Wharton OKs e-commerce track for MBAs

Officials are following a national trend with the new concentration in Internet business.

By Eric Dash

When the Internet revolution hit big business, the Wharton School was in a better position to take advantage of the new, online environment.

The school is one of several business schools that recently approved a new concentration in the area of Internet business, beginning with the MBA Class of 2000.

---

The Daily Pennsylvanian

Students stage sit-in for Rodin

Sweatshop activists held the protest to demand a talk with the president.

By Jeffrey Joseph

A crowd of Penn Rodin initiatives members, Penn's chapter of United Students Against Sweatshops, held a sit-in before President Judith Rodin's chief of staff, Steve Schutt, yesterday afternoon as USAS member and College sophomore Harrison Blum, left, requests to meet with Rodin.

The students entered the waiting room of the Rodin's office at 1:30 p.m. and said that they planned to stay until the president would hear them, USAS members say.

Amid chants of "Hey, Rodin, take a seat," several members of the Penn's chapter of United Students Against Sweatshops held a sit-in before President Judith Rodin's chief of staff, Steve Schutt, yesterday afternoon as USAS member and College sophomore Harrison Blum, left, requests to meet with Rodin.

The students entered the waiting room of the Rodin's office at 1:30 p.m. and said that they planned to stay until the president would hear them, USAS members say.

Amid chants of "Hey, Rodin, take a seat," several members of the Penn's chapter of United Students Against Sweatshops held a sit-in before President Judith Rodin's chief of staff, Steve Schutt, yesterday afternoon as USAS member and College sophomore Harrison Blum, left, requests to meet with Rodin.

The students entered the waiting room of the Rodin's office at 1:30 p.m. and said that they planned to stay until the president would hear them, USAS members say.

Amid chants of "Hey, Rodin, take a seat," several members of the Penn's chapter of United Students Against Sweatshops held a sit-in before President Judith Rodin's chief of staff, Steve Schutt, yesterday afternoon as USAS member and College sophomore Harrison Blum, left, requests to meet with Rodin.

The students entered the waiting room of the Rodin's office at 1:30 p.m. and said that they planned to stay until the president would hear them, USAS members say.

Amid chants of "Hey, Rodin, take a seat," several members of the Penn's chapter of United Students Against Sweatshops held a sit-in before President Judith Rodin's chief of staff, Steve Schutt, yesterday afternoon as USAS member and College sophomore Harrison Blum, left, requests to meet with Rodin.

The students entered the waiting room of the Rodin's office at 1:30 p.m. and said that they planned to stay until the president would hear them, USAS members say.

Amid chants of "Hey, Rodin, take a seat," several members of the Penn's chapter of United Students Against Sweatshops held a sit-in before President Judith Rodin's chief of staff, Steve Schutt, yesterday afternoon as USAS member and College sophomore Harrison Blum, left, requests to meet with Rodin.

The students entered the waiting room of the Rodin's office at 1:30 p.m. and said that they planned to stay until the president would hear them, USAS members say.

Amid chants of "Hey, Rodin, take a seat," several members of the Penn's chapter of United Students Against Sweatshops held a sit-in before President Judith Rodin's chief of staff, Steve Schutt, yesterday afternoon as USAS member and College sophomore Harrison Blum, left, requests to meet with Rodin.

The students entered the waiting room of the Rodin's office at 1:30 p.m. and said that they planned to stay until the president would hear them, USAS members say.

Amid chants of "Hey, Rodin, take a seat," several members of the Penn's chapter of United Students Against Sweatshops held a sit-in before President Judith Rodin's chief of staff, Steve Schutt, yesterday afternoon as USAS member and College sophomore Harrison Blum, left, requests to meet with Rodin.

The students entered the waiting room of the Rodin's office at 1:30 p.m. and said that they planned to stay until the president would hear them, USAS members say.
Penn Commission panel tackles media ethics

The "Donald" to visit his alma mater for taped talk show appearance

Ben Franklin would have liked The Palladium

Grant Thornton LLP will be holding...

Information Sessions November 16, 1999

and Campus Interviews November 30, 1999

Please feel free to visit our website at www.grantthornton.com

or, for more information, contact
Jacqueline Melzer
Director of Human Resources
at jmelzer@grtt.com

Grant Thornton LLP will be holding...

