more conservative values: The Spy Who Shagged Me. Austin Powers, was a little hard to swallow. Anyway, I've walked into every Adam Sandler movie I've seen thinking about how much I hate Adam Sandler and how dumb the movie I was about to see would inevitably be. I have always been wrong, and in recent films it is no exception. Big Daddy delivers drama and comedy in the most entertaining package imaginable. Adam Sandler reprises his role as the likeable loserish "big kid." a role that has been overwhelming successful for the come-from-nothing, when you go to see a movie here, you eat at Hooters. Reality catches up with Koufax when his girlfriend (Kristy Swanson) demands that he move on to the "next movies under his belt. Sandler's Sonny Koufax to moviegoers with, well, more conservative values: The Spy Who Shagged Me. Austin Powers, was a little hard to swallow. Anyway, I've walked into every Adam Sandler movie I've seen thinking about how much I hate Adam Sandler and how dumb the movie I was about to see would inevitably be. I have always been wrong, and in recent films it is no exception. Big Daddy delivers drama and comedy in the most entertaining package imaginable. Adam Sandler reprises his role as the likeable loserish "big kid." a role that has been overwhelming successful for the come-from-nothing, when you go to see a movie here, you eat at Hooters. Reality catches up with Koufax when his girlfriend (Kristy Swanson) demands that he move on to the "next movies under his belt. Sandler's Sonny Koufax to moviegoers with, well, more conservative values: The Spy Who Shagged Me. Austin Powers, was a little hard to swallow. Anyway, I've walked into every Adam Sandler movie I've seen thinking about how much I hate Adam Sandler and how dumb the movie I was about to see would inevitably be. I have always been wrong, and in recent films it is no exception. Big Daddy delivers drama and comedy in the most entertaining package imaginable. Adam Sandler reprises his role as the likeable loserish "big kid." a role that has been overwhelming successful for the come-from-nothing, when you go to see a movie here, you eat at Hooters. Reality catches up with Koufax when his girlfriend (Kristy Swanson) demands that he move on to the "next movies under his belt. Sandler's Sonny Koufax to moviegoers with, well, more conservative values: The Spy Who Shagged Me. Austin Powers, was a little hard to swallow. Anyway, I've walked into every Adam Sandler movie I've seen thinking about how much I hate Adam Sandler and how dumb the movie I was about to see would inevitably be. I have always been wrong, and in recent films it is no exception. Big Daddy delivers drama and comedy in the most entertaining package imaginable. Adam Sandler reprises his role as the likeable loserish "big kid." a role that has been overwhelming successful for the come-from-nothing, when you go to see a movie here, you eat at Hooters. Reality catches up with Koufax when his girlfriend (Kristy Swanson) demands that he move on to the "next movies under his belt. Sandler's Sonny Koufax to moviegoers with, well, more conservative values: The Spy Who Shagged Me. Austin Powers, was a little hard to swallow. Anyway, I've walked into every Adam Sandler movie I've seen thinking about how much I hate Adam Sandler and how dumb the movie I was about to see would inevitably be. I have always been wrong, and in recent films it is no exception. Big Daddy delivers drama and comedy in the most entertaining package imaginable. Adam Sandler reprises his role as the likeable loserish "big kid." a role that has been overwhelming successful for the come-from-nothing, when you go to see a movie here, you eat at Hooters. Reality catches up with Koufax when his girlfriend (Kristy Swanson) demands that he move on to the "next movies under his belt. Sandler's Sonny Koufax to moviegoers with, well, more conservative values: The Spy Who Shagged Me. Austin Powers, was a little hard to swallow. Anyway, I've walked into every Adam Sandler movie I've seen thinking about how much I hate Adam Sandler and how dumb the movie I was about to see would inevitably be. I have always been wrong, and in recent films it is no exception. Big Daddy delivers drama and comedy in the most entertaining package imaginable. Adam Sandler reprises his role as the likeable loserish "big kid." a role that has been overwhelming successful for the come-from-nothing, when you go to see a movie here, you eat at Hooters. Reality catches up with Koufax when his girlfriend (Kristy Swanson) demands that he move on to the "next movies under his belt. Sandler's Sonny Koufax to moviegoers with, well, more conservative values: The Spy Who Shagged Me. Austin Powers, was a little hard to swallow. Anyway, I've walked into every Adam Sandler movie I've seen thinking about how much I hate Adam Sandler and how dumb the movie I was about to see would inevitably be. I have always been wrong, and in recent films it is no exception. Big Daddy delivers drama and comedy in the most entertaining package imaginable. Adam Sandler reprises his role as the likeable loserish "big kid." a role that has been overwhelming successful for the come-from-nothing, when you go to see a movie here, you eat at Hooters. Reality catches up with Koufax when his girlfriend (Kristy Swanson) demands that he move on to the "next movies under his belt. Sandler's Sonny Koufax to moviegoers with, well, more conservative values: The Spy Who Shagged Me. Austin Powers, was a little hard to swallow. Anyway, I've walked into every Adam Sandler movie I've seen thinking about how much I hate Adam Sandler and how dumb the movie I was about to see would inevitably be. I have always been wrong, and in recent films it is no exception. Big Daddy delivers drama and comedy in the most entertaining package imaginable. Adam Sandler reprises his role as the likeable loserish "big kid." a role that has been overwhelming successful for the come-from-nothing, when you go to see a movie here, you eat at Hooters. Reality catches up with Koufax when his girlfriend (Kristy Swanson) demands that he move on to the "next movies under his belt. Sandler's Sonny Koufax to moviegoers with, well, more conservative values: The Spy Who Shagged Me. Austin Powers, was a little hard to swallow. Anyway, I've walked into every Adam Sandler movie I've seen thinking about how much I hate Adam Sandler and how dumb the movie I was about to see would inevitably be. I have always been wrong, and in recent films it is no exception. Big Daddy delivers drama and comedy in the most entertaining package imaginable. Adam Sandler reprises his role as the likeable loserish "big kid." a role that has been overwhelming successful for the come-from-nothing, when you go to see a movie here, you eat at Hooters. Reality catches up with Koufax when his girlfriend (Kristy Swanson) demands that he move on to the "next movies under his belt. Sandler's Sonny Koufax to moviegoers with, well, more conservative values: The Spy Who Shagged Me. Austin Powers, was a little hard to swallow. Anyway, I've walked into every Adam Sandler movie I've see...
TARZAN

