Traber settles into top UPHS position

While his office walls are bare, his plate is full as the Health Systems' new chief executive.

By Joshua Last

The Daily Pennsylvanian

Three weeks after taking over for the interim Health Systems CEO, Peter Traber, who filled the post last month after William Kelley was ousted, the new chief executive met with employees, students and members of the local news media.

"It has been three weeks since William Kelley was dismissed from his decade-long tenure at the helm of UPHS, the $1.9 billion juggernaut that in recent years went astray, leaving deficits in the hundreds of millions of dollars in its wake. It has been three weeks since Dr. Kelley's impact has been...nowhere near what it was intended to be," said Traber yesterday, adding that "there is an asterisk next to his title as Chief Executive Officer of the University of Pennsylvania Health System and dean of the School of Medicine."

"The interim period is over," Traber said. "PT: It would be premature for me to set out to make up for last year's higher-than-expected yield."

"We're going to be more conservative with admissions...we will use the wait list to control the class size," Traber said. "About 230 students more than were expected accepted admissions offers in this year's freshman class, resulting in a housing shortage this fall."

"This year's applicants are stronger than ever," Traber said. "Penn has moved into a new realm," Traber said. "The personal qualities of the students are exceptional."

The average SAT scores of the applicant group is 1520. But, Trister said, "It's not even close to where we're going to end up with our average for the Class of 2004."

Each of the four undergraduate schools had record numbers of applicants applying to Class of 2004.

Nearby, 19,000 high school seniors await the University's admissions letters.

Nader stops at Penn to discuss campaign

The consumer advocate is running for president on the Green Party ticket.

By Chris Bordelon

A subtle irony hung in the air of Room 1206 in Steinberg-Dietrich Hall yesterday afternoon, when Green Party presidential candidate Ralph Nader spoke to nearly 300 Penn students and faculty and other interested voters regarding his campaign and his cause.

"He is the only presidential candidate running on the Green Party ticket," said Matt Oresman, a College sophomore and Penn Green Party member. "As such, Mr. Nader is the only viable candidate running on a campaign that focuses on environmental legislation, pro-caring for the environment, pro-caring for the economy and pro-caring for the future."

"He is the only presidential candidate running on the Green Party ticket," said Matt Oresman, a College sophomore and Penn Green Party member. "As such, Mr. Nader is the only viable candidate running on a campaign that focuses on environmental legislation, pro-caring for the environment, pro-caring for the economy and pro-caring for the future."

"He is the only presidential candidate running on the Green Party ticket," said Matt Oresman, a College sophomore and Penn Green Party member. "As such, Mr. Nader is the only viable candidate running on a campaign that focuses on environmental legislation, pro-caring for the environment, pro-caring for the economy and pro-caring for the future."

"He is the only presidential candidate running on the Green Party ticket," said Matt Oresman, a College sophomore and Penn Green Party member. "As such, Mr. Nader is the only viable candidate running on a campaign that focuses on environmental legislation, pro-caring for the environment, pro-caring for the economy and pro-caring for the future."

"He is the only presidential candidate running on the Green Party ticket," said Matt Oresman, a College sophomore and Penn Green Party member. "As such, Mr. Nader is the only viable candidate running on a campaign that focuses on environmental legislation, pro-caring for the environment, pro-caring for the economy and pro-caring for the future."

 springtime in the city

At least, students have enjoyed the warm spring weather on College Green. The unseasonably high temperatures have allowed everyone or campus the opportunity to get outside and unwind before spring break.
beit and graduate students was the center of the Alcohol and Other Drug Self-Recovery Group. Meets on Thursdays at 3 p.m. 2 business days in advance.

Thursday, March 9, 2000

The Daily Pennsylvanian

Class explores Diallo killing in depth

By Carmella Hunt

The Daily Pennsylvanian

When a jury found officers accused of murdertting Amadou Diallo, a West African immigrant and Bronx resident, not guilty last month, people across the country raised their voices about the controversial case.

And yesterday, Pels Center of Gov-ernment Director and noted crim-i-nologist Lawrence Sherman spoke about the controversial case titled "Deviance and Social Control." Sherman, who is also a Sociology consultant for the prosecution in the Diallo case.

"He is talking about police strategy," Warshafsky said. "This is a perfect example of what needs to be worked on in the system today. I think it is very important be-cause it is a perfect example of what needs to be worked on in the system today.

It had effect on people's view of the law all over the country. Every-thing gets labeled with the failures that happened in the process. So if we don't do this, we're going to have the same thing happen again."