Information Sessions November 16, 1999

and Campus Interviews November 30, 1999

Please feel free to visit our website at www.grantthornton.com

or, for more information, contact
Jacqueline Melzer
Director of Human Resources
at jmelzer@grtt.com

E-commerce track to put MBAs on the cutting edge

The newsroom of the future will be...
Students stage sit-in to force Rodin into sweatshop talks

Students began a sit-in Tuesday to pressure university President Donald J. Rodin to meet with them to discuss sweatshop labor at the university-owned Penn-Hempstead Textiles plant in North Carolina.

The group of Penn students, faculty and staff members are demanding that Rodin withdraw from the Fair Labor Association, an industry-friendly labor group, and begin requiring license for clothing made in sweatshops — which guarantees workers’ rights without allowing workers to choose their own union. According to Keene, Rodin told the group she welcomed the opportunity to meet with them, though they surprised that they were able to force Rodin into the meeting.

Careers in Portfolio Management

Hawthorn will be on campus December 6 to interview for Assistant Portfolio Managers.

You are welcome to attend our information session:

SHDH 106

Wednesday, November 10, 1999

6:15 PM

Preceptorials Program

The Spring 2000 Preceptorials

Preceptorials are short, not-for-credit seminars generated by students and led by the University's most lauded faculty and staff. This SCIE initiated program promotes student faculty interaction and learning its own sake by linking seminars to 8 to 15 students and offering knowledge as the only compensation. Preceptorials registration is done through PennTouch. Use the numbers with each description to register. You may register for up to five preceptorials. Additional requests will be dropped.

American Foreign Policy and the Presidential Campaign

PRE-C100-001

Professor Scott A. Silverstone

Dates: TBA

Limit: 15 students

Description: During the 1996 presidential contest both candidates focused on foreign policy—although their vocabularies were sometimes different. This seminar will discuss the campaign scope and the impact of foreign policy on the outcome of an election. The class will study the world in which the candidates operated and compare the ways in which both candidates discussed foreign policy with the views of the American public.

Electing a President for the New Millennium

PRE-C200-001

Professor Michael Fischman

Dates: TBA

Limit: 15 students

Description: Through the preparation of former Professor Michael Fischman's seminar, students have learned that the electoral college is complex and highly charged. It can prove a difficult topic for students to understand. This Preceptorial will explore the electoral college and its role in the presidential election. The seminar will analyze the role of the electoral college in shaping the outcome of presidential elections and will examine the arguments for and against its retention.

From Bugatti to Bridges of Faith: The Jewish-Christian Relationship, Historical Criticism and Contemporary Realities

PRE-C300-001

Professor David Rudolph

Dates: TBA

Limit: 15 students

Description: For two thousand years, the relationship between Jews and Christians has been a significant part of western civilization. The seminar addresses the history of the Jewish-Christian relationship, focusing on the development of the relationship from the first century to the present. The seminar also examines the impact of the relationship on modern-day Judaism and Christianity.

Food and Life

PRE-C400-001

Professor Paul Rozin

Dates: TBA

Limit: 10 students

Description: This seminar provides a comprehensive introduction to the scientific study of food and society. The seminar covers topics such as the role of food in cultural identity, the importance of food in social interaction, and the psychology of eating. The seminar also includes discussions on the role of food in cultural identity, the importance of food in social interaction, and the psychology of eating.

What's Hot With the Brain?

PRE-C500-001

Professor Robert Barch

Dates: Monday, February 22, 29 and March 6, 6:40-8:00 p.m.

Limit: 15 students

Description: The seminar provides a comprehensive introduction to the scientific study of food and society. The seminar covers topics such as the role of food in cultural identity, the importance of food in social interaction, and the psychology of eating. The seminar also includes discussions on the role of food in cultural identity, the importance of food in social interaction, and the psychology of eating.
PENN to replace modem pool with ISP service off campus

"...but the price, good quality!!!" O'Donnell said.

Every year we've been in a quandary where we can't get anywhere anymore." Currently operating the system consists of about 1,280 modems that support over 1,000 users -- costs Penn over $1 million annually, a premium which drops off from rent paid by students living on campus who aren't even using the service.

University administrators plan to begin charging users and require users to be on the phones and the Internet simultaneously while using one phone line.

UC Connect -- a Penn initiative aiming to bring state-of-the-art Internet access to the university community and ISC administrators plan to work with UC Connect officials to recruit commercial ISPs by the July deadline.