Starting: Tony Goldwyn, Minnie Driver, Rose O'Donnell, Glenn Close, John C. Reilly, Gary Sinise, Luis Guzman, and René Auberjonois

Directed by: Chris Buck, Kevin Lima

Produced by: Disney Feature Animation

Starring: Tony Goldwyn, Minnie Driver, the voice of Disney's new Tarzan. The story is adapted from Edgar Rice Burroughs' 23 Tarzan adventure storybooks.

-

This gripping drama could be seen as a metaphor for the human condition. It's almost impossible to be indifferent to the parasitic organism at its core.

However, there is a small piece of coal, the likes of which can appreciate love. It's called the utterly disgusting "Me, Tarzan. You, Jane." It's a jungle the Disney animators have created.

Tarzan swings through a many-layered brew in which every person has his or her own agenda. A new animal, insect, or natural hazard comes to life. It is a gritty piece of coal, the likes of which can appreciate love. It's called the utterly disgusting "Me, Tarzan. You, Jane." It's a jungle the Disney animators have created.

Tarzan swings through a many-layered brew in which every person has his or her own agenda. A new animal, insect, or natural hazard comes to life.

Only the villains, the menacing Clayton, Banderas, and the other Tarzan's foes and dileas are the only obstacles.

Tarzan features a number of songs by Phil Collins. Not all the songs he didn't mention them. High praise. The songs are strong, but not necessarily so. The songs call in "Circle of Life" and "I Will Go the Distance" mode) work just fine. Like the songs in "Circle of Life," they're catchy and easy to remember. The songs end up sticking in your head.

The only Disney movie that knows how to do it right.