Campus Events

For more happenings & events on campus, use the online Penn Calendar at http://adair.pen-nsylvania.com.

Thursday, March 9, 2000

7:30pm In 104 Williams Hall, 255 Museum, Chinese Rotunda, University of Pennsylvania. Engraver and calligrapher MIGUEL CENTENO of Princeton University will hold a colloquium titled "Deviance and Social Control." CENTENO's presentation will reveal his unique approach to calligraphy and the cross-cultural implications of his work. February 3 - March 6.

Thursday March 9th, 12:00 noon. The University of Pennsylvania's Legal Studies Program presents: "Women's Rights and the Law in the Third World." The event will be held in the LGBT Center. 3537 Logan 17.

Thursday March 9 in McNeil 167, 4pm. Questions? Call 8-1789.

Sexually Assaulted? University of Pennsylvania has a sexual assault counseling center on campus available 24 hours a day. Need to talk? Call 898-8611 (days). Mass Media Center: 3701 Chestnut Street, sometime between 1:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.

March 5 — A male University student reported that he saw a man setting fire to the marquee of the Old Main building on the evening of March 4. This was reported to Campus Crime Report as a "suspicious activity." Campus Crime Report is not a law enforcement agency and no arrest was made.

Running Low on Cash?

"Penn has moved into a new realm."

The Daily Pennsylvanian
New chief faces budget, research issues

TRABER from page 1

the position, already has clear ideas about what he must do to right UPHS. And one of the things he has set out to do as CEO was to assure faculty and staff about the transition. "I'm just a little bit skeptical of the concept of an integrated health system. It's a robust concept at the medical center. And that's critical, because you have to have the systems in place to identify the gene therapy in various parts of the body and so forth. There is no substitute or the trials is going to be

I think that you have to overthe effort in the two sides to keep

I think that there is, in any clinical

I think of the information systems that we

I enjoy fractions? If you answered yes...have you

Coss of 2000 Ivy Stone Contest

All designs must include the words "Ivy Day 2000"

Visit our beautiful campus and see the career center for more info.

Plan to attend our

FREE Application Fee For Attending

Learn about our many programs and degrees in:

Visit our beautiful campus and find out all you need to know to attend Villanova:

FOR MORE INFORMATION, CALL 610-519-5555.
When a jury found officers accused of murdering Amadou Diallo, a West African immigrant and Bronx resident, not guilty on Monday, many across the country raised their voices about the controversial case.

And perhaps, this Center for Government Director and noted crimi-nologist Lawrence Sherman could talk about the case in his Sociology class itled "Deviance and Social Control.

Sherman, who is also a Sociology professor, used a third of his regular three-hour lecture in College Hall 200 to discuss and analyze the recent trials of police officers. During the trial, he said, "officers are trained to shudder at the thought of this. They are trained to be afraid of this."

The jury ultimately said that it was the first shot that mattered. The jury may not have been able to prevent Diallo's death, but it may have prevented one of these officers from being convicted of second degree murder.

It's not going to have an earth-shaking effect on the field," Sherman said.

The officers were indicted on charges of second degree murder.

Sherman, who served as a conductor for the prosecution in the Diallo case, said that he had to narrow the same arguments of side by side

The jury ultimately said that it was the first shot that mattered. The jury may not have been able to prevent Diallo's death, but it may have prevented one of these officers from being convicted of second degree murder.

The students taking the class said that the time spent on the Diallo case was appropriate and informative.

"It's not going to have an earth-shaking effect on the field," Sherman said. The officers were indicted on charges of second degree murder.

"Officer in this country is trained to shudder at the thought of this. They are trained to be afraid of this," Sherman said.

"I think it is one of the most important events in the history of policing in this country," Sherman said.

"Officer in this country is trained to shudder at the thought of this. They are trained to be afraid of this," Sherman said.

"I think it is one of the most important events in the history of policing in this country," Sherman said.

"Officer in this country is trained to shudder at the thought of this. They are trained to be afraid of this," Sherman said.

"I think it is one of the most important events in the history of policing in this country," Sherman said.

"Officer in this country is trained to shudder at the thought of this. They are trained to be afraid of this," Sherman said.

"I think it is one of the most important events in the history of policing in this country," Sherman said.

"Officer in this country is trained to shudder at the thought of this. They are trained to be afraid of this," Sherman said.

"I think it is one of the most important events in the history of policing in this country," Sherman said.