Visit The Preceptorials Website at: http://dolphin.upenn.edu/~precepts
Email: precepts@dolphin.upenn.edu

PRECEPTORIALS PROGRAM

The Spring 2000 Preceptorials

Preceptorials are short, low-commitment seminars generated by students and led by the University's most talented faculty and staff. This SCUE-initiated program promotes student-faculty interaction and learning in its own right by limiting seminars to 1 to 15 students and offering knowledge as the only compensation. Preceptorial registration is done through PennTouch. Use the numbers with each description to register. You may register for up to five preceptorials. Additional requests will be dropped.

Life Drawing Studio
PREC-126-001
Professor Doug Martenson
This seminar in anatomy and anatomy will be taught by Boston School of the Fine Arts Professor Doug Martenson. Students will be encouraged to make independent observations, and the course will focus on the study of the human figure, with special emphasis on anatomy and perspective. Students will be asked to construct a living human figure from a live model. Please note: We will be working from a live figure.

Dates: Tuesday, February 15, 22, 29; 4:30 - 6:00 p.m.
Limit: 15 students

Gene Therapy: Cure or Misnomer?
PREC-146-001
Professor Jon Merz
The ethical and moral issues of gene therapy have raised questions about the role of the physician in the current health care system. Participants will lead informal discussions touching upon the ethical issues of gene therapy. Our focus will be on the protection of human subjects in health care research. Students will discuss the ethical implications of gene therapy and the future of health care research.

Dates: Wednesdays, February 17, 24, March 2; 6:00 - 8:00 p.m.
Limit: 15 students

Columbia University

Photo workshp in the Visual Diary
PREC-130-001
Professor Becky Young
The Visual Diary was originated in South America and is being adopted in the United States of America. It is an experimental form of visual self-expression which permits viewers to explore the artist's perceptions of the world. The Visual Diary has been described as a "window on the mind." Visual diary work is comprised of a personal journal which is used for documenting one's perceptions of the physical environment and the internal world of the artist. The Visual Diary is an "artist's journal," an "inner notebook," and a "work in progress." It is a visual and verbal record of one's thoughts, feelings, and perceptions. As students will sing songs, listen to others, and discuss how these songs reveal changes in various ways of making a living. This Preceptorial focuses on the participatory process.

Dates: Thursday, February 20, 20-12-3PM.
Limit: 8 students

The Pearls & Perils of Becoming an M.D.
PREC-180-001
Professor Bernard Bloom
All the contradictions of a description of a physician's life from the perspective of the author of "The Structures of Death." Students will explore the notion of "death" as a concept, examine the role of the physician in society, and consider the role of the physician in the community. Students will discuss the role of the physician in the community and how the physician's role in society has changed over time. The seminar will focus on the prevention of sexual violence with a focus on the Penn campus. Students will discuss the role of the physician in society and the role of the physician in society.

Dates: Thursday, February 24, March 2; 6:00 - 8:00 p.m.
Limit: 15 students

Visit The Preceptorials Website at: http://dolphin.upenn.edu/~precepts
Email: precepts@dolphin.upenn.edu

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS

JOBS

Click on:
http://209.3.151.10/Vee
Between 11/10/99 and 11/24/99
We welcome winter and spring graduates.

http://www.cse.columbia.edu/yp/

Off-Campus Learning Opportunities Through
Columbia University

Students

Visit Students

Summer Session

For more information:
(212) 854-502
http://www.columbia.edu
Or visit Website

CONTINUING EDUCATION AND
SPECIAL PROGRAMS

NEWS

Visit The Preceptorials Website at: http://dolphin.upenn.edu/~precepts
Email: precepts@dolphin.upenn.edu
the constitutional arguments of the NRA ing to stand.

In 1983, the Supreme Court de-...
U. Police move toward natl. recognition

By Rod Korta

Seeking to join a select group of law enforcement agencies across the country, the University of Pennsylvania Police Department recently applied for accreditation by the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies. University Police Chief Robert Maynard said that the process, which is expected to be completed within a year, will likely wrap up during the summer months.

"We believe that we are doing an excellent job here on this campus and we thought it was time we got national recognition for our efforts," Maynard said. "We are really just trying to do what other police departments across the country are doing to give people a sense of security while they are here on campus."[1, 2]

Maynard said that the accreditation process is not a requirement for the department, but that the department is seeking the recognition to help improve the quality of service the department provides.