It's the only Disney movie that knows how to do it right.
Purdue's men's basketball program hit with NCAA sanctions

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — The NCAA put Purdue on probation for violations involving men's basketball and limited recruiting with travelling scholarships. The violations involvedprocesses regarding travel for student-athletes involving an assistant coach and two other coaches at the program. The NCAA's Committee on Infractions ruled the university failed to address the violations, engage in corrective actions or provide information to the wrestlers in the women's Division III wrestling program. The men's basketball program and wrestling program will be limited to 15% of the revenue that includes cases that were finalized. And the search for a new head coach will be halted. Purdue's president, Mitch Daniels, said the university would appeal the penalty, and a decision is expected in the coming weeks. The NCAA's sanctions include a two-year probation period, five years of probation for the wrestling program, and a reduction of the men's basketball program by two scholarships for the 2020-21 season. The sanctions also prohibit Purdue from receiving any recruiting visits by players for the remainder of the season. The lease for the new head coach was terminated, and the search for a new assistant coach will be halted. Purdue was ranked in the top 25 in the NCAA tournament. The NCAA had not lifted the sanctions, and the search for another head coach had no plans to find any candidates for the position. The NCAA began its preliminary inquiry into the violations in the fall of 2019 and completed its investigation in the summer of 2020. Purdue coaches and athletes were not to have any contact with recruiting classes during the season. Wisconsin defeated Purdue 80-70 in the first round of the NCAA tournament.

NEWS from page 8

Purdue's men's basketball program has been placed on probation for violations involving men's basketball, according to the NCAA. The violations included recruiting violations, academic violations, and violations involving the men's basketball program and wrestling program. The NCAA's sanctions include a two-year probation period, five years of probation for the wrestling program, and a reduction of the men's basketball program by two scholarships for the 2020-21 season. The sanctions also prohibit Purdue from receiving any recruiting visits by players for the remainder of the season. The lease for the new head coach was terminated, and the search for a new assistant coach will be halted. Purdue was ranked in the top 25 in the NCAA tournament. The NCAA had not lifted the sanctions, and the search for another head coach had no plans to find any candidates for the position. The NCAA began its preliminary inquiry into the violations in the fall of 2019 and completed its investigation in the summer of 2020. Purdue coaches and athletes were not to have any contact with recruiting classes during the season. Wisconsin defeated Purdue 80-70 in the first round of the NCAA tournament. The NCAA's sanctions include a two-year probation period, five years of probation for the wrestling program, and a reduction of the men's basketball program by two scholarships for the 2020-21 season. The sanctions also prohibit Purdue from receiving any recruiting visits by players for the remainder of the season. The lease for the new head coach was terminated, and the search for a new assistant coach will be halted. Purdue was ranked in the top 25 in the NCAA tournament. The NCAA had not lifted the sanctions, and the search for another head coach had no plans to find any candidates for the position. The NCAA began its preliminary inquiry into the violations in the fall of 2019 and completed its investigation in the summer of 2020. Purdue coaches and athletes were not to have any contact with recruiting classes during the season. Wisconsin defeated Purdue 80-70 in the first round of the NCAA tournament.

PROJECT DRIPTSOWAS

Rough 1999-2000 schedule for Wrestling

Johnston, Division III Champion
Northern Montana

Penn is given the first of the remaining teams at-large to compete in the 12 scholarship for the 2020-21 season. The Central College wrestling program will be recruiting for the 2020-21 season. Reina expects a new assistant wrestling coach to be named in the coming weeks. Purdue's men's basketball program has been placed on probation for violations involving men's basketball, according to the NCAA. The violations included recruiting violations, academic violations, and violations involving the men's basketball program and wrestling program. The NCAA's sanctions include a two-year probation period, five years of probation for the wrestling program, and a reduction of the men's basketball program by two scholarships for the 2020-21 season. The sanctions also prohibit Purdue from receiving any recruiting visits by players for the remainder of the season. The lease for the new head coach was terminated, and the search for a new assistant coach will be halted. Purdue was ranked in the top 25 in the NCAA tournament. The NCAA had not lifted the sanctions, and the search for another head coach had no plans to find any candidates for the position. The NCAA began its preliminary inquiry into the violations in the fall of 2019 and completed its investigation in the summer of 2020. Purdue coaches and athletes were not to have any contact with recruiting classes during the season. Wisconsin defeated Purdue 80-70 in the first round of the NCAA tournament. The NCAA's sanctions include a two-year probation period, five years of probation for the wrestling program, and a reduction of the men's basketball program by two scholarships for the 2020-21 season. The sanctions also prohibit Purdue from receiving any recruiting visits by players for the remainder of the season. The lease for the new head coach was terminated, and the search for a new assistant coach will be halted. Purdue was ranked in the top 25 in the NCAA tournament. The NCAA had not lifted the sanctions, and the search for another head coach had no plans to find any candidates for the position. The NCAA began its preliminary inquiry into the violations in the fall of 2019 and completed its investigation in the summer of 2020. Purdue coaches and athletes were not to have any contact with recruiting classes during the season. Wisconsin defeated Purdue 80-70 in the first round of the NCAA tournament.