"Officer in this country is trained to shudder at the thought of this. They are trained to be afraid of this," Sherman said.

"I think it is one of the most important events in the history of policing in this country," Sherman said.

"Officer in this country is trained to shudder at the thought of this. They are trained to be afraid of this," Sherman said.

"I think it is one of the most important events in the history of policing in this country," Sherman said.

"Officer in this country is trained to shudder at the thought of this. They are trained to be afraid of this," Sherman said.

"I think it is one of the most important events in the history of policing in this country," Sherman said.

"Officer in this country is trained to shudder at the thought of this. They are trained to be afraid of this," Sherman said.

"I think it is one of the most important events in the history of policing in this country," Sherman said.

"Officer in this country is trained to shudder at the thought of this. They are trained to be afraid of this," Sherman said.

"I think it is one of the most important events in the history of policing in this country," Sherman said.

New chief faces budget, research issues

TRABER
from page 1
the problem, already has clear ideas about what he must do to right UPHS. And that set of do as a CEO was to assure faculty and staff that the transition... "I depend on my time committing to different stakeholders within the School of Medicine and the Health System and there are tons of them," Traber said.

And many in UPHS have brought change.

"These are often small and unsettling issues," said Chief of Staff Dennis B. Wilson of the Penne-Produced Presbyterian Medical Center that UPHS has created and identified leadership. That certainly is Peter Traber I think to get the respect of the faculty.

Ende said he doesn't see the "interim" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS. He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "interim" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "It's a little bit of a tough time to be talking to everybody about what we're doing," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "It's a little bit of a tough time to be talking to everybody about what we're doing," he said.

TRABER
from page 1

"I don't see the "interim" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS. He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "interim" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS. He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "interim" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS. He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in negotiations with other institutions as it would have had under Kelley. "I think the fact that it has the interim idea is going to mean much in that regard," he said.

But the worst must admit that Traber was hesitant to talk about the deal that required negotiating contract terms.

"I don't see the "inter-
im" in Traber's title as detracting from his ability to lead UPHS." He speculated that the Health System will have less leverage in nego-

All four undergrad school changes see increase in applications

The Pennsylvania Immigration Law Center of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, which he described as the belief of most Americans after years of work are essentially broke," Nader said.

It is the inability of most Americans to influence change, Nader said, who needs a College.

"It’s Game Time All the Time.

It’s wonderful Ralph Nader was introduced by Philadelphia, PA • 215.386.5556

UNIVERSITY CITY CENTER FOR EYEGLASSE

For progressive politics," he said. "I know of no one so fueled by their beliefs." Nader drew applause when he de-cribed the election of students as laborers... It’s wonderful Ralph Nader was introduced by Philadelprogressively less wealthy and more isolated since the 1960s, Nader charged the tactics for us thinking the financial difficulties that many citizens face.

ADMISSIONS from page 1

"Millions of Americans after years of work are essentially broke," Nader said.

He then elaborated on pollution, corporate public works, corporate regulation and military spending, which he said were "the results of an oligarchy" of corporate interests and" Tweedledee, look-alike political its message is that Penn is a really elite institution but not elitist," Bonilla said. "I think students are telling there is a really elite institution but not elitist," Bonilla said. "I think students are telling a good story about the University," Stetson said.

Bereiloff attributed part of the rise in applications to the popularity of schools located in cities. "Urban universities seem to be doing well," she noted, explaining that many students are attracted to the area’s educational opportunities. The Admissions Office will make accep-tance, rejection and wait-list notices on April 1.

Penn has made a remarkable climb through the ranks of the nation’s top colleges and universities over the past decade.

To this, Cohen added, "It is my hope that the Democratic Party can someday adopt all the principles of the Green Party's positions." Nader's speech was followed by an open question and answer period.

One audience member commented on the lack of a Green Party presence in this part of the country. Nader pointed out that the party is relatively new, having been founded in the State of Washington, and that all important political moves start small.

He said that it had the potential to become a "multi-portfolio progressive" move-ment. History graduate student Chris Kehoe praised Nader as a "serious alternative to the Democratic Party and I’m trying to look at the future for progressive politics," he said.

University of Pennsylvania

Department of Housing and Conference Services

University of Pennsylvania

Department of Housing and Conference Services

http://dolphin.upenn.edu/-center/survcy.html

Thanks!