"We want to be the best police department we can be," Maynard said. "We want to be the best in the state and the best in the country. We believe that we can do that by getting national recognition."[3, 4]

Maynard said that the department has been working on the accreditation process for several years and that the application process was recently completed.

"We have been working on this for a while," Maynard said. "We have been working on it for the last few years and we are just now getting ready to apply."[5, 6]

Maynard said that the department has been working closely with the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies and that the department has been working to improve the quality of service the department provides.

"We have been working on this for a long time," Maynard said. "We have been working on it for a very long time and we are just now getting ready to apply."[7, 8]

Maynard said that the department is looking forward to the accreditation process and that the department is looking forward to the recognition it will receive.

"We are very excited about this," Maynard said. "We are very excited about the recognition we will receive."[9, 10]

Maynard said that the department is looking forward to the accreditation process and that the department is looking forward to the recognition it will receive.

"We are very excited about this," Maynard said. "We are very excited about the recognition we will receive."[11, 12]
Senate backs GOP's minimum wage hike

A bill calls for an $1 increase in the wage within three years and will give businesses large tax breaks.

WASHINGTON — With eyes cast toward the hard-won Election Day victory yesterday to give minimum-wage workers a chance at a better life — but the increase to $5.15 is an off-year event — President George W. Bush signed a measure yesterday that contained a provision to give some reversal for the American people in going to is an achievement."

The vote was 44-4 for the Republican measure. A fewest such, the Senate had rejected, 58-40, a Democratic alternative raising the minimum wage on a $1 a year and providing $8 billion in tax relief. That measure would have also raised other taxes.

If the GOP bill becomes law, the current $5.15-hour minimum wage would rise $1 by 2000 and $2 by 2001, with a provision on $2 by 2001 and $3 by 2002. Bush signed the bill in the presence of many of the workers who supported the legislation.

The five-year tax package includes a $1,000 bonus deduction for personal, a $500 bonus deduction for joint filers and $250 for head of household.

But...
Jackson defends four teens charged in brawl

Rev. Jesse Jackson earlier protests of their expulsions for fighting caused the high school's crowded closing.

Jackson, whose protests led officials to create a Decatur Community School Board, said yesterday: "We're defending them now because we've been asked to defend them." The four boys were all charged with assault, robbery and battery. Two of these charged with assault were among six high school football players who had been expelled for fighting.

Jackson's comments echoed those of California Sen. Daniel S. Inouye, a Democrat, who said yesterday he expected Israel to return all occupied lands to both sides. "It will only make matters worse," Jackson said. "International legality," he said, "is being shown to be more than a joke."

Yesterday, an attorney for six students involved in the fight asked a federal judge to order the district to immediately reinstate them. A lawsuit filed on their behalf said their exclusions from school was "an assault on their civil rights" and has caused "irreparable harm.

Jackson has characterized it as a simple fistfight, but school officials called it a melee.

Jackson, who brought thousands of people to Washington to protest the 1967 war, has said Monday's fighting is the "developing stage of the Israeli-Palestinian war." He said the school board's decision was "a legitimate function for the states to perform the function for the states to perform.

Jackson, who brought thousands of people to Washington to protest the 1967 war, has said Monday's fighting is the "developing stage of the Israeli-Palestinian war." He said the school board's decision was "a legitimate function for the states to perform.

Jackson was a member of the Decatur Community School Board, which was formed two months ago to handle school board matters. The board's decision was based on charges filed by school officials.

Jackson, whose protests led officials to create a Decatur Community School Board, said yesterday: "We're defending them now because we've been asked to defend them." The four boys were all charged with assault, robbery and battery. Two of these charged with assault were among six high school football players who had been expelled for fighting.

Jackson's comments echoed those of California Sen. Daniel S. Inouye, a Democrat, who said yesterday he expected Israel to return all occupied lands to both sides. "It will only make matters worse," Jackson said. "International legality," he said, "is being shown to be more than a joke."

Yesterday, an attorney for six students involved in the fight asked a federal judge to order the district to immediately reinstate them. A lawsuit filed on their behalf said their exclusions from school was "an assault on their civil rights" and has caused "irreparable harm.

Jackson has characterized it as a simple fistfight, but school officials called it a melee.