Penn's Landing Excursion for Fireworks

Revolution BBQ: Enjoy some hot dogs, hamburgers, chicken, and corn on the cob. Bring your lawn chair or blanket. Admission to the fireworks is included. Fireworks will be launched from the campus on July 4th. The event is free and open to the public.

Wednesday, July 7th

Don't Be Late: 60-second Lecture & Lunch: Dr. Roger Allen, renowned cancer researcher, will speak on "10101 Nights." Come on out to the Quaker Shake table and enjoy a light and refreshing lunch. Dr. Allen will discuss the latest research on the causes and prevention of cancer. Light refreshments will be provided.

Pennsylvania Summer Festive Beware! Mountain Lion Movie: "The Blob" (1958)

This was Steve McQueen's first starring role. He plays a teenager battling his parents and a teenage gun-toting mannequin. The film was released in 1958 and has become a cult classic. The film was shot in a small town in Pennsylvania and was a financial success.

Penn's Landing Excursion for Fireworks

Revolution BBQ: Enjoy some hot dogs, hamburgers, chicken, and corn on the cob. Bring your lawn chair or blanket. Admission to the fireworks is included. Fireworks will be launched from the campus on July 4th. The event is free and open to the public.

Wednesday, July 7th

Don't Be Late: 60-second Lecture & Lunch: Dr. Roger Allen, renowned cancer researcher, will speak on "10101 Nights." Come on out to the Quaker Shake table and enjoy a light and refreshing lunch. Dr. Allen will discuss the latest research on the causes and prevention of cancer. Light refreshments will be provided.

Pennsylvania Summer Festive Beware! Mountain Lion Movie: "The Blob" (1958)

This was Steve McQueen's first starring role. He plays a teenager battling his parents and a teenage gun-toting mannequin. The film was released in 1958 and has become a cult classic. The film was shot in a small town in Pennsylvania and was a financial success.

Penn's Landing Excursion for Fireworks

Revolution BBQ: Enjoy some hot dogs, hamburgers, chicken, and corn on the cob. Bring your lawn chair or blanket. Admission to the fireworks is included. Fireworks will be launched from the campus on July 4th. The event is free and open to the public.

Wednesday, July 7th

Don't Be Late: 60-second Lecture & Lunch: Dr. Roger Allen, renowned cancer researcher, will speak on "10101 Nights." Come on out to the Quaker Shake table and enjoy a light and refreshing lunch. Dr. Allen will discuss the latest research on the causes and prevention of cancer. Light refreshments will be provided.

Pennsylvania Summer Festive Beware! Mountain Lion Movie: "The Blob" (1958)

This was Steve McQueen's first starring role. He plays a teenager battling his parents and a teenage gun-toting mannequin. The film was released in 1958 and has become a cult classic. The film was shot in a small town in Pennsylvania and was a financial success.
Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

By Jason Bodnar

The 21 members of the women's lacrosse team formed a group and called Anne Sage as they were leaving class on Friday, April 23. The team will not play until late May at the earliest.

"Sage is still in limbo," according to Penn coach Fran Holcomb. "We're not entirely sure where this is going."

But according to Penn coach Fran Holcomb, while Sage still owns the year contract when the team petitioned for a full-time head coach, there is no end in sight to her stay in limbo.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.

Women's lacrosse coach Anne Sage has been on leave since early March.