The Immigration Law Center of PHILADELPHIA, PA • 215.386.5556

Admissions Office Leslie Smith

estimated that 85 percent of the ap- lications are academically qualified to attend Penn. Admissions Officer mundial and the statistics of Penn: a high school science right now. The message is that Penn is a really elite institution but not elitist," Bonilla said. Nader said, "I know of no one so fueled by their beliefs." Nader was introduced by Philadel-

RUTGERS New Brunswick

SUM SESSION 2000

Registration begins Feb 29

MAY 30-JUNE 6
JUNE 26-AUGUST 3
JULY 10-JULY 16

Three six-week sessions A variety of 3, 4 and 8 week courses Undergraduate/Graduate courses Day, Evening and Saturday A.M. classes available

For a 2000 Rutgers Session Catalog, including registration procedures and rock, phone: (732) 519-6000. You can also call the 732 area code 1-800-HI-RUTGERS or 1-800-445-8787, or e-mail rucatalog@rutgers.edu. Course also available at Meadow Campus College Union

BREAKFAST • LUNCH • DINNER • CAFE

The Kauffman Center for Public Policy's New Research Center, which explores the relationship between science and policy, opened its doors in Philadelphia, PA • 215.386.5556

it is the inability of most Ameri cans to influence change, Nader said, the tactics for us thinking the election of students as laborers... It’s wonderful Ralph Nader was introduced by Philadel-

"I am happy that the Democratic Party can someday adopt all the principles of the Green Party's positions." Nader's speech was followed by an open question and answer period.

One audience member commented on the lack of a Green Party presence in this part of the country. Nader pointed out that the party is relatively new, having been founded in the State of Washington, and that all important political moves start small.

He said that it had the potential to become a "multi-portfolio progressive" move-ment. History graduate student Chris Kehoe praised Nader as a "serious alternative to the Democratic Party and I’m trying to look at the future for progressive politics," he said.

University of Pennsylvania

Department of Housing and Conference Services

http://dolphin.upenn.edu/-center/survcy.html

Thanks!

The Immigration Law Center of

University of Pennsylvania

Department of Housing and Conference Services

http://dolphin.upenn.edu/-center/survcy.html

Thanks!

The Immigration Law Center of

University of Pennsylvania

Department of Housing and Conference Services

http://dolphin.upenn.edu/-center/survcy.html

Thanks!

The Immigration Law Center of

University of Pennsylvania

Department of Housing and Conference Services

http://dolphin.upenn.edu/-center/survcy.html

Thanks!

The Immigration Law Center of

University of Pennsylvania

Department of Housing and Conference Services

http://dolphin.upenn.edu/-center/survcy.html

Thanks!

The Immigration Law Center of

University of Pennsylvania

Department of Housing and Conference Services

http://dolphin.upenn.edu/-center/survcy.html

Thanks!

The Immigration Law Center of

University of Pennsylvania

Department of Housing and Conference Services

http://dolphin.upenn.edu/-center/survcy.html

Thanks!

The Immigration Law Center of

University of Pennsylvania

Department of Housing and Conference Services

http://dolphin.upenn.edu/-center/survcy.html

Thanks!

The Immigration Law Center of

University of Pennsylvania

Department of Housing and Conference Services

http://dolphin.upenn.edu/-center/survcy.html

Thanks!

The Immigration Law Center of

University of Pennsylvania

Department of Housing and Conference Services

http://dolphin.upenn.edu/-center/survcy.html

Thanks!

The Immigration Law Center of

University of Pennsylvania

Department of Housing and Conference Services

http://dolphin.upenn.edu/-center/survcy.html

Thanks!

The Immigration Law Center of

University of Pennsylvania

Department of Housing and Conference Services

http://dolphin.upenn.edu/-center/survcy.html

Thanks!

The Immigration Law Center of

University of Pennsylvania

Department of Housing and Conference Services

http://dolphin.upenn.edu/-center/survcy.html

Thanks!
Friday, September 8, 2000

Israel and Palestinians to resume peace talks

The talks, which will restart in late May, will focus on outlining a final peace treaty.

Albright taunted in Bosnia

U.S. Secretary of State Madeleine Albright speaks yesterday during the inauguration ceremony of the Brcko district, a strategic Bosnian city. Albright arrived in Bosnia for a two-day visit.

The Rose Award for Undergraduate Research

The Rose Award recognizes outstanding undergraduate research achievements by students and by the faculty who advise them. All completed research projects are eligible and need not have been funded by the Nassau College Fund. Both research projects submitted for recognition must be nominat-

---

Bradley to drop out of presidential race

As the first fires blaze in West Kalimantan, the minister said. In his announcement, the minister said that the first fires were set by 150-200 hot spots have been reported in the province. The fires are spreading rapidly and have already forced thousands of people to leave their homes. The situation is expected to worsen in the coming days as strong winds are expected to continue.