Jackson, who brought thousands of people to Washington to protest the 1967 war, has said Monday's fighting is the "developing stage of the Israeli-Palestinian war." He said the school board's decision was "a legitimate function for the states to perform.

Jackson, who brought thousands of people to Washington to protest the 1967 war, has said Monday's fighting is the "developing stage of the Israeli-Palestinian war." He said the school board's decision was "a legitimate function for the states to perform.

Jackson was a member of the Decatur Community School Board, which was formed two months ago to handle school board matters. The board's decision was based on charges filed by school officials.

Jackson, whose protests led officials to create a Decatur Community School Board, said yesterday: "We're defending them now because we've been asked to defend them." The four boys were all charged with assault, robbery and battery. Two of these charged with assault were among six high school football players who had been expelled for fighting.

Jackson's comments echoed those of California Sen. Daniel S. Inouye, a Democrat, who said yesterday he expected Israel to return all occupied lands to both sides. "It will only make matters worse," Jackson said. "International legality," he said, "is being shown to be more than a joke."

Yesterday, an attorney for six students involved in the fight asked a federal judge to order the district to immediately reinstate them. A lawsuit filed on their behalf said their exclusions from school was "an assault on their civil rights" and has caused "irreparable harm.

Jackson has characterized it as a simple fistfight, but school officials called it a melee.

Jackson, who brought thousands of people to Washington to protest the 1967 war, has said Monday's fighting is the "developing stage of the Israeli-Palestinian war." He said the school board's decision was "a legitimate function for the states to perform.

Jackson, who brought thousands of people to Washington to protest the 1967 war, has said Monday's fighting is the "developing stage of the Israeli-Palestinian war." He said the school board's decision was "a legitimate function for the states to perform.

Jackson was a member of the Decatur Community School Board, which was formed two months ago to handle school board matters. The board's decision was based on charges filed by school officials.

Jackson, whose protests led officials to create a Decatur Community School Board, said yesterday: "We're defending them now because we've been asked to defend them." The four boys were all charged with assault, robbery and battery. Two of these charged with assault were among six high school football players who had been expelled for fighting.

Jackson's comments echoed those of California Sen. Daniel S. Inouye, a Democrat, who said yesterday he expected Israel to return all occupied lands to both sides. "It will only make matters worse," Jackson said. "International legality," he said, "is being shown to be more than a joke."

Yesterday, an attorney for six students involved in the fight asked a federal judge to order the district to immediately reinstate them. A lawsuit filed on their behalf said their exclusions from school was "an assault on their civil rights" and has caused "irreparable harm.

Jackson has characterized it as a simple fistfight, but school officials called it a melee.

Jackson, who brought thousands of people to Washington to protest the 1967 war, has said Monday's fighting is the "developing stage of the Israeli-Palestinian war." He said the school board's decision was "a legitimate function for the states to perform.

Jackson, who brought thousands of people to Washington to protest the 1967 war, has said Monday's fighting is the "developing stage of the Israeli-Palestinian war." He said the school board's decision was "a legitimate function for the states to perform.

Jackson was a member of the Decatur Community School Board, which was formed two months ago to handle school board matters. The board's decision was based on charges filed by school officials.

Jackson, whose protests led officials to create a Decatur Community School Board, said yesterday: "We're defending them now because we've been asked to defend them." The four boys were all charged with assault, robbery and battery. Two of these charged with assault were among six high school football players who had been expelled for fighting.

Jackson's comments echoed those of California Sen. Daniel S. Inouye, a Democrat, who said yesterday he expected Israel to return all occupied lands to both sides. "It will only make matters worse," Jackson said. "International legality," he said, "is being shown to be more than a joke."

Yesterday, an attorney for six students involved in the fight asked a federal judge to order the district to immediately reinstate them. A lawsuit filed on their behalf said their exclusions from school was "an assault on their civil rights" and has caused "irreparable harm.

Jackson has characterized it as a simple fistfight, but school officials called it a melee.

Jackson, who brought thousands of people to Washington to protest the 1967 war, has said Monday's fighting is the "developing stage of the Israeli-Palestinian war." He said the school board's decision was "a legitimate function for the states to perform.

Jackson, who brought thousands of people to Washington to protest the 1967 war, has said Monday's fighting is the "developing stage of the Israeli-Palestinian war." He said the school board's decision was "a legitimate function for the states to perform.

