Civic Hacking: Creating an Open Government through Technology

Joshua Tauberer, PhD (Penn Linguistics, Gr’11)
Founder, GovTrack.us

When: Wednesday, October 23, 2013
4:00 – 5:30pm

Where: The Class of 1978 Pavilion
The Kislak Center for Special Collections, Rare Books and Manuscripts,
6th floor Van Pelt-Dietrich Library Center

Moderator:
• Peter Decherney, Director, Cinema Studies and Professor of Cinema Studies and English

Respondents:
• Robert Cheetham, (Penn Design, GLA’97), Founder and CEO, Azavea
• Mark Liberman, Christopher H. Browne Distinguished Professor of Linguistics; Professor,
  Department of Computer and Information Science; and Director, Linguistic Data Consortium
• Tim Libert, PhD Student, Annenberg School for Communication

Co-sponsors: Penn Libraries’ ScholarlyCommons, Weigle Information Commons and The Kislak Center for Special Collections, Rare Books and Manuscripts with Cinema Studies, the Linguistic Data Consortium, and the Digital Humanities Forum