---

For Big Bargains, Read the Classifieds

TIAA-CREF invests for the long term, it's nice to see performance like this today.

---

The Daily Pennsylvanian

West Orange, N.J., headquarters. Speaking on condition of anonymity, Bradley aide said he would back the party's nominee from the start, a symbolic gesture meant to demonstrate the importance of peace. Bradley was born in New York, where he grew up as a basketball star. His quick embrace of Gore is indicative of the political landscape of the 21st century. A senior Gore adviser also dismissed Bradley's departure assuming, after Gore's shutout Tuesday in 15 states, that he would back the party's nominee.
Building from the ground up

Joffrey Tallin, a professor in the Government Department at the University of Texas at Austin, has a word of warning not to be missed.

And two years ago, he was nearly fired from his job by Penn's Administrative Office Department.

Tallin — an expert in constitutional theory and American political science — was fully prepared at the time to be shown the door and to head to West Philadelphia, instead.

But all those who seek to stifle this free exchange of information are fighting a losing battle.

On a practical level, Versity.com's arrival does not signal the extinction of the lecture course as we know it. As professors themselves have said, any student who uses the online notes as a substitute for class attendance does so at his or her own risk. For the responsible majority of students, the Web site's content is nothing more than a supplement to one's own notes, and a useful one at that.

Of course, professors should be informed that their lecture notes are being posted on the Internet. But rather than challenge Versity.com, faculty members should embrace a new medium that promises to reinforce, not supplant, their course content.

Many professors already make lecture notes available in slides and supplementary resources available on course Web pages — and we encourage all to explore doing so. Versity.com is mercurially filling a need that professors themselves have not felt.

In a larger sense, however, Versity.com represents a trend that cannot be stopped. The university system — and university success — may occur in keeping its content off of Versity.com and professors may bring lawsuits in defense of their intellectual property rights, but no institution or individual can or should restrict the productive exchange of information.

We are not surprised that many used looking to the old model of teacher-student interaction might feel threatened by the pace of change. But we encourage professors and administrators to see that, one way or another — whether through friends, the Internet or other means — the communication of knowledge is crucial to what today's scientists want or need.

And for the benefit of the student body, we encourage those in higher education to embrace the new option, not to try to tear it down.

Spring break: Fun or fraud?

The guy just would not stop up, but all those who seek to stifle this free exchange of information are fighting a losing battle.

Any time you have administrators making appointments to departments, rather than intellectual/administrative administrators for its failure to close deals like the one involving the aging and shiftless department of its replacement. Penn has neither the reputation that universities boast in their material or intelligence, but it sure is a process the aging and shiftless department of its replacement.

And as one administrator forecasts, in the coming years all to explore doing so.

Versity.com is mercurially filling a need that professors themselves have not felt.

In a larger sense, however, Versity.com represents a trend that cannot be stopped. The university system — and university success — may occur in keeping its content off of Versity.com and professors may bring lawsuits in defense of their intellectual property rights, but no institution or individual can or should restrict the productive exchange of information.

We are not surprised that many used looking to the old model of teacher-student interaction might feel threatened by the pace of change. But we encourage professors and administrators to see that, one way or another — whether through friends, the Internet or other means — the communication of knowledge is crucial to what today's scientists want or need.

And for the benefit of the student body, we encourage those in higher education to embrace the new option, not to try to tear it down.

Spring break: Fun or fraud?

The guy just would not stop up, but all those who seek to stifle this free exchange of information are fighting a losing battle.

Any time you have administrators making appointments to departments, rather than intellectual/administrative administrators for its failure to close deals like the one involving the aging and shiftless department of its replacement. Penn has neither the reputation that universities boast in their material or intelligence, but it sure is a process the aging and shiftless department of its replacement.

And as one administrator forecasts, in the coming years all to explore doing so.

Versity.com is mercurially filling a need that professors themselves have not felt.

In a larger sense, however, Versity.com represents a trend that cannot be stopped. The university system — and university success — may occur in keeping its content off of Versity.com and professors may bring lawsuits in defense of their intellectual property rights, but no institution or individual can or should restrict the productive exchange of information.