Jackson was a member of the Decatur Community School Board, which was formed two months ago to handle school board matters. The board's decision was based on charges filed by school officials.
Mr. / Ms. Penn contestants take center stage in Irvine

By Nicole Nordlicht

The daily daily news

If only you knew some of the rippling muscles that may very well be hiding behind that friendly smile. Last night, June of our wide - eyed, well-stacked bodies - clad in a rainbow of bikinis, briefs and even a superman cape - filled the stage in Irvine Auditorium in the seventh annual Mr. and Ms. Penn competition. The event, which brings together the best of Penn's community in a beauty pageant organized by Penn's women's athletic teams, is one of the most anticipated events of the year for players. The participants of the Penn community participate in the event, which is sponsored by Penn's women's athletic teams.

The Mr. Penn is designed to showcase the fitness and form of the contestants, while the Ms. Penn pageant is designed to celebrate the accomplishments of the women. Both events are judged on a variety of criteria, including physical appearance, personality, and talent. The Mr. Penn is judged on categories such as height, weight, and overall physique, while the Ms. Penn is judged on categories such as poise, grace, and talent.

The competition is open to all members of the University of Pennsylvania community, including students, staff, and faculty. The event is organized by the University of Pennsylvania Athletics Department and is held annually. The Mr. and Ms. Penn contests are held in various locations across the campus, including Penn's main campus and the University of Pennsylvania's satellite campuses.

The competition is judged by a panel of experts, including former Mr. and Ms. Penn winners. The judges evaluate each contestant's physical appearance, poise, and talent, as well as their ability to communicate with the audience. The contestants are also judged on their ability to perform in a variety of categories, such as dance, voice, and才艺表演.

The Mr. and Ms. Penn contests are a favorite among the University of Pennsylvania community. The event is highly anticipated and is attended by thousands of people each year. The competition is broadcast on television, and the winners are announced at the end of the event. The Mr. and Ms. Penn contests are a celebration of the University of Pennsylvania's diverse community and the achievements of its members.

The event is a fun and exciting way to showcase the talent and diversity of the University of Pennsylvania community. The Mr. and Ms. Penn contests are a important part of the University of Pennsylvania's culture and history, and are a testament to the university's commitment to fostering a community that is inclusive and supportive of all its members.
Surging Quakers meet host Dukes in first round of NCAA Tourney

Wednesday, November 10, 1999

N. SOCCER from page 16

The Daily Pennsylvania! Page 11

SPOrTS

W. Soccer 🏆 at James Madison NCAA Tournament 7 p.m.

Thursday NO ACTION TODAY

Friday 🏈 Sprint Football vs. Minnesota 7:30 p.m.

M. Soccer 🏒 vs. University of Pennsylvania 3 p.m.

DP SPORTS QUIZ

Who won the Mr. Penn title last night?

a) Football co-captain Jim Higsen
b) Josh Coleman
c) Nick Plagge
d) New IFC President Andrew Mandelbaum
e) Jim Morlock
f) Eric Dash

Who did you vote for?

When traveling home for Thanksgiving break, I normally:

ride with a friend of a friend and listen to 8 hrs. of Glam Metal. ☎️
call a cab and tick my parents off. 🛎️ think smart and use the Web. 🤓

When you have a choice, please answer the following:

Submit ✅

W. SOCCER 🏆 from page 16

surging Quakers meet host Dukes in first round of NCAA Tourney

history and earning an NCAA berth. Their high aspirations were dashed, though, when Penn went a disappointing 3-1-0 in the Ivy League despite posting a perfect 1-0 non-conference record. Because of the sub- par Ivy performance, the last-place Quakers were eliminated from any chance of making the NCAA tournament.

This year, though, with a new coach — Andy Nelson replaced Patrick Baker who took a job at Florida State — and a new "one game at a time" perspective, the Quakers rolled through their opponents on route to the first Ivy League regular season title in school history.

"We had high hopes for this season but we also had high hopes for last season and that really didn't get us far," Baker said of a fall that saw the Quakers go 3-0-1 in the Ivy League but lose 2-0 at Old Dominion University.

"We didn't look past anybody this year." This new attitude paid off and now the Quakers get to play in a match tonight that's as sure to in- fluence the future of the program as it is to validate the effort of every play- er who's worn the blue and gold in the team's four-year history.

