Center for Global Collections

Penn in the world. The world at Penn.

The Center for Global Collections distinguishes the Penn Libraries — and the University of Pennsylvania — as an international destination for students and scholars to engage with the diversity of cultures and societies around the world: their histories, perspectives, narratives, and cultural contributions. This world-class Center already boasts expert librarians and preeminent collections, but they require a state-of-the-art space to match. This facility will fill a vital need for a communal venue for global studies programming on campus.

Our renovation will create an intellectual hub for engagement with the world through dynamic programming — exhibitions, lectures, seminars, and more — that leverages our global studies holdings and expertise. With your help, we will facilitate the study and dialogue that will shape future generations of global citizens. Will you join us today?