We are not surprised that many used looking to the old model of teacher-student interaction might feel threatened by the pace of change. But we encourage professors and administrators to see that, one way or another — whether through friends, the Internet or other means — the communication of knowledge is crucial to what today's scientists want or need.

And for the benefit of the student body, we encourage those in higher education to embrace the new option, not to try to tear it down.
Averages of your outfielders and on the team's spring break trip to ever, pointing to the emergence of a season-ending elbow injury to tri...Ferrell is out with a shoulder injury, Dowell and junior Randy Perrell both 15 RBI and only posted three errors. Most Improved Player — hit .291 with on a good team you look at the batting earn...closely followed by the Elis, the resur- the favorite in the Rolfe Division, which begins the League season, which begins the Murphys Field makes things easier than in past days off to focus solely on lacrosse is certainly

"There's no way we could do better. And I remember scoring my first goal — I was so excited." says. "But, you know, a lot of that stuff now is going to be where "You could play right now, if you really had to," Seddon said. "But, you have to go through your routine. But, you...in," he said. "You could play right now, if you really had to," Seddon said. "But, you have to go through your routine. But, you

Stadium from page 32

The parting of ways was as pleas-...the beginning of the Karin Brower era this coming weekend against American and Yale. Nelson, whom we need to come in and shut the door."
Smoilz to miss season with torn MCL

KISHNER, Fla. — Just when everything was starting to settle down for the Florida Panthers, goalie John Vanbiesbrouck had knee surgery Saturday to repair a torn meniscus in his right knee.

"It's just one of those injuries," Panthers coach Bob Boughner said. "It's just the way hockey is. It's a contact sport. With Jao Vanbiesbrouck, unfortunately he's had a couple of those now. Hopefully, it's just a small injury and he'll be back sooner than later."

Vanbiesbrouck has been out since Feb. 25, when he injured his knee in a 5-3 loss to the New York Islanders. He was expected to be ready by the start of the playoffs.

Vanbiesbrouck was examined by Dr. Michael Herzog of the University of Florida and Dr. William Parks of the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., during the Panthers' bye week, before the team decided whether it would operate on the knee or let it heal on its own.

"It was about three weeks ago that he was first examined," Boughner said. "He said I think it's a meniscus tear, maybe a little cartilage tear, but not a lot."

"We were just waiting to see how that would play out, how it would progress," the Panthers coach added. "Unfortunately, it didn't progress."

Vanbiesbrouck's surgery was performed by Dr. Richard Stone at the University of Florida. He will be re-evaluated in six weeks.

The Panthers are 10-1-2 without Vanbiesbrouck and have lost two of their last three games. They are currently in second place in the Southeast Division of the Eastern Conference with 82 points.

Boughner said the Panthers planned to call up at least one goalie from the American Hockey League's Miami Ice, where backup goalie Keith Hopson and goalie Bryan Ashworth are expected to start.

"We don't have any other options right now," Boughner said. "We're not going to be able to get a goalie on re-entry right now. We're not even going to be able to get a goalie on emergency right now."

"I'm not sure about how it's all going to play out," Boughner added. "I don't know how many games we can win or how many games we can lose. We know it's going to be tough."
W. Soccer coach takes Stanford job

By Brian Hindo

The good news in that there's no need to tap. The Penn women's soccer team begins its 2000 campaign with new hope, new players and a new start. Last season, the Quakers struggled through a frustrating campaign and finished last in the Ivy League with a 7-2-2 record. The team will be looking to break through this year.

For the first time in four years, the team will have a new coach, Van Arsdale said. "But you do want to put a lot of effort into recruiting. And we'll do what we can to test our players as well," Arsdale said.

The team will have a new coach, Van Arsdale said. "But you do want to put a lot of effort into recruiting. And we'll do what we can to test our players as well," Arsdale said.

The team will have a new coach, Van Arsdale said. "But you do want to put a lot of effort into recruiting. And we'll do what we can to test our players as well," Arsdale said.

The team will have a new coach, Van Arsdale said. "But you do want to put a lot of effort into recruiting. And we'll do what we can to test our players as well," Arsdale said.

The team will have a new coach, Van Arsdale said. "But you do want to put a lot of effort into recruiting. And we'll do what we can to test our players as well," Arsdale said.

The team will have a new coach, Van Arsdale said. "But you do want to put a lot of effort into recruiting. And we'll do what we can to test our players as well," Arsdale said.

The team will have a new coach, Van Arsdale said. "But you do want to put a lot of effort into recruiting. And we'll do what we can to test our players as well," Arsdale said.