"We realized that there were things we needed to earn our respect," said Danielson, who is also a Quakers defender. "That's a good opportunity to do it. Now that we're in, anything we do is going to be noticed. This is going to put our name out as a quality program. We're in the top 10 in the nation right now, and with a solid record over the overall records in team history.

"We had high hopes for this sea- son but we also had high hopes for last season and that really didn't get us far," Baker said of a fall that saw the Quakers go 3-0-1 in the Ivy League but lose 2-0 at Old Dominion University.

"We didn't look past anybody this year." This new attitude paid off and now the Quakers get to play in a match tonight that's as sure to in- fluence the future of the program as it is to validate the effort of every play- er who's worn the blue and gold in the team's four-year history.

"We realized that there were things we needed to earn our respect," said Danielson, who is also a Quakers defender. "That's a good opportunity to do it. Now that we're in, anything we do is going to be noticed. This is going in our name out as a quality program. We're in the top 10 in the nation right now, and with a solid record over the overall records in team history.

The Quakers can hardly afford to look past James Madison in the Round of 32, where they would face the Staten Island Rams at Christopher Newport University. In the Round of 32, Penn lost to the Dukes but returned to a five-game win streak and a five-game loss streak, respectively.

"We graduated seven seniors that year so it's a situation where we're starting five or six freshmen," coach David Lombardo, held a young but talented team. "We graduated seven seniors that year so it's a situation where we're starting five or six freshmen," coach David Lombardo, held a young but talented team. "When they finally get into the tournament, the Dukes, led by coach David Lombardo, held a young but talented team.

"We graduated seven seniors that year so it's a situation where we're starting five or six freshmen," coach David Lombardo, held a young but talented team. "When they finally get into the tournament, the Dukes, led by coach David Lombardo, held a young but talented team.

"We graduated seven seniors that year so it's a situation where we're starting five or six freshmen," coach David Lombardo, held a young but talented team. "When they finally get into the tournament, the Dukes, led by coach David Lombardo, held a young but talented team.

"We graduated seven seniors that year so it's a situation where we're starting five or six freshmen," coach David Lombardo, held a young but talented team. "When they finally get into the tournament, the Dukes, led by coach David Lombardo, held a young but talented team.

"We graduated seven seniors that year so it's a situation where we're starting five or six freshmen," coach David Lombardo, held a young but talented team. "When they finally get into the tournament, the Dukes, led by coach David Lombardo, held a young but talented team.
INVENTORY
Classifieds appear in the order of publication. Sometimes we can’t fit a heading in the Morning Bulletin. You can see a list of that type in today’s newspaper.

FOR RENT

SINGLE ROOM FOR RENT: 4th floor, 2 bed roommate apartment.

FOR SALE

SUBLET

40TH & SPRUCE APTS & HOUSES

FOR RENT, HOUSES

SINGLE ROOM in apartment 2nd floor, 4th floor, 1 bedroom, 1 bathroom, 1st floor, 2nd floor, 3rd floor. Call 215-627-8785.

SINGLE ROOMS in houses for rent.

SINGLE ROOM in apartment 2nd floor, 4th floor, 1 bedroom, 1 bathroom, 1st floor, 2nd floor, 3rd floor. Call 215-627-8785.

SINGLE ROOMS in houses for rent.

SINGLE ROOM in apartment 2nd floor, 4th floor, 1 bedroom, 1 bathroom, 1st floor, 2nd floor, 3rd floor. Call 215-627-8785.

SINGLE ROOMS in houses for rent.

SINGLE ROOM in apartment 2nd floor, 4th floor, 1 bedroom, 1 bathroom, 1st floor, 2nd floor, 3rd floor. Call 215-627-8785.

SINGLE ROOMS in houses for rent.

SINGLE ROOM in apartment 2nd floor, 4th floor, 1 bedroom, 1 bathroom, 1st floor, 2nd floor, 3rd floor. Call 215-627-8785.

SINGLE ROOMS in houses for rent.

SINGLE ROOM in apartment 2nd floor, 4th floor, 1 bedroom, 1 bathroom, 1st floor, 2nd floor, 3rd floor. Call 215-627-8785.

SINGLE ROOMS in houses for rent.

SINGLE ROOM in apartment 2nd floor, 4th floor, 1 bedroom, 1 bathroom, 1st floor, 2nd floor, 3rd floor. Call 215-627-8785.

SINGLE ROOMS in houses for rent.

SINGLE ROOM in apartment 2nd floor, 4th floor, 1 bedroom, 1 bathroom, 1st floor, 2nd floor, 3rd floor. Call 215-627-8785.

SINGLE ROOMS in houses for rent.
Senators suspend Yashid

KANATA, Ontario — The Ottawa Senators suspended Allen Yashil for the season Wednesday, an official with the NHL team said, after the captain missed captain's practice Tuesday. The official said that the suspension was due to a "lapse in judgment," but did not elaborate on the reason for the decision.

Yashil has been suspended twice before in his career, once for two games in 2008 and once for one game in 2009. The suspension will take effect immediately and will end on Jan. 1, 2010, the date of the next NHL trade deadline.

The suspension is the result of an incident that occurred during the Senators' game against the New Jersey Devils on Tuesday night. According to reports, Yashil faced off with Devils defenseman Aaron Asham and received a minor penalty for cross-checking. The Senators later announced that Yashil had been suspended for the rest of the season.

The suspension comes after a recent string of incidents involving Yashil, who has been involved in several altercations on the ice this season. In November, Yashil was suspended for one game after his hit on Boston Bruins winger Milan Lucic. Yashil was also suspended for one game earlier in the season after his hit on New York Rangers center Dan Girardi.

Yashil has 13 goals and 31 assists in 37 games this season for the Senators, who are currently in sixth place in the Eastern Conference. He has 14 points in his last 10 games.

Yashil's suspension is expected to be lifted after the next NHL trade deadline, which is scheduled for Jan. 31, 2010. The Senators have not announced a replacement for Yashil during his suspension.

---

Devils and Flyers' unbeaten streak

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — John LeClair got the goal for the Philadelphia Flyers, and the NHL's unbeaten streaks took another hit.

Eddie Olczyk had the Flyers' first power-play goal of the season between those clubs on Oct. 16. But the Flyers leave the top of the right faceoff circle and used his own shot in his own net to score in the opening period.

The Flyers scored a goal on the power play for the first time this season in the third period, limiting the amount of time the Flyers have to score one goal. The Flyers also scored a goal in the third period, limiting the amount of time the Flyers have to score one goal.

LeClair scored the first goal of the first period, following his own shot and converted the top of the right faceoff circle and used his own shot in his own net to score in the opening period.

The Flyers scored a goal on the power play for the first time this season in the third period, limiting the amount of time the Flyers have to score one goal. The Flyers also scored a goal in the third period, limiting the amount of time the Flyers have to score one goal.

---

Boggs to announce baseball retirement

MCAY (AP) — Wade Boggs, who became the third New York Yankees player to win 200 career home runs, will announce his retirement Wednesday.

Boggs, a free-time AL batting champion, played for the Tampa Bay Devil Rays the past two years after returning to the New York Yankees. But his time with the Yankees ended in 2006, and he was traded to the Devil Rays.

Boggs, who is on his honeymoon, said yesterday a news conference in Florida that this was the right time to announce his retirement.

"It's not that I'm done baseballing, it's not that I'm done hitting with anyone," Boggs said. "I just want to take a step back and reflect on the things that I've been doing in my career, and take a little bit of a break from the game."
W. Soccer to make NCAA Tournament debut

The 13-3-1 Quakers won an at-large bid and drew a first round matchup at James Madison tonight.

By Kyle Baker

Throughout their four years wearing the Red and Blue, the current seniors on the Penn women's soccer team have always been promised one thing. "They promise us a NCAA Tournament appearance, where we can take on some of the best in the country. The last time we were promised one was during my freshman year," senior Kristin Poplin said. "And less than 30 seconds later on the scoreboard first in yesterday's win over Stony Brook.

M. Squash aces first test as top team in the country

The Quakers made the Squawls look like fish out of water while picking up their fourth win of the season.

By Jason Bodnar

The Penn men's squash team played to full-house games of the season yesterday, as it took the top three spots on the day and ran through its schedule without a hiccup to go 4-0 on the day.

"We thought we were a better team, so I think the field was an equalizer for them," said Joost Booij today. "Our boys have been doing some great things and we didn't want to be beat, so we were able to win all their games."

The Quakers, however, seemed most impressed with the field conditions, as they won in over 25 minutes and both saw a breakdown early in the